Butler Warns GOP Lacks Both Policies & The Man

The Republican party must find a candidate of higher intellectual and statesmanlike qualifications than any of those now talked of," announced Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, on his return New York Saturday from what he called "a swing around the circle." He had been through 13 states and had opportunity to make inquiry regarding the state of public opinion," said in a public statement, "and I have a very distinct impression that talking people everywhere are deeply concerned about the future policies of the government.

There is a very general liking for the personality of President Franklin Roosevelt and a very general belief that he is trying to do the best he can for the public interest, but at the same time there is opposition to public office. When I asked concerning the outlook for the election, I was quick-made aware of the widespread lack of confidence in the present-day Republican party, due to its failure to conduct constructive and courageous leadership or to present a policy national and international to lay before the people.

Almost every one with whom I spoke sharply criticised the Republican party of today as having nothing

HUMAN PLOW HORSE TAKES A REST WHEN GOVERNMENT SENDS ANIMAL

Out of the depression and into a brighter life comes this family with the aid of the Democratic plan of aiding people over the United States. This story was carried in the daily papers of Monday from the Associated Press:

Jena, La., April 12 — The Paul J. Green family got a horse through the resettlement administration this Spring, and the whole family is glad, because it means they won't have to plow each other this year to make a crop, as they have done for the last three years.

In a desperate, determined effort to stay off relief when the depression made "job work" hard to find, Paul Green and his wife, son and two daughters cleared "new ground" in the woods owned by his father near Jena and set work to extract a living from it.

They had no work animal, but that didn't stop them. They made two bales of cotton in 1933. Green obtained a plow point and fashioned a stock to fit it. Then the family took turns pulling it in the stumpy-root-tangled new ground.

Sometimes man and wife formed the team, while their eldest daughter, Ruth, age 17, held the plow handles and pushed as much as she could to ease the strain. Again, Artie, 20, the son of the family, bore the brunt of the pulling. Hestline, 14, helped whenever and wherever she could, and tried at the same time to keep up with her school work. Everybody worked, and each member of the family took turns "in harness" without complaint.

They managed to stir the soil sufficiently to plant the crop, and they did the rest of the cultivation with a hoe—their only other farming implement. And in the Fall, they picked and ginned and sold two bales of cotton, and were justifiably proud of their achievement.

But two bales were too little. When they had paid for their simple necessities, the barest possible for human existence, there was nothing left. The beginning of the 1934 crop year again found them without a work animal, but still independent of relief aid.

They did it again. By the same back-breaking method, they again produced two bales of cotton in 1934. But it was a losing fight the Greens were waging. In 1935, the inadequately tilled new ground had become infested with weeds, and hand labor couldn't stop them.

They made only one bale of cotton last year, and they knew they were defeated and would have to have outside aid to carry on.

"I had heard of this family from time to time in 1934 and 1935," said B.R. Cain, of Jena, rehabilitation supervisor for LaSalle Parish. "Several of his neighbors came to me and asked me why we didn't furnish that family with a horse. I told them he hadn't asked for help. In fact, I didn't quite believe their stories. They weren't quite credible to me, for I know what plowing a new ground means, even with a good mule to do the heavy work.

"But when Green's case was referred to us by the welfare office, I investigated and found the stories were not exaggerated. Except last year, when they traded a day of hoeing now and then for a day's use of a neighbor's mule in a desperate attempt to save their crop from the weeds, they had farmed for three years without a work animal, doing all the plowing by hand.

"We accepted the Green family for rehabilitation, and advanced them a loan."

Out of the loan, the first expenditure for capital goods was $65 for a horse. They called him Selum and they treated him almost as a member of the

"Porch Vine" Used To Choke Gullies

Kudzu is taking up new duties in Soil Conservation Service areas where erosion control methods are being demonstrated, according to R.Y. Bailey, State Coordinator of the Service. A Japanese plant, kudzu has been shading many Alabama porches for so long it is often known as "porch vine." Until a few years ago it was used largely as an ornament.

For controlling erosion in gullies and on galled spots, it has few superiors. As a legume it enriches the soil, assisting in reclaiming areas destroyed for cultivation. In many sections of Alabama it is called "mile-a-minute-vine" and "hurrah vine," names suggestive of its rapid growth. This property makes it particularly valuable for erosion control.

Kudzu provides fine limited grazing as a temporary pasture but overgrazing may kill it out. It also produces good yields of excellent hay.

Screw Worms Appear In Southern Alabama

Auburn, Ala.—Screw worms, one of the most dreadful livestock pests, have already been unofficially reported in a south Alabama county, reports Dr. R. S. Sugg, extension animal husbandman in warning farmers "not to earmark castrate, or dehorn cattle in warm weather except when absolutely necessary."

"If it is necessary, be sure to apply pine tar oil to the wound at once, and every day thereafter until they are completely 'healed,'" he advises. "All animals should be examined frequently for scratches, or other wounds, which should be treated with pine tar oil at once. Where infestation has taken place, benzol may be used successfully to prevent future infestations."

Farmers finding cases of screw worms in their herds should report E. McElrath, them to their county agent or to T. F. McGhee, P.O. Building, Montgomery, in order that steps may be taken to prevent spread of the pest.

CIVIC PRIDE

Is the Mother of

A City Beautiful

"Isn't it a clean, beautiful little city?"

We hear that said frequently by Clanton people who have visited in or passed through some attractive place.

Do visitors to Clanton say that about our city when they return home?

If not, it's our fault, and one that is easily corrected.

The answer, of course, is more civic pride.

Let us look around our individual premises for ways to make them more attractive. Let each do his bit toward keeping the streets and alleys clean.

The time spent in beautifying the home place is an excellent investment.

Let's win for Clanton the title, "THE CITY BEAUTIFUL"

THE cost of concrete pavement is less than that of any other of equal load-carrying capacity!

Strong, rigid concrete pavement distributes the load over the subgrade as no other pavement of comparable cost can do. As a result—concrete withstands the punishment of a rapid succession of big buses and high speed trucks and trailers through summer heat and winter cold. Concrete can take it! As Henry Ford has said—"the modern concrete highway is "unbeatable."

On great super-highways, as on 2-lane pavements—the first cost of concrete is less than that of any other pavement of equal load-carrying capacity—and of course upkeep is less—and driving costs are less and comfort and visibility and safety are greater.

Year's Program Is Made By H.D. Clubs

Twenty-three of the director of the several home demonstration clubs in Chilton County met in a special meeting last week at the office of Miss Ruth Pardue, home demonstration agent, to discuss problems coming before the council and to map a program for the coming year.

Foods were chosen as the subject of the year's work, which will begin next September and continue through August, 1937. Twelve monthly demonstrations, covering every phase of the subject of foods, preparation and serving, will be held, Miss Pardue explained. This will be one of the most beneficial programs ever staged in this county, it is believed, and in addition will be intensely interesting to everyone who has made a study of home demonstration work.

At the meeting, Miss Pardue presided and the various directors joined in the round table discussion. Miss Ruth Debye, district supervisor, was scheduled to have been present, but was unable to attend.

New Cotton Formula Needs No Side-Dress

Auburn, Ala.—Cotton fertilized with 6-8-4 fertilizer will not need side-dressing with additional nitrate, advises Dean M. J. Funchess, director of the Alabama Experiment Station.

"This fertilizer, when used at planting time, supplies all nitrogen necessary and saves the trouble and expense of side-dressing," he says.

DODGE PRODUCES WIDE VARIETY OF TRUCKS RECENTLY

Numerous Lines of Business Purchase Standard and Special Purpose Models

Practically all lines of industry and business in which trucks and commercial cars are used have been represented during the month of March in the wide variety of units manufactured and shipped by the Detroit Dodge truck plant. This was announced here today through the H. N. Smith Motor Co., Dodge dealers.

During the last several weeks all unusually wide variety of special and standard types of commercial cars and trucks have been produced and have ranged in load capacity from the half-ton commercial express car to the heavy duty three-ton trucks.

Analysis of the figures supplied by the special equipment department of the Dodge truck plant reveals that recently there has been an increasing demand for unusual types of trucks bodies.

Already this month the special equipment department has turned out hundreds of different special purpose bodies which have been purchased for many fields. Some of them were: Accident prevention, medical, bus, aviation, baking, brewing, bottling, building materials, milk products, furniture, mortuary, gasoline, oil, roads and streets, ice cream, advertising, farming, florist, produce, refrigeration, meat-packing, sanitation, trucking and outdoor advertising.

The plant last month in addition to these many special models has turned out hundreds of the following standard types of trucks: Commercial sedan, Westchester suburban, two-ton tractor, commercial screen, commercial panel, two-ton stake truck, commercial panel, three-ton dump, one and one-half ton panel, one and one-half ton stake truck, one and one-half ton chassis and cab, three ton tractor, one and one-half ton dump, one and one-half ton canopy, one and one-half ton express and one and on-half ton stake trucks.

POULTRY CAR NETS FARMERS OF COUNTY 1685 DOLLARS

Poultry growers of this section were the recipients of a rather nice little sum of cash a few days ago, when the proceeds from a poultry car, sponsored by the Chilton County Exchange, netted $1,685.62. County Agent J. W. Fant pointed out that a beautiful feature of the transaction was that a majority of the poultry sold was hens, for which there is no local market.

The total car weighed 11,507 pounds. Of this 8,889 pounds were heavy hens; 1,224 pounds light hens; 867 pounds roosters; 366 pounds fryers; 115 pounds turkeys; stags 36 pounds, and ten pounds of geese.

"Mr. C.B. Cox, Montgomery, Alabama.
"Dear Mr. Cox:

"For many years we have had a Road Superintendent in this County and part of the time he has had an assistant. At the present time we have what we call a Road Supt., but he is also an experienced engineer, formerly with the Highway Department. It is difficult to see how County road matters could be handled intelligently without an experienced head. As you know, we have operated under a budget for nearly twenty years under a local law which I had passed when I assumed the duties of this office. When making this budget, I call in the Road Supt. and get his ideas as to the appropriations for specific roads. When the budget is adopted in October, all the Commissioners know just what their roads (all being specified) will get; and it is the duty of the Road Supt. to see that the provisions of the budget as to roads are carried out. He looks after all the bridges and with his regular bridge crew builds bridges of all types when needed. In fact I hardly see how a County Road Department could possibly function without an experienced head. In my opinion, the character of his work and the saving in money to the County by reason of his constant attention to the business he is hired to do, are worth every cent an experienced road man costs.

"With best regards, I am,

supervised entertainment. The purpose of this organization will be to promote through organization, and cooperation with other agencies, the ability of boys to do things for themselves and others, to train them in Scoutcraft, and to teach them patriotism, courage, self-reliance and kindred virtues, using the methods which are now in common use by Boy Scouts, by placing emphasis upon the Scout Oath and Law for character development, citizenship training and physical fitness.

The Clanton Kiwanis Club and the business men of Clanton believe that the purpose of this organization justifies its existence and we trust that the youth of our City and community will take advantage of this opportunity.

Remember to be on hand at this meeting Friday night, City Hall, April 17th. Any parents are cordially invited to attend this meeting, if they see fit to attend.

Respectfully yours,

"I buy about 40 tons of ARCADIAN, THE AMERICAN NITRATE OF SODA each year and the extra nitrogen is just the same as getting one extra ton free"

That's something worth talking about!

Whenever Southern farmers get together you find they are talking about the value of the extra Nitrogen for "ARCADIAN".

And this extra value is well proved, too, for the Department of Agriculture and Immigration of the State of Virginia, after official tests, reported that ARCADIAN, THE AMERICAN NITRATE OF SODA contains extra Nitrogen over the guaranteed 16% with an extra cash value running as high as 88¢ per ton.

Tell your fertilizer dealer to sell you only ARCADIAN, THE AMERICAN NITRATE OF SODA

FIRST, Because it is proved to be extra rich in Nitrogen.

SECOND, Because it is produced in the South and its use helps to keep Southern workers employed

BUYERS OF "NEW COTTON" FIND THEY CAN'T GIN CLAIMS

Claims that "Mars Rose" or "Dixie Rose" will produce "4 bales per acre" of "long staple cotton or twice as much as any other strain on earth" have resulted in reported sales of seed of these so-called varieties at $10 to $100 a bushel.

Experiment stations in eight cotton producing states report that "Mars Rose" and "Dixie Rose" are not as good as the better standard varieties of cotton now generally grown. They have found no characteristics that merit the extravagant claims made for these specialty varieties. For example the experiment stations find the staple averages less than 1 inch long instead of the 2 inches sometimes claimed.

Many farmers have been induced to buy this so-called new cotton since 1932. They wanted to share in the profit that goes along with the early distribution of seed of superior varieties. Although some of these farmers have no doubt profited from sales of seed, the profits from the expected high yields have not been obtained.

The State experiment stations recommend those varieties found through years of testing to be the best for local needs. Specialists of the U.S. Department of Agriculture urge that cotton growers use such recommended varieties and leave experiments to the experiment stations. The department recalls that novel varieties of cotton have been developed and introduced from time to time for many years. With each introduction farmers have hastened to pay high prices to be on the ground floor, only to be disappointed when the new variety turned out to be not better than the cotton they had been growing, and not so good in most cases.

"Mars Rose" and "Dixie Rose" cotton are of the extreme cluster type, a patch of which when mature, looks as if it would produce an enormous yield. Field tests, however, show that these extreme cluster types of cotton produce no more than standard varieties.

Seed And Fertilizer Should Be Separated

Auburn, Ala.—Planting cotton seed in the drill with fertilizer often causes poor stands, warns J.C. Lowery, extension agronomist, in advising farmers to plant their cotton so that the seed will not come in contact with the fertilizer.

"Where the planter will not separate the two in the drill, some light equipment should be run through the row to cover the fertilizer before the seed are dropped," he says.

STOPPED IN HOUSE BY VOTE LAST DAY

EMPLOYMENT GAINS IN STATE ARE REPORTED

Public Relief Only Discordant Note As SEC Unit Holds Conference In B'ham.

Public relief Monday was the lone discordant note in a symphony of improved business conditions, increased employment and higher wages sounded throughout Birmingham of representatives of President Roosevelt's New emergency agencies.

Starting with a report to be made by Ray Crow, WPA administrator for Alabama, disclosing that the government had poured $85,619,715 in federal money into the state in three and a half years the reports included a glowing summary of better conditions, emphasizing a decrease in distressed properties, and a new figure in employment and wage levels.

H. Collins, commissioner, State Department of Public Welfare, told the board, shortly before adjournment, that nothing but quick action will save thousands in Alabama from actual starvation, and characterized the proposed use of $250,000 in construction bond funds as nothing more than a "stop-gap" until a permanent program can be devised to care the starving and disease ridden.

One of the highlights of the meeting attended by representatives of agency and permanent agencies over the state on instructions of president to summarize accomplishments during his administration, was a report to be read during the afternoon from Robert R. Moore, state commissioner of labor, showing:

First, the highest level of employment, using December, 1931, as 100 percent, since that time, with an index of 117, and an increase in average employment during the same period from 11 to an even 116.

Second, Moore's report, based on figures from the United States Bureau of labor statistics, disclosed that wages in Alabama reached an all-time low of $73 in March, 1933, and have climbed upward with $134.7 in March, 1935, and $15.43 in March, 1935, and reached the $16 peak last December.

Third, the index for 1935, as a basis for percent the wage index last December stood at 128.9.

Fourth, the temporary unemployment compensation by labor saving inventions that have been laid off their jobs," Mr. Moore's report declares.

Unemployment compensation laws will be the cure for this fear in the mind of every worker who, through progressive evolution, loses his job. With this march of progress and technological unemployment, another must be insisted upon to help unemployed compensation solve the problem, and that is the complete elimination of child labor."

Growing Crotalaria

Crotalaria is a new summer legume which has given good results as a soil improving crop. It has no value as a forage crop since animals will not eat it. There are many varieties of crotalaria but of those tested in North Alabama the most promising one has been the early strain or Crotalaria spectabilis. The late strain makes a larger vegetative growth than the early but does not mature seed in all years.

Planting. Crotalaria may be planted alone or in alternate rows with corn. The land should be well prepared. The rows should be 3 to 3 1/2 feet apart. The seed should be planted at the rate of 7 to 10 pounds per acre and covered very lightly not over 1/4 inch deep. The ordinary planter with a sorghum seed plate may be used. The plate will put down 7 to 10 pounds of seed per acre. It should be planted about the usual time of planting corn and cotton and when there is abundant moisture in the soil. Moisture sufficient to get a stand of cotton or corn is not sufficient to get an even stand of crotalaria.

Broadcast seeding alone or in corn middles frequently fails. This method may be used when seed are plentiful and cheap but where seed are expensive it is too liable to failure to be recommended. When this method is used the seed should be sown at the rate of 25 to 35 pounds per acre.

Fertilization is not generally practiced though it may be profitable to use 100 to 200 pounds of superphosphate or 300 pounds of basic slag at planting if the soil is very poor. Inoculation is usually not necessary.

Harvesting. Crotalaria produces from 500 to 2000 pounds of seed per acre. The seed do not ripen evenly, therefore, some of the seed may shatter before the other seed are ripe. The seed may be stripped by hand in which case a man usually will harvest 40 to 50 pounds of seed per day. The plants may be cut and the seed threshed out. Many more seed can be obtained per day by this method than by hand pulling although some seed will be lost. The seed should be cleaned and carefully stored so that they can be well aired to prevent molding.

Volunteer Seeding. Many of the seed are hard and may not germinate for three or more years. If the seed are allowed to mature and scatter over the land, they will remain in the soil and germinate the following years. Thus, after one large seed crop is scattered crotalaria plants will come up in whatever crop follows for the next few years.

Plowing Under. A heavy growth of crotalaria should be plowed under in December or early January to get the best results. If plowing is delayed until spring poor results from the crop following the crotalaria are sometimes obtained. The plants should be cut with a stalk cutter when they are thoroughly dry; they may then be easily turned under.

controlling sheet erosion.

Steep, highly erodible areas are retarded from cultivation and planted with such erosion-preventing crops as trees, grass, and kudzu. Gullies are being stabilized with simple check dams and soil holding vegetation.

One of the purposes of this work is to give farmers throughout the state an opportunity to see what they can do to control erosion on their farms. Visit one or more of the camp work areas, this spring or summer to see how erosion control methods are applied by the enrollees and farmers working together.

Solicitor Bill Said To Have Been Dropped

No One Spoke For Bill

The two Local Bills pertaining to Chilton County and which have created considerable upheaval in political circles of the county, died today (Friday) in the state capitol.

The Bill which would have completely abolished the Commissioners Court of this county and set up a three-man Board of Revenue to be appointed by the Governor died a quick but easy death when it came up in the House of Representatives for a vote after passing the Senate and all committees.

Nearing its last lap on what appeared to be a successful and short trip, the first ripple came when the committee of the House barely had a quorum to vote on the Bill, and then voted it out without recommendation placing it on the House calendar for a vote this morning.

Representative Cox who has been confined to his bed in his hotel in Montgomery did not appear in the House of Representatives this morning when the Bill came up. The Bill was introduced in the Senate by Senator Thomas, last week, and apparently was making a fast trip to success.

The blow to the Bill came when Representative Kelly, from Clay County, arose and addressed members of the House stating that "the people of Chilton County do not want this Bill passed" and he referred to the figures of the result of the referendum held in the county recently.

Representative Kelly quoted Representative Cox as saying that he "believed it was a bad Bill." Then Representative Tolbert from DeKalb County, spoke shortly and stated that what Representative Kelly had said was a fact. Both these men arose immediately when the Bill was presented by the Speaker of the House, Harry Walker.

No one appeared to speak in behalf of the Bill, and it was indefinitely postponed by acclamation, which in the minds of those familiar with such statements and actions, simply means that the Bill is dead—and practically buried.

At the time this extra goes to press it was impossible to reach Representative Cox or Senator Thomas for a statement, but it is expected that they will have something to say for next week's paper.

The Bill which was introduced in the Senate by Mr. Thomas along with the Board of Revenue Bill, and which provided for the abolishing of the offices of county solicitor and county attorney, combining them and making it elective, died a sudden death, so it is rumored, Thursday afternoon or Thursday night, when Senator Thomas is said to have agreed not to push its passage. It was not introduced in the House of Representatives today.

No comment was made by the parties opposing this Bill, nor by those sponsoring its passage.

Considerable lobbying appeared to have been going on throughout the week at the capitol for and against the two proposed Bills which would completely change the government of Chilton County.

Immediately when a vote was taken in the House Friday almost at noon on the Board of Revenue Bill and the results made known to those interested in killing the Bills, were watching the proceedings from the balcony, considerable handshaking and congratulatory remarks could be seen and heard and stern faces immediately became adorned with smiles—Chilton County's Commissioners Court will continue to function.

A more detailed account of the happenings during the week on this matter will be given in next week's News.

LEGISLATORS' FRIENDS CUT OFF PAYROLL

'Purge' May Bring Charge Of Bribery On Open Floor Of House

As the administration apparently went forward with plans to "purge" the state's payrolls of relatives and close friends of legislators who had not supported the administration, indications grew that the whole affair would be aired on the floor of the House.

Five employees, most of them from the office of the State Tax Commission, have been dropped from the payroll, and informed sources said more would be fired this week.

A brother of Rep. V. L. Adams of Jefferson was among those discharged at the State Tax Commission office.

'Can't Believe It'

Speaking to reporters, Sen. James A. Simpson of Jefferson said: "I can't believe the administration has done this, but if it has, it amounts to a plea of guilty to a charge of bribery. In the connection, Simpson quoted Section 80 of the Constitution which says:

"Any person, who directly or indirectly, offers, gives or promises any money, or thing of value, testimonial, privilege or personal advantage, to any executive or judicial officer or legislator to influence him in the performance of his public or official duty, is guilty of bribery and is punishable by law."

"If the administration gave jobs to persons to influence legislative votes and then took them away when the votes were not delivered, it would appear to be a clear case of attempted bribery," the Senator said.

The Explanation

Administrationists defended the move, saying the cuts had been made in the interests of economy, and wanted their opponents with "we're just giving you some of the economy you have been begging for."

Adams, who was expected to bare the entire matter on the floor, said, in recounting the incidents regarding his brother's position with the Tax Commission, and subsequent discharge: "When I came to Montgomery at the beginning of the regular legislative session, Gaston Scott, chairman of the highway board, came to me and asked me if there was anything in the world the administration could do for me in regards to putting anyone on the payroll."

Brother Got Job Later

"He said that if I would recommend anyone they would be glad to put that person on the payroll. But I made no recommendation to him or anyone else."

"After the regular session, my brother was given his place with the Tax Commission, and in my opinion, he is as efficient an assistant as any employee in the department."

"If the administration thinks it can browbeat me into voting for their program by dismissing my brother from his position, they are barking up the wrong stump."

Game Management Has Real Possibilities

Montgomery, Ala., April 14—Game management has real possibilities from an agricultural standpoint and the farmers of Alabama would be wise to lend it their support and encouragement, declares Dr. L. N. Duncan, president of Alabama Polytechnic Institute, in the April issue of the Alabama Game and Fish News.

Dr. Duncan said the new $470,000,000 soil conservation program and the organization of county conservation councils throughout Alabama offer farmers of the state an unusual opportunity to enrich farm life through game development and restoration.

"Under the new farm program farm-

NATION'L YOUTH ADMINISTRAT'N AIDS STUDENTS

Giving Aid To Approximately 5,500 Students In Alabama

The National Youth Administration is giving aid to approximately 5,500 students in Alabama, according to Judge John D. Petree, State Director of the National Emergency Council. Of this number about 2,000 are college students and the remaining 3,500 high school students.

The sum of $85,615 has been allotted to Alabama to carry out this program. High school students will receive $145-000 of this amount while $21,000 will be spent in aiding college students.

High school participants in the National Youth Administration program receive a maximum of $6.00 per month in return for odd jobs about the schools. The average earnings of the college students are $15.00 per month.

An additional sum of $1,530 has been allocated for aid to graduate students who may earn $25 per month the first year and $30 for the second year. A special fund was set aside for the use of negro students.

In order to qualify for student aid, the applicant must be so situated financially that without such assistance a continuation of study would be impossible, Judge Petree stated.

Four Federal projects sponsored by the National Youth Administration to give work to young people not in school are now under way according to a statement made public by Judge John D. Petree, State Director for the National Emergency Council.

The scope is so broad that almost any kind of socially desirable projects suited to the needs of a given community can be carried on. The sum of $133,200 has been allotted to Alabama for projects of this nature. Young people employed under this program can work but one-third the security hours and can earn but one-third the security wage applicable to the community in which they live.

Only those applicants are selected who come from relief or WPA families who are between the ages of 16 and 25, unemployed and out of school. Supervisors for individual projects are not subject to the relief or WPA requirement but must be especially fitted and trained for this type of work.

ers will be encouraged to and in the cases of some crops paid for growing soil-improving and soil-conserving crops, such as cowpeas, soybeans, field beans, and other legumes, wheat, oats, rye, barley, and other small grains, all kinds of grasses and forest trees—all of which are ideal for encouraging wildlife growth," he said.

"These crops not only provide cover for birds and other wildlife but they supply a large quantity of foods for game to eat. Farmers also can greatly improve the conditions for birds and small animals by providing rows of berry patches, plum thickets, or honeysuckle tangles near the fields to furnish hiding and nesting places."

"It becomes increasingly apparent that there is a place for wildlife in general agricultural practices, although it is seldom possible for the average farmer to handle anything but small game."

"However, cover, food and water are three things that any game bird or animal must have if it is to survive and propagate. There must be shelter and cover and this must be suitable for nesting, protection from the elements and provide effective means of escape from natural enemies."

"Food must be made available the year round and the cover and food must be close enough together for them to be utilized by the game. Water, of course, is equally as important as food and cover. Game management has real possibilities from an agricultural standpoint and the farmers of Alabama would be wise to lend it their support and encouragement."

BOYS HELPING TO CONTROL EROSION

About two thousand enrollees in 11 camps assigned to the Soil Conservation Service are working in cooperation with farmers and extension workers to control erosion on thousands of acres of Alabama land.

Where work is started farms are surveyed by a technician of the camp. Type of soil, degree of slope, and amount of erosion are determined. With information in hand the farmer is advised on soil conservation and assigned each field to a particular camp which will best control erosion on the owner's greatest erosion-prone crops.

Where terraces are needed, the camps construct outlets and terrace outlet ditches to conduct water from terraces to stabilized areas, to prevent the action of gullies. Cropping systems including rotations and the full-tilled use of winter and summer crops are planned to assist in

Corn And Legumes 50-50 In Depleting And Conserving Soil

Auburn, Ala.—Where corn is interplanted with summer legumes, such as soybeans, velvet beans, crotalaria, cowpeas, or peanuts when hogged off, it will be classified under the new national soil conservation program as 50 per cent soil-depleting and 50 per cent soil conserving, explains W. H. Robertson, member of the State Soil Conservation committee.

This means that a farmer with 30 acres of corn interplanted with summer legumes has 15 acres of soil-depleting crops and 15 acres of soil-conserving crops. However, the stalks of corn cannot exceed 4500 per acre and the stand of legumes must be sufficient to conserve and improve the soil and cover at least one-half the land. Even where legumes are planted between corn hills and also between rows and occupy at least two-thirds of the land, the crops would still be classified as 50 per cent soil-depleting and 50 per cent soil-conserving.

Mr. Robertson states that this ruling will aid growers materially in qualifying for payments under the new farm program.

17-Year Locusts To Appear This Spring

Auburn, Ala.—The 17-year locust is due to swarm over the eastern United States the latter part of May and the first of June, this year. They will appear in the Tennessee Valley and Sand Mountain areas of North Alabama, reports J. M. Robinson, head of the entomology department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

Usually the insects do little damage, occasionally injuring young orchard trees which have been set out on new ground. These trees may be protected by covering them with mosquito netting or tobacco cloth until the locusts disappear.

The department of entomology at Auburn is anxious to get a complete record of this brood, and has asked that interested persons in the State keep a lookout for the insects.

The department will appreciate any reports received, also specimens that may be sent in. Prof. Robinson said. The locusts may be mailed safely in a strong pasteboard box.

PAYMENTS DEPENDENT UPON CONSERVATION

Auburn, Ala.—To qualify for payments or grants under the new Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, farmers must grow soil-building and soil-conserving crops, such as cowpeas, soybeans, lespedeza, alfalfa, kudzu, velvet beans, crotalaria, wild legumes, clovers, small grains, etc., grasses.

Generally speaking, they must be at least one acre of soil-conserving soil-building crops to every five acres of soil-depleting crops in the acreage, says L. N. Duncan, director of the State Extension Service.

This means that a farmer who has 100 acres of corn and cotton (soil-depleting crops) in the base must plant on his farm, in 1936 at least 20 acres of conserving and building crops to participate in the program.

Farmers will be eligible for payments for shifting up to 35 per cent of the base acreage of cotton to soil-building or soil-conserving crops. If the county shifting cannot afford to shift 25 per cent of the base acreage, the shift of acreage for which payments may be made is 20 per cent of the base.

Where food and feed crops have been produced of home needs, a grower may shift as much as 15 per cent of the excess acreage of corn, cotton, and small grains for hard-to-legumes, cover crops or approved soil-building practices and receive payments.

By planting soil-building and conserving crops and following soil-conserving and building practices, such as terracing, farmers may qualify for two types of payments. The first payment will be made for the plan in 1936 of soil-conserving crops, soil-depleting crop acreage, and conservation of soil-building crops and the plan of soil building practices on crop land or pasture in 1936.

Christian Science

All Christian Science Churches will have as their Lesson-Sermon next Sunday the subject, "Doctrine of Atonement." The Golden Text from 1st Corinthians 1:18, is: "The preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness; but unto us which are saved it is the power of God."

The following Bible passages from Hebrews 9:11, 12, 14, are among those occurring in the Lesson-Sermon: "But Christ being come an high priest of good things to come, by a greater and more perfect tabernacle, not made with hands, that is to say, not of this building; neither by the blood of goats and calves, but by his own blood he entered in once into the holy place, having obtained eternal redemption for us. How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?"

Correlative to the above Scriptures are the following citations from page 18, lines 1-9, of the Christian Science text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Atonement is the exemplification of man's unity with God, whereby man reflects divine Truth, Life and Love. Jesus of Nazareth, taught and demonstrated man's oneness with the Father, and for this we owe him endless homage. He did life's work aright not only in justice to himself, but in mercy to mortals—to show them how to do theirs, but not to do it for them nor to relieve them of a single responsibility."

Mrs. Eva Igney of Chicago won a divorce from her husband after the suit had been pending for eight years. Her joy was short-lived when her husband's lawyer announced he would appeal the case.

Charles Rader, a lawyer of Kansas City, Mo., not to be deterred when he found the lock of his hotel room plugged a saw and cut his way in.

And this extra value is well proved, too, for the Department of Agriculture and Immigration of the State of Virginia, after official tests, reported that ARCADIAN, THE AMERICAN NITRATE OF SODA contains extra Nitrogen over the guaranteed 16% with an extra cash value running as high as 88¢ per ton.

BUYERS OF "NEW COTTON" FIND THEY CAN'T GIN CLAIMS

Claims that "Mars Rose" or "Dixie Rose" will produce "4 bales per acre" of "long staple cotton or twice as much as any other strain on earth" have resulted in reported sales of seed of these so-called varieties at $10 to $100 a bushel.

Experiment stations in eight cotton producing states report that "Mars Rose" and "Dixie Rose" are not as good as the better standard varieties of cotton now generally grown. They have found no characteristics that merit the extravagant claims made for these specialty varieties. For example, the experiment stations find the staple averages less than 1 inch long instead of the 2 inches sometimes claimed.

Many farmers have been induced to buy this so-called new cotton since 1932. They wanted to share in the profit that goes along with the early distribution of seed of superior varieties. Although some of these farmers have no doubt profited from sales of seed, the profits from the expected high yields have not been obtained.

The State experiment stations recommend those varieties found through years of testing to be the best for local needs. Specialists of the U.S. Department of Agriculture urge that cotton growers use such recommendable varieties and leave experiments to the experiment stations. The department recalls that novel varieties of cotton have been developed and introduced from time to time for many years. With each introduction farmers have hastened to pay high prices to be on the ground floor, only to be disappointed when the new variety turned out to be not better than the cotton they had been growing, and not so good in most cases.

"Mars Rose" and "Dixie Rose" cotton are of the extreme cluster type, a patch of which when mature, looks as if it would produce an enormous yield. Field tests, however, show that these extreme cluster types of cotton produce no more than standard varieties.

Seed And Fertilizer
Should Be Separated

Auburn, Ala.—Planting cotton seed in the drill with fertilizer often causes poor stands, warns J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist, in advising farmers to plant their cotton so that the seed will not come in contact with the fertilizer.

"Where the planter will not separate the two in the drill, some light equipment should be run through the row to cover the fertilizer before the seed are dropped," he says.

After hunting for each other for 12 years, Charles and Lawrence Tollhurst, brothers, were reunited in a hospital in Sydney, Australia.

CLANTON TO GET SUNDAY MOVIE

Strawberry Crop Will Probably Be Short

First Car Of Season Was Shipped From County
Last Monday

Chilton County's strawberry crop for this year will turn out to be somewhat short, according to indications from all sections of the county. However, it was stated, the prices on the first few cars have been better than expected, due to the quality of the berries.

At this time the News was unable to secure the number of cars that have been shipped from the county to date. Only two have left Clanton so far.

Weather conditions are receiving the blame for the short crop, which will lack a great deal in comparing with crops of past years, and especially last year, according to Mr. L. E. Diefenderfer of Clanton, who also stated that a distinctive leaf disease, said to be giving the growers considerable trouble this year. Several hundred crates have been shipped from Clanton by truck, and Mr. Diefenderfer stated that possible two cars would be shipped Wednesday of this week. The crop is in need of rain.

Singing Convention At Courthouse Sun.

According to announcement of W. M. Devaughn, chairman, the annual singing convention of Chilton County will convene at the courthouse in Clanton Saturday night, April 25, for the first session, and will again meet on Sunday morning at ten o'clock for an all-day singing.

Many outstanding visiting singers will be present, and several quartets will render selections in addition to congregational singing. All singers of Chilton and adjoining counties are extended a special invitation to be present, as well as others in all parts of the state.

SHRUBBERY BEING PLANTED ON POST OFFICE GROUNDS

CLANTON'S NEW THEATRE HAS A FINE OPENING

Mayor Jones Addresses Full House When New Theatre Opens

Clanton's new theatre, the New Wadeson Theatre and the pride of the town, opened with a successful program and an overflowing house on Wednesday night of last week. The program included a feature picture, a comedy, news reel, one of the most amusing explanations of the new sound and picture equipment. A feature of the program was an address by Mayor C. Fenn Jones.

As the patrons entered the theatre, they were greeted by charming young lady ushers in uniform, and each person was presented with a delicious bar of candy.

In his address to the crowded house, which will comfortably seat six hundred persons in cushioned seats, Mayor Jones told of the construction of the large building and the efforts put forth by Messrs. C. W. and Charles Wade, to see that every precaution was taken to insure safety not only from fire, but also wind and collapse.

Mayor Jones gave praise to the Messrs. Wade for their ability to construct in the city of Clanton such a show house and thanked them for their confidence in Clanton, calling attention to the fact that the new theatre is a credit to the city.

FINE SINGING HELD SUNDAY AT MACEDONIA

Large Crowd Attends With Several Outstanding
Quartets Present

Most everyone of this community and several people of other communities arose with the sun Sunday to make ready to go to Macedonia for a singing. Before 11:00 o'clock the house was filled to capacity, besides the several others who were unable to get into the church.

The house was called to order by Mr. Clint Vazey, singing two songs and prayer by Mr. Zack Jones. At this time Mr. Ellis Martin was elected chairman for the day.

Directors for the morning were: Prof. Devaughn, Jesse Jones, Ralph Grant, B. L. Cofer, Prof. Vazey, Doyle Thacker, O. L. Devaughn, Prof. Grant, and a Mr. Deason and a Mr. Morris.

Highway Patrolmen Warn Careless Drivers

During the past sixty days highway Patrolmen Waites and Henley, stationed in Chilton County, have made cases against ten persons for reckless driving a vehicle without drivers license. They have also made several cases for driving with improper brakes, defective lights, exceeding the speed limit, improper parking on the highway, driving without license tags, carrier tags etc.

Waites and Henley state that their aim is to be of assistance to those using the highways, but that proper regard for the rights of other motorists must be observed at all times. Special emphasis was placed by them upon proper lights. Quite a few people, they stated, are a bit careless about keeping their automobile lights in good working order, thereby creating an accident hazard to themselves and others. Public cooperation is being asked to help reduce the causes of accidents, concluded Officers Waites and Henley.

Democrats Have Most Outstanding Ticket Now

One Of Most Outstanding Tickets Ever Offered
By The Democratic Party Comes Before
Voters Of Co. For May 5th Primary

What is termed by everyone familiar with politics in Chilton County, and with the candidates constituting the county ticket, the most outstanding line-up of candidates ever offered by Chilton Democrats, the candidates are girding themselves for the last go-round before the primary to be held on May 5th.

There are only two more weeks before the line will be drawn down a bit closer and indications are that there will be a run-off among Democratic candidates in Chilton County in the second primary of June 9th.

It has been many, many years since the Democratic party of Chilton County has with justifiable pride, come before the voters of this county with such an outstanding ticket. Every man and woman whose name will appear on the Democratic ticket for a county office, is of the finest calibre widely known, highly respected and successful in their own undertakings.

On another page of the News this week will be found a complete list of the Democratic candidates of Chilton County, under the heading of "Political Announcements." If you have not already studied this list, then do so now and be convinced that the Democratic Party of Chilton County has a ticket this year that cannot be questioned even by the most critical.

LOCAL BILLS DID NOT PASS LAST FRIDAY

Thomas Pushed Bills Thru
Senate But Tehy Died
In Other House

The two local Bills, one which would have abolished the Commission of Chilton County and the other would have abolished the office of county solicitor, failed to become law last Friday, the last day the Legislature of Alabama was in session.

Senator Earle Thomas, who sponsored the Bills, and introduced them in the Senate, had the backing of the Senate body and the Bills passed the Senate and the committee from the House of Representatives, and were apparently on the way to become law when the snag was struck.

The Bill to abolish the Commissioners Court and create a Board of Revenue for the county, was slated for passage Friday morning, and would possibly be a law today, if in the absence (Continued to Editorial Page)

THEATRE WILL GIVE AMOUNT FOR RELIEF

"DARK ANGEL" WILL BE SUNDAY MAIN PICTURE

Shows Will Not Bother Services Of Local Churches

Clanton's first Sunday moving picture show will be shown on next Sunday afternoon, according to an announcement made by Messrs. C. W. Wade and Charles Wade, owners of the two Wadeson Theatres in Clanton.

The Sunday show will, of course, be shown in the recently completed and modern theatre on the highway. An outstanding feature of this first Sunday movie is that all proceeds, over and above expenses of operation, will go to the Red Cross funds for the relief of the storm stricken areas in Gainesville, Ga., and Tupelo, Miss., at the suggestion of the Chilton County News, the management of which received the wholehearted endorsement of the theatre.

"We have believed that Clanton would support Sunday movies," Mr. Wade stated, "but we did not want to cause any criticism, nor will we consciously allow our Sunday shows to interfere with any church services." Mr. Wade is anxious to cooperate in any way possible in carrying out this program.

The feature picture for Sunday will be "Dark Angel," starring Frederic March, Merle Oberon and Herbert Marshall. It is one of the seasons most outstanding pictures.

Unusually low prices will prevail at the New Wadeson Theatre. Ten and twenty-five cents for all shows has been announced. The first show Sunday will begin at one-thirty in the afternoon. The show will begin services. Added attractions will be in at 8:45 o'clock, or rather after church closed in the program.

STATEMENT TO VOTERS FROM JOHN THOMPSON

Democratic Candidate For Commissioner Gives Views On Office

To the Voters of Chilton County, Alabama

Since the Commissioners Court question has been so important to the proposed Legislature Act, and as this has now been settled, I am appealing to my many friends in Chilton County to see as many of their friends as possible in behalf of my candidacy for Commissioner of the Fourth District of Chilton County. As you know, the Primary is less than two weeks off and it will be impossible for me to contact every voter personally.

If the voters of Chilton County honor me with this office, for which I am asking, it shall be my policy to operate the County on as economical basis as possible and to assist in the reduction of taxes wherever possible and to spend the County's money in the County as far as possible and to dispose of the trucks owned by the County and give this work to individuals, as I believe the County can hire trucks cheaper than they can own and operate their own trucks, thereby giving work to many people who are deprived of this under the present system. I am in favor of giving work to the people in the community in which they reside and I oppose the policy of hauling men across the country to work, when (Continued to Editorial Page)

PETE JARMAN For CONGRESS

Only two more weeks and voters of Chilton County will go to the polls to cast their ballots for the persons they believe are the ones to fill important state and county offices.

Only those voting the Democratic ticket in Chilton County will have the opportunity and privilege of having a voice in the selection of not only county officers but also many state officers.

Among the candidates whose offices affect more than this county will be found Hon. Pete B. Jarman, Jr., who seeks to represent this county and the Sixth Congressional District in the Congress of United States to succeed Hon. W. B. Oliver, who is not in the race.

A thorough check-up over the district shows that Mr. Jarman will without a doubt become our next Congressman. The News is for Mr. Jarman and does not hesitate to recommend him to the voters of Chilton County to fill this important position.

Mr. Jarman is thoroughly qualified to assume all the responsibilities that go with such an office. His experience in legislative matters, business, etc., has equipped him with an understanding that will go far in enabling him to serve his people while in the nation's capital.

Mr. Jarman is a comparatively young man, lacking several years before he will reach the half-century post. His rapid strides of progress and toward the top of the ladder attest to the ability he displays when serving his fellowmen, from the time he was a clerk in his father's probate office, through the trying months he rose to distinction fighting for his country in France and his services as an official of the State of Alabama during recent years.

70-POUND CATFISH IS CAUGHT IN COOSA RIVER

Crowds gathered around Saturday morning on the highway at J.D. Broadhead's Market to see one of the largest yellow catfish ever seen here in many years.

The fish, measuring over three feet long and weighing seventy pounds, was caught by R.H. Guyse, Jr., son of the owner of the ferry on the Rockford road, near Clanton.

FINE BOY BORN TO MR. AND MRS. JIMMY LECROY SUN.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Lecroy have announced the arrival of a fine one-pound boy last Sunday morning at the home of Mrs. Lecroy's parents, Mauleville. The new arrival has been named James Alvin. The News joins the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Lecroy in extending sincere congratulations.

Junior Dept. Store Stock Being Sold

Bargain seekers of this section are having a regular picnic since the entire stock of the Clanton Junior Dept. Store has been purchased and is being offered for sale at unheard of prices by a Clanton merchant.

Another advertisement in this issue of the News tells more of this sensational clearance of this stock of goods.

C. REESE MULLINS IS NOW AGENT FOR AUTO INSURANCE

An advertisement in the News this week from one of Clanton's well known insurance agents, C. Reese Mullins, states that he is now in position to furnish automobile insurance, also trucks, plate glass and other incidental forms.

TORNADO CHARACTERISTICS DESCRIBED BY CHEWACLA STATE PARK WRITER

By HOWARD C. SMITH

Chewacla State Park, Auburn, Ala., April 12.—Alabama, suffers from tornadoes in the Spring and early Summer and from Caribbean hurricanes in Summer and Fall. Tornadoes occur when the days are lengthening and the heat strengthening. Hurricanes come when the days are shortening and the cold increasing. Both are caused by seasonal disturbances of the usual heat conditions, that have been fairly well stabilized for several months.

Big changes in the length of days and nights, make even greater changes in temperature and these cause violent disturbances, vicious and destructive. In this article, tornadoes will be considered in brief.

Tornadoes occur during low pressure conditions of the air and when a large volume of warm, moist ascending air, meets a large volume of dry, cold air at elevations of two or more miles. Tornadoes are bred high in air. Sometimes, they fortunately, do not settle down to the earth. Again, the force of gravity aided by other less well understood causes, brings them to earth and trouble is apt to occur.

"A tornado is a most violent effort of the air, to mix cold, dry air with moist, hot air. The atmosphere is trying to regain its stability, or equilibrium. It is a big job. It may take hours and stretch over several states as in March 1925, when a tornado lashed through Missouri, Illinois and Indiana killing two regiments of citizens, and destroying between 15 and 20 million dollars of property. No force of man or nature can compare with a tornado.

Occur At Any Hour

Tornadoes may come at any hour of night or day, but usually they follow a hot day, with low barometer. Static electricity is present in the clouds and in the air also. Thus the air is supercharged with ammunition and with the hair trigger ready to be pulled. A single small electric spark will discharge a thousand tons of dynamite. When all conditions are ready for a tornado, it presumably requires but little to start it, in its birthplace high in the air. Some

"No, I'm Going To The Show In Clanton"

A rather interesting conversation was overheard by a News reporter last Tuesday between two of Clanton's popular young people which stood out in the mind of the reporter as worth mentioning.

First Party—"Going to Montgomery with us Sunday to see a show?"

Second Party—"No, shoot I'm gonna stay in Clanton Sunday and see the show in the new show. They got a good one on and besides it don't cost but a quarter."

First Party—"Say, I'd forgotten about that. Whatcha say we join you all and see the afternoon show?"

Yes, Clanton's first Sunday movie will be shown in the New Wadesonian Theatre on next Sunday afternoon, beginning at one-thirty o'clock. The night show will start at 8:45, or soon after church services are over.

tornadoes are believed to be dissipated in the air without damage. Many believe that airplanes have been destroyed high in the air by running into aerial tornadoes, but this is not exactly known.

Four Motions

Tornadoes have four complex motions. None can tell how these will act or where they will and. Tornadoes are as "fickle as the wind," in fact they are the most powerful wind blown. The first motion is onward, usually from the southwest to the northeast, at the rate of from 20 to 40 miles per hour. This causes little destruction usually. The second motion is a spinning "round and round" over an area from a few hundred feet wide to one-fourth mile, this motion cannot be measured but is estimated at from 100 to 500 miles per hour. The third motion, is within the tornado, at the center and is an upward suction, carrying heavy objects high in air, and maybe depositing them miles away. A fourth motion, consists of a bounding up and down, as it passes over the land. This is due to meeting hills up which it scrapes everything clean, only to bound into the air and be drawn down again by gravitation.

A top thrown spinning to the floor, where it bounces first and then wanders around slowly, but all the while spinning vigorously, illustrates each tornado motion except the upward suctional movement.

Tornadoes An Internal Battle

Tornadoes then originate as a battle high in air, between powerful masses of cold dry air on top and moist, electrically charged air underneath. They are accompanied by deluges of water and incessant lightning. There is no build-up that can endure the full fury of a tornado in action.

Fortunately, their zone is narrow, but sadly, their destruction is inevitable and complete with of course, many miraculous escapes. Their estimated speed may be as high as 8 miles per minute in the whirl. Compare this with Sir Malcolm Campbell's highest automobile speed of five miles per minute, or 30.15 miles per hour, or the world's airplane record of 423.822 miles per hour or about 7 miles per minute.

How Destruction Takes Place

Nothing is unbelievable in the path of a tornado. Doubtless the velocity and power varies with conditions. The length duration and coverage on the ground vary considerably. Pine straw may be stuck like needles into the bark of trees; feathers may be "exploded" from fowls; vegetables striped from the ground; a brick wall vanish; a single horn taken from a billy goat's head and he continue happy ever after; persons, animals, boards may be carried considerable distances. In 1923 the writer with force enough to penetrate three feet of hard earth. All this and much more; a house may explode and leave the occupants in bed unharmed, but side walls gone, while the next house entirely disappears.

One can quite fully understand and interpret all the above and much more if the action and principles of a tornado are understood.

Mere wind will not blow a horn off a coat, but the air is filled with deadly missiles and anything in its path will be building ever made can escape damage in the path of a tornado: an automobile may be carried away and ruined, or merely lose the top, if the car is in the vacuumlike center of tornado. To understand why buildings explode, we may suppose a case.

Given a small box like building 10 feet square on all sides, this has 600 square feet of surface. The air pressure averages about one ton per square foot, on both inside and outside, under normal conditions, or 400 tons. If a tornado passes centrally over this box, it could happen that half the outside pressure could be removed, while at the same moment the inside pressure remains constant. Nothing but an iron safe can withstand a pressure of 200 tons on the inside and not be shattered to pieces instantly and with an explosion. Autos with windows open also houses may escape better than when closed tightly.

Many buildings in Georgia, especially of brick, lost the top story by explosion and force of the wind, the second story often escaped by explosion of the plate glass windows outward. Many buildings escaped by losing the roof which reduced the pressure enough to prevent loss.

Escapes From Danger

A storm pit well built, should be safe retreat. With the air filled with deadly missiles, a small pebble may cause death or serious injury. A small sapling, or hedge fence is comparatively safe. Big trees are usually wrenched out by the roots, or broken off about nine feet from the ground. A forest is usually leveled, in the path of a tornado, only saplings escaping.

Tornadoes may have certain paths, but too much reliance must not be placed on this factor. They usually take a general direction coming from the southwest and going northeast. They may do less damage on a downward slope than when ascending a hill. Their bounding motion takes place only in hilly regions as a rule, but no rule can be followed. An auto traveling 40 miles per hour in the direction of a tornado, might have little difficulty in out running a tornado. Should one see a tornado approaching them directly escape might be possible by running at right angles to the onrushing wind for a distance of a few hundred yards, or one fourth mile.

Possibly an open field and a good handhold on a small shrub, or on the outside of a hedge is safest if out of the doors. To hide in a ditch is to run a danger of drowning. Much is known about the effects of tornadoes but little is known about other factors involved.

FIGHT HOUSE FLY

EARLY IN SPRING

"Fight the house fly now. The homemaker who takes the offensive in early spring will not find herself on the defensive in August," says the Alabama state college of home economics at Auburn.

Screens are among the best weapons to use against the fly, the college points out. Screens in just a few of the windows, or in the windows only, are not enough. Every door should have its screen. Full-length window screens add greatly to summer comfort, because the windows can be opened at the top or bottom for better ventilation, and cracks are eliminated between the upper edges and the top sash which admit flies and other insects.

"The best way to destroy the fly, however, is to destroy its breeding place. House flies not only annoy in summer but menace health because they breed in filth and feed on filth before alighting on human food. They pick up germs on the thick hairs and bristles which cover their legs and bodies. Absolute cleanliness in disposal of all garbage and waste, whether in house or barn-yards, is essential fighting the fly."

NEW FEDERAL FARM PROGRAM IS MAKING HIT IN ALABAMA

Farmers Like Idea That New Program Is Not Compulsory And Pays Well For Those Who Participate In The Program

The new federal farm program is making a hit with all the farmers because it is not compulsory and pays for those who participate in the program, according to Editor Jim Oakley of The Centerville Press.

He adds that farmers are asking questions and showing much interest in it and says indications are that the county will have a large number of farmers participating. Every farmer is urged to get full details about the program by making all preparation for participating.

The Bibb County response is typical of the reaction announced in practically every section of the state. Farmers are showing more enthusiasm and faith for the soil conservation and erosion control program as the days pass. They have come to realize that there is a time when a halt must be called on the loss of top soil from their lands and on the waste of fertility that comes from constant use of lands which too seldom see a proper rotation of crops.

Proper crops of legume builders, vetches, clovers, etc., are the best guarantees possible against these conditions and getting paid for saving one's land has a wide appeal.

The cotton farmer who got 200 pounds of lint cotton to the acre can retire that land from production and get 5 cents a pound, and that $10 will seem a good investment while the land is being built anew.

HIGHLAND

Gladys Wyatt

The health of this community is very good at present.

We had a large crowd out for Sunday school last Sunday and we invite all back again. Come back next week and bring someone with you. Saturday and Sunday are our preaching days. We invite all to come out and be with us. Sunday evening was our regular singing evening. We had a good singing. We were especially glad to have visitors and invite them back again.

The opening song was led by the woman, Mr. Coy Lockhart, after which prayer was led by the Rev. W. S. Directors were Mr. Coy Lockhart, Miss Gladys Wyatt, Mr. L. Z. Berry, Mrs. Ruby Hay, Mr. George Ambers, Mr. Herman Culpepper and Zane Lowery. Closing prayer was by Mr. W. R. Baker. Pains for afternoon were Mrs. Dessie Foshee, Miss Virginia Eubanks. The Libby Hill Quartet sang several numbers which were greatly enjoyed.

Remember we have our singing every Sunday afternoon and invite all to come and be with us.

P. Smith of Connellsville, Pa., following in suite of a legacy of $7,000 declares that he will "keep it valuable."

NEW CEDRON CUBS LOSE ANOTHER GAME

The New Cedron Cubs lost another game last Saturday by a score of 9-12 to the local CCC boys. This is the third defeat, the other two were lost to the local mill boys by scores of 5-4 and 10-0.

The game with the CCC boys was almost without errors but both teams hit hard and numerous. H. Brown, first sacker for the Cubs, got 4 hits out of 5 times at bat. They consisted of 1 triple and 3 singles.

The game was played in high wind and dust.

Everyone has a special invitation to see a double-header at the New Cedron park, Saturday, April 25. The first game will be with Kincheon and the last with the CCC team.

Producers May Sell 12-Cent Loan Cotton

Alabama county agents have received printed forms for cotton producers to use in obtaining release of warehouse receipts so that they may sell a million bales of 12-cent loan cotton through the regular channels.

"The plan that has been adopted will afford producers a commission of not to exceed 25 points for the marketing of this cotton together with such premiums which may accrue on account of grade, staple, and location," says Secretary Wallace in a letter to all county agents in the State.

"It is particularly important that cotton producers who desire to take advantage of this plan be advised that they should insist that buyers pay them the full market price and all premiums which their particular cotton should bring. In other words, the producer should market this cotton in the same manner that he would market his crop, because if less than full value is paid by the buyer the net amount which will be obtained by the producer will be less. It is desired to emphasize this point as already we have received reports that producers who have cotton in the loan are pledging or assigning their equities at less than the full value. While no assignments or pledges will be recognized, producers should be fully advised of the value of their holdings in order that private arrangements will not be made which involve a sacrifice of the producers' return under this program."

KING of Them All

Foremost Highflyer, 1935 Grand Champion Jersey Bull.
Owned by A. H. Goss, The Oaklands, Ann Arbor, Mich.

THERE ARE PLENTY of Jersey bulls in America, but only one among all the thousands, stands out as National Champion. Foremost Highflyer won 1935 honors at the National Dairy Show, St. Louis, Mo.—a magnificent creature to which Nature gave the vital spark, the perfect natural balance of all the elements that go to make a champion. Wonderful top line, great body, fine neck, shoulders, big barreled, good on his legs—Foremost Highflyer had everything!

Most bulls are just bulls, average strong, average good, but just plain ordinary bulls. There is only one Foremost Highflyer. He stands out the King of them all—the champion.

The champion bull is Nature at her best—one of Nature's wonder creations. Favored by Nature, with her priceless gift of perfect natural balance, the champion is almost beyond price, while another bull that may look a little like him—well, he's just bull, that's all.

And here is another wonder-creation of Nature—Natural Chilean Nitrate. Like the champion bull, Natural Chilean is favored by Nature with that priceless gift of natural balance—natural blend of many elements such as boron, calcium, manganese, etc., over and above its nitrogen. Nature gave the vital spark to this nitrogen fertilizer by blending into it these vital impurities. Nature herself aged it, cured it... that's why Natural Chilean is the natural food for your crops.

Natural Chilean contains almost two score of major and minor elements such as boron, magnesium, manganese, iodine, calcium, potassium, etc.—each a vital element in growth and healthy development of plants.

IN LOVING MEMORY

On Monday night, March 30, the death angel visited the St. Margaret's Hospital in Montgomery and took away our dearest beloved friend, Mr. Tom Allen.

We have been farming for Mr. Allen for twenty-two consecutive years and we learned to love him as a "man of all men."

During those years we learned to love him almost like a father.

For words of comfort to the family, "Weep not, for he is at rest."

—A family who dearly loved him, Mr. and Mrs. Green Griffin and family.

Functional Monthly Pains

Women from the 'teen age to the change of life have found Cardui genuinely helpful for the relief of functional monthly pains due to lack of just the right strength from the food they eat. ## PLATFORM OF THOS. H. MAXWELL FOR CONGRESS

THOS. H. MAXWELL, of Tuscaloosa, Ala., Route 1, candidate for Congressman from the Sixth District, composed of Chilton, Bibb, Greene, Hale, Perry, Shelby, Sumter and Tuscaloosa Counties.

PLATFORM

I am not on a privately owned corporation or state payroll and am backed by no Clique or ring.

I favor such legislation that the farmer receive more than cost for his products, that he spend money and thus aid all other vocations. Such is the main objective of the American Farm Bureau Federation. Therefore let us have:

I. Collective bargaining for the organized farmer and organized industrial labor.

II. The thirty hour week in manufacturing to distribute the opportunities lessened by labor saving machinery.

III. Pensions, paid wholly by the Federal Government, administered by states, of $30.00 per month to all persons of sixty or more years, whose incomes are less than $1,000.00 per year, which plank the gray haired, young, and middle aged should support.

IV. Federal loans at one-half of one per cent per annum to sovereign states for use in their schools, liquidating borrowed indebtedness, and for other purposes.

V. Erosion control for soil conservation.

VI. Flood control with incidental conservation of power to be used in country homes.

VII. A sufficiency of Constitutional money for conducting the nation's business without borrowing.

Pass this word by letter or post card or phone to the counties:

Bibb, Chilton, Greene, Hale, Perry, Shelby, Sumter, Tuscaloosa, that every farm voter rally to polls on May 5th, 1936, rain or shine to elect their man while the other citizens are willing to vote for him. This is the splendid opportunity for Congress by properly applying the best of Constitutions can make the people happy and panicle.

Sincerely,

THOMAS H. MAXWELL.
(Paid poll. adv. by Thos. H. Maxwell, Tuscaloosa, Ala., Rt. 1)

Goodyear Pneumatic Tires Successful On Farm Implements

Akron, Ohio, April 21—Pneumatic tire efficiency, for the past several years available only to tractors, has been extended to all rolling farm implements, according to an announcement by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company introducing a new tire especially designed for farm implements.

The new Goodyear Implement tire was developed only after close consultation with leading farm machinery manufacturers. The tire bears the mark of approval of these manufacturers, who have already adopted it as standard equipment for many harvesters and farm machines, just as the recently-announced Goodyear All-Traction tractor tire is used on many leading makes of tractors.

Seven major advantages are claimed for the new Implement tire over steel wheels: faster work because the tires roll freely and require up to 60 per cent less draw bar pull for a given load; better work because the tires roll easily and smoothly over rough terrain; cheaper work because it takes less fuel for the tractor to draw the implement and more area can be covered in a given time; more kinds of work because the implement tires can travel in soft ground where steel wheels not only cut and stall, but frequently injure crops and roots; greater savings because repairs are fewer and depreciation less, due to maximum cushioning afforded; savings in time because the machine can be moved faster between jobs over the highways, across lawns, over barn floors; greater comfort because the operators ride with a minimum of jolts in comfort comparable to that of a modern automobile.

Since Goodyear's introduction of the pneumatic tire for tractors in 1931, farmers have found out for themselves that tractor operations can be conducted at greater speed, at less cost and with greater comfort, and so quick to see the advantages of the tire, Goodyear engineers believe they can predict that farming operations within a relatively short time will be speeded up to a pace undreamed of a few years ago.

Implementers now mounted on wheels may easily be converted to rubber-tired vehicles by the changeover method, in which the wheels are cut down and a Goodyear rim welded on, it is said.

A WONDER HORSE

With the approach of the racing season old-timers around the track indulge in reminiscences concerning great horses of the past, but few living ever saw in action the most of them all, Goldsmith Maid, born 1837 and died 1885.

Although she was the fastest of her day and held the world's record for seven years, her claim to immortality is not due to her speed as a career will explain:

Her dam was a dray mare and sire was a thoroughbred. Goldsmith Maid was a farm animal until she was 6, ran her first race and won it, ran her last time and won at the age of 20. Her speed increased with years, her best time being 2:14, when she was still the world's champion trotter at the age of 18.

Her records were made while she was to the old high wheeled sulky to the age of pneumatic tires. Her earnings were $364,000, exceeded only Sam Eba's $440,000, in spite of higher purses offered in recent years.

Goldsmith Maid ran in 123 hot races, some of three or five heats coming in first in 97, second in 16, in 7, fourth in 1, and being unplaced in only 2.

It is said of her that she was more than any other horse that lived, yet travelling never dulled speed, or affected her gentle and affectionate disposition. What a

CARD OF THANKS FROM SHILOH BAPTIST CHURCH

We, the people of Shiloh Church and community, decided August 10, 1935, to build a new church. As our old house was not large enough to take care of our people we were in need of another one. We now have our new house ready for use but it is not completed, yet, we hope to complete it without making a debt against it. We want to thank each and every one who has had a part in any way in helping us build. Having our own timber, we only had to raise about five hundred dollars in money. To this amount people from all over the county have donated liberally. Some gave from a small amount up to as high as twenty-five dollars, for which we are very thankful.

We are planning to have a dedication and home coming service on the fifth Sunday in May. All who have had a part in helping build this church as well as former pastors and members, have a special invitation to come and spend the day with us. We are working out a program for that day so watch the paper for the program--L. C.
Keen, J. I. Bice, Minnie Mullins, Committee.

Peanut Diversion Plan Offered State Growers

A plan for diverting surplus peanuts from the 1935 crop into peanut oil has been announced by the Secretary of Agriculture. Until April 30 farmers will get diversion payments for peanuts grown in 1935 which they sell to millers for crushing. The payments will be $11 on Spanish-type peanuts, $21 for Virginia type, and $3 for Runner-type peanuts. It is expected that the grower will receive from the miller only the oil value for peanuts on which the grower receives diversion payments.
In addition to the offer to growers, the Secretary invited peanut millers to submit offers to buy and divert 1935 peanuts into oil.
Peanut producers and millers interested in this proposition may obtain details from their county agents, advises Dr. L. N. Duncan, director of the State Extension Service.

Farm Prog'm Provides Aid For Soil Building

Payments under the soil conservation program for adopting sound farm practices which conserve the soil and improve its fertility will provide relief from the economic pressure which has forced farmers to mine their soil in order to get enough cash to meet interest, taxes, and living and operating expenses, in the opinion of Dr. L. N.
Duncan, director of the State Extension Service.
"Every cultivated crop takes a definite amount of the original plant food out of the soil. The necessary cultivation of such crops exposes the land to erosion which results not only in additional fertility losses, but also in losses of soil," he says.

"I know the value of extra nitrogen!"

I may be an "old timer" but I keep in touch with new things. And when any new thing is better, that's what I want. Ever since I learned that the Department of Agriculture and Immigration of Virginia reported that ARCADIAN, THE AMERICAN NITRATE OF SODA contained extra nitrogen over the guaranteed 16% with an extra cash value as high as 88c per ton, I have used no other. I know the value of extra nitrogen and I make sure to get that extra value. For cotton, corn and all other crops it is now proved that ARCADIAN, THE AMERICAN NITRATE OF SODA brings the farmer big value.

Teel-Hatchett Wedding Is Of Wide Interest

A wedding that is of wide interest throughout this county and adjoining counties, took place recently when Miss Kathryn Hatchett, of Birmingham, became the bride of Tom Frank Teel, of Clanton. The ceremony was performed quietly in the presence of only a few relatives and close friends. Mrs. Teel is the charming daughter of Mrs. Maude Joy and a popular young lady of Birmingham, and has a large number of friends in this city. She has been the recipient of many honors since her marriage, attesting to her wide popularity.

Mr. Teel comes from one of the county's well known families and is a native of Chilton County where he has a large circle of friends. He has been holding a responsible position with the Alabama Harness & Shoe Shop, one of Clanton's well known business establishments.

A linen shower was given last Saturday at the bride's home in Birmingham with Miss Elizabeth Lesley, of Jasper as the hostess. In the receiving line was Miss Byrdie Teel, of Clanton, and sister of the groom. A tea shower will be given to the bride next Saturday in Birmingham, among other honors.

Outstanding Accomplishments of Sen. Bankhead

He was requested by the Administration to look after the Agricultural Adjustment Act before the Senate Committee on Agriculture and on the floor of the Senate. He did so and secured the passage of the principal phases of the bill in which the Administration was interested.

In 1933 he sponsored a campaign to raise the price of cotton and secured an appropriation of $100,000,000 to finance the program, and led the fight to secure the President's approval of the appropriation and the plan.

When it became apparent in 1933 that another big crop was about to be raised, Senator Bankhead prevailed upon the President to lend the farmers 10 cents per pound on their cotton. This was the first effective loan made to the farmers.

In 1934 he secured the approval by the President of the 12 cent loan for the crop of 1934 and also arranged to extend the 12 cent loan to the cotton which had been put under the 10 cent loan, thereby getting the farmers 12 cents per pound for the cotton produced in 1933.

In 1935 he made a vigorous fight for another 12 cent loan and helped to secure the 12 cent bounty plan now in effect.

In 1934 when it appeared that the surplus was not being properly reduced, he introduced and with the aid of Representative Bankhead in the House, secured the passage of the Bankhead Cotton Control Act. After the first year's trial President Roosevelt in a public statement declared this Act had been the salvation of the South. The farmers by a vote of nearly ten to one voted to continue it after the first year's trial. As a result of the act and the loans, the price of cotton was doubled and the price of cottonseed was increased from ten dollars a ton to thirty-five dollars a ton. The price of peanuts was also similarly increased because of the shortage of cottonseed oil.

When the Supreme Court declared the Agricultural Adjustment Act unconstitutional President Roosevelt immediately called Senator Bankhead to the White House and plans were started to work out some substitute that would not be in conflict with the decision of the Court. Senator Bankhead after days and nights of continuous work, introduced S. 3780 which is the present conservation law. He secured the approval of the bill by the Senate Committee on Agriculture after a strenuous fight, and was placed in charge of the bill on the floor of the Senate. Before his bill was finally passed he was stricken with influenza, but his bill is the basis of the present law, and under that law the Alabama farmers will receive this year more than $10,000,000 and will continue indefinitely with a farm program.

He is the author of the Subsistence Homestead Law. He is the author of the Farm Tenant Bill which has passed the Senate; it is now believed that it will pass the House this session, as it has the active support of President Roosevelt.

Rental and benefit cash payments in your county for 1935 alone under the farm program amounted to $169,728.32.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

I sat at my study window and watched a drove of blackbirds on the ground. They played about in great satisfaction and seemed to be unafraid. At last one blackbird flew into the air as if frightened and all the drove flushed with him and went into the trees. This I observed, that when one went into the air, all followed him. The human race is more or less like a drove of blackbirds. We do things because someone does that thing before us. "Everybody Is Doing It" so says youth and old age. "And Why Not Me?" If you want to flush people into the ways of sin just let some old blackbird, a leader in sin, lead the way and rest of us will follow. "I smoke, I drink," says the foolish, because everybody is doing it.

Here is what a man of middle life told me out of his own experience related to the whiskey question. He said, "Folks are saying that if whiskey comes back that things will be any worse than they are right now. Any sensible man will know better than that. I will remember the days of the saloon and the dispensary. I was then a lad of ten and I have stood by my mother's side on Saturday night as she sat at the front door with a shot gun across her lap to protect us children from drunken men going home from town on Saturday night. That was the day of mules and wagons and it was bad enough, but God only knows what will take place with drunken men in automobiles in this new age." That was a sensible man. Remember this folks—if you endorse and vote for the return of whiskey in your state, you have an undebatable share in all the drunks, all the murders, all the broken homes, all the ruined lives, all the dejected youths of your state. I know that you will feel proud of your accomplishments when you can point to those wrecked lives and say: "I had a part in that."

My car was running along at normal speed but to be sure that I was not running too fast I glanced down at the speedometer. The hand that indicated the speed of the car had become detached and had fallen into the base of the bowl. The speedometer was working but the one thing that told of the speed made was out of place and I could only guess at the speed of the car. When God gave to you a conscience He placed into your life a speedometer to tell you how fast you should live. I fear that many of our consciences have gone bad under high speed in our ways of living. Better keep your life speedometer working. A Christian conscience will tell you when you are living at too high speed for right living.

In a certain jail there is a cell fixed for those who show signs of jail breaking. This cell is built on machinery that goes round and round. If a prisoner is inclined to try and break jail, his cell will not stay still long enough for him to dig out. The movements of his cell prevents him from digging out if he were so inclined. We all have known men and women who have gotten themselves into a like cell as they live day after day. We see those who do nothing but go round and round in life. Forever on the move. Any who wishes to dig out of the prison house of sin must stop, must stay still long enough to think, he must come to himself and dig out. He that moves in a circle is existing behind prison bars. The more abundant life is that life that is made free in Christ Jesus.

There are two kinds of music—jazz music and classical music. It does not take an artist in music to know which is being played. Anyone with eyes and with feeling can judge the music being played. Here is a sure rule for the judging of the quality of music. If you hear music and it affects those listening from the waist up, you may know that it is jazz music. If it affects those listening from the waist up, you may know that it is classical. Jazz music never fails to rattle the hips, shuffle the feet and rattle the bones. Jazz music appeals to the base in life. On the other hand classical music stills the body, quiets the soul and feeds the inner life. When you hear music and it affects your brain and heart it is classical, but if it affects you from the waist down it is jazz.

Reuben Bement turned a flock of chickens loose in his barnyard at St. Petersburg, Ind. When the chickens failed to go to roost that night he investigated and found them all stuck fast in the mud.

13,000 Ala. Families Approved for Loans

Auburn, April 22.—More than 13,000 Alabama farm families had been approved for rural rehabilitation loans by the Resettlement Administration, April 15, it was announced here by Julian Brown, director of the rehabilitation program in Alabama.

With the planting season under way, Brown pointed out, the loaning of the 1936 program is practically complete with 13,605 families accepted a possibility that acceptance of pending applications may bring the total to 13,900. Planting, caring for, and harvesting crops constitute the next phase of the program, Brown said, in which rural rehabilitation and home management supervisors will cooperate county agricultural and home demonstration agents in supervising the rying out of farm and home plans to insure the most satisfactory results from the year's activity.

The loans were made to farm families who were unable to obtain local aid elsewhere, and the money was used for the purchase of livestock, machinery, seed, and other farm necessities including subsistence loans repayable in installments in five years. As security the RA mortgages on the coming crops and the capital goods advanced besides signed agreement of each borrower family to follow farm and home management plans.

The loans total $2,508,523. This averages $184 per family, which comes with an average of $226 per family the 1935 program.

"I am advised that this average is the lowest of that in any state," Brown said. "This may be attributed in part to the success of the 1935 program. About 9,000 of the families receiving loans this year were on last year's list, and most of them have on hand sufficient feed to rattle livestock and a good portion of the family food requirements. Practically all the loans include funds for payment cash rent while few of the 1935 loans included them."

"This would indicate," Brown concluded, "considerable progress with low-income and destitute farm families we are trying to help to the point that they may become self-supporting."

Fred Hillman of Springfield, who offered membership in an crime organization with each man he sold, had to suspend business because all his supplies were stolen, including door handles to warn the crime subscribers.

The part that the modern newspaper plays in the life of the community will be the subject of a radio program to be broadcast through the courtesy of the National Broadcasting Company early in July.

Occasion for this wide tribute to the publishing industry is found in the fiftieth anniversary of the invention of the linotype. It was this key invention of that freed printing from the limitations of hand work and made possible the development of the newspaper in the form we know it today.

A prize of $500 and a trip to New York has been offered by the Mergenthaler Linotype Co. for the 30 minute radio script which best dramatizes newspaper development over the last fifty years.

This paper will be glad to furnish the rules of the contest and to demonstrate the production of a modern newspaper to any of its readers who wish to compete for this award.

PENSIONERS OF 200 A.D.

It is only 1936, but if history repeats itself there will be veterans of World War still alive and drawing pensions in the year 2000.

Samuel F. Bakerman, last survivor of Revolutionary War, lived until 1869, or 86 years after the war. Hiram Cronk drew a pension as a veteran of the War of 1812 until death on May 13, 1905, at the age 87 years. Five soldiers of the Mexican War were still on the pension rolls after the close of that war.

In this connection it is interesting to note that two mothers of Civil War veterans were still drawing pensions to four or five years ago. They were Samantha Button of West McComb, Ill., and Samantha Farrer, a woman of Athens, Ala.

Although the Civil War ended in 1865, quite probable that a veteran or who followed Grant may be alive drawing a pension in 1950. Considering the vast greater number of who fought with Pershing in Mexico, it is not unreasonable to suppose that some of them will still be drawing the living in the year 2000.

A youngster of 17, who enlisted in 1917, would be 100 years old then, with the greater span of life which modern science is making possible there doubtless be many to attain that

Credit Associations Lending More Money

Production credit associations throughout the United States loaned farmers over $66,000,000 during the first three months of 1936, the largest amount in any similar period since the organizations were started.

Eight of the associations for making crop and livestock loans are located at Bay Minette, Ozark, Auburn, Anniston, Huntsville, Russellville, Demopolis, and Montgomery in Alabama.

AN IMPORTANT CROP

Among recent agricultural developments, one of the most striking is seen in the rise of the soybean industry, last year's crop of 39 million bushels being twice as large as that of the preceding year. Fifteen years ago the American crop was less than three million bushels.

The soybean is a native of Asia, and in China and Japan it is extensively used for human food. In the United States it is now used chiefly as stock feed and as a soil improver, but it is also employed in the manufacture of plastics, paint, varnish and linoleum. The oil is used in numerous kinds of food.

Soybean oilmeal, with protein content of 40 to 44 per cent, is most advantageously used in the feeding of dairy cows, hogs and poultry.

State experiment stations and experimental farms operated by large feed companies agree that soybean oilmeal possesses many advantages as a stock and poultry feed, being more palatable and easier to digest, besides promoting more rapid and satisfactory growth than other protein feeds.

Farmers who have not already done so would do well to investigate the possibilities of soybeans as a profitable addition to their crop program. Soybeans may be planted from early spring to midsummer; they will thrive on poorer land than corn and some other staple crops, and the plant is little subject to disease or insect attacks.

Joseph Banto, 20, of New York City, left this note when he committed suicide: "A lesson to the young male members of our family to keep away from women."

Any Friend Recommends BLACK-DRAUGHT

People who have taken Black-Draught naturally are enthusiastic about it because the refreshing relief it has brought them. No wonder they urge others to try it! Joe G. Roberts, of Portersville, Pa., writes: "A friend recommended Black-Draught to me a long time ago and it has proved its worth to me. Black-Draught is good for constipation. I find that taking Black-Draught prevents the biliousness which I used to have." "I find that Black-Draught is the only vegetable medicine for the treatment of constipation, biliousness

Understand This

THE TVA had in its control $50 million dollars worth of property during the years 1934 and 1935, on which, according to its own annual report, it paid during the year 1935 a mere $16,900 in taxes.

The property of Alabama Power Company and of the Tennessee Electric Power Company equal about the same figure, namely, about 250 million dollars. During 1935 they paid 4 1/2 million dollars out in taxes.

Utility Companies Pay 270 Times

More Taxes Than TVA!

In other words, the utility companies paid taxes 270 times as great as the TVA on the same property valuation.

And yet the TVA claims that it pays taxes on the same basis as private companies. You don't have to be a college graduate to understand the error of that statement.

Local Farm Conditions Showing Improvement

FAMILIES SECURE LOANS

217 farm families in Clanton County have secured loans totaling $1,181.63, reports the county supervisor.

The 1936 crop season is on and 217 Clanton County farmers are planting and getting ready for the harvest with the aid of the federal government rehabilitation program, according to Marvin Durbin, county supervisor for the Resettlement Administration.

T. DAWSON SKS SUPPORT OF ELECTORS

Dawson, candidate for Commissioner from Third District, makes statement.

To the Voters of Clanton County: The next Tuesday, the Democratic primary for Commissioner from the Third District will be chosen by you. As a candidate for that office and in my earnest effort to see as many voters as possible to tell me your views and ask their support.

I realize that I have not been able to see you all. I have been busy with farming which must be done now, we know.

In making this statement to you, I want you to feel assured that if I am elected you will have a man to represent you, who will cooperate in every possible way with your other county officials toward those things for the betterment of the county, and I will not take any action that will tend to diminish your county treasury or your tax which should be sacred and wisely used.

I intend to see that work on roads by community in my District shall be given to those who live in that county and not to some person from other sections of the county, if I am elected to this office. In event that I am not your nominee, I will throw my strength behind the man you choose, a great believer in good roads, a good cost, and good schools for the county, and if elected will devote efforts to this interest.

I will greatly appreciate your vote and support in the primary next Tuesday.

ALL WARRANT ARE RELEASED LAST WEEK

Judge Smith Pushes Effort For Payment To All Road Employees

Last Saturday was a red letter day for all road employees of Clanton County, when the road warrants in payment of work for several weeks, were released and ordered paid by Judge J. Lee Smith.

The warrants were held up due to certain legislation and an opinion from the attorney-general of Alabama was sought by Judge Smith, so that some disposition could be made of the matter and the employees receive their pay.

Judge Smith worked diligently on this and through his efforts the warrants were released Saturday.

R. L. OUSLEY ASKS SUPPORT FOR CANDIDACY

Expresses Appreciation For Efforts Prior To The Primary Monday

To The Voters of Clanton County: The date for the primary election is drawing near and I am using this method of sending a message to the voters of the county asking for their vote and support in behalf of my candidacy for Commissioner from the Third District.

It has been impossible for me to get around to see all the voters through the county, but I have tried to contact as many in the Third District as I could and I want to take this opportunity to express my appreciation to those who have supported me.

MISS LENNA GLENN WINS FREE PERMANENT WAVE AT MODERN

In the guessing contest held recently by the Modern Beauty Shoppe of Clanton, Miss Lenna Glenn was awarded first prize of a free permanent wave. The contest was open to all those calling at the beauty shoppe and guessing the number of permanent waves sold by the shop during the past year.

The Modern Beauty Shoppe is extending an invitation to the ladies of this section to visit their place of business on next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday for a skin analysis of Mme. Rubinfeld, and receive a complimentary facial. See their announcement elsewhere in this issue for further details.

Stores To Close For Half Holiday Soon

Clanton stores will begin closing for a half holiday beginning Wednesday, May 13, according to information given in the News this week. It had first been planned to start on Wednesday, May 6, but due to the fact that some of the stores could not make their arrangements on this short notice, it was postponed for another week. Twelve o'clock noon is the hour set for closing and the half-holiday period will end the last Wednesday in August. Practically all merchants have already signed this agreement, but if through error any firm has been overlooked, they may come by the News office and sign the agreement.

MRS. DERAMUS OFFERS SERVICE TO HER COUNTY

Is Candidate For Member Of County Board Of Education

To The Voters of Clanton County: It is with a great regret that, as this last week of the campaign before the Democratic Primary of May 5 begins, I realize I have been able to contact so few of the people of our county. As a candidate for membership on the Board of Education, I am seeking an office which carries with it so little remuneration, that it has been impossible for me to travel over the county and know you personally. If, however, you should see fit to elect me to this position, I hope I shall be able to know you, your community and your school problems.

It is my opinion that the importance of the membership of the Board of Education has been underestimated. Because of the fact that it is not what is generally referred to as "a paying job," many people may feel that it is a "little job." Certainly no other office in the county carries with it greater opportunities of service or obligations to the future. It is for this reason that I have become a candidate for this position.

E. N. SHANKS WRITES TO THE VOTERS OF CO.

Seeking Commissioners Office From Third District Of The County

To my friends and supporters in my race for Commissioner, I wish to explain to you that my reason for not having seen you in person is that I have been confined to my bed; but I wish to say to you that I am still depending on you for your vote and influence on May 5th. I know you will not fail me and I wish to take this means of expressing to you my heartfelt thanks for what you have done for me and for what you may do for me.

Sincerely,
E. N. SHANKS.

BERRIES BRING OVER $7000 TO COUNTY MON

Approximately 2400 Crates Shipped From Clanton During One Day

Last Monday was a day that will probably be long and pleasantly remembered by many of the strawberry growers of Clanton and vicinity.

Approximately 2400 crates of berries were shipped from Clanton on Monday, which brought over seven thousand dollars cash to the growers, and figuring that the pickers were paid the regular price for this one day's shipment they received over one thousand dollars for their work, according to figures given the News by L. E. Diefenderfer. This does not include the amount paid to packers.

Mr. Diefenderfer, who is vitally interested in the growing of strawberries (Continued to Back Page)

J. M. PARRISH MAKES FINAL STATEMENT

Appeals To Voters Of County For Their Support In Primary

To the Voters of Clanton County, Alabama: All of you possibly know that I am a candidate for the office of Commissioner from the Fourth District in the Democratic Primary to be held on the 5th day of May, 1936.

Time is drawing near for the election and I want to say to the voters that I have voted the Democratic ticket since I became twenty-one years of age, in doing so, I felt that it was to the best interest of Clanton County and its people that I do so. I am now asking for this office at your hands and will say to you that I will appreciate any consideration you see fit to give me. I am aware of the fact that a man running for office often times makes too many promises. I do however promise the people of the County that if I receive the nomination and I am elected in November, I will conduct myself soberly, honestly and strive always to do whatever is best for the County and our people. I also promise you that I will not take any (Continued to Back Page)

GO TO THE POLLS NEXT TUESDAY!

(AN EDITORIAL)

Something over five thousand qualified voters of Clanton County will have the opportunity on next Tuesday, May 5th, to go to their respective polling places and have a voice through the ballot in the selection of several persons to hold important offices of the county, state and national government.

This is not only an opportunity, but is an inheritance and privilege that should be exercised with diligence by every citizen who is qualified to vote in Clanton County.

Go to the polls next Tuesday and cast your ballot for those men or women who are candidates and whom you believe will make the best officials from a standpoint of honesty, service and efforts toward the advancement of your county, state and nation as long as they may remain in office.

"SLOW UP, EDDIE" WILL BE PRESENTED FRIDAY NIGHT AT HIGH SCHOOL AUD.

Friday night, May 1, at 8 o'clock, the Senior II and III Classes of C.C.H.S. will present the play "Slow Up, Eddie." How would you like to earn a fortune of $50,000 by going to bed at eight o'clock every night for three months? Such is Eddie's chore, according to the terms of his adopted father's freak will, and for a fast-stepping night-bird like Eddie, who frequently neglects to go to bed at all, it is some chore!

In case Eddie falls down on the job the money goes to his relatives. Some of these scheming kinsmen are a crafty city slicker, a hick widow, her nit-wit son, an ex-prize fighter, a typical old-time "hog-sh" farmer, and two flirtatious flappers. Come join the crowd and see whether Eddie or the relatives win out in the end.

A STATEMENT TO VOTERS OF THE COUNTY

Dr. C. N. Parnell Gives His Views On Conducting County's Affairs

To the Voters of Clanton County: Since the settlement of the Bills affecting the Commissioners Court of the County and their subsequent failure, I want to appeal to my friends in the County for their support in my race for Commissioner from the Third District. I have no self-interest in this office, for I can do as well, if not better, financially, without the office.

I am very much interested in the financial affairs of my county, having been born and reared here and made my home in the county practically all my life. I have been successful in the practice of medicine and in farming in the county, and for my success and efforts in my farming I have been penalized by the tax raisers and I am opposed to such penalties being imposed.

J. A. CRANE ASKS SUPPORT OF VOTERS

Well Known Pletcher Man Is A Candidate For Commissioner

Most of you know by this time that I am a candidate for commissioner of the third district. I would like to say to the voters that I have always voted the Democratic ticket and have supported the democratic nominees in the general election. In the third district we have six candidates for this office, these men are all honorable gentlemen and I have no unkind words for either of them, however, I feel that I am by training and experience more capable of carrying on the affairs of the office. I want to say that I will appreciate your vote and your influence and if I am elected I will do my utmost to discharge the duties of the office in a manner that all of you will never have (Continued to Back Page)

To Install Seats In City Hall Auditorium

Mayor C. Fenn Jones announced this week that the city is asking for bids and samples on three hundred seats to be placed in the city hall auditorium. He stated that in requesting these bids he is advising the bidders that cash will be paid with the order and that the city does not intend to pay any exorbitant prices for the seats, which is another step by the city not to incur any more indebtedness for improvements that is found to be absolutely necessary.

These seats are to be removable at any time, which will make the auditorium for use of clubs, religious meetings or any other purpose for the citizens of Clanton and the county.

ENTERTAINMENT AT COURT- HOUSE SATURDAY NIGHT, 2ND

Valuable prizes will be given away. Everybody come and have a good time in a wholesome way. Admission will be ten cents.

TWO STILL ARE NABBED IN RAID

Efficient Deputies Go Get Their Man, Says Local Officers

What appears to be a clean-up drive on whiskey, whiskey making and other offenses throughout Clanton County is underway, judging from recent activities of Sheriff J. R. Hardy's force of county officers during the past several days.

One of the busiest weeks for the county officers has undoubtedly just past, unless there are other persons who place themselves outside the law in the future. In a raid made last Tuesday morning by Deputies Smith, Nivens, T. V. Mims, and H. R. Wright, in the Six Mile Swamp, a large galvanized whiskey still was captured along with one man, six gallons of liquor and a large quantity of mash. Immediately after this raid, these officers also raided a man's outbuildings at his farm nearby and poured out 180 gallons of beer and over four gallons of liquor. Much credit is given Deputies Mims and Wright for spotting these offenders of the law.

J. E. EASTERLING HAS STATEMENT TO THE VOTERS

Democratic Candidate For Treasurer Asks For Full Support

To the Voters of Clanton County: "I have made an effort to see all of the Democratic voters in my race for County Treasurer. I know I have not seen all of you and am making this statement asking you for your vote and your support in the Primary on May 5th, 1936.

I was born and reared in Clanton County and have never lived anywhere else, and I have voted the Democratic ticket in every election since I have been old enough to vote. I would like for the voters to know that there are two J. E. Easterlings in our County, and some of the people may be laboring under the opinion that I have not always voted the Democratic ticket, but if any J. E. Easterling has voted any other ticket than the Democratic ticket, I am not that J. E. Easterling. If I receive the nomination in my party and am successful in November, I promise to cooperate with the other officials (Continued to Back Page)

JOHN THOMPSON HAS STATEMENT TO ELECTORS

Candidate For Commissioner From Fourth District Asks For Support

To The Voters of Clanton County, Ala.: This being my last opportunity to appeal to you through the papers for your support of my candidacy as Commissioner of the Fourth District, the election to be held next Tuesday, May 5, 1936, I sincerely solicit your vote and influence. As stated last week it is going to be impossible for me to see every voter in person, but I have been busy for the last few weeks and expect to continue and hope to see most every voter in person. I feel that I fail to see you, do not feel that it was my intention to pass you up, but it was due to lack of time in which we had to canvass.

As stated in last week's paper, I believe in economy in government, reduction of taxes wherever possible, hiring of individual truck owners, instead of the county owning and operating their own trucks, and giving work to people in their respective communities wherever possible.

I want each and every one of you to investigate my record and if you think that I am capable of filling this position, I shall appreciate your vote and influence.

Yours very truly,
JOHN T. THOMPSON.

It's Clean-up, Paint-up Time Again

We haven't head the dealers say, but as a matter of observation, there must be a lot of paint being sold in Clanton now. More than the usual number of houses appear to be getting a new spring coat. That leads us to think of other activities which ordinarily occur at this season of the year.

It is time for us all, and this means ME and ME, to get busy on our spring cleaning. It's time for new curtains in the living room, bright-colored chairs on the porch and lawn, a fresh hair-cut for the yard, and a general clean-up of the backyard premises inside and out.

Let's get going on this. We feel sure the city officials will lend every cooperation in disposing of trash, and when the office, shop and home are spick-and-span, our prediction is that it will go a long ways toward curing any epidemic of spring fever which may threaten.

Washington And Jefferson On Soil Erosion

The fight against soil erosion is nothing new. Even in colonial days erosion was recognized as a menace, and we are told by The Progressive Farmer that George Washington himself gave up growing tobacco, began planting clover and practicing crop rotations at Mount Vernon in order to check washing and gullies, while in 1813 Thomas Jefferson made the following statement about his farm in Albemarle County, Va.:

"Our country is hilly and we have been in the habit of plowing in straight rows, whether up or downhill in oblique lines, or however they lead, and our soil was all rapidly running into the rivers. We now plow horizontally, following the curvature of the hills and hollows on deal level, however crooked the lines may be. Every furrow thus acts as a reservoir to receive and retain the waters; all of which go to the benefit of the growing plant instead of running off into the streams."

Norris Tells First Voters Roosevelt Ideal Statesman

"The future is more in the hands of our great leader, Franklin D. Roosevelt, than in any political organization," said Senator George W. Norris, veteran Republican liberal of Nebraska, in a statement he issued to the press endorsing the "First Voters" movement.

"The student of present-day conditions is irresistibly led to the conclusion that, more than any other one man, Roosevelt stands out as an ideal statesman, able and competent to solve the difficult problems of State which now confront our leaders. The rank and file of our citizenship, thinking more of the prosperity of the home and fireside, recognize in him a leader who can and will bring order out of chaos.

"In my opinion, the future welfare of American institutions and American ideals demands the re-election of this great man. As I see it, it is a question far beyond politics and is one which enters into the fundamental principles which underlie our very civilization.

"No greater service can be rendered to the common individual by the first voters of America than to unite loyally in an effort to see that President Roosevelt is re-elected. It is a hopeful sign that interest in our country's welfare is being taken by the young men and women."

"In the broader problem of government of all kinds, local and state and federal and international, we in this country today are thinking not merely in terms of the moment but in terms that apply to the rest of our lives and to the lives of our children." — President Roosevelt. (March 8, 1934).

Pete Jarman Visits Hale County And Greensboro

Pete Jarman, candidate for Congress from this district, spent a short while in Greensboro last Saturday. He says he has covered much of Hale County, and hopes to see all the voters before the campaign closes. Pete is highly elated at the reception he receives wherever he goes in the district. Since the 1st of March, Mr. Jarman said, "I have had a leave of absence without pay from my job in Montgomery and have devoted the time to canvassing." Hale County will give him a large majority in the primary to be held on the 5th of May.—The Greensboro Watchman, April 23rd.

Sen. Bankhead Should Be Re-Elected

During recent weeks Senator John H. Bankhead has been unable to make a strong personal campaign in behalf of his re-election due to illness. However, his friends throughout the state and in Chilton County have been active in his support.

Alabama has furnished some great statesmen to the Senate of the United States, but perhaps never before has one of them concerned himself quite so much about the average citizen, especially the farmer, and his problem. It seems unnecessary in the space of this editorial to itemize his works in behalf of the people of our county, but suffice it to say that when the councils of government gathered in Washington John H. Bankhead was there and ably presented the cause of the farmers in Alabama and Chilton County.

Our people will not forget the service he has rendered when they go to the polls May 5.

It Happened Here

Two very important occurrences took place recently.

Three thousand of the poorest persons in New York City met at Battery Place (using their constitutional right "peaceably to assemble"), marched up Broadway to City Hall, protested to city authorities against the inadequate relief scale and demanded additional relief (using their constitutional right "to petition the Government for a redress of grievances").

Representatives of several hundred of the richest persons in the United States met in Washington (using their constitutional right "peaceably to assemble") protested through the United States Chamber of Commerce against the Administration's new tax program, demanded changes (using their constitutional right "to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.")

Neither of these events could have taken place in Nazi Germany, Fascist Italy or Soviet Russia.—Philadelphia Record.

'Conservation' In Fact

Secretary Ickes has renewed his appeal to Congress to change the name of his department from that of "Interior" to "Conservation." The secretary, an ardent conservationist, argues that it is time to reverse the intimation of "exploitation" heretofore associated with his office.

After all these years, it is doubtful if Congress will break tradition to change the title of the cabinet post, and that doesn't seem o be important, so long as the department remains on the right track.

Mr. Ickes is directing a vast personnel toward protection of American resources. If that duty is performed well, the Department of Interior can lay claim to a great contribution. The name of the department doesn't mean much—the vital thing is the "spirit of conservation" that prevails there.—Selma Times-Journal.

It's Still The Heart

The human heart is incapable of emotion and wouldn't hurt if actually broken, Dr. Fred Kalteyser, a Philadelphia heart specialist, told a medical meeting in his city.

He told of how once, during a heart operation, he gave the organ "a good, hard pinch and there was no pain."

We are afraid, however, that the doctor's experiment will accomplish exactly nothing toward changing the custom of referring to the heart as the seat of the emotions.

Literature has nurtured the illusion too long. For practical effect Dr. Kalteyser might just as well have announced that he had experimentally disproved Amrose Bierce's statement that, "In each human heart are a tiger, a pig, an ass and a nightingale."—B'ham Post.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

Sunday night I sat in the pulpit and looked out over many empty pews. My heart was sad. I had a message that should have been heard by the entire citizenship of my parish and yet the most of them were absent. Just then I saw a little woman come in at the front door and march down the aisle of the church. She was followed by her two children—a boy about sixteen and a girl about twelve years of age. As they took their places in the pew I said in my mind, thank God for mothers of that kind. I do not know that she used any coercion in order to have her children with her, but this I know—if she had brought them by her paternal authority, she was doing the right thing. What we need today to fill the empty pews of our churches is that type of parents who will say to their children, "Come children, we are going to church." When the children go to the picture show on Sunday night, when they fail to attend church, they are reflecting tremendously upon those who brought them into the world.

In my pastoral rounds I visited in a home where I was forced to hear an excuse for non church attendance that was about the meanest thing that I ever heard said by a child about a parent. Here is what this woman said, "I tell you, preacher, when I was a child my parents went to church every Sunday and they made me go. I got so fed up on church going before I became a woman that now I am doing as I please and I am not going to church." I sat there and looked upon that woman with pity. Evidently she came from a good home and her parents had tried hard to train her right, but she did not have the character elements in her heart that made her appreciate those who had given her life. She could not have said a meaner thing about her parents and a thing that more completely reflected upon her. To be sure it is the duty of every parent to say to his children, "Come children, we are going to church," and then if they whine and pull back, just say firmly, "You are going." Not many children will have to be forced to attend church. When the example is set the children will generally follow.

All day the wind blew and clouds swept across the sky like race horses. We know that a storm was brewing. Between six and seven o'clock at night the cyclone came and tore its way through the community like a threshing machine. We knew that conditions indicated a cyclone but it delayed its coming until the night hours. There are two ways for trouble to come — one is like a bolt of lightning out of a clear sky, the other is for it to come after days and weeks of waiting. Some times our sorrows come suddenly, at other times they come after much delay, but be sure that they are coming. We are never prepared for their coming.

Early voyagers thought that the coral building animals constructed the coral reefs, to protect them against the fury of the deep, but a noted scientist has discredited this belief. He has proven that the life that lives in the coral reef must exist only while it faces the sea. This life creates the rock-like substance in order to break the restless waters of the deep. When foam is made in the crash of the waves this life feeds and grows fat. If it is shut up away from the restless waves it starves and dies. How human it is for us to want to construct forces that will keep us from feeling the hardships of life, but after all, our lives, like the life of the coral animals, will only grow when it meets the clash and the splash of the waves of life. We dwarf ourselves when we shun the hardships of life.

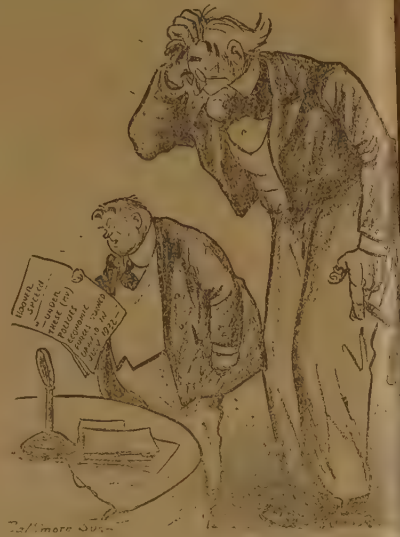

A lady stood in her bedroom looking out over her neighbor's back yard. On the clothes line were many freshly washed garments. This observing woman remarked: "Those clothes are very dingy. It is strange to me why some women will let their clothes become like those I see." Another lady was near her looking out at the clothes through an open window and remarked: "Why, Sadie, those clothes are as white as snow. Your trouble is that you are looking at them through your own soiled window." When you assume the role of a critic of your neighbor's life, you had better be sure that you are not looking upon them through your own dingy character. Clean your own windows, and maybe your neighbor's clothes will appear whiter.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this opportunity to express our thanks and appreciation to the neighbors and many friends who were so thoughtful of us and our sorrows during the recent illness and death of our father, W. H. Martin. We can never forget your thoughtfulness and the words of comfort spoken at this time. We wish especially to thank Dr. Ballard, and nurse, Mrs. S. M. Harvey, for their interest shown, and sympathy extended toward us. We are indeed grateful to all, who by their deeds and sympathetic words, made this bereavement easier to bear.—The Family.

Observance of National Music Week Will Bring Several Fine Programs to Clanton

Residents of Clanton and the county have several treats in store for them, and especially will those who are fond of songs and music enjoy the programs being arranged for presentation in Clanton this week in observance of National Music Week, according to Mrs. Percy M. Pitts.

On Thursday night of this week, which is tonight, the Clanton Pilot Club will have charge of the program which will be given at the Clanton Methodist church. Mrs. T. H. Jones will present her "Kiddie Band" and her Junior Band in some very attractive numbers. Following this, Miss Katherine Ross, a talented young lady of Thorsby, and her Girls Glee Club from the Thorsby Institute will present a program which will prove especially enjoyable.

Miss Lois Thompson, a student at Alabama College will sing several numbers, adding much to this program for Thursday night.

On Friday night of this week, arrangements have been made to have a special Negro choir composed of singers from the Negro churches of Clanton, to present a program of spiritual music and songs. These colored singers are well known for their studies in music and efforts toward aiding their race in teaching. They have some good talent and the program Friday night will be enjoyed.

All these programs will take place at the Clanton Methodist church. The public is cordially invited, and there is no charge for admission.

NEW CEDRON BALL CLUB

A pitching duel between Smith and Rose, in which Smith struck out 7 men and gave 4 hits and Rose struck out 6 with 6 hits, ended 3-0 last Saturday.

One high ball over first with a man on third and an error by Devaughn cost 2 of the three runs for the CCC team. Hits by Traywick, and Rose, with a sacrifice by Rutherford in the seventh netted the only earned run for the CCC team.

Hurler Smith was star swatter. He collected two, one double and one single. Anthony from the camp got the second, and last double of the game.

Even though the Cubs out-hit the CCC team, Rose kept them scattered and they could not score.

The next game will be next Saturday—Cubs vs. Dobbs on the New Cedron diamond. We cordially invite everyone to come and see the game

Lady's Painful Trouble Helped By Cardui

Why do so many women take Cardui for the relief of functional pains at monthly times? The answer is that they want results such as Mrs. Herbert W. Hunt, of Fallsville, Texas, describes. She writes: "My health wasn't good. I suffered from cramping. My pain would be so intense it would nauseate me. I would just drag around, so sluggish and 'dopey.' My mother decided to give me Cardui. I began to mend. That tired, sluggish feeling was gone and the pains disappeared. I can't praise Cardui too highly because I know it helped me." ... If Cardui does not help YOU, consult a physician.

Warn Against Driving While Intoxicated

According to Highway Patrolmen Waites and Henley, quite a number of cases of driving while intoxicated have been booked by them since they have been on duty in this county. They emphasize the danger of this type of violation, not only to the offender, but to others using the highways, and state that no leniency may be expected when they find persons driving a vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

Cooperation of the public is asked by Waites and Henley along this and other lines to make the highways safe for every person to use.

NEW WATER BILLS OF CITY HAVE VALUABLE INFORMATION

When users of water from the City of Clanton receive their bills next month, or rather tomorrow, there appears on the back of the bill some valuable information concerning the wastage of water through leaks.

Conservation Council Organized In County

Dr. V. J. Gragg, M.D., of Clanton, was elected chairman of the temporary Chilton County Conservation Council at a meeting held Tuesday night of interested sportsmen and citizens at the courthouse. C. E. Gullede, of Verbena, was elected vice-chairman and William H. L. Smith, of Clanton, secretary. All officers will serve until a permanent council is perfected a few weeks hence.

Setting out the need for conservation of wildlife and of the state's natural renewable resources, Thomas A. Ford, director of the county conservation planning for the Department of Conservation, explained the council's objectives as twofold:

(1) To serve as a means of keeping the individual informed of governmental activities detrimental or beneficial, as the case may be, in the field of conservation; (2) to promote conservation projects in the county destined to maintain or better the present wildlife status.

While sportsmen are expected to take a leading role in the council's activities it was pointed out that the program is sufficiently broad to interest all types of organizations, Farm Bureau, 4-H, Future Farmers, Home Demonstration Clubs, Women's clubs, ex-servicemen's organizations, civic clubs. They have been issued an invitation to participate. Likewise, all sections of the county are asked to aid since it is a county and statewide movement.

Miss Elizabeth Monroe of Flow Branch, Georgia, has been chosen. Since March, 1935, she has been secretary of the Appointment Bureau Piedmont College and before that secretary to the Dean of Piedmont. She is recommended by the college one of its best students, ranking high in scholarship, a young woman of culture, high ideals and Christian character. Miss Monroe is well equipped to teach all the commercial subjects having had a full year's course each. She has taught private pupils secretarial work, and has had experience in teaching other subjects as school substitute teacher. She has been actively interested in teaching in the Bible school in her home town.

We are sorry to lose Miss Glasson who has taken a real interest in the work, and is a tireless worker. Her pupils have enjoyed her classes very much.

Verbena Citizens Endorse Mrs. Deramus for Board of Education

The undersigned heartily endorse Mrs. Gladys Deramus for Membership of the County Board of Education. Her activities in the Educational world give her outstanding qualifications to hold the position which she seeks.

Mrs. Deramus was graduated from Howard College, receiving the Bachelor of Arts degree and later did graduate work at Columbia University in New York City. She holds an enviable record in both institutions.

She has had nine years' teaching experience, having taught in two of the largest school systems of the state (Montgomery County and City of Birmingham.) In addition to these positions, she has taught in Chilton and Autauga counties. Since 1926, she has made her home in Verbena and has been actively connected with all community interests. She is now serving as President of the Verbena Parent-Teacher Association.

The citizens of Verbena, who know Mrs. Deramus, feel that her knowledge of schools and educational problems, together with her untiring efforts, qualify her, beyond doubt, for member of the Board of Education. Mrs. Deramus has opinions of her own and will express them without prejudice, fear or favor.

PETE JARMAN

(AN EDITORIAL)

The general consensus of opinion throughout the Sixth Congressional District is that Pete B. Jarman will go to Washington as representative in Congress from this District with a large majority of votes over his opponent of next Tuesday.

Mr. Jarman made a splendid showing in this same race two years ago, when he had as his opponents Hon. W. B. Oliver, who was elected, and Hon. Thomas Maxwell, who received a total of something over three hundred votes in the entire District, and who is again opposing Mr. Jarman in the race.

That Mr. Jarman will be elected this time seems a certainty, and the News wishes to suggest to the people of Chilton County to show Mr. Jarman that Chilton is a county of spirit and make this county the banner county in number of votes cast for him on next Tuesday.

There is a rumor that Mr. Jarman is on the state payroll. This is not true. Mr. Jarman was taken from this position with the state when he began his campaign sometime ago, and while he has not appointed a campaign manager, he is rapidly swelling his popularity throughout the district through the efforts of his friends and supporters that are numbered into the thousands.

The News believes that Mr. Jarman will make a good Congressman. His training in legislative and judicial matters of state fit him unusually well to hold this responsible position.

A World War veteran with a record of outstanding overseas service, a splendid record as a public servant for many years in which is included one term as Secretary of State where he gained many friends.

Two years ago, the News recommended to the people of Chilton County, Hon. W. B. Oliver as their Congressman. Today, with an outstanding record of service to his constituents, Mr. Oliver is retiring and allowing a younger man an opportunity to step into his place, and that younger man is being recommended to the people this time by the News.

CITY PURCHASES AUTOMOBILE FOR USE OF POLICEMEN

The City of Clanton recently asked for bids on a medium priced automobile from the dealers of Clanton, with the understanding that the car would be paid for in full on delivery. The Hayes Chevrolet Company was lowest bidder with a price on a Chevrolet Standard coach.

This car is for official use only and particularly for use of the city's policemen who have found it difficult to answer calls to the mill village and other sections that come under jurisdiction of the officer, according to Mayor Jones. The car bears on its sides the words, "City of Clanton," and will add much to the efficiency of the officers of Clanton in performing the duties expected of them, day or night.

Maybe The Burglar's Wife Was Sick

Burglars have been known to steal almost everything, sometimes taking articles for which they could not possibly have any use, and for which there was little possibility of a sale. However, Dr. C. N. Parnell of Maplesville, reports the most unusual theft of the season.

On Monday night of this week someone broke into Dr. Parnell's garage and from his car took his medicine case and obstetrical case. Dr. Parnell states that for recovery of these cases in good condition he will pay a reward of ten dollars.

Central Mutual Insurance Agency Established In Clanton Recently By James F. Gore

James F. Gore, well known young man of Clanton and Chilton County, this week announces the opening of the Central Mutual Insurance Agency, located upstairs in the J. R. Mullins Building over the J. R. Mullins & Sons store.

Mr. Gore states that he is exclusively writing mutual insurance policies because he is convinced that this type of policy, regardless of what you may wish to insure, will save the policyholder money. On automobile insurance policies he states that he can save his policyholders from 20 to 25 per cent. On some other types of insurance he can save up to 40 per cent on cost of insurance, he states.

He is writing auto, fire, windstorm, and general casualty insurance, as well as life insurance. His agency represents some of the oldest and soundest insurance companies of the United States.

As a matter of service to the people of this section, Mr. Gore emphasizes that his agency is prepared to write most policies right in his office without any delay or inconvenience, and that policyholders with the Central Mutual Insurance Agency may expect all the service it is possible for an agency to render without the bother or risk of long delays.

Miss Ayoline Jones of Clanton is spending several weeks in Birmingham with friends and relatives.

Miss Katherine Strickland of Birmingham is the guest of Miss Mary Charles Jones of Clanton for several days.

To the Citizens of the 6th Congressional District

PETE B. JARMAN, JR.

It has been my intention and keen desire to see personally every voter in the Sixth Congressional District, not only to express the appreciation I sincerely feel for your wholehearted and virtually unanimous support, not only because I thoroughly enjoy doing so, but also because these personal contacts more accurately inform me of the needs and wishes of our people.

Mere words are inadequate to impart to you the depth of my appreciation for your magnificent support. The overwhelming majority with which I feel sure you will see fit to favor me on May 5 strengthens my desire to make you a good Congressman, worthy of the confidence and friendship you have so generously bestowed upon me.

I have conducted no speaking campaign, nor have I appointed any managers, depending on all of my friends in every county, to constitute themselves my managers in their own sphere of influence. I have preferred to visit you personally, taking leave of absence without pay from my duties on March 1, to indulge in a thorough contact campaign. I have attempted to cement our relationship with a universal bond, to organize our future work toward our common welfare. That is the goal toward which we strive. Although it has been a physical impossibility to see each voter personally, I hope to be afforded that opportunity soon, and I anticipate with genuine pleasure the occasion of seeing you all in the future.

I urge all of my many thousands of good friends not to let overconfidence prevent us from obtaining an overwhelming victory, thereby sending me to Washington under the auspicious circumstances of your concerted effort and your solid support. A commanding majority will add greatly to my influence in your behalf in Congress. I trust that every qualified elector will exercise his inheritance and cast a vote on May 5.

I take this opportunity to reiterate my pledge to work unceasingly for the people of this District. I shall ever hold the duties of office as an avowed public trust with a cooperative attitude toward all. I thank you again from the bottom of my heart.

Sincerely your friend,

PETE B. JARMAN, JR.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET IS OUTSTANDING

OFFERS VOTERS A CHOICE IN STATE GO'V.

These voters of Chilton County who wish to take an active hand in the government of the state and the nation, as well as the county will find that the Democratic ticket in the forthcoming primary of next Tuesday will offer to them an opportunity and privilege, although this year is what is ordinarily an off-year in elections and politics.

Over a great deal will hinge on the outcome of this year. It not only affects the voters of Chilton County but the voters of the entire state. Opportunity to make changes, if they fit, in the county government, but also will bear a great deal on the national and state politics. It is shown by the ballot to be offered by those who wish to vote the Democratic ticket.

Democratic ticket which will be the same as the various political parties, will bear the names of such as Franklin D. Roosevelt, for President of the United States—that who has gone to the depth of the matter to bring to the South—many of them out of the lower South to the heights of the men and women—the man remembered the forgotten man. Democratic primary ballot will carry the names of such men as John H. Bankhead who has been for the working man and the public to send him back to the Senate of the United States that he carry on his program to perfect the Senator Bankhead will have as opponent, H.L. Anderson who to become United States Senator.

John E. Knight, now Lieutenant Governor of Alabama is seeking the Associate Justice of the Supreme Court No. 2. White, at present president of the Public Service Commission of Alabama is seeking re-election again. He has as his opponent, W.W. Ramsey, mayor of Russellville Ala., and is making a splendid showing in the voters and newspapers of Alabama in this race. This is a very important office and the citizens of Chilton County should take a hand in matters. The Democratic ticket only ticket offering this opportunity.

Another important office that will affect the welfare of the people of Chilton County is listed in the Democratic ticket only. That is the office of Congressman from the Congressional District, of which Chilton County is a part. This Hon. Pete B. Jarman is a candidate. He has as his opponent Hon. Maxwell, both of whom were in the race two years ago. At present it seems that Mr. Jarman will be over his opponent by a landslide.

Coming down to the county ticket, will be included on the one Democratic ballot in Chilton County Tuesday, we have such men as J. E. Easterling as a candidate for County Treasurer. He has as his opponent, B.M. Killingsworth, the other part of the county. Both these are of the highest calibre and are of holding this position.

The Commissioners race in the 6th District, those voters of Chilton County who will use the Democratic ticket will have their choice between outstanding citizens as J.A. Crane, Fletcher; Jeff Coburn of Maplesville; A.T. Dawson of Maplesville; R. A. Pletcher, Dr. C.N. Parnell of Maplesville and E.N. Shanks of Maplesville. All these men are known throughout the county as the highest type business men, a splendid group for the voters to their selection.

The Fourth District on the Democratic ballot Tuesday will be found the list of such well known business men as D.I. (Irby) Deramus of Veranda; J. Monroe Parrish, a successful business man of the county, H.N. Smith, a widely known business man of the county and John T. Thompson, an outstanding citizen.

This ballot also will appear the name of Mrs. Gladys Deramus, wife of J. Monroe Parrish, one of the most outstanding business men of the county and a woman who is capable of holding such an important position. The name of Dr. W.L. Parrish, Chilton County's most outstanding veterinarian, will also appear on the Democratic ticket as the opponent of Dr. Deramus for the office of member of the Board of Education. Parrish is always interested in the welfare of the county.

Sum it up, the Democratic ticket in Chilton County offers the only outstanding list of the direct and immediate expression of the wishes of the voters of the county from the smallest county in the United States, and this year it carries the names of some of the most outstanding men of the county, the state and the nation. Truly, it is an outstanding ticket to be seriously considered.

and Mrs. Layton—ohnson of Chilton County were fined $25 in court for having a puppy in a closet in which a one-year-old son was locked up. The puppy was assessed for cruelty to animals.

County Will Hold Chest Clinic Soon

The traveling Chest clinic, operated by the State Health Department, will be in the offices of the local health unit on Thursday and Friday, April 30th and May 1st.

The purpose of this clinic is to aid the physicians of the county, by means of X-Rays and physical examinations, in the early diagnosis of tuberculosis. It is now recognized that through early diagnosis and proper isolation and treatment tuberculosis can be controlled, and eventually eradicated.

Only patients referred by a physician will be examined, but it is hoped that those needing examinations will talk the matter over with their physician, and if he thinks it necessary they can then be referred to the clinic.

Outstanding Man For Committeeman

HON. MATT MURPHY
Of Birmingham

Why Matt Murphy Should Be Elected And Leon McCord Eliminated

1. When the World War broke out, Matt Murphy volunteered and went with the A.E.F. Lieutenant-Colonel McCord resigned, quit the Army and stayed at home. Murphy ran toward the War. McCord from it.

2. McCord endeavored to get the State Executive Committee to agree with him on picking the Alabama delegates to the next National Democratic Convention. He was turned down. He then proposed he pick one-half and the Committee pick the other half of the delegates. When that was declined, he hand-picked his own slate of delegates and attempted by Court action to force his hand-picked delegates on the people. The Supreme Court repudiated McCord and his slate of delegates and upheld the Presidential Primary ordered by the Committee that was favored by Presidents Wilson and Roosevelt.

3. President Roosevelt expressed written approval of Alabama's delegates. If the President had wanted McCord's slate instead of the Committee's delegates, he would have said so. In opposing the duly elected delegates by the Committee, McCord put the interest of himself and his slate above the President's interest and the interest of the Party.

4. McCord has no influence in Washington. He is at cross-purposes with the National Administration. Since his overwhelming defeat for Governor, he has applied for at least four Federal judgeships and a job with the Solicitor General's Department and has been ignored.

5. McCord is at cross-purposes with Senators Black and Bankhead. Senator Black is needed at the next Convention to write the Labor Plan in the Democratic Platform. Senator Bankhead is needed to write the Agricultural Plan in the Platform. Both Senators are needed to look after the interest of the laboring and farming people of Alabama. If McCord had his way, neither Senators Black nor Bankhead would be a delegate to the Convention. McCord's hand-picked slate eliminated both of them.—Contributed.

Senator Bankhead and the New Deal in Alabama

Under New Deal legislation enacted since President Roosevelt took office in 1933, and in the shaping of which Senator John H. Bankhead as an administration leader took an active part, and in some instances played a dominant role, official reports show that the Federal Government has poured into Alabama more than $363,000,000 for emergencies to be used in overcoming the depression, entirely aside from the normal millions the Federal Government expends in the State annually in its ordinary activities. Of this staggering total, more than $230,000,000 has been or is being expended directly without necessity of return to the Federal treasury in any form. Loans for the relief of farmers, of small home owners and in support of banks during the trying days of 1933, aggregate more than $132,000,000; of such sums upwards of $16,000,000 already has been repaid.

Every form of human activity in the State of Alabama and every one of its citizens at one time or another has been affected by these grants and loans. Even before President Roosevelt took office, legislation was enacted which began the flow of federal funds to Alabama, and Senator Bankhead took an active part in supporting the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and Relief Act of 1932. But it is since the inauguration of President Roosevelt in 1933, at which time the absolute control of Congress passed into the hands of the Democrats, thereby making it possible to secure enactment of a comprehensive program to overcome the depression, that the greatest volume of dollars has been poured into Alabama for the immediate relief of destitution but also for a long-range plan to help those in financial distress. In all this legislation Senator Bankhead has been active, particularly in that affecting relief of the destitute, help for the farmers and assistance to urban home owners. In obtaining the cotton loans, which were ten cents a pound in 1933, twelve cents in 1934 and a modification of the twelve cent plan in 1935, Senator Bankhead was admittedly the dominant influence in persuading President Roosevelt to issue the orders under which these loans were made to thousands of Alabama cotton growers in an aggregate of $46,000,000. As a member of the Banking and Currency Committee of the Senate, apart from his activities as a member of the Committees on Agriculture and Forestry and on Appropriations, Senator Bankhead helped shape the Farm Credit Administration Act, the Home Owners' Loan Act, and the Federal Housing Act.

Senator Bankhead is responsible for the development of the subsistence homestead and rural rehabilitation programs which are providing for nearly 25,000 families in the State and have given employment to many thousands of otherwise idle persons. He obtained more than $500,000 from the Works Progress Administration for improvement, and he has been active in other waterway improvement expenditures, not to mention his work in behalf of the Tennessee Valley Authority-Pickwick Landing and at Guntersville, which is constructing dam at as well as having completed the work at Shoals.

Official statistics show that many thousands of Alabamians have benefited from direct outlays by the Federal Government since March, 1933. Direct relief grants from that period through December, 1935, accounted for $50,446,000, and under the Civil Works Administration $15,708,000 were expended in Alabama by the Federal Government. Under the $400,000,000 Relief Bill of 1935 treasury warrants have been drafted for Alabama projects totaling $60,251,000, which does not give the full picture, as in some cases there were local contributions supplementing the federal funds. Of the sixty million dollar allocation, $22,763,000 have been expended.

The CCC Camps and incidental work which were strongly supported by Senator Bankhead have accounted for expenditures aggregating $18,961,000 in Alabama up to last January 1.

Under the Public Works Administration administered by Secretary Ickes, Alabama was allotted $25,463,000 from the original fund of 1933, and $27,397,000 from the act of 1935, having a grand total of $52,860,000. Of this aggregate, FWA allocated under the two act a total of $27,613,000 for Federal projects in which no local contributions were required, and it allocated $25,247,000 for non-Federal projects representing under the old act a 30 per cent grant and under the later act approximately 45 per cent as a grant.

The Agricultural Adjustment Administration paid Alabama farmers a grand total of $30,032,000 in rental and benefit payments. In addition, the AAA expended in Alabama for administrative purposes $2,285,000. Senator Bankhead was the administration leader in securing passage of this Act, and he drafted, at the request of President Roosevelt, the Soil Conservation program to supplant the AAA after the Supreme Court decision which invalidated the processing taxes of the old plan. Alabama cotton farmers alone received more than $29,000,000 of the rental and benefit payments of the AAA, the balance going to producers of corn and hogs, tobacco, and peanuts.

The loan policy of the Federal Government as it affected Alabama aggregates $132,927,000 from the date of President Roosevelt's inauguration to last January 1. Cotton loans, for which Senator Bankhead almost solely was responsible, aggregated $46,814,000 from the Commodity Credit Corporation.

For the relief of farmers whose lands and buildings were mortgaged, the Farm Credit Administration has advanced in Alabama $19,705,000, thereby saving from foreclosure many farms, and, in addition, under New Deal legislation there have been compromises on farm debts in several hundred cases with write-downs of principal.

The Home Owners' Loan Corporation and its related activities have advanced $36,673,000 in Alabama to more than 16,425 owners.

The Federal Housing Administration through rehabilitation loans and insurance has sent directly to Alabama $4,122,000.

The widespread activities of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, in loans to banks so that their doors might remain open, and to other banks which closed in the spring of 1933 so that they might reopen and pay depositors, and in the purchase of capital stock of banks to strengthen them; in loans to business men so that they might continue their activities when they could not obtain credit elsewhere; and through other advances on security so that the money will be repaid, has accounted for $25,611,000 in Alabama since March, 1933, and this figure does not include loans to railroads, which are difficult to segregate by states.

This imposing record, in all of which Senator Bankhead contributed an influence of considerable weight, summarizes what the New Deal has done for Alabama and points to the importance of retaining in Congress men such as Senator Bankhead who have acquired experience and who have attained positions of power and influence.

STATE HEALTH FORCES WILL HAVE PROGRAM

State-Wide Observance Of Child Health Day To Be Held

Montgomery, Ala., April 29—Forces of the State Health, Welfare and Education Departments and county units of these departments have joined in mapping plans for the state-wide observance of May Day—Child Health Day—and centering attention of the citizens on social security for children and the new federal-state-local program being launched this year.

Suggested material for the observance, made available through collaboration of the three departments, has been sent to all counties by Dr. B. F. Austin, Director of the Bureau of Hygiene, and Nursing of the State Health Department and Chairman of the Child Health Day Programs in Alabama.

Maternal and child health services, for crippled children, extension of child welfare services and aid for dependent children will form subjects of discussion to acquaint the general public with the needs of mothers and children and with the plans underway for meeting these needs.

Dr. J. N. Baker, State Health Officer, said Alabama's plan for extension and improvement of maternal child welfare services in connection with the cooperative social security program had been approved in Washington, and that this State could for the maximum benefits to be derived from the program.

A State Advisory Committee in connection with the program was named at a recent meeting of the various cooperating departments as follows: Governor Bibb Graves, Chairman; Dr. J. A. Keller, State Superintendent of Education; Dr. A. H. Collins, State Welfare Commissioner; Mr. R. R. Moore, Director of State Department of Labor.

Mr. J. G. Duncan, Jr., Director of the State Employment Service; Mr. J. L. Kaufman, Director of Unemployment Compensation Commission.

Dr. J. N. Baker, State Health Officer. As the program gets underway county councils will be formed composed of representatives of the Board of Health, Board of Education, Social and Welfare Workers, City and County officials, Judges of Juvenile Domestic Courts, Representative of crippled children societies, Parent Teacher Associations, Church and religious organizations, and others interested.

Both President Roosevelt and Governor Graves have issued proclamations urging observance of Child Health Day—May 1.

PLATFORM OF

THOS. H. MAXWELL

FOR CONGRESS

of Tuscaloosa, Ala., Route 1, candidate for Congressman from the Sixth District, composed of Chilton, Bibb, Greene, Hale, Perry, Shelby, Sumter and Tuscaloosa Counties.

PLATFORM

I am not on a privately owned corporation or state payroll and am backed by no Clique or ring.

I favor such legislation that the farmer receive more than cost for his products, that he spend money and thus aid all other vocations. Such is the main objective of the American Farm Bureau Federation. Therefore let us have:

I. Collective bargaining for the organized farmer and organized industrial labor.

II. The thirty hour week in manufacturing to distribute the opportunities lessened by labor saving machinery.

III. Pensions paid wholly by the Federal Government, administered by states, of $30.00 per month to all persons of sixty or more years, whose incomes are less than $1,000.00 per year, which plank the gray haired, young, and middle aged should support.

IV. Federal loans at one-half of one per cent per annum to sovereign states for use in their schools, liquidating borrowed indebtedness, and for other purposes.

V. Erosion control for soil conservation.

VI. Flood control with incidental conservation of power to be used in country homes.

VII. A sufficiency of Constitutional money for conducting the nation's business without borrowing.

Pass this word by letter or post card or phone to the counties: Bibb, Chilton, Greene, Hale, Perry, Shelby, Sumter, Tuscaloosa, that every farm voter rally to polls on May 5th, 1936, rain or shine to elect their man while the other citizens are willing to vote for him. This is the splendid opportunity for Congress by properly applying the best of Constitutions can make the people happy and panicleless.

Sincerely,

THOMAS H. MAXWELL.

IN MEMORY

Early in the morning of February 29, 1936, God called to her reward our beloved sister and co-worker, Mrs. M. L. Billingsley. Sister Billingsley's faith in Jesus Christ as her Saviour was strong and steadfast. Her loyalty to her church was an unwavering loyalty and her love for God's people great. Always interested in the Spiritual things of life, she could say as Paul said: "For me to live is Christ and to die is gain."

Her life was a benediction to all of those who knew her. Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his Saints. Hers was a radiant life, spreading joy and sunshine wherever she went and the influence of her happy Christian life will remain with us as long as our memories shall last.

Sister Billingsley was 68 years of age. She leaves to mourn her going one brother and sister and a host of relatives and friends.

Be it resolved: That a copy of this memorial be recorded on the church minutes; a copy sent to the county papers and one to the Alabama Baptist for publication.

Respectfully submitted—Mrs. L. M. Gray, Mrs. A. L. Bearden, Committee, Bethsalem Baptist Church.

Church News

Rev. A. E. Middlebrooks, Minister

Sunday evening at 6:15 a Young People's Union for this area of the Selma District will be organized here. The District Director of Young People's Work, Miss Dora Maud Thompson and the Conference director, Miss Louise Long, will be present. They are expected to speak at the regular evening service at 7:30 that will be in charge of our own young people.

The pastor will speak at the morning service. The public is invited to both morning and evening services.

The church is getting everything in shape to have a good report to the District Conference to be held at Pine Level church May 14. Last year at this conference the Clanton church reported all its benevolences for the year paid and had the honor of being the first church not only in the district but also in the Alabama Conference to pay in full. The pastor is collecting this fund now and it is expected that all will be paid within the next few days and he will be able to make a report to the district meeting as was made last year. Delegates to this meeting are: Judge L. H. Reynolds, Otto Jones, Evan Parrish, Mrs. L. J. Stewart, Mrs. J. D. Armstrong, and Mrs. D. W. Waite.

MISS FRANCES STROCK TO PARTICIPATE IN FESTIVAL

Marion, Ala., April 27—(Special)—Hundreds of visitors from all parts of Alabama and neighboring states will witness the annual May Day festival to be given at Judson College Saturday, May 2, under the direction of Miss Helen Moody, head of the department of physical education. Miss Frances Strock, of Verbena, will take part in the elaborate pageant centering around the customs and ceremonies of the prehistoric Maya Indians which will be presented on Saturday afternoon.

Miss Jane Montgomery, of Opelika has been selected as queen of the celebration, and in her honor the pageant will be presented. Besides the coronation of the queen and the pageant which will be given in her honor, May Day activities will include the annual track meet and tennis, baseball, and swimming finals.

The May Day festivals of the 20th century may be traced to the celebrations of 16th century England, when the young people of the middle and lower classes went out on the 1st day of May to "fetch the May" (hawthorn blossoms), and in their joy over the arrival of spring hurried to decorate the doors and windows of all of the houses of the village. The prettiest girl of the village was selected as "Queen of the May" and in her honor the milk maids and plow boys danced and plaited the May-pole.

May Day celebrations at Judson College have been a brilliant part of the

was nabbed by these officers in the south-western part of the county with one arrest made.

The sheriff's records show that from April 1st up to Tuesday, there have been forty-six persons lodged in the county jail for various offenses, and many were caught and made bond. Fifty-one persons were arrested during the month of March and placed in jail after running afoul of the law and into the arms of Sheriff Hardy's efficient deputies. Over twenty arrests were made over the county by the officers during the past week, up to Monday morning, according to the records at the sheriff's office.

Sheriff Hardy's force of deputies over the county are ever on the alert to protect law-abiding citizens and see that laws are complied with to the best of their ability. State Highway Patrolmen Wallace Waites and Earl Henley are rendering splendid service and cooperation with local officers in bringing law-breakers to task.

DR. PARNELL

posed on the farmers for building up their farms and the interest they take in building up their own lands and homes. If elected I shall do what I can to put a check on such tax in this county.

I believe in the upbuilding of our schools in the county to make the future men and women that our boys and girls will soon be, better men and women than we have been ourselves. Having this in mind, I shall at all times work for better schools in the county. It seems strange to me that some of our sister counties can arrange for their schools to run longer than we can and they do not seem to have as much tax money as this county has.

I am an ardent believer in good roads, and I think every property owner should have a good road to his home which will be passable at all times of the year, as soon as it is possible to build them. I believe we should take advantage of all three-way projects that are offered to us by the State and national government, to improve the roads in our county.

I am in favor of giving all county road work to the communities in which the work is to be done and stop transporting men across the county to do this work, just to furnish a few favorites with the work. I am in favor of men who are willing to do a good day's work for their money, and drive away with so much use of the county's own trucks, and giving the work to men who have trucks and teams of their own. I am opposed to the continual scraping of roads that are already in fine shape.

If elected, I shall at all times possible cooperate with other officials of the county for the betterment of the county, and give of my time for the improvement toward permanency, if possible, for the roads and bridges of the county and through these efforts for the safety of our people.

Very truly yours,

position which will cause the people to have to pay more taxes. I also promise to assist and aid our common public schools wherever and whenever I can. Sitting as a member of the Board of Review in estimating the value of the real estate owned by the people of our County I promise to act fairly, and it is also my opinion, that we already have enough taxes on our people, that our Government can be operated with the taxes already placed on our property.

As you all know, there has been considerable discussion in our County regarding the election of our Commissioners. I wish to say to the voters, I prefer to be elected and if the people want a Commissioner other than me, I want them to elect him; in other words being a Democrat I can't help but feel that our officers should be elected and not appointed. I am also aware of the fact that we have good men in the County who hold different views, but I hold to the view, that our officers should be elected who are directly responsible to the people.

I want to make one more final statement to the other candidates in this race with me, and that is this: If I am defeated and the one of you who receive the nomination, I expect to give you my support in November and to work for the success of the Democratic nominee, in other words, if I am not nominated I will not get mad with the other candidates because I did not receive the nomination, the voters nominee will be my nominee.

Thanking you, I am,

Very sincerely yours,

Seeks Membership On Board Of Education

MRS. GLADYS DERAMUS
Candidate For Member School Board
A statement elsewhere in this issue from the citizens of Verbena, gives Mrs. Deramus their wholehearted endorsement for the office she seeks on the Democratic ticket.

MRS. DERAMUS

I have been connected with educational activities, in one capacity or another, for many years and while I realize fully that individual schools have individual problems, I feel, at least, that I am on familiar ground. Many years as a student, nine years as a teacher and, more recently, a patron and President of the Verbena Parent-Teacher Association, have given me every angle from which to judge questions concerning our schools.

I have made no "campaign promises" and have no "platform" other than to discharge my duties faithfully and to the best interest of all communities, without prejudice as to location or friendship. I shall endeavor, unless honesty of opinion interferes, to work harmoniously with my associates.

My interest is in the schools, in securing the best available teachers, in keeping the schools open for a full term, in obtaining and maintaining the best buildings and equipment possible and in building our youth into men and women capable of handling their own and the affairs of their community, county, state and nation proudly and honorably.

I shall appreciate and endeavor to deserve your confidence.

Sincerely yours,
MRS. GLADYS DERAMUS.
(Pd. pol. adv. by Mrs. Gladys Deramus, Verbena, Ala.)

cause to regret having supported and voted for me.

I would like further to say to the people of my district if I am elected that I will distribute the work on the roads among the people of the district; that I will not have a hand picked set of men on the road to receive all the money.

There has been considerable discussion among the people of our county in regard to our commissioners' court. As you all know there was a bill introduced in the legislature which would if enacted as a law, prohibit the election of our commissioners. I would like for the voters to know that I did not think this a wise thing to do and am very glad that our lawmakers decided to leave it as it was.

I would like also to say to the voters in our party that should I not be fortunate to receive the nomination in our primary, that I will do all I can and assist in every way I can to elect our nominee in November.

J. A. CRANE.

BAPTIST YOUNG MEN WILL MEET HERE SUNDAY A.M.

According to information given the News a very important meeting of the Young Men's Class of the Clanton Baptist Church is scheduled for Sunday morning, May 3, at ten o'clock. Matters of interest will be discussed, and all young men in this vicinity, as well as visitors are most cordially urged to be present.

Sie Foshee Will Take Animals On Used Cars

Readers of the News will find an advertisement in this issue from Sie Foshee, crack salesman of the Hayes Chevrolet Co., in charge of the used car department, to the effect that he will accept cows, mules and hogs as part payment on any used car.

This is a most original idea and Mr. Foshee states that this will save his customers the trouble of trying to sell their stock to purchase a used car or truck. He stated that those interested should not bring the stock to town, but to get in touch with him personally at Hayes Chevrolet Co. and if a trade was made, he would go out and get the animal traded for.

of the county to the end that the affairs of the county will be conducted in the best possible manner. I will conduct myself in a manner as best I can to please the people and to show to them that I appreciate the honor they have bestowed upon me, and I feel that the people will never have cause to regret having supported me.

I want to say further that if I am not successful in the Primary that I will do all in my power to elect the nominee of our party in November. I have always done this and I expect to continue regardless of the result of May 5th, 1936. I want to thank those of my friends who have given me encouragement and have assured me that I will receive the nomination and also the encouragement they have given me in promising me their support.

Yours for the success of the party,
J. E. EASTERLING.
Candidate for County Treasurer.

ly resulting from an increased number of earning farmers.

"Of the total number of farmers on the program this year," Mr. Durbin said, "95 have continued on the program from last year. Their diligence and honest attempts to come back have been demonstrated in their payments on the loans advanced to them on that program. Now this year is bringing them as well as others who have been added to the roll new opportunities."

Since the rehabilitation office was established in Chilton County Mr. Durbin said, 362 farmers have been aided by the program. He said the work of the county advisory committee, composed of J. W. Fant, Ruth Pardue, W. A. Gullege, Lena Downs, and H. S. Shaw, and C. D. Foshee, E. R. Piper and D. I. Deramus, of the Farm Debt Adjustment committee, of which E. R. Piper is chairman, and of J. W. Fant and Ruth Pardue county agricultural and home demonstrations agents, has been invaluable in giving this assistance to these farmers.

CALL MEETING OF THE BILLINGSLEY P-T-A. FOR MAY 1

There will be a call meeting of the Billingsley P-T-A. Friday night, May 1, 1936 at 7:30, for the purpose of completing plans for its annual barbecue and setting the date for it. Also to elect officers for the ensuing year.

All patrons, teachers and friends of the school are invited to come to this meeting.

—E. B. Mills, President.

in Chilton County and who takes an active part in the betterment of this important money crop, stated that Monday was a splendid example of just what the farmers of the county do if they will devote some time and effort to producing quality berries for shipments.

Although the crop in the county will be short this year, indications are that the price will hold up fairly good provided, however, that the quality of the berries will warrant it.

Col. Knox's Place In The Republican Picture

The Montgomery Advertiser notes with some surprise that in a discussion of the foremost contenders for the Republican presidential nomination, one of the great Republican newspapers of the country, The Chicago Tribune, fails to make any mention of Col. Frank Knox. This omission is especially pointed in view of the fact that Col. Knox is a Chicagoan, and that he is the publisher of another paper in that city, The Chicago Daily News.

The Advertiser says:
The trend among the Republicans busily engaged in the task of selecting a candidate appears to be divided into two groups, the pro-Landon and the anti-Landon. One group is convinced that there can be no other choice for the Republicans except Landon, the other is convinced that any other candidate is preferable.

The Chicago Tribune declares that both factions are in error. "The pro-Landon group," it says, "is failing to recognize the fact that there are four candidates—Landon, Vandenberg, Borah and Dickinson—each of whom is well qualified for the presidency."

Can this failure on the part of The Tribune to mention the gentleman who publishes another Chicago newspaper, Col. Frank Knox, be an oversight, a typographical error, a mistake, a split infinitive?

But further on The Tribune says:
"We repeat: All four of the candidates who are now out in front are qualified for the office."

We presume that, this means the names mentioned previously, in which there was no notice taken of anyone by the name of Knox.

Since Col. Knox claims more instructed delegates than any other candidate seeking the nomination; since he is generally considered among the three leading candidates; since he was victorious in the Illinois primary; and since he is commonly supposed to be the publisher of The Chicago Daily News, it would appear that The Chicago Tribune would have at least heard some mention of the man's name in connection with the nomination.

Perhaps this is just another example of what happens to prophets in their own home towns.

Perhaps The Advertiser thinks that even though The Tribune may not be impressed by Col. Knox as a presidential possibility, or with his showing of strength as a candidate, it should take some notice of him at least out of journalistic courtesy to a fellow newspaper man of Chicago. It would be easy to imagine that The Tribune ignores Col. Knox because he is the head of a rival newspaper.

That, however, is probably not the case at all. The truth no doubt is that The Tribune honestly does not feel that Col. Knox is a serious contender. And it is probable that most Americans have the same feeling. The fact is, the Chicago publisher is generally counted out of the running, notwithstanding that he has won a number of delegates in several states. He has won these delegates primarily because he is a favorite son in two states. A native of New Hampshire, he received that state's vote, and with it the votes of several other New England states. A resident of Illinois, he won out over Senator Borah in that state's recent presidential preference primary. But he remains only a favorite-son candidate, whose delegates are likely to go to another candidate after once giving him a complimentary vote.

A few months ago Col. Knox was regarded as one of the foremost possibilities. But his political sun has been setting rather steadily ever since. The Tribune appears to be right in omitting him from the list of serious contenders.—B'ham Age-Herald.

Acreage Control Is Necessary

The fundamental problem of American agriculture is the control of production to such volume as will balance supply with demand. In the solution of this problem the cooperative organization of farmers to plan production, and the tariff to hold home market for American farmers, are vital elements. A third element equally as vital is the control of the acreage of land under cultivation as an aid to the efforts of the farmer to balance production.

The great question now is this: Can a satisfactory degree of acreage control be obtained as a by-product of soil conservation? The experience of 1936 will be awaited with interest and concern by farmers everywhere.—The Progressive Farmer.

Tolerance Growing

Most informed observers will agree that in recent years a growing spirit of religious tolerance has been manifested in the world, especially in the United States. It is not unusual to find Protestant, Catholic and Jewish clergymen appearing on the same platform in aid of some worthy movement.

In recent months representatives of these three great bodies of religionists have united in mass meetings and elsewhere to protest against the persecution of Jews by the Hitler regime in Germany.

But an incident hitherto without precedent occurred in Cincinnati, when Rabbi James G. Heller of the Center Temple Jewish congregation of that was elected a director of the Cincinnati and Hamilton County Y.M.C.A. A Jewish official of a Christian welfare society!

And why not? Rabbi Heller, according to the Cincinnati Times-Star, "has so identified himself with the community life of this city that it is quite impossible for any unprejudiced observer to compile a list of its cultural and religious leaders without including this distinguished rabbi among such leaders."

The Ohio Y.M.C.A. organization is to be congratulated on its religious tolerance and good common sense.

Excessive Production Dangerous

Farmers of the United States should thoughtfully consider President Roosevelt's appeal "to cooperate for their own and the national good to help in preventing excessive production."

The President warned that if farmers for any reason should fail to take advantage of the new Act, the consequent excessive production of such cash crops as cotton and wheat and tobacco might result once more in wrecking prices. "If the farmers, in operating the soil conservative program, display the same energy and cooperative spirit which they showed in making the production control programs work," he added, "they will go far to protect both their soil and their income."

Farmers are facing a critical situation. They can in large measure preserve the great advantages they have gained in the last three years under the present administration, or, by failure to cooperate with the Federal Government in administering the new Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, perhaps return speedily to those conditions that only a short time ago brought them close to bankruptcy and starvation.

This is not an idle warning. Since the publication of the President's appeal the Department of Agriculture has supplemented its report on the agricultural outlook with another statement showing that if the indicated wheat and tobacco production becomes a reality, prices of these commodities may fall far below the prices farmers received in 1935.

By reason of the Supreme Court decision, farmers cannot longer control production under the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, because the court decreed the control of farm production is a right reserved to the States and consequently not within Federal powers. But under the new Act farmers may divert a percentage of their acres planted in soil-depleting crops, such as cotton and tobacco, to soil-conserving and soil-building crops such as legumes and grasses. This should serve a three-fold purpose. It should not only conserve and build the soil, but it should help farmers to maintain or increase their income, and at the same time give them a measure of crop insurance that would compensate them for loss by drought or crop failure.

Only by united effort in a great national movement, cooperating with the Federal Government, can the farmers hope to reap the benefits under the new farm Act.

They Can't Spell

It is reported that among 298 young men and women who took a civil service examination in New York recently all but three failed in spelling.

This is not surprising to those who have had occasion to observe the spelling of the average high school graduate, or even that of some college men and women.

Why our schools do not give more attention to spelling is an unsolved mystery. Hundreds of hours are devoted to subjects which a pupil never thinks of after leaving school, yet the art of spelling, which must be practiced every day of his life, is given scanty consideration.

Perhaps it is thought that everyone should be permitted to develop originality. If so, the plan works well. Few show greater originality in any respect than in spelling.

MORAL ECHOES

There is not much difference between grown up folks and children when it comes to seeking attention. In order that a child may be noticed he will jabber a language that no one can interpret, then he will caper about with repulsive actions, then he will cry like a goat, and all for the attention that he wants. Grown up folks will dress in a peculiar style, some will laugh and giggle, some will air peculiar ideas, while others will cry and moan, and all for the attention that they want. We may think ourselves to be something, but we are just grown up children—resorting to all kinds of methods in order to get folks to notice us. Old and young alike revel in attention. We just naturally like to be noticed.

I stood beside the railroad track and counted the cars of the train that was passing by. I counted "One hundred, one, two, three, four" and then the car-boose rattled by. "My, my, what a train," said I to myself. Then I began to think that it was not such a train after all. To be sure it had one hundred and four cars, but they were all empties. Not a loaded car in that train. All were empties rattling on their way. Often we see a host of people moving about on the streets, sometimes we see them wending their way to the house of God, and then we exclaim "What a host of people!" After second thought we have cause sometimes to change our exclamation into just a common statement—"Not so wonderful after all, just a host of empties going by." Not every man you see on the way of life is a loaded man. From the noise and the dust that some folks carry along with them we become fully persuaded that they are only empties rattling by.

In April we journeyed to our summer camp and on our arrival we passed to look over the grounds. For six months no one had lived there. In that period of time and neglect the moss and the leaves had covered the ground. The fence had been torn from the posts and there were signs of neglect and desolation in all directions. The place had been deserted and left to the ravages of the wind and the pilfering hands of marauders. Before us were days of hard toil to remove the rubbish and repair the damage. Your heart, the same as your home, will become covered over with rubbish and ruin when it is neglected for weeks and months at a time. Look over your soul life and see how much rubbish you can find within. Better take some days and weeks to go through your soul and prepare it for a spiritual habitation.

It sounds simple to speak of the darkness leaving a room. Suppose that you try to drive out the darkness of a room at midnight without the assistance of light and it is not simple after all. You may fan the darkness with a big fan, you may scream your orders for it to flee, you may even offer violent threats if it does not move, and it remains there. Even the child knows that the best way to drive the darkness out of a room is to turn on the electricity, or to make a light with a match. We all know that the sunlight makes no effort makes no noise, creates no confusion, when it comes in to drive out midnight darkness. The sun simply shines and the darkness is gone. In like manner the best way in the world to get darkness and sin out of your life is to bring in the good, Christ says "Behold I stand at the door and knock." He is the light and He is life. If we open the door and He walks in, then darkness will go. The devil loves darkness rather than light and when Jesus shines into a soul, the devil will go.

In the days of circuit riding I journeyed many miles to a country church for the purpose of conducting a revival. On reaching the community I was told that an epidemic of Red Measles had spread over the community so that it would be out of the question for the revivals in towns and cities, and many a time have I been met with an epidemic, not of mumps and measles, that hindered the meeting, but an epidemic of alibis for non-attendance will kill a meeting as completely as an epidemic of small pox. This land is cursed from one end to the other with an epidemic of alibis.

Work Sheets Must Be Filed By May 15

Auburn, Ala.—May 15 is an important date for all Alabama farmers. The State Soil Conservation Committee has set it as the final date for farmers of the State to file work sheets with county agents for participation in the new $470,000,000 national soil conservation program this year.

Information also has been received from Washington stating that there may be an indefinite delay in price adjustment payment are to do so immediately," advises Dr. Duncan, director of the State soil conservation service, and W. H. Roberts, member of the State soil conservation committee.

In calling attention to the fact all work sheets must be filed county agents by May 15, the cultural leaders advised all producers whether or not they expect to grant this fall, to fill out work sheets, as this in no way obligates producer to cooperate or to apply for a grant. "Under present conditions there is no way a farmer can get a grant this fall without filling out a work sheet this spring prior to final date set by the State Committee."

Linotype Anniversary Will Be Celebrated

The part that the modern newspaper plays in the life of the community will be the subject of a radio program to be broadcast through the courtesy of the National Broadcasting Company early in July.

Occasion for this wide tribute to the publishing industry is found in the fiftieth anniversary of the invention of the linotype. It was this key invention that freed printing from the limitations of hand work and made possible the development of the newspaper in the form we know it today.

A prize of $500 and a trip to New York has been offered by the Mergenthaler Linotype Co. for the 30-minute radio script which best dramatizes newspaper development over the last fifty years.

This paper will be glad to furnish the rules of the contest and to demonstrate the production of a modern newspaper to any of its readers who wish to compete for this award.

BEELAND IS MENTIONED FOR GOVERNORSHIP

Greenville Editor Says That "Beeland For Gov."

Move Is On

Montgomery, Ala., May 2 (Special)—Politicians returning to the capitol following the last special session of the State Legislature have all agreed on one thing—and it's not how to get more taxes, reported F. W. Stanley, editor of the Greenville Advocate, on a visit here.

"After checking up on the sentiment in the state, the political chiefs, in their conferences here, have agreed that they have one job ahead and that is to stop a 'Beeland for governor' wave that is sweeping the four corners of the state.

"Big wigs of the political tepee, called here to revamp plans for more taxes, since their utter failure during the last session, came back with reports that the name of the fiery little fighter from Greenville has caught the public fancy and that there is a movement on foot in many counties to draft Jeff P. Beeland, campaign manager of the Consumers Anti-Sales Tax Association of Alabama, for a candidate for governor at the next election," said Stanley.

"In fact, political observers at the capitol point out that the politicians are so anxious to stop this public clamor for a man for governor who is opposed to more taxes and who demands economy, that they have forgotten their drive for more tax money and that some economies will be effected in the state government to offset the growing demand for an economy government," Stanley added.

"Beeland, successful farmer, merchant and business man of Butler County, has never been a candidate for office. Although he always has been a fighter for civic betterment and for economic business principles in government, his large business connections have been so that he has made many financial sacrifices in his effort to aid the cause of the people."

"In the recent campaign staged by the anti-sales tax organization, he devoted much time to fight and answered calls from his Greenville home near midnight to rush to Montgomery for conferences before legislative days.

"Beeland, polished southern gentleman, is soft spoken, but when irked at political tactics draws no words in explaining his reaction to the public," Stanley said.

"The Greenville planter, his close associates say, does not covet any political office, yet they are of the opinion that should the public and voters in general draft him for a candidate, he would accept," added the editor.

"They point out that he would not become attached to any political machine for election."

Will Air-Condition Tutwiler Hotel Rooms

An evidence of increased business activity is shown by the recent letting of contracts for air conditioning a large number of bedrooms at the Tutwiler Hotel in Birmingham and the Andrew Jackson Hotel in Nashville according to announcement by Carling Dinkler, president and general manager of the operating company.

These two cities will take the lead among southern towns in hotel modernization as they are among the first to bring air conditioning to bedrooms as well as public rooms. The announcement stated that two entire floors of bedrooms are being air conditioned and that the system used will keep the bedroom temperature uniformly comfortable regardless of outside weather conditions. The machinery used consists of a central unit operating the entire outfit in each hotel but it permits control in each room the same as heating is controlled in the winter.

The advantage of air conditioning is pointed out not only in the maintenance of a comfortable temperature but the further fact that a complete change of fresh air is given every three minutes. The air is drawn from the outside through filters that thoroughly cleanse it from every particle of dust before it reaches the room.

In announcing this development Mr. Dinkler stated that better business conditions are reflected by this modernization, it being indicative of the upward trend general throughout the country.

Mightiest Team Has Never Been Defeated

Rock and Tom Hold World's Record For Pulling—Featured in Current Announcement

The strongest team of horses in the world—that's what witnesses of the pulling feats of Rock and Tom, call this famous pair of Belgians. They are owned by the Statler Farms Co., at Piqua, Ohio, and in the various pulling meets held around the country, they have never met defeat.

Rock and Tom are the featured illustration in the current natural nitrate advertisement, one of a series of educational announcements appearing regularly in this newspaper. Their record is 3,900 lbs. tractive pull, the equivalent of pulling 9 plows cutting furrows 14 inches wide and 6 inches deep.

The natural nitrate folks point out that these magnificent animals are Mother Nature at her best: They are creatures to whom Nature gave the vital spark, a perfect balance of all the elements that combine to make an unbeatable performer. The parallel is pointed out between the mighty Rock and Tom and the natural nitrate of soda which Nature also favored with her vital spark, a natural balance of major and minor elements that are so important in the healthy growth and feeding of crops. As the agricultural world now realizes the natural nitrate contains as impurities, many elements other than nitrogen, Magnesium, for instance, calcium, boron, manganese, potassium and iodine are a few of the many elements which Nature has blended into the natural nitrogen fertilizer material which is so widely used to improve crops of the South.

Fifteen Miles Conveyors
In Chrysler Plant

Mechanical Transportation Of Materials Is Important Phase Of Manufacturing

One of the most important factors in quantity production of quality motor cars is the elaborate system of conveyors that has been devised by plant engineers. The immense savings in time and money effected by these conveyors are beneficial both to the public in the form of lower prices for the finished product and to factory workmen in the form of increased wages. Obviously wages are based primarily on a man's capacity for production and only by having his materials immediately at hand when he wants them can this production be maintained at a pace profitable both to the worker and his employers.

Thus the quality for which Chrysler cars are noted is vitally affected by the excellence of the conveyor system in use in the factory. There are 143 distinct conveyor lines in the Chrysler assembly and body plants in Detroit. These 143 conveyor lines handle something like 100,000 tons of materials in the course of a year, saving untold steps and untold human energy that thus can be diverted into channels where it is more profitable than in merely bearing burdens.

The conveyors are of three general types, overhead, floor and assembly. Placed end to end they would extend a distance of nearly 15 miles. As a result of this installation, not a pound of material is transported by manpower any greater distance than the step or two that a workman takes in carrying it from the storage place right at his elbow to the place where he is going to use it in his particular job of building a car. With the heavier parts, not even one step is required, the part being lowered from the conveyor directly to the place where it will be installed on the car in the making.

Among the most interesting of these mechanical carriers is the engine conveyor, which picks up the engine after it is completed on the motor assembly line and has had its block and dynamometer tests and transports it nearly half a mile to the spot where it will be installed in the chassis. This conveyor when completely loaded holds 260 engines, each weighing some 200 pounds, or a total weight of nearly a quarter of a million pounds of very valuable freight.

The wheel and tire conveyor is an asset in every way I can elect other long one, measuring about a half mile. Wheels are unloaded from freight cars or motor trucks and carried on the conveyor to the fourth floor. There they are painted and the tires and tubes, which also have been handled by conveyors, are put on. The wheel and tire assembly then goes back on the conveyor and is carried to the rear of the second floor, whence it is fed down chutes to the chassis assembly.

The sheet metal conveyor seems to be endowed with almost human intelligence. First it picks up front fenders and then as it proceeds on its way, gets rear fenders, hoods, radiator shells running boards and other sheet metal parts. These go to the rust-proofing department thence through primer and finishing paint coats, which are rubbed down and polished. They then return to the same conveyor and are delivered to the chassis assembly, where they arrive just in time to go into the making of a car of a specified color combination that is going through. The synchronizing of the sheet metal parts and the chassis is made possible by an ingenious teletype system that gives complete color and general specifications of all cars to all departments, furnishing materials when the car starts on the chassis assembly line. The complete journey of the sheet metal parts on this conveyor is about half a mile.

It is of course generally known that the general assembly line is a conveyor, whose pace is regulated according to the demands of production. It can be stepped up to a capacity of slightly over 60 cars an hour with the sacrifice of any of Chrysler's quality and precision standards.

John C. Brown, 78, farmer of Dry Forks, Ky., has taken as his sixth wife, Mrs. Julia Sexton, 60. The new Mrs. Brown has had three previous husbands.

LOVEMAN'S CELEBRATE
49th BIRTHDAY

Friends and Customers Everywhere Invited to Attend this Event May 8-16

Celebrating its forty-ninth birthday as a leading Alabama mercantile establishment, and its first anniversary in its new home—said to be the finest and most modern department store building in the South—Loveman, Joseph & Loeb, of Birmingham, Ala., has invited its customers and friends living in every section of the South to visit Birmingham during the week of its forty-ninth birthday celebration, May 8-16, according to Joseph H. Loveman, president.

Although Loveman, Joseph & Loeb is known today as one of the largest department stores south of the "Mason and Dixon Line," it had its beginning in a very small store started in 1887 by A. B. Loveman, father of Joseph H. Loveman, who came to Birmingham from Greensboro, Ala.

Within a few months Mr. Loveman was joined by M. V. Joseph and in 1889 the firm was completed with the addition of Emil Loeb. The first store, on Second Avenue, was quickly outgrown, and in 1891 the first unit of a new store on Nineteenth Street was completed.

In 1917 the Third Avenue annex was added, and this completed the building program until the devastating fire of March 10, 1934, which destroyed the entire building.

Within three weeks Loveman's was again open for business in two temporary locations. Soon work was begun on a bigger, more beautiful and more modern building—a fitting tribute to Loveman tradition.

It is in celebration of our occupancy of this new home—and in commemoration of the forty-nine years of continuous service to customers—that Loveman, Joseph & Loeb invites its friends to Birmingham the week of May 8-16. Headed by the son of the founder, a great group of men, women—many of whom were reared in the smaller towns of the South—are inspired by the zeal to serve, the same vision to believe in Alabama and the South, that inspired the youth of Greensboro, whose small store fronted on the muddy thoroughfare that was Birmingham's Second Avenue in 1889.

15 LAST DAY FOR FARMERS TO ENROLL IN NEW SOIL PLANS

Instructions Issued To Agents At Meeting Here

Montgomery, Alabama, May 4.—State Soil Conservation Commission set May 15 as the final day for participation in the new national soil conservation program, W. H. Robertson, chairman of the committee, told county agents at the Gay-Teague session at the Gay-Teague Hotel here last night. "Farmers who have not already done so should immediately file applications for cotton price adjustment payments due on cotton sold during the last of 1935 and the first of this year. We have instructions from Washington stating that there may be an indefinite delay in the price adjustment checks unless applications are filed for the payments before May 15 on cotton sold prior to May 15, he told the agents.

Called By Arnold

The county agents were called to Montgomery by R. G. Arnold, district Agent, to obtain details of modifications made in the new farm program to permit increased participation by farmers throughout the nation. The agents met last night and will continue in session today.

In calling attention to the fact that all work sheets under the new program must be filed with county agents by May 15, Mr. Robertson advised all producers, whether or not they expect to apply for grants this Fall, to fill out work sheets, as this in no way obliges the producer to cooperate or to apply for a grant. "Under present regulations there is no way a farmer can obtain a grant this Fall without filling out a work sheet this Spring," he said.

The State conservation committee also has agreed that no application for grant will be approved on one farm if provisions of the new program are not carried out on other farms owned, operated or controlled by the same person, the agents were told.

Change

A most important change in the new farm program is that permitting producers who may fall short of the minimum acreages in soil-conserving crops necessary for full payment to still qualify for partial payments, Robertson stated. The original program provided that to be eligible for payments, farmers must have in 1936 at least 15 per cent as much crop land in soil-conserving crops as in their soil-depleting bases, or 20 per cent in the case of cotton, tobacco and peanut.

Under the change, growers whose soil-conserving crop acreage is less than that required for full payment, deductions will be made from payment, deductions will be made from payments, Robertson stated. These deductions will be based upon the number of acres by which the grower fails to achieve full performance. The deduction for each excess acre of soil-depleting crops will be one and one-half times the per acre rate of the Class 1, or soil-conserving payment. If the Class 1 payment for any farm is $8 an acre, the deduction rate for that farm would be $12 an acre.

New Program

The new program enables farmers who have a large soil conserving acreage and a moderate or small soil-depleting base acreage to qualify for the Class 2, or soil building payments without reducing their soil-depleting base.

In the event, however, that they have sufficient soil-conserving acreage, but increase their soil-depleting acreage until it exceeds their soil-depleting base deductions will be made from their payments. The payment will be reduced by an amount equal to the per acre rate of the Class 1 payment for the farm multiplied by the number of acres by which the producer exceeds the soil-depleting base.

For example, a producer whose rate for shifting soil-depleting acreage to soil-conserving acreage is $11 per acre and whose soil-depleting acreage exceeded his soil-depleting base by 10 acres would have $110 or 10 times $11 deducted from the Class 2, soil-building payment or any other payment that might be due him from a special crop.

GROWING... to serve the growing South

More than $38,200,000 was spent by the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company in 1935 in taxes, wages and plant additions, improvements and replacements to meet the demands for high grade telephone service in the section it serves.

Most of the thirty-eight million dollars found its way back into the avenues of trade in the South. To care for the 55,950 new telephones added and the eight per cent increase in the volume of traffic, the Company increased its personnel, expanded its plant and made a substantial improvement in the quality of its service.

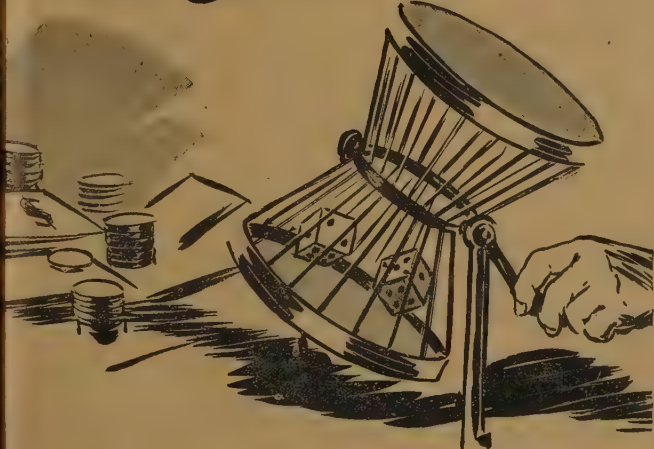

Over 1,200 people were added to the payroll, making a total of seventeen thousand now employed by the Company. These additional people are all residents of towns and cities in this section. The annual payroll was nineteen million dollars, an increase of almost seven per cent over the previous year.

Taxes paid to federal, state, county and municipal agencies totaled over six and one-half million dollars, or about one-eighth of the total revenues received from telephone users.

Having maintained the service and met every responsibility cheerfully during the depression, telephone men and women are continuing their efforts to provide more and better service at the lowest possible cost during 1936.

Grammar School of Clanton Has Splendid Program at Closing Exercises Recently

At the closing exercises of the Clanton Grammar School, held recently at the Methodist church, a splendid program was rendered by those pupils who enter high school next year.

The Valedictory, given each year by an outstanding pupil, was given this year by Miss Frances Inez Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Smith. Last year, Annie Cordelia Smith, sister of Frances, was Valedictorian of her graduating class, and was also one of the most outstanding pupils of her class that year, and these sisters also received the Jesse Chandler Memorial Award given each year by the Study Club of Clanton to the pupil making the highest grades at the grammar school.

Following is the program rendered

Government Agencies Employ 185 In Clanton

Birmingham, Ala., April 28.—There are 185 men and women in Clanton County employed by various governmental agencies on the emergency works program, according to the latest figures compiled by Judge John D. Petree, director for Alabama of the National Emergency Council.

At least 90 per cent of these workers have been taken from the county relief rolls, according to the provisions of the Emergency Relief Act of 1935, Judge Petree said. This act, under which the Congress appropriated $4,800,000,000 was intended to replace direct relief with a works program.

The greater portion of the men and women employed by the various agencies are on projects of the Works Progress Administration. Of the total of 185 men and women in Clanton County, 114 men and 36 women are employed by WPA.

The steady employment furnished these men and women has been reflected in rising purchasing power throughout the state, Judge Petree said, where a total of 48,419 men and women are employed on all the various emergency work programs. These programs, in addition to WPA, include such activities as those sponsored by the Bureau of Public Roads, the Rural Resettlement Administration, the Public Works Administration and other agencies.

These agencies are pouring more than $40,000,000 into the state to relieve distress and unemployment, Judge Petree said. This money is being spent largely for wages, though a considerable portion is going for the purchase of materials. Alabama is getting its share of these material purchases, the director pointed out, thus creating further employment through industries benefitting by the purchases.

State-Wide Jersey Meeting Is Called

Auburn, Ala.—F.W. Burns, extension livestock specialist, has called a Jersey cattle breeders of Alabama to attend a state-wide meeting in Auburn on Wednesday, May 13, to organize a state Jersey cattle club.

The meeting is being sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. An all-day luncheon will be served at noon at the dairy department of the college.

Mr. Burns has written county agents and Jersey breeders pointing out the importance of all interested parties being present.

Dodge Auto Plant Over Mysterious Body Of Water

Dodge factory legend has it that the great plant, or a part of it, stands over some kind of lake or pool. Only a few of the oldest of Dodge old-timers venture a guess at the exact location, size and purpose of the mysterious and invisible body of water that actually does lie beneath building number three of the company's main plant.

The one man who knows all about the matter is fire marshal Larry Kenney. "The pool is not, as some of the men here think, a spring-fed lake, but a concrete affair built when the original factory was erected," explains Mr. Kenney. "The provision of the enormous tank illustrates the foresight with which the builders guarded human life and property against the dangers of fire."

"In the Dodge plant every floor is protected by elaborate sprinkler systems connected to and supplied with water from three elevated tanks having a total capacity of 260,000 gallons. The plants are also connected to the city water supply. Hose connections and other apparatus are located in close proximity of any place where fire might break out."

"But in addition to all these precautions, a huge concrete basin was built under one of the buildings, to hold 360,000 gallons of water—or more than enough to refill the gravity tanks, should they ever run dry from any cause."

Though in the 22 years since the Dodge plant began operations no blaze ever compelled the fire department to tap the 360,000 gallon water supply, the reservoir, seen by so few men that its very existence is unknown to most of them, is kept filled to the proper level at all times.

Patrolmen Learn To Jump Ditches In Chase Last Saturday

There is no doubt that Highway Patrolmen Earl Henley and Wallace Waites, have completed a course in ditch jumping and log-road riding, having given two young men a merry chase last Saturday afternoon.

The two offenders of the law, driving a truck, were spotted in Clanton and according to Waites and Henley appeared to be driving rather unusual—perhaps under the influence of liquor, something the law won't tolerate.

The chase began near Clanton and followed a route of country roads, ditch, cotton patches and trails—but despite several spills from their mounts Officers Waites and Henley got their men, and lodged them in the county jail under charges of driving while intoxicated. Which, when summed up, simply means that it will be useless to try to dodge these two efficient officers, even if you do try to lead them across ditches. The drivers license of the two men arrested were suspended for sometime in addition to heavy fines.

NEVER KNOWN DEFEAT

Rock and Tom, owned by the Statler Farms Co., Piqua, Ohio. Driver, Russell Sando. Their present record—3900 lbs. tractive pull, which is equivalent to pulling 9 plows cutting furrows 14 inches wide and 6 inches deep.

WHAT A RECORD! Never have these mighty champions been beaten. They've out-pulled every team they've ever met.

These magnificent Belgians are Nature at her best. They are animals to which Nature has given the vital spark—that necessary, natural balance of all the elements of which champions are made.

Natural balance is everything! It's the difference between this team of powerful champions and common, ordinary plows. It's the difference between the best and the rest in almost everything.

And here's another example of Nature at her best—Natural Chilean Nitrate. This nitrogen fertilizer is favored by Nature with the champion's vital spark—the natural balance of the elements that make a champion. Into Chilean Nitrate Nature blended the vital impurities—the combination of many major and minor elements over and beyond nitrogen. Through countless centuries, Nature has aged and matured this nitrogen fertilizer in the ground, that you may return it to your ground as the safe, sure, balanced food for your crops.

Natural Chilean contains almost two score of major and minor elements such as boron, molybdenum, magnesium, iodine, calcium, potassium, etc.—each a vital element in growth and healthy development of plants.

Cultivate New Kudzu Plantings

Ann, Ala.—To control erosion on farms, 3,845,000 kudzu plants were planted last year. Coordinated efforts of the Federal Government and the States will spread like a huge net.

The joints on the vines, the roots down into the soil, make a complete luxuriant mat.

Before a kudzu field may be used for hay and pasture there must be more rooted plants than were set out. These new plants will develop of their own accord if the soil is cultivated during the first year.

Cultivation controls weeds, gives run-off water a chance to take hold in the soil, and keeps away with the competition of weeds for moisture. Broomsedge is one of the worst enemies of kudzu. Plow it out then go over the field with a hoe to dig out remaining plants in the rows, says Bailey.

The practice of clean cultivation will keep the soil in good shape, permitting the kudzu crowns to send roots down into moist soil until there are three or four plants to every square yard of surface. This number must come from the joints which cannot root unless they lie on moist clean cultivated ground.

State Farmers Have 715 Trench Silos

Auburn, Ala.—Alabama farmers have 715 trench silos which hold an average of 59 tons each to be filled this fall.

Reports show that last year the farmers grew and stored the silage at an average cost of $2.30 per ton. Most of the silos are filled with Coopersack sorghum, sometimes called Texas seeded ribbon cane, planted at the rate of one peck of seed per acre in 3 1/2 foot rows on bottom land with plenty of available moisture.

Sorghum for silage is usually planted the first half of May and is cultivated like corn. If available, barnyard manure is excellent for the cane. It has also been found that 200 to 400 pounds of nitrogenous fertilizer applied at the time of second cultivation gives good results.

Instead of sentencing Charles Gibson, 19, of Rochester, Ind., to 2 to 14 years in the state reformatory for forgery, Judge Robert Miller ordered him to attend church every Sunday for two years.

Earmarked School Funds New Objective

Montgomery, Alabama, May 1, 1936—The school leaders of Alabama will no longer fight for a parity constitutional amendment according to Garland S. Smith, of Vernon, president of the Alabama Education Association. Instead, they will launch a drive to have all school revenues, including those for higher institutions, placed in one educational fund, this fund to be maintained by revenue especially earmarked for education.

The new plan was agreed on at a special meeting of the executive boards of the Alabama Education Association and the Alabama Congress of Parents and Teachers, Mr. Smith explained. School leaders concluded that it is practically impossible to get the right kind of a parity amendment passed at the present time. The Harrison bill, passed by both Houses on the last day of the recent legislative session, but which died in conference committee, abolished the Special Educational Trust Fund and exempted highway funds in full, as well as appropriations for the judiciary of the state.

"By getting parity through earmarked funds," Mr. Smith said, "the schools will be able to stand on their own bottom and it can no longer be said that schools will not get the taxes levied in their behalf. Under our proposed new program funds can be voted for education with the absolute assurance that they will go for the purpose intended."

"We want it understood," Mr. Smith declared, "that we are continuing our fight for parity for education, but we shall try to get real parity this time and in a different way."

Eleven Million Trees, Shrubs Set In Alabama

Anburn, Ala.—More than 11,000,000 trees and shrubs have been planted the past season on badly eroded areas in Alabama by the Soil Conservation Service and Extension Service.

Local Gulf Distributor Well Pleased With Growth Of Business During Past Year

According to W. L. Sims, distributor for Good Gulf gasoline and other products manufactured by the Gulf Refining Company, recently stated to a representative of the News, "that the growth of his business during the past twelve months has been most gratifying. Not only have six new stations been added to those dispensing Gulf products in his territory, but there has been an increase of business with practically everyone of those who have been selling this brand of gasoline and oil for a longer period."

Mr. Sims attributes this increase in business to several things. Among those mentioned are: More people are realizing just how good the famous Good Gulf gas performs in their automobiles, and the superiority of Gulfpride oil. The general trend of business seems strongly upward, thus giving more opportunity for business growth. A consistent program of advertising through local newspapers and other mediums has no doubt been of assistance in placing the Gulf message before the traveling public. Courteous filling station operators have been another major factor in this increase of business according to Mr. Sims.

$37,000,000 FOR CROP LOANS IS NOW AVAILABLE TO FARM

Good news for farmers was contained in the recent disclosure that the President has raised the $30,000,000 crop loan fund to $37,000,000. These loans, which are now available, are limited to the borrower's immediate needs and, in all cases, to $200 per person. Interest will be charged at 5 1/2 per cent and the loan will constitute a first lien on the crop financed by it.

The loan regulations contain two features which all farmers should heed, regardless of whether or not they are borrowers. Applicants must plant a garden for home use. Although the soundness of this is widely recognized, there are still far too many farmers who buy for cash what they could grow at home.

Along the same lines, the regulations suggest that American made supplies be used. Just as when a farmer has a home garden he keeps his money at home, when he buys goods made in America he keeps money circulating at home where it can do him further good. All the farm equipment and fertilizer the farmer needs is now made in America, and much of it is made right in the South. In suggesting that these domestic materials be used, Uncle Sam is pointing out a sound economic principle.

RAILWAY OFFICIALS PAY VISIT TO CLANTON RECENTLY

These men are anxious that the service rendered by the express company be factory in every way.

E. C. PARRISH READY TO EXPLAIN LOANS UNDER

Many persons in and around town are taking advantage of the opportunity offered by the Federal Farm Administration to own their homes, according to E. C. Parrish, the First National Bank in Clanton who receives applications for loans under this government agency.

How Cardui Helps Women To Build Up

Cardui stimulates the appetite and improves digestion, helping women to get more strength from the food they eat. As nourishment is improved, strength is built up, certain functional pains go away and women praise Cardui for helping them back to good health. . . . Mrs. O. E. Ratliff, of Hinton, W. Va., writes: "After the birth of my last baby, I did not seem to get my strength back. I took Cardui again and was soon sound and well. I have given it to my daughters and recommend it to other ladies." . . . Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

Local Party Return From Fishing Trip

A party composed of Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Hayes, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Edgar and Miss Ruth Edgar, returned Sunday from a week's fishing trip at Foley, Alabama.

They report that salt water fish are furnishing real sport to fishermen now, and judging from the catch they made, they are not exaggerating. Dr. Hayes brought back a fifty-eight pound Codling, measuring over three feet long. Dr. Edgar was unfortunate in landing another fish of this kind, when it was lost near the boat. Several smaller ones were landed by the party.

got together after the girls had nominated several prospective Captains in Clanton, and decided upon Miss Gertrude Fiquette as their Captain and Mrs. Sam Martin and Mrs. Otto Jones, as Lieutenants. Several of the mothers were there also.

The Girl Scouts decided to meet every Monday night at the City Hall at 7:00 p.m., and request that all girls who are eligible or are between the ages of ten and eighteen years, to join. On account of some graduation exercises in town, some of the girls requested that they meet next week on Wednesday night, and Monday night thereafter.

Miss Irene Smitherman, county health nurse, has offered to give instructions in first aid to the Girl Scouts of Clanton.

Before becoming a Girl Scout and making the promise, a girl must be ten years old, have attended at least four meetings covering at least one month in time, and must:

1. Know the Girl Scout Promise, laws, motto, sign and salute.
2. Give the pledge of allegiance to the flag. Show how the flag should be used.
3. Know four woodcraft signs.
4. Tell the story of one animal pet (if you have not an animal pet, tell the story of any live thing you have watched).
5. Tie the square knot, bowline, clove hitch, sheepshank and sheetbent knots.

We urge that you join the Girl Scout Troop of Clanton!

PETE JARMAN THANKS COUNTY FOR SUPPORT

In a letter to the News, Pete B. Jarman, 15, the next Congressman from this District, expresses his thanks and appreciation to the people of Chilton County for the splendid support they gave him on the Democratic ticket. Following is Mr. Jarman's letter which comes sincere and a report of votes he polled over the Sixth Congressional District:
"I hasten to thank every single person in Chilton for my magnificent vote in your great county. Naturally happy indeed over our decisive victory, which was a complete rout outside of Tuscaloosa, I particularly appreciate the outstanding contribution toward it by my friends in Chilton. This overwhelming endorsement, the largest with which a candidate for Congress was ever favored in our district, simply strengthens my determination to prove worthy of the honor you have so generously conferred upon me by becoming a Congressman of whom you will be proud. I bespeak the whole-hearted cooperation of the entire citi- (Continued to Back Page)

A.L. WATSON AND H. WALKER OPEN GARAGE

Located In New Building At Intersection Of Two Main Highways

Clanton's newest building and one of the most modern in the city, will house its occupants this week, according to John C. Page, owner of the building which is now being completed. Located at the intersection of the Selma and Birmingham highway, this building will house the Clanton Garage and Body Repair Shop.

Heading this new automobile repair shop will be Arthur L. Watson and Harry Walker, two of the best known mechanics and body builders in this section.

Watson has been connected with several automobile dealers in Clanton for a number of years and the experience he received at these places will enable him to give his customers excellent service at all times.

Walker is one of the best known and experienced automobile body repair men in this section of the state. He was formerly connected with Calloway's Garage in Clanton where he built up a tremendous trade in re-building and repairing bodies, fenders, etc.

Messrs. Walker and Watson state that they have gone to considerable expense to equip their new shop with the most modern machines and tools for repairing any make of automobile. Their new home is easy to get to and will be new in every respect. Their slogan is "We Rebuild 'Em From The Ground Up."

Deramus Expresses Thanks to Supporters

Editor Chilton County News:
Please allow me a little space in your paper for the purpose of expressing my thanks and appreciation to the voters of Chilton County for favoring me with second place on the ticket in the recent primary election.

I want to thank every one that voted for me and especially do I want to thank the people of Beat 5 for their generous and almost unanimous support. To those who did not see fit to support me, I wish to say that I have only the kindest feeling; and assure you of my, and I hope for your, continued good will.

To all of the candidates, both successful and defeated, I wish to express my appreciation of the high-toned manner in which the campaign was conducted and assure you that it has been a pleasure to me to have been associated with you in this race.

After the due conclusion of the race of the election, I have decided not to enter the June Primary and to concede the nomination to Mr. J. Monroe Parrish, and to pledge him my unqualified support.

Verbera, Ala. May 12, 1936.

L. DERAMUS.

To Deliver Address At Rockford Tues.

SUPT. LUTHER E. LITTLE
County Superintendent of Education Luther E. Little will deliver the Commencement address at the Rockford High School on Tuesday, May 19th. Mr. Little received a part of his early education at this same school.

Statement To Voters From Monroe Parrish

I want to take this opportunity to thank the voters of my party and to express my deep appreciation for the honor they have bestowed upon me.

I want to say to the other three candidates who made this race with me, that as far as I know, there was not an unkind word spoken by either of us regarding the other. The campaign was conducted without any hard feelings and no commotion or great disturbance among the people. I am very thankful that this is true.

If I am informed properly the number of votes on the Democratic side in this primary election were more than those cast by the Republican party. This is gratifying and in my opinion the vote in November will be greater in our party than on the other side. I feel that every candidate nominated in the Democratic primary will be elected in November. In order to accomplish this we should assure the people that we will act fairly in regard to all matters concerning the affairs of the office for which we are asking the ballot, and when (Continued to Back Page)

Are You An Active Member?

The Young Men's Class of the Clanton Baptist Church is starting a drive for membership and attendance. At the close of this campaign there will be a social of some kind for the pleasure of all. This social, however, is not intended to bring to a close the attendance and interest created during the campaign.

If you are a member of this class and have not been attending regularly, why not be there Sunday at 10:00—learn about this new campaign and assist in every way to make it a success. Perhaps you are a newcomer in town and have not yet attended any Sunday schools; if so you will find a warm welcome every Sunday in this class of young men. This class is being taught by Mr. H.A. Harris whose sole interest is to make each period an interesting and helpful one. He asks that you be there next Sunday. They need your help.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS SHOW UP WELL WITH CANDIDATES MAY 5

Get-Together Planned For Tonight At Courthouse In Clanton; Call Is Sent Out By Vice-President For A "Surprise Party" Gathering

Members of the Chilton County Unit of The Alabama State League of Young Democrats are rejoicing in their own way over the outstanding victory they scored in electing several of their members in the recent Primary to memberships on the County Democratic Executive Committee and the splendid vote polled by one of their members as nominee for county treasurer.

Political observers recognize this as being something worthwhile for the organization in this county, and State and National officials of the League of Young Democrats have expressed their pleasure at this accomplishment for the young people.

A special meeting, or a "get-together" for the Young Democrats of the county is set for tonight at the courthouse in Clanton, and according to Donald Merchant, first vice-president, and Barnett Deramus, second vice-president, it is going to be something of a "surprise party." A general invitation is extended to all persons between the ages of nineteen and thirty-nine to attend, and especially the ladies. Just what would be on the program was not revealed by those in charge.

One important item on the program is the elevation of someone to the presidency of the organization, since a vacancy exists there following the resignation of Wallace Cox who has been out of the county for sometime, and who tendered his resignation due to his inability to carry on his duties as

LARGE AMOUNT SPENT IN THIS COUNTY BY PWA

Over Nineteen Thousand Paid For Wages Only In Chilton Co.

Birmingham, Ala., May 14. — One Governmental agency, The Works Progress Administration, has spent $19,200.49 in Chilton County for wages alone, according to latest figures compiled by Judge John D. Petree, State Director of the National Emergency Council for Alabama.

For the State as a whole, Judge Petree reported, the WPA has spent $8,044, 263.71 for wages, reaching every county in the State, and the NYA payrolls have amounted to $351,909.62.

As these figures are for wages alone, Judge Petree explained, they do not take into consideration the vast amount spent for materials both by the Federal Government and the sponsors. The WPA has spent approximately $3,500,000 for materials largely from Alabama dealers, thus adding materially to employment and (Continued to Back Page)

"To the People of Chilton County:
"I want to take this means of extending to my supporters my heartfelt thanks and appreciation for your splendid and generous support in my behalf for Commissioner from the Third District.

"I enter the second Primary on June 9th with no ill-feeling toward anyone who did not vote for me, and if I am not the nominee, then I will throw my support behind the Democratic nominee and want to ask that everyone voting the Democratic ticket in this county do the same thing. I expect to have another statement to make to you soon.

Respectfully,
DR. C.N. PARNELL."

OFFICIAL COUNT OF THE PRIMARY IN THIS ISSUE

The official tabulated count, Box by Box, of the Democratic Primary held on May 5th, will be found elsewhere in this issue, near the center of the page. A letter from Mr. Deramus appears in this issue.

When Dollars Come Hard

"Young men's dollars" are relatively easy to earn. In the twenties and thirties and forties, when human energy is at its zenith, and mind and body are highly-keyed and aggressive, most of us manage to get along without grave difficulties.

"Old men's dollars," to the contrary, come hard. The human being, like a machine, runs down. It cannot keep up the pace. Enthusiasm dulls, fatigue sets in. There is no more pitiable object in the world than an old man without savings.

Thus, one of man's greatest problems is to accumulate enough "young men's dollars," and invest them securely, to provide for the old man he will some day become. No better advice can be given the young man than to tell him to adopt his own old-age security program, through life insurance or a similar agency, at the earliest possible time.

Helpful Cooperation The Key

"Some way must be found of assuring the individual worker his chance. This (the problem of re-employment) is not an issue that can be settled by hurling partisan invective or making exaggerated accusations by unleashing political rancor. It is a task for both business management and political management. It will not be met if business restricts its outlook to the four walls of the counting room or particular industries measure national progress in terms of their own cash balances. It can only be met by hard, cooperative work and the exercise of that most valuable attribute—still deep-rooted in the American people—common sense."

Many times since his inauguration, frequently during his campaign in 1932 and while serving as Governor of New York, President Roosevelt has stressed the obvious obligation of business men in meeting the harrassing problem of the unemployed.

But this time it is not the President of the United States speaking. This clarion call for team-work and plea for prompt abandonment of aloofness and studied selfishness that has characterized the continuing attitude of many of the country's largest employers is from Mr. Harper Sibley, the president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, delivered at its 24th general session in Washington.

And as though he felt that he had not covered the subject thoroughly, Mr. Sibley, in what amounts to a complete vindication of President Roosevelt's persistence in keeping eternally at his task of driving home the plain duty of Big Business to absorb as many of the unemployed as possible from their restored earnings, declared:

"The balance cannot be restored by setting off the demagogue against the ruthless profiteer."

The public will watch with increasing interest the result of this long-delayed indication of a break in the log jam which has so delayed participation in the President's recovery program since the early days of commercial convalescence in this country. The definite 10-point plan proposed by Secretary Roper to the U. S. Chamber points the way and meets the case, as Mr. Sibley's implied endorsement of it plainly indicates.

Motor Bloodshed

Spring is here! And to millions of us, the lure of the open road will soon become irresistible. Then off we'll go, for fishing trips, picnics, sight seeing drives.

Last year, 36,000 bloody corpses dotted the streets and highways of the United States. This year, if the ten per cent of drivers who cause 90 per cent of the accidents aren't curbed, the record will be worse.

Do you belong to that 10 per cent? You'll undoubtedly say you don't—it's a

Arizona Editor Makes Reply To Bid From Liberty League

"At the risk of being tedious," writes R. E. Osborn, in his Yuma, Arizona, Daily Star, an independent newspaper, "I am setting down here some recent correspondence. Mr. Jouett Shouse, president of the American Liberty League, wrote me in part as follows:

"The American Liberty League is seeking to defend and maintain the constitutional democratic system of government upon which the U. S. was founded. The League's membership believes that present conditions demand definite and positive action to preserve American institutions. The League is endeavoring to present facts pertinent to the operation of the government and their bearing upon fundamental questions. We are asking editors who believe as we do to cooperate. The enclosed is a sample of the material we propose to furnish."

"To which I replied:

"Do not send me your material. I take your high-sounding to defend and maintain the constitutional democratic system of government' with a grain of salt. If you had said simply, 'We are out to get Roosevelt,' you would have been more to the point, since I notice that of the 10 articles you send nine are severely critical of the President and the other of the Townsend plan.

"Now if eight had raked Roosevelt over the coals and only one had picked out some good feature of the New Deal, then the line about 'defending and maintaining' would have had a truer ring. I am not a stickler for all that has gone on in Washington, few persons are, but my memory serves me. In our town, I remember that citizens moved about furtively little more than three years ago.

"Those of us who had businesses of a sort or jobs, and had a conscience, had given every penny we could possibly spare to feed those actually hungry. A man was ashamed or afraid to be seen with a ten dollar bill. No bank account was secure. There was no credit. Certain loud mouthed gentlemen were saying openly that now was the time to seize the reins.

"It was a fearsome time to those of us who like security and law and order.

"Why don't they do something in Washington?" everyone was inquiring. "Why don't they try something?"

"Mr. Shouse, I don't have a bit of trouble remembering those times. I marvel to think any one can forget them so soon, or that Roosevelt then took hold and answered the united plea of America.

"Not everything the President tried has turned out so well, but may have. When I have money in the bank now, I can get it out. Not a single one of my farmer friends has lost his farm in the past three years. Those in business are getting by; credit is back and, best of all, people have faith and courage and no fear of revolution. Out here we know that government bonds are again above par.

"So I don't want your Liberty League publicity to feed readers of my paper with its defending and saving the Constitution. To my mind the Constitution has already been saved. If I want to jump on the administration (as I feel like doing now and then), I'll do it my own way and I'll do it fairly. Very truly yours, R. E. OSBORN."

rare, driver who will admit to carelessness or recklessness or incompetence. And here's hoping you really don't. But it won't do you any harm to think over your driving practices.

Do you ever pass on curves? If so, you have been guilty of an act that has caused thousands of fatalities and millions of injuries.

Do you drive on the wrong side of the road, or weave in and out of traffic, impatient to save a few minutes to be spent later telling your friends what a hot-shot driver you are? If so, you are a potential killer.

Do you regard speed restrictions as something for the other fellow—who naturally, isn't in your class as a driver—to obey, and for your to break at will? Excessive speed is the principal single cause of motor bloodshed.

Do you drink and drive? Alcohol and gasoline mix into a fuel that has taken a legion of people on the longest journey of all—to the Great Beyond.

Do you put off repairs to your car until a tomorrow that may never come? Bad brakes, defective lights, uncertain steering are friends of the casket maker.

Spring is here—make sure that it isn't the last Spring you'll enjoy on this earth.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

A cocoon was hanging on the shrubbery and I cut the twig with my knife and carried it into the room and placed it for observation. Many weeks afterwards I heard a sound coming from the inside of the shell. The moth was working its way out. It was a terrific struggle and finally I decided that the butterfly would never make it and so I snipped the threads that seemed to be holding it back. Then the moth crawled out with a large, swollen body and long slender wings. I had helped it to liberty. I had also prevented the struggle that would have developed its wings and made it so that it could fly. The butterfly never flew and all because it had been given its liberty without the necessary struggle. Many a youth of today is being coddled and petted; many are being relieved of the struggle that produces manhood, and the result is that intended kindness clips the wings on which youth is expected to fly. Youth will grow strong only when they have to combat with opposition.

An independent little girl started out with her father for a mountain climb. At first she ran on far ahead of her father and resented any effort on his part to help her along. Later on this little girl began to fall. She was bruised. The thorns and briars tore her flesh, but she climbed on. At last she met with a hard fall and then she ran to her father and buried her face in his bosom saying, "Daddy, won't you help me to climb?" "Why certainly, my child," replied the father, "I have been wanting to help you and you would not let me." Many a youth starts out in life very independent. They have got to meet with many a fall and suffer with many bruises before they will realize that they are dependent on a superior strength. Better let God help you. He will give you from many a tumble.

While climbing up the mountain side we came to a large boulder, and we observed that a little sapling was growing in the crevice of that rock. We extended our sympathy to that little tree and passed on saying, "It is our opinion that you will never make it." Twenty years passed away and that little tree has been mastering its problem. With a steady growth it has opened that crevice and sent its roots deep into the soil and now it is a large beautiful tree. It was handicapped but it met opposition with a steady growth and it mastered. You, too, may feel that you are hindered in your growth by environment. Admitted that you are, but that should not make impossible the success of your life. Meet opposition with a steady, firm determination to succeed and you will.

We had a beautiful piece of furniture in the parsonage and one day it was smashed in an unavoidable accident. We looked the injured chair over and found that it was made by a manufacturing company in a nearby city. We took that chair to the maker and asked that he repair it and make it as good as new. The firm who made the chair at first knew how to remake it when it was injured. Jehovah made you as a part of His earthly furnishings and placed you in this world. It may be that you have been smashed in an avoidable or in an unavoidable accident. If so, you had better carry yourself back to your Maker and have Him remake you. God alone can repair our hearts when they are smashed in sin.

Many years ago I spent the night in the home of one of my parishoners. The next morning before leaving my room I heard the crying of a child in the room adjoining. At the breakfast table I remarked to the little Miss who I know to be the guilty one, "I wonder what my little sister was crying about this morning." She replied, "Brother Haskew, I wanted some candy but my Mudder would not let me have it." Then the mother remarked, "Yes, Mary wanted candy but mother knew that sweets are not good for her and she could not let her have what she wanted." We are very much like little Mary in that we want many things that are not good for us. We cry to God for certain favors and blessings and God knows that we do not need them. When we need a certain blessing and it is good for us, God will give it.

Wisconsin Majority For
The President, 215,275

Complete returns from the Presidential preference primary in Wisconsin on April 7, as announced April 29, showed President Roosevelt's lead over Senator Borah, only name on the Republican ticket, to be greatly in excess of the majority carried in the metropolitan press. The President's total vote was 402,609, Senator Borah's 187,334, making the Roosevelt majority 215,275, instead of 170,000 as previously announced.

The main contest in the Wisconsin primary was between the Republican slate of delegates at large to Cleveland instructed for Borah and the GOP un-instructed slate. The Borah slate polled from a high of 124,240 for William J. Campbell to a low of 104,839 for Robert W. Mook. The anti-Borah vote was highest for Harry W. Griswold, with 107,226, the lowest for Geo. L.

Gilkey, with 91,061.

Thus the President's Wisconsin majority of 215,275 over Senator Borah was also more than the combined average vote of the liberal and conservative slates in the hotly contested fight for Republican delegates at large. The Democratic national convention also polled more than the average of both Republican slates, receiving a high of 236,976 and a low of 212,86.

The New Cedron Cubs won from Cane Creek nine Saturday 10 to 9 in a hard fought game.

Many errors were responsible for the large scoring. The Cubs scored 5 runs in the third frame but it was the fourth the Creek boys scored one on an error by Catcher James and then carried a run through the 5th and 6th for the other eight runs. One score in each inning until the seventh with two accounted for the Cubs runs.

STEEL MAKERS say—"Ford buys the best steel." Other suppliers of materials and parts will tell you—"Nobody checks up as closely on quality and price as Ford."

This means a great deal to you as a motorist. It is our way of safeguarding the interests of every purchaser and it leads to this—"The mechanical depreciation on a Ford is less than most cars, especially after the first year."

This is one sign of the extra value in the Ford V-8. Accuracy in manufacturing is another. (The Ford is made to unusually close precision limits.) And there is a long list of fine-car features that are exclusive with Ford in the popular field.

Have you a V-8 engine in your car? You pay $1645 for it in any other car but Ford.

Does your car have Center-Poise Riding? Ford gives you this modern feature—"a front-seat ride for back-seat passengers."

Does your car have fool-proof Super-Safety Mechanical Brakes? The Ford V-8 gives you this proved design, with 186 square inches of braking surface.

Does your car have a genuine steel body structure? Does it have Safety Glass all around? Ford is the only low-price car that gives you this extra protection without extra cost.

You get these fine-car features in the Ford V-8 because of Ford manufacturing methods and low-profit policy.

$25 A MONTH, after usual down-payment, buys any model of the new Ford V-8 car—from any Ford dealer—anywhere in the United States. Ask about the new UCC 1/2% per month Finance Plans.

LOCAL CHAPTER F.F.A. ENJOYS OUTING LAST SATURDAY, MAY 9

Saturday, May 9, the F.F.A. Chapter of Chilton County High School, accompanied by Mr. Fant, the advisor, enjoyed a pleasant trip to Mim's Ferry, which is located near Lay Dam. We enjoyed fishing, swimming and visited sites of interest which included the scene of an airplane crash near Lay Dam, and also a most interesting trip through the power plant. After the activities of the afternoon, we enjoyed a weiner roast over an open fire. Our next meeting will be held May 18, at 7:30 p.m., in the Vocational building. The newly elected officers will take charge at this time. All members are urged to attend.

Loot stolen from the parked automobile of John McGrath of Hartford, Conn., consisted of 1,000 mimeographed copies of a lecture, "German Philosophy From Kant to Hegel."

HELL DRIVERS TO APPEAR IN BIRMINGHAM

"Lucky" Teeter And Others To Bring Thrills On Sunday, May 17

Birmingham, May 14—Under the sponsorship of the American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps a program of championship automobile races combined with a thrilling repertoire of stunts executed by "Lucky" Teeter and his original "Hell Drivers" will be held at Fair Park in Birmingham, Sunday May 17.

Such nationally known racing lights as Buddy Calloway, Miami, Fla., holder of the Dixie speed crown; diminutive "Howdy" Cox, sensational San Diego, Calif. speed star; Shano Fitzgerald, Irish contender; Oscar Coleman leadfooted Dallas, Texas driver; Ray La Plante, Newark, N.J., king-pin of speed; Shirley Goff and Jesse Jones, representative Birmingham pilots; C. J. "Crash" Waller, Georgia ace, and many others to swell the field to nearly a score are expected to dish new records and wheel-to-wheel action for sensation-seeking Alabama sports fans.

The auto race program carries the official sanction of the International Motor Contest Association, governing body for recognized leading dirt track competitions throughout the country.

In addition to the big line-up of drivers who have already filed signed entries with speed officials, Corps Commander Joe Denaburg has successfully negotiated to bring the Masked Marvel of the speed tracks to Birmingham for the May 17 classic. The Enigma of the smoke paths will be unmasked here providing he (or she fails to finish within the first 4 positions in the feature event. For the past 4 months, the hooded driver has finished far enough up front that his identity has remained a mystery. Speculation has run wide as to the driver's identity with a range from a well known English woman star to world's dirt track champion, Gus Schrader.

To augment the racing program, "Lucky" Teeter and his "Hell Drivers," thrill purveyors who flaunt their darts at the Grim Reaper, will again offer the super performances they have given Birmingham in the past; but in addition, Teeter will add many new stunts that he has never uncocked before. Racing crashes thru flaming board walls, somersaulting automobiles thru

S. Offers Aid In Pasture, Tree, Or Terrace Work

Planting of permanent pasture, planting of forest trees, and terracing, if carried out to meet specified requirements, are included in the list of approved practices which will qualify producers in Alabama for building payments under the Agricultural Conservation Program, according to Dr. L. N. Duncan, director of the State Extension Service.

The total for soil-building payments on a farm may not exceed the soil-building allowance. This allowance may be calculated by multiplying the number of acres used exclusively for growing crops this year by $1.00.

Where a permanent pasture is established by planting perennial grasses, a mixture of grasses and legumes, or a mixture of grasses and legumes, the payment may be $2.00 per acre.

Where forest trees, including post-oak, are planted on crop land between September 1 and October 31 this year, the payment may be $5.00 per acre.

Where terraces are constructed, according to methods recommended by the State agricultural conservation committee and approved by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, between January 1 and October 31 this year, the payments may be 40 cents per foot of completed terrace, except no payment is to exceed $2.00 per acre.

County agents throughout the State are in position to furnish information on the other approved practices on which farmers may receive payments.

On-Litter Entries Closing This Week

Farm Co-op Officials Visit Here Monday

Commissioner Sanders and Assistant Commissioner Lawrence of the Cooperative Bank of Washington, D. C., Dr. Watson, President of the Cooperative Branch Bank at New Orleans, A. N. Culver, secretary of the Alabama Marketing Association, Montgomery, Ala., J. A. Beatty, manager of the Alabama Cotton Cooperative Association, as well as several other men interested in farmers exchanges, paid a visit to the Clanton County Exchange, Clanton, Evan Parrish, Manager, Monday of this week.

This group of men were on an inspection tour of the leading exchanges of the state, and they were high in their praise of the one located at Clanton.

DOINGS AT THE STATE CAPITOL

Montgomery—About 30 members of the Legislature invaded Goat Hill last week but their presence didn't mean a thing.

The sight of so many lawmakers in the Capitol corridors, all of whom gravitated toward Governor Bibb Graves' executive chambers, caused a flurry of speculation, but after they had run the gauntlet of an individual quiz by Capitol reporters, everyone agreed their visit offered no serious menace to the happiness and well being of Johnny Q. Public.

The visiting solons were loquacious enough, though their remarks dealt only with generalities. It was evident they had learned nothing from the Governor.

The liquor question loomed ominously when Rep. E. C. Boswell, of Geneva County, and one of the best known lawyers of South Alabama, revealed that after July 1, the Federal Government will discontinue issuing licenses for the sale of alcoholic beverages in dry States.

The action of the Government, Boswell explained, carries out the pledge to cooperate with dry States in the enforcement of their prohibition statutes.

"I can see no reason why the Governor should not include a liquor referendum in his call, should an extra session be necessary," he added. "However, I believe the rank and file of drys would prefer that the Legislature accept this responsibility rather than present the bitterly controversial matter at the polls."

Rep. S. M. Blain, of Sumter, a staunch administrationist, said he had no idea when the much talked about special session would be called.

"If the Governor should summon the Legislature for a second special session I hope he will designate in his formal call the type and sources of new tax levies," Blain said.

Senator W. Carvel Woodall, of Elmore, doesn't want the gavel to fall any time soon. "The Legislature is no place for a poor man," Woodall declared. "I've got to work like the devil to make up for the time I lost from my law practice."

Rep. A. C. Lee, of Monroe, was dubious about the probable outcome of another session this summer, but said his people "were willing to do something to keep the schools open regardless of the cost."

Senator Vernon L. St. John, of Lawrence, himself a school teacher, said he had been requested by several civic clubs in his district to explain the State's muddled financial condition. "I feel that the interest that they have manifested is a good augury for the schools and the other stricken agencies of the State government," St. John added.

Senator Tom Frazer of Bullock, bitter critic of the administration, refused to be smoked out on affairs of the State. "I'm on my way to Kentucky to put my horse in a finishing school," he jokingly remarked.

Reps. E. J. Owen, of Etowah, Bob Lanard, of Pickens, and Charley Cox of Chilton, were intensely interested in a solution of the school problem, but said they thought the relief situation in their counties would not become serious before winter. Owen said the Gulf State Steel Corporation, at Gadsden, is operating 24 hours a day, furnishing employment to hundreds of men they had been on relief two or three years.

Lanard and Cox, who represent agricultural counties, explained that farm work is plentiful and the so-called "unemployables" of their counties can be adequately cared for without aid from the State.

Few of the visiting solons cared to be quoted on the subject of legalizing and taxing alcoholic beverages.

ALABAMA ELECTION ELATES WASHINGTON

Capitol Happy At Bankhead Victories, Graves' Machine Loses Prestige

Washington—Results of Tuesday's primary in Alabama elated political Washington.

The overwhelming victories of "the Bankhead boys"—Senator John H. and Representative William B.—and of Representative Henry B. Steagall, who are leaders, and the return of development members, Representatives Sam Hobbs and Joe Starnes, were particularly pleasing to the administration.

Leon McCord as national committeeman and Mrs. A. Y. Malone, as national committeewoman, are well known in Washington, and are as well liked as they are known. Representative Frank Boykin, who won re-nomination in the First District, has been here less than a year but is popular.

Hugh White's smashing defeat of W. W. Ramsey for the Public Service Commission, also pleased his many friends here, where, as well as in Alabama, he has established a high reputation of ability in official life.

Although his friends had hoped Representative George Huddleston might win in the first primary, they had recognized the vigor of the fight against him while he was in Washington attending to official duties, and the difficulties of obtaining a majority in a field of six candidates.

With approximately 37 per cent of the total vote cast in the first primary being for Huddleston, political observers confidently expect him to win against Luther Patrick in the runoff.

No man in the outstanding Alabama delegation commands more respect in Washington than does George Huddleston, because of proven ability, diligence, influence, and integrity.

Prestige of Gov. Graves' political machine appears to have suffered a severe blow in this election. McCord and Mrs. Malone and Hugh White won handily over candidates having the blessing of Gov. Graves, while Lewey Robinson, to whom the governor has attempted to hand credit for accomplishments with which the city commissioner had either no, or the most remote, connection, ran a poor third in the race against Huddleston.

Congressman Boykin, who won in the First District, probably also had support from the governor; he was the Graves' campaign manager in Southern Alabama two years ago, but this is the sole consolation from a rather sad week.

THE MASTERPIECE OF TIRE CONSTRUCTION
BUY ON PROOF OF PERFORMANCE

A MILLION miles on Firestone Tires without an accident. That is the record of Ab Jenkins, famous driver, who has driven on all kinds of roads and in all kinds of traffic in every state in the union. What a tribute to safe, dependable, tire equipment! Make this proof of performance your guide in choosing new tires to protect yourself and your family.

There are three important facts you should know about the tires you buy—

1. THE FACTS ON TRACTION AND NON-SKID SAFETY.

A leading university in 2,350 tests has found that the new, scientifically designed tread on the Firestone High Speed Tire stops a car up to 25% quicker.

2. THE FACTS ON BLOWOUT PROTECTION

Ab Jenkins used Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires when he drove his 5,000-pound car over the hot salt beds at Bonneville, Utah, in the record-breaking time of 127 miles per hour, covering 3,000 miles in 23½ hours without a blowout or tire trouble of any kind.

3. THE FACTS ON ECONOMY AND NON-SKID MILEAGE

The largest transportation companies in the country, such as Greyhound, to whom safety and tire economy mean business efficiency, use Firestone Tires from Coast to Coast and from Canada to the Gulf. And our own test fleet records prove that the new Firestone High Speed Tire for 1936 gives you up to 25% longer non-skid mileage.

The Firestone High Speed Tire for 1936 proves by performance its superiority in all of these three qualifications. Make this proof of performance your yardstick of safety and value. Decide today to equip your car with new Firestone High Speed Tires for 1936—the safest driving equipment money can buy.

End of cord in Gum-Dipped Tire wrapped 11 times, showing every fiber in isolation with liquid rubber.
End of cord from ordinary tire wrapped 1 time, showing unprotected fibers inside cord.
This heavy, broad, traction and non-skid tread is held to the cord body of the tire with Two Extra Layers of Gum-Dipped Cords, a patented construction, making the cord body and tread an inseparable unit.
The angles in the scientifically designed Firestone High Speed tread are so placed as to stop a car quicker and without skid swerve. Its super-traction and non-skid efficiency have also been proved in the famous Pike's Peak Race where for eight consecutive years it has been used on the winning cars.

In addition to WPA and NYA, Governmental agencies, such as the Rural Resettlement Administration, the War Department, the Bureau of Public Roads and others have shared in the expenditure of the more than $40,000,000 allotted Alabama.

"The purchasing power created by these Federal expenditures has been at the roots of the marked recovery in Alabama," Judge Petree said. "Every business, industrial and farm index published recently reflects the trend from depression into recovery in Alabama."

How long will you continue to lose this extra value?

The extra Nitrogen in every ton of ARCADIAN, THE AMERICAN NITRATE OF SODA is just like extra cash. Bulletin No. 326 of the Department of Agriculture of Immigration of the State. Virginia reports the cash value of this extra Nitrogen over 16% as high as 88¢ per ton.

There can be no question about this. It is official. No wonder thrifty farmers insist on "ARCADIAN". Of course they want that extra value.

IT WILL PAY YOU TO WAIT FOR MY CALL BEFORE YOU BUY FLY SPRAY FOR THE COMING SEASON

Watkins Fly Spray goes further, because you use less. Farmers and dairymen prefer Watkins Fly Spray, because it kills flies outright, keeps flies off the stock, leaves stock clean and comfortable, goes further than other sprays and will not taint milk or reduce the flow. Many dairymen report that they have to buy only half as many gallons of Watkins Fly Spray to get the same results. It's money in your pocket when you buy Watkins Fly Spray.

OPPONENTS OF NEW DEAL SWINGING TO ROOSEVELT

ROOSEVELT'S CRITICS LAPSE INTO SILENCE AFTER OUTBREAK

Sentiment Waning

State Sending Strong Delegation To Philadelphia Con.

By Atticus Mullin
In The Montgomery Advertiser

In the early months of the Fall of 1935, less than eight months ago, there was a vociferous minority in Alabama criticizing President Roosevelt rather severely and that minority included many Democrats but today the situation has entirely changed and even many business men, former foes of the Roosevelt policies, have stopped openly criticizing and are admitting for the most part that things are much better than they were when the unlamented Hoover relinquished the presidency.

There is little stomach for a fight on Roosevelt among the Republicans of Alabama. They have about conceded that the jig is up insofar as a possibility of defeating Roosevelt is concerned. They are bickering among themselves as to a Republican candidate but secretly admitting that no matter upon whom the Republican nomination mantle falls, it will be a Republican tragedy in November.

Strong Delegation

Alabama's Roosevelt delegation to the next National Convention will be the strongest that the State has sent to a national convention of the Democratic Party in the writer's recollection and already there is talk of assignments of Alabamians to the various important convention committees. Since the suggestion of Capt. Matthew Murphy, of Birmingham, that Senator John H. Bankhead be chosen for the important resolutions of platform committee, sentiment for such a course seems to be growing among members of the Alabama delegation. The reason for this is that it is felt that Senator Bankhead has studied the agricultural problems and is a leader in efforts to do something to bring agriculture up to a parity with industry and for that reason should be named to this important post.

Gov. Graves will be the chairman of the Alabama delegation and Senator Hugo Black, Alabama's senior senator, will be given an important place in

Army Worms Appear In North Alabama

Auburn, Ala.—Fall army worms have already made their appearance in Lauderdale County and are playing havoc with young corn, cotton and Irish potatoes, writes W. L. Richardson, assistant county agent, to Prof. J. M. Robinson, entomologist of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

Upon receiving specimen of the worms, Prof. Robinson stated that they be controlled with a poison bran mash prepared by mixing wheat bran, Paris green, or calcium arsenate, water, molasses, and enough orange or lemon juice to flavor the mixture. Farmers interested in preparing the poison should see their county agent on how to prepare and apply it.

When the worms begin migrating, they can be stopped by plowing a furrow around the field and destroying them with a pole or drag when they fall into the furrow and are unable to crawl out.

committee naming by the Alabama delegation it is understood that the plan now is for the Alabama delegation to meet in its hotel in Philadelphia on the morning before the convention is called to order to map out a convention course and select Alabama's member of important committees such as credentials, notifying the presidential nominee, notifying the vice-presidential nominee and others. The Alabama delegates, it is learned, will gather without a slate for these important positions and every man on the delegation will have his chance for important Party committees.

Unique Position

Alabama's delegation will be somewhat unique in the convention because the delegates named by the State committee were pledged to President Roosevelt upon their selection. And in addition to that President Roosevelt's name was the only one on the ballot for the Democrats of Alabama to endorse and they voted for him almost solidly. So Alabama is doubly pledged to Roosevelt and her delegation is made up of tried and true Roosevelt men and women and in many cases of personal friends of Roosevelt.

Plans are already being made for special Pullman cars to take the Alabama delegation and others interested to the Philadelphia convention. Hotel arrangements have already been made by Pitt Tyson Maner and he will probably arrange also for the transportation of the delegation and Alabama supporters of Roosevelt who plan to attend the convention.

The Alabama delegation, it is now known, will present a completely harmonious front in the Roosevelt ranks at Philadelphia and its members will have a voice in all of the affairs of the convention including the platform and other matters.

Adams News

A wedding that came as a surprise to most of us was that of Miss Lizzie Mae Lewis to Mr. Mason Giles. They were quietly married at the courthouse in Clanton, on Saturday, May 16. We wish them much success and happiness in life.

Our regular preaching day, Sunday, was attended by and unusually good crowd.

A splendid sermon was enjoyed both Sunday morning and Sunday night. The subject Sunday morning was "Give Me A Man." Brother Hopper made it plain to us that all the ones that wear suits of clothes aren't men. The text Sunday night was taken from Acts 1-12. We think Brother Hopper gets better each sermon.

The Lord's Supper was observed just after the preaching hour Sunday night.

Our Jr. B.Y.P.U. at Mt. Carmel is one to be proud of. A good program was rendered Sunday night. Each one on program knew their part and spoke in a clear concise manner.

The Sr. B.Y.P.U. is doing nicely but there is still room for improvement. Let's be a little more careful about our talking during the program and let's be there "on time."

Brother Hopper took dinner Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Giles. He took supper with Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. J.N. Scott and Mr. and Mrs. M.T. Minor and children motored to Jones, Ala., Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. T.B. Minor is still visiting her daughter, Mrs. E. Smitherman, in Prattville, Alabama.

Deep Sea Rodeo To Be Held In August

Mobile, Ala., May 21.—Under the guidance of an executive committee of five members, preparations have been started for Alabama's eighth annual deep sea fishing rodeo on a broader and more elaborate scale than at any time in the past.

To this committee L. G. Adams, president of the rodeo association since its organization in 1929, bequeathed the responsibility for the future success of this great fishing contest shortly before death claimed him in April.

This inspired by the last words of the man who gave unstintingly of his time and efforts to bring international prominence to the Alabama rodeo within the short span of eight years, this committee has vowed to make the 1936 rodeo the greatest in the history of the state.

The members of the committee are Albert Gill, chairman; am Lackland, R. L. Bidez, Pat Byrne and John Shaw, all closely associated with Mr. Adams in the promotion of past rodeos.

After consulting the Mobile weather bureau, the Bar Pilot's Association and the fisherman's almanac, the executives of the rodeo association selected Aug. 17, 18, and 19 as the dates for the journey. It was the consensus of all the parties consulted that the dark nights and rising tides in the early morning hours on these dates portended the best luck for the fisherman.

Tarpon-busting is the big sport of the rodeo, although rodeo anglers varyably are rewarded with large catches of smaller game fish. These include Spanish mackerel, king mackerel, red fish, cavalla, ling, black fish, pin, bonita, blue fish speckled and flounders.

Handsome prizes, consisting trophies and expensive fishing tackle, are awarded for the large catches. The fishing equipment is contributed by sporting goods houses, leading manufacturers of fish tackle who see in the rodeo a wholesome influence for this fine sport. A "champion" fisherman's trophy and national and state attendance cups are awarded by the rodeo association.

The association is anticipating a record attendance of 550 at the 1936 rodeo and shortly will begin distribution of the new Alabama Deep Sea Rodeo News. The annual dues for rodeo membership will begin July 1.

Some Don'ts For Economical Motoring

Don't try to beat all the other fellows away when the light changes if you want to show good gasoline mileage. This is the advice given by W. A. Hillman, service manager of the Chrysler Sales Division of the Chrysler Corporation.

"It undoubtedly is a source of satisfaction to know that you have a car that is fast on the get-away," says Mr. Hillman. "But at the same time it wastes gasoline to demonstrate this ability. The engine needs a lot of fuel when in first or second gear and the economical driver will go through these gears just as fast as possible and get into high just as soon as he can do so."

"The nervous habit of giving the accelerator a kick or two while the car is standing at a light is also wasteful. I suppose that modern engines are so quiet that some drivers step on the accelerator just to make sure that they are still running. But it wastes a lot of gas when you do so—because it injects a good charge of fuel."

"The engine should be shut off when the car is going to remain stationary for some time, such as while waiting at a railroad crossing for a long train to pass or while talking with somebody at the curb. Even an occasional five minutes of useless running of the engine mounts up to considerable gasoline wasted in the course of a month. It's a very simple matter to turn the switch off and to restart the engine when desired."

"Tires should be kept inflated to the designated pressure as another means of saving fuel. The softer the tire, the more road contact there is, and the more road contact there is, and the power required to move the car. Besides saving gasoline, properly inflated tires also save rubber and make steering easier and safer."

"While on the subject of economy, I might mention intelligent use of brakes as a factor. The driver should judge his pace so that when he knows he is going to have to stop at a light or stop-sign, he will coast up to it gradually instead of holding his speed until the last moment and then jamming on the brakes. Modern hydraulic brakes are quick and positive in their action but that does not mean they should be constantly used for what amounts to emergency stops. Excessive braking eats up brake linings and drums, racks the car and puts a strain on all moving parts. It also wears out tires."

The State Board of Administration May 13 received bids for approximately 2,000,000 gallons of bituminous material to be used in surfacing roads under the 3-way program. Highway department officials said bids were lowest in the history of road construction in the

Alms-Houses In State To Be Banished Soon

Montgomery—A new and enlightened social order has decreed the closing of the alms-houses in Alabama.

Within less than a year 23 county alms-houses have been closed and their residents placed in relatives' or foster homes.

The passing of the "poor-house" is one of the fundamental social reforms effected through the operation of the old age pension act and other features of the State and Federal Social Security program, directed by the State Department of Public Welfare.

Thus the State's alms-house population has been reduced from 3,000 to about 1,100 since the work of liquidating the institutions was initiated, according to Dr. A.H. Collins, State Welfare Commissioner.

Closing of the alms-houses enables the counties to match State and Federal funds for old age assistance on a 1-1-2 basis—that is, the county pays $1, the State $1 and the Federal Government $2, he explained.

However, participation by the Federal Government is contingent upon removal of the beneficiaries from institutions.

"It has been" clearly demonstrated that abandonment of alms-houses is a real economy move," Dr. Collins added. "Under provisions of the Social Security Act, No State or Federal aid is given to aged persons under institutional care."

It is estimated that 62 per cent of our alms-houses population are eligible for old age assistance, he said. For the month of November, 1936, the alms-houses cost the counties $20,700. Thus, 62 per cent of that amount, or $12,834, is matched by the State and Federal governments, making available $51,336 a month, or $616,032 annually for old age assistance.

In addition to cash grants accruing to the counties conforming with the government's stipulation to close the alms-houses, it has been found that alms-houses, residents, such as the elderly, for old age assistance, may be cared for in family homes at considerably less, reports Miss Elizabeth M. Core, director of the Division of Family Care. Contrary to general belief, the per capita cost in institutions is greater than in private homes.

"Through the cooperation of county governing bodies, the welfare department hopes eventually to close every alms-house in the state," Miss Elmore said.

Counties in which alms-houses have been closed are: Barbour, Cherokee, Chilton, Clarke, Cleburne, Coffee, Crenshaw, Cullman, Dale, DeKalb, Elmore, Geneva, Henry, Lamar, Lowndes, Macon, Madison, Marengo, Monroe, Pickens, Randolph, St. Clair and Winston.

Jersey Cattle Club Is Organized

Auburn, Ala.—To promote the Jersey cattle industry in the State, 125 Jersey breeders met in Auburn the past week and organized an "Alabama Jersey Cattle Club."

Officers of the club are Robert Jemison, Jr., Birmingham, president; Jim VanAntwerp, Mobile, and N. Floyd

McGowan, Chapman, vice-president; A. D. Burke, Auburn, secretary-treasurer; Oscar Williams, Muscogee, Fla., (Baldwin County, Ala.) A. G. Rankin, Galtway, K. G. Baker, Marion Junction, L. F. Matthews, Montgomery, L. W. Sprattling, Waverly, W. A., Gardner, Auburn, Louie Ustry, Attalla, Will Izell Birmingham, L. H. Holman, Ozark, 1. Cooper Cowan, Tanner, J. W. Cooper Spring Hill, and T. E. Drake, Huntsville, directors.

Brooder House Easy to Build

LIGHT and easy to move, warm and yet low in cost, the brooder house illustrated above, was erected on his farm near New Lisbon, Wisconsin, by C. O. Smith. It offers a practical suggestion to all raisers of baby chicks. The same house can also be used for growing pullets or laying hens. Material and plans can be obtained at most lumber dealers.

The greater part of the weight of this house is in the rigid floor, which gives it strength and sturdiness so that it may be moved about at will over uneven ground without straining the structure. A team can easily pull it over the ground to new location. The house can be towed behind an ordinary motor car.

Space for 250 Chicks

The house is 10' x 12', and has a hip-type roof which extends down to the floor, providing 120 square feet of floor space. The builder estimates that this is large enough to provide adequate space for 250 to 300 baby chicks until approximately six weeks of age. This is as many chicks as should be placed in single unit flocks and under one brooder stove. It is a splendid and efficient working unit for colony brooding. Twelve foot depth allows placing the brooder stove at the desirable point a little back of center.

This same space is estimated to be ample for 100 to 125 growing pullets, that is, from six weeks to egg-laying maturity. Mr. Smith uses this same house for flocks from 25 to 40 laying hens.

The brooder house is easy to construct. A framework of doubled 2" x 4" runners and single 2" x 4" joists is covered with a sheet of half inch wood fibre insulation board nailed over the floor joist below the actual flooring. Wood flooring is used, it should be 3/4" or one inch, laid tight and secured with long, heavy nails, so that the floor can be easily scraped. This floor is strong and completely draft-proof. Mr. Smith credited the draft-proof floor with his success in raising baby chicks.

Lost Only 9 of 1,042

"I lost only nine chicks out of 1,042, placed in two of these houses on March 14, 1935," Mr. Smith said. "The house requires a minimum of material for a given floor space and that reduces the cost. Sloping sides avoid the ordinary crowding in corners. It is easy to heat because the volume of air is less than in a rectangular house of the same floor space. Furthermore, not so much outside wall is exposed to wind and weather. The sloping sides shut the wind upward instead of permitting it to strike point blank. I used an average oil consumption of 1 1/2 gallons per 24-hour day from March 14th on."

Ventilation is provided and can be controlled through two double windows, a large door and a small ventilating door in the back. In addition to this, holes are drilled through the walls in front and back high up, to bring ample air circulation over the heads of the chicks. Sheets of tempered wood are used to line the interior of the house extending from the floor to a point 18 inches above the floor. This keeps the chicks from pecking at the wood fibre insulation.

Holds Temperatures Easier

The rafters and studding are 2" x 2" lumber, spaced 24 inches on center, and covered with one inch pressed wood fibre insulation board. This will stop as much heat as three one inch boards of lumber, nine half inch layers of plaster board or 15 inches of brick.

The principal advantages of this type of house are warmth and lightness in weight construction. It is easier to maintain even temperatures with houses protected in this manner. It has been estimated that houses of this type offer a fuel saving with approximately 1 1/2 gallons per 24 hours, representing a saving of approximately $12.00 on each brood.

Miss Sue Prather of Rockford returned to her home Saturday after spending a few days here with her sister, Mrs. George McCain.

New Alabama Road Maps Offered Free

History and nature have joined in making Alabama one of the most interesting sections of the country. It is the tribute paid this state in a new 1936 road map now being offered to motorists at some 40,000 Gulf gasoline service stations throughout the land. "A visit to Alabama enriches life."

Besides charting the state highways and byways, the new map shows the state's principal cities in detail; describes its scenic attractions; and principal points of interest to tourists, and promotes safe and sane driving in all illustrated list of "Do's and Don'ts for Drivers."

With the issuing of the colorful new chart of Alabama, it is interesting to note that Gulf was the first to offer a free road map to the traveler, more than 20 years ago—a somewhat sketchy chart of dirt and macadam pikes in western Pennsylvania. Today, in addition to detailed maps of 33 states, Gulf offers to map out tours for individual motorists to all parts of the United States and Canada, through its Tourguide Bureau, Gulf Building, Pittsburgh, Pa.

SACRED HARP SINGING HELD AT CANE CREEK CHURCH

A large crowd enjoyed a splendid singing last Sunday at Cane Creek church. This being our Spring session, was a success throughout the day. For which we were thankful to our many visitors.

The opening song was sung by our Chairman, Mr. T. J. Miller, followed with prayer by Mr. H. F. McCary. The Chairman appointed Mr. R. J. Jackson, Mr. M. W. Brown and Mr. Ellie Shirley as program committee for the day.

Those taking leading parts during the morning session were, Marlow Williams, F. J. Little, T. J. Jackson, J. J. McCary, of Montgomery, Elder A. T. Davis, Virgil Crocker of Perry County, Mrs. George Stewart of Perry County, T. C. Jackson of Sylacauga, T. J. Miller of Jemison and E. A. Shirley. One hour was given for lunch.

The chairman sang the opening song after noon hour, and the following directed: C. P. Ratliff of Perry County, G. S. Doss of North Birmingham, Mrs. Maud Moncriel of Birmingham, G. W. Akers of Sylacauga, Miss Catherine Doss of North Birmingham, Mrs. Flora Oaks, John Hays, L. C. Brown, Miss Ida Scott, M. C. Jackson, Mrs. Pauline Lecrow, Mrs. Ruth Henley, M. W. Brown, Mrs. Era Culver and the little girl, Miss Ella Mae Crocker of Perry County.

There were lots of class singers with us who were good singers besides the fine directors who had from the several counties represented. We were so glad to have our good singers from Montgomery, Birmingham and Perry County. The convention extends many thanks to our visiting singers from the different parts of the country. We wish to say to the lovers of the sacred music: Your presence was appreciated also.

A short talk was made by the Rev. Cost which was very good and enjoyed by all.

The closing song, "Parting Hands," was sung by the chairman, followed with prayer by Elder A. T. Davis.

Cotton Often Needs Nitrate Side-Dress

Auburn, Ala.—Cotton fertilized with such fertilizers as 3-10-3, 3-8-5, 4-8-4, and others with less than 6 per cent nitrogen should be side-dressed at the first cultivation after chopping.

"The sure way to avoid wasting part of the phosphoric acid and potash is to add sufficient side-dressing to fertilizers carrying 3 per cent nitrogen to bring up to the equivalent of 6 per cent nitrogen," advises Dean M. J. Funchess, director of the state experiment station.

"Some specific examples will be given to make this clear. Suppose a farmer has applied 400 pounds of 3-8-5 or 3-10-3, he has supplied only half the nitrogen he needs. To balance his fertilizer he needs to apply at least 75 pounds of nitrate of soda or nitrate of lime as a side-dressing. This 75 pounds of nitrate should cost something like $1.25 and should return three or four times its cost in terms of seed cotton.

"It should be stressed that whatever nitrate side-dressing is applied should be put at the first cultivation after chopping. Many years ago the experiment station determined that the best time to apply side-dressing was immediately after chopping.

"Let it clearly be understood that those farmers who have used a 6-8-4 under cotton this year should not side-dress such cotton. A 6-8-4 applied before planting is all of the fertilizer that should be used for cotton and does away with the need of side-dressings of any kind."

Teaching Course At Auburn This Summer

DR. FRANK C. JENKINS

Auburn, Ala. May 20. (Special)—To prepare school administrators and teachers for the state-wide study on curriculum revision in Alabama that begins next fall, two special courses have been added to instruction offered at the 24th Auburn Summer session which opens on June 8.

"All superintendents, principals, and teachers who wish to prepare themselves for places of leadership in the three-year State program, will find these curriculum courses particularly helpful," said Dr. Zebulon Judd, Summer Session director.

An outstanding specialist in the field of curriculum revision, Dr. Frank C. Jenkins, Jackson, Miss., has been secured to give this instruction with the aid of other well known authorities on the Auburn faculty. Dr. Jenkins, who holds the Ph. D. degree from Peabody, has attracted wide attention in recent months as curriculum director for the state of Mississippi. He will teach courses in the fundamentals of and procedures for curriculum development.

In order to make the curriculum courses of maximum value to administrators and teachers an up-to-date collection of all essential literature on the subject has been added to the education school library. In addition, a "curriculum laboratory" has been arranged where those taking such courses will work out actual problems in developing new programs of study. The laboratory will permit administrators and teachers to deal with these problems in the exact "school situation" common to their communities.

Chief Foe Of New Deal Has To Admit That Sun Is Shining

Houston, Tex., May 18.—The Kirby Lumber Co., of Houston, has requested permission to reorganize under Section 77-B of the New Deal's bankruptcy act. The company's president is John Henry Kirby, head of the Southern Committee to Uphold the Constitution and an ardent New Deal opponent. In the application, which Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly approved as properly filed, Kirby's lawyer said the lumber industry had so improved and the prospects were so bright that it was believed the company could pay off its seven and one-half million dollars in debts and realize something on the stockholders' investments.

Alabama Power Customers Increase Use Of Electricity

Lower Rates Delayed by High Taxes, Says Report

The annual report of Alabama Power Co., recently mailed to stockholders, Thomas W. Martin, president, reports that while the electricity to regular customers was almost 12% greater than in 1934, the amount of electricity received for it increased only 9%. Operating expenses increased over 12%, or one-fifth more than revenue. The report indicates that at the end of 1935 Alabama Power Company was serving 615 communities in Alabama and in addition served 63 communities at whole-sale rates. The average use of electricity in 1935 was 12% greater than in 1934, while the average rates declined 54%.

The increased use of electricity is due in large part to the immediate rate plan, under which the rate per kilowatt-hour becomes with increased use by the customer. This plan, established in Alabama in 1933, has since been adopted by other utilities. However, a major part of the increase in use is felt to have resulted from the increasing appreciation of the value of electricity in the home which has brought about through aggressive advertising on the part of the company's department in cooperation with the Alabama electrical merchants. The "immediate-objective" rate plan of 1933, which included a low rate for the first kilowatt-hour, became effective in April, 1935. (In recent weeks a downward revision of the rate has been made, resulting in an annual savings of $60,000 to the average annual user of electricity by 60 thousand customers, and the additional use of electricity by 60 thousand customers, much of it at the low rate.) The report states that as a result of promotional activities of the company the average annual use of electricity per residential customer crossed the kilowatt-hour mark in January, 1935, a record attained by only one large utility company east of Rocky Mountain. This average exceeded in 61 communities by Alabama Power Company in 1935. The annual use per residential customer in these communities increased from 1,006 to 3,223 kilowatt-hours.

The report contained in the report reveal that in these 61 towns or communities the average annual use per residential customer equals or exceeds the average annual use in three towns so widely publicized by the company, and that there are 30 towns in Alabama where the use of electricity in the home is as great or greater than in three other towns by TVA.

More than 50% of the electricity residences served by Alabama Power Company is provided at 2c per kilowatt-hour or less, and more than sold at 1 1/2c or less. The report of the company contends that promotional activities are necessary in creating an appreciation of the value of electricity, and that the use of electricity in the home is a great or greater than in three other towns by TVA.

several dams, but views as serious the loss of fertile topsoil in the farms of adjoining counties. In October 1934 the company planted its first seed beds for the propagation of slash pine near Jordan Dam, and in the spring of 1935 largely increased this planting. It also transplanted to its nurseries located near Wetumpka and Alexander City seedlings obtained from the State Forestry at Livingston. In January of this year it planted great quantities of seedlings on lands which it owns adjoining Martin Dam. Twenty-one different kinds of direct taxes are paid by the company, of which 14 are State and 7 Federal. Total taxes paid equal 15c out of every dollar collected by the company and are approximately equal to 75% of the total salaries and wages paid to its 2,200 employees. These taxes totalled $2,565,967.96 in 1935, an increase of nearly 11% over 1934. The report states that the constant tendency of Federal, State and local governments to take each year an increased share of the earnings of the company constitute a major threat to its stability and the continuity of dividends to thousands of stockholders who have invested their savings in it. It is suggested that those responsible for raising public revenues, the institutions supported by such revenues, and other taxpayers, should recognize that in each instance of entry of government into the realm of private endeavor, no matter in what particular line, the flow of taxes from the business replaced is practically, if not altogether cut off, thus forcing the tax collecting authorities to make up the deficit by higher levies upon the diminishing number of those left in the ownership of private property.

The striking example of this condition resulting from the gradual taking over of electric operations in the State under the TVA plan of operation presents a problem which educational and government authorities and the taxpayers must meet, namely: how and from whom will this deficit be made up? The report contrasts Alabama Power Company's payment of taxes on lands acquired by it for the same purposes as those of the TVA, namely the production and sale of electric energy. The company's lands are assessed on the average 50% higher than adjoining lands of other taxpayers, while the TVA pays no taxes on the land it acquires, removing from the tax rolls, according to a recent 1935 report of the Bureau of Business Research, University of Alabama, assessed values of $3,000,000 in Limestone, Lauderdale, Madison and Morgan Counties.

In the report President Martin states, "Perhaps we may take hope from the recent expression of Dr. Morgan, Chairman of TVA, quoting the President as follows: 'If the (public plants) are to serve as comparisons, they must be open and above-board, with nothing hidden. They must be fair, with no special, arbitrary advantages. They must pay taxes, just as private companies must do, and every other reasonable charge, if they are to provide us with a fair comparison.'"

Speed Did This

In the Windshield

Out the Rear Window

Excessive speed on the highway doesn't always manifest itself in the usual type of smash-up—the mass of crumpled steel and splintered wood that one sees so often pictured in the newspapers. Sometimes speed chooses odd, almost unbelievable ways of striking back at those who defy the laws of safety.

The stone shown in the top photograph weighs more than seven pounds and was thrown by a passing car. To lift it up to windshield height the machine which threw it must have been moving at a high rate of speed. The car through which it passed must also have been moving rapidly, for the pierced the non-shatterable windshield, killed a passenger in the front seat and knocked out the rear seat window and then continued on through the non-shatterable window.

It takes more than ordinary to puncture such glass, even seven-pound stone. It takes skin to that generated by the which have been known to straws deep into trees.

President Kohn stated. The contest closes June 15th. Anyone interested in entering the contest, should turn their essays over to Billy Smith, president of the local Unit, who is to select judges of this county to select the two best essays of the county, and forward them to the State headquarters where other judges will make the final selection and announce the winners of the two cash prizes.

The meeting last Thursday night was opened by Donald Merchant vice-president of Thorby, Barnett Derasum, second vice-president, served as secretary in the absence of the regular secretary.

The resignation of Wallace Cox as president was read and accepted by the meeting. Nominations were opened for a new president. Billy Smith, publisher of the Chilton County News was unanimously elected president of the local Unit, and the meeting was turned over to him.

Miss Alice Polk, one of Clanton's talented young ladies and popular for her teaching in expression, gave a most enjoyable reading to those attending the meeting.

President Kohn stated that the State convention is scheduled to be held sometime in the late summer or early Fall and that indications are a large number will attend. At this time there are forty-three counties in Alabama that have active organizations of Young Democrats. President Kohn stated that he is particularly interested in the Chilton County League.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served at Alred Drug Company.

The next meeting of the League will be held in the very near future and will be called by President Smith.

ENDORSES OUSLEY FOR COMMISSIONERS POSITION

Fletcher, Ala., May 20.—This is to certify that I have been well acquainted with Mr. Ousley (Candidate for Commissioner of the Third District) for thirty-six years. I have had considerable dealings with Mr. Ousley when I was deputy postmaster and for since I have been in the mercantile business. I know him to be a man of every respect. He is honest and in his dealings, a man of good sense and a hard worker. I THINK a man well qualified for position for which he asks of the voters of Chilton County.

Looking over the vote of the 5th primary one can readily see Mr. Ousley stands in District No. 3, which district he is seeking nomination. It seems that Mr. Ousley has 137 more votes than his nearest opponent in the May primary and was stripped away of the others.

Why not the other come on and make this thing unanimous. I like to state for those who do not know: Mr. Ousley always takes an active part in school affairs and in the affairs in his community. We all understand the place he is in and we will make no mistake in nominating and electing him.

Respectfully,
E. G. CALDWELL

At a recent meeting of the City Council, it was decided to make a purchase of 250 to 300 seats for the city hall auditorium, according to Mayor Jones.

It is understood the purchase will be made sometime in June, depending somewhat on the action of the Federal government regarding funds for the paving of the streets of Clanton, a large part of which is a donation from the government and the auditorium seats are figured in this same grant.

HARDY HARRISON ENDORSES OUSLEY FOR COMMISSIONER

"I want the people of our county to know just how we people in Beat 8 feel in regard to our candidate for Commissioner from the 3rd District. I have reference to Mr. R. L. Ousley. He moved to this county some twenty years ago. Mr. Ousley is very highly regarded by all of the people in this section of the county and all over the county where he is known.

"In the Primary on May 5th, 1936 out of the 73 votes cast in Beat 8 Mr. Ousley received 61 of these votes, and in the District from which he is running he received a majority of the votes cast over all of the other candidates in the race with him. We think this speaks mighty well for Mr. Ousley. Mr. Ousley received 137 votes more than the candidate next to him, we feel that the people of the county want Mr. Ousley as their nominee in our party and we feel that on June 9, 1936 the voters will by their vote prove this fact.

"We people in Beat 8 know Mr. Ousley. We know him to be honest, fair and just in all his dealings, he leads a clean life and we feel that the people of Chilton County will be honored if they can elect Mr. Ousley as our nominee. I am,

Very respectfully yours

number of fine young girls will receive their high school diplomas within the next week or so in Chilton County. In the list of those to graduate we see the names of 'young men' who have the quality and ability to forward in life. To this group we extend our warmest congratulations.

But Loud
A few more days and the voters of Chilton County will be selecting their representatives for the next year. The Democrats made a clean sweep in making nominations and on June 9th will appear only two names on the Democratic ballot, those of Dr. C. E. Bell and R. L. Ousley, for Commissioner from the Third District. The Republicans will have two run-offs, one for treasurer and one for Commissioner of the Third District. The primary will have no doubt attract a small percentage of the vote, but it will be a more important primary election than the one May 5th.

Again
Sir, this Jimmy Bell, manager of Murray-Bell Hardware Store here, again. We have learned never just what to expect Jimmy next when it comes to initiating his store more attractive. Say, how about tipping us off something you are going to do next time?

Apartment
You can't find Maurice Lande in the ten to one that out of the messes we can spot him. Our guess will be that he is interested in the erection of another modern apartment house in Clanton and that he is going to see that quality first whether selling dry goods or something.

War
A lot of talk now about war and it kind of makes us wonder if we will be able to join the happy army from Clanton in "going places" summer. We find those who are just "going" and then there are those who have made their reservation to join the Alabama Press Association for a week's vacation in Havana.

Montgomery's Cops
The cops are cops and then there are Clanton cops, or maybe they are to be called policemen, or officers. Nevertheless, some people had a "cops" it's easier. Clanton's cops are at all times pleasant, and helpful. Montgomery has this of policemen too. We know because of them accused us of driving a little too fast once on the out-of-the-city when we were on our way home and minding our own business. But they saw we had all the earmarks of a country boy and with a wink asked us to come to see them. We extended them the same invitation.

MAURICE HODGENS TO FILL BAPTIST PULPIT

S. J. Ezell, pastor of the Clanton Church will leave today for the city where he will conduct a meeting at the Luerne Baptist Church, and will be away until June 1st.

Sunday morning at the eleven o'clock services of the local Baptist Church, a former Chilton County man, Mr. Maurice Hodgins of Howard, will fill the pulpit. Dr. Ezell expects everyone to come out Sunday and hear his sermon.

How F. Announces June Jubilee Sale

Blacketter, manager of the low-front store in Clanton, announces this week the beginning of a June Jubilee Sale. Elsewhere in the county will be found a large advertisement from this store listing many values in groceries and dry goods. Blacketter states that his store has shown a nice increase in recent weeks, and that his June Jubilee Sale is one of the most outstanding opportunities to save money on standard quality merchandise which come to buyers in Chilton County.

Blacketter invites you to read and then he believes you will see the fine merchandise at these low prices.

FIGURES GIVEN ON PROGRAM OF RESETTLEMENT

Relief Families Are Paying Their Way Back To Prosperity

Auburn, May 27.—Alabama farm families forced on relief two years ago are slowly paying their way out of the depression. Thirty-six per cent of the amount loaned to them by the state rehabilitation corporation during 1934 and 1935 has been repaid, it was announced here today by Julian Brown, state rural rehabilitation director.

Repayments of $957,875.72 have been made on loans to 13,000 families totaling $2,604,406.00, leaving a balance due the corporation of $1,646,530.28. This balance, Brown said, is secured by mortgages on capital goods consisting of horses, mules, cattle, farm implements, and other chattel.

Many of the families who now are repaying their loans to the state corporation are farming this year under loan contracts with the rural rehabilitation division of the Resettlement Administration, which is continuing the rehabilitation work begun by the corporation in 1934.

Loans totaling $2,503,196 have been made in the 1936 program to 13,551 farm families, according to Brown. The average is $184 per family.

VERNIE TEEL ACCEPTS PLACE IN LANETT, ALA.

Editor Of News To Take Charge Of Chambers County News

By Billy Smith

This week brings the loss to Clanton and Chilton County of a valuable citizen, Vernie Teel, who has been connected with the Chilton County News for a number of years in the capacity of associate editor and then as editor, who will go to Lanett, Ala., to assume a new position, that of manager of The Chambers County News.

Mr. Teel has been a valuable asset to this newspaper, to Clanton and the county, and his going to Lanett will mean much to that town and to the newspaper which he will assume charge of.

The people in his new location will find him clean and just as he has always been in Clanton—in his editorial writings, fair in his business dealings and a hard worker for his community.

The News regrets to lose Mr. Teel, but feels that his new position will mean much to him in advancement in his chosen field of endeavor.

Mrs. Jones To Give Recital By Pupils

HERMAN HARRIS IS SINGULARLY HONORED; LISTED IN 'WHO'S WHO'

Record Is Outstanding In Scholastic Work; Gets Position

One of Chilton County's most outstanding young men has brought an honor to his county as well as to himself, by outstanding scholastic work and campus activities during his four years of study at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. He is Herman L. Harris, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Harris, of Clanton.

His record of accomplishments possibly has seldom if ever, equaled by a Chilton County youth, and the "Who's Who" Among Students in American Universities And Colleges, has selected Herman as the outstanding student of the Auburn college and awarded him a place in their selections.

He attended the Chilton County High School with a splendid record to his credit when he graduated there in 1932. He entered the Alabama Polytechnic Institute and immediately began to make a record for himself. He was also Valedictorian of his high school graduating class, vice-president of the Senior Class and president of his sophomore and junior classes, as well as becoming elected alternate captain of the high school football team.

He was chosen by the student body at Auburn as the business manager of the school paper, The Auburn Plainsman, and received many congratulations on the success he made in that position, since the newspaper stated that this past year under his management showed the best financial condition.

WILL CHECK ON HOOKWORM IN CHILTON COUNTY

Health Forces Plan A House-To-House Canvass In County

Members of the local County Health Unit are carrying out a house-to-house hookworm survey to determine the prevalence of hookworm disease in Chilton County. In this study an attempt is being made to obtain a representative sample of the whole county rather than make a complete survey of any one community. To do this every tenth house is being selected and all members of this household tested. By this means a fairly accurate estimate of the percentage of infestation throughout the county can be determined.

A hookworm survey among school children was carried out last year, the survey showing about 35 per cent of the school population to be infested. As a result of this study approximately 500 school children were treated. The aim of the present study is to determine the amount of infestation among the population as a whole rather than among any age group.

"The Chilton County Post No. 6, of the American Legion will have its regular monthly meeting at the Court House on June 1, 1936, at 7:30 p.m. At this meeting, there will be capable speakers to discuss the cashing of bonds issued in lieu of the Adjusted Service Certificate, generally known as the soldier's bonus, and proper instructions will be given as to the method of having these bonds cashed.

"We are to have an out-of-town speaker on this occasion, and trust that every member of the local Post will be present, and any other service man, regardless of whether or not he is a member of the Post.

"Respectfully yours,

KIWANIANS HAVE TREAT FOR TONIGHT

Members Will Hear A Talk Of The Future About Telephone System

Members of the Clanton Kiwanis Club who fail to attend the meeting tonight at seven-thirty will regret it as there is a real treat in store for the club when two well known men will be guests of the club and give some information worth listening to.

Dr. V. J. Gragg has charge of the program and has secured as speakers C. J. Yates, division commercial engineer of the Southern Bell Telephone Co., and T. E. Harris, district superintendent of the company.

Mr. Yates will bring a word picture to the club tonight that can only be equalled by one of H. G. Wells' stories, and yet the possibilities of the picture Mr. Yates will give are perhaps now in the making.

All members should certainly cancel any other engagement they might have tonight and make their attendance at the meeting.

HEAVY INROADS BEING MADE IN LIQUOR TRAFFIC

Sheriff's Forces Active In Apprehending Law Offenders

Chilton County is becoming "drier" and "drier" judging from recent activities of the efficient forces of Sheriff J. R. Hardy, who have during the past few days captured two whiskey distilling outfits in the county, and made several arrests in connection with the manufacture of whiskey.

Two of Sheriff Hardy's deputies have been making a reputation for themselves as "go-getters" when it comes to raiding whiskey stills. These are Deputies Velpo Mims and Herbert Wright, whose activities are confined mostly to the northern end of the county.

Last Saturday afternoon Deputies Mims and Wright captured a large and complete copper distilling outfit and made one arrest in connection, in what is known as the Free Springs community. This still was being prepared for operation at the time of the raid. Deputy Wright stated, and approximately sixty gallons of mash was (Continued to back page)

City Of Clanton To Dig New 8-Ft. Well

According to announcement of Mayor C. Fenn Jones, the City Council of Clanton has authorized the digging of a new well near the location of the present waterworks plant. This well is to be 8 feet in diameter and probably something like 60 feet in depth.

A definite date for beginning work on this project has not been set, but Mr. Jones stated that as soon as arrangements could be made with someone prepared to do this kind of work the project would be started, and that he expected it to be within the next few days.

Extension of the water mains and a general building program in Clanton have made it necessary to increase the water supply to meet larger demands.

To Be Liked, You Must Like Others

I am interested in Robert Quillen's view that almost anybody of ordinary intelligence can be popular. All you have to do, he explains, "is to like people."

"Did you ever see a charming person with cold and unfriendly eye?" he inquires. "I am sure you haven't. Those who seem charming are the ones who seem to like you."

"As a general rule, you will find people willing to meet you half way and treat you as well as you treat them. They are willing to like you if you give no offense, and thus you begin with the seed of popularity already planted. All you need do is encourage it a little bit and let it develop by natural processes."

"Most people spoil things by talking too much. In thoughtless conversation with one friend, they make rather catty remarks about another. And the person talked about eventually hears what was said and feels hurt. It may not make an enemy of him, but he never again will believe that you like him and never again will like you. That ends your popularity so far as he is concerned."

"Everybody wishes to be liked. And most people repay you generously if you like them and prove it by not making nasty cracks about them."

Better Chances

Exceedingly good news awaits the college graduates of 1936. University departmental heads, who usually have advance information on possible jobs for senior students in their departments find more jobs are open for them than at any other time since 1931.

Agriculture, industry and business are looking for college graduates this year. Many business and industrial organizations have been faced with a gap in their personnel forces because of depression economics. As a result, not only are there four times as many requests for college graduates this year as in 1935, but the starting wage level has risen.

Whereas the top salary a young graduate could expect last year was $100 a month, compensation this year is $125 for the best positions and $100 for "average" jobs. Those that formerly paid practically nothing now offer up to $85 a month.

This represents the beginning of a foothold for youth. The absence of that foothold has been one of the great tragedies of the depression.

Bounty On Reckless Drivers

Here is the way they deal with reckless an intoxicated drivers in Portland, Oregon.

There is a $100 bounty on reckless drivers in Portland, where the law considers speeding reckless.

Determined to put a check on city drivers, the city, cooperating with a civic accident prevention organization, enacted the bounty law recently as one phase of a wide spread traffic control program.

The ordinance provides a $100 reward for any citizen who gives information leading to the arrest and conviction of a reckless driver. The reward has been paid twice in the short life of the new regulation, adopted in April of this year.

As another safeguard, the city has obtained an agreement from major gasoline companies not to sell gasoline to intoxicated persons. The city also conducts a school where reckless drivers are taught safe driving methods.

These unique regulations ought to help in the safety first campaign. Cities might well take the idea and try it out in their own ordinances. Reckless and drinking drivers are a menace to life and property and need strict regulations to insure safety on the highways.—St. James, Minn., Watonwan Co. Plandealer.

And They Say There's Romance In The Newspaper Business

About a year ago we received a letter from a woman subscriber who told us how much she liked the paper, especially the editorials. In her effusiveness, she even went so far as to compare the editor with Sherwood Anderson, which certainly was no compliment to the writing ability of Mr. Anderson.

The other day she refused to renew her subscription because she didn't approve of an editorial we wrote about the Hauptmann case. That was her only objection to the paper in the year and one-half that it has been under the management of the present owners.

Of course, we felt that she was unfair. So we got out our pencil and paper and started figuring. For seventy-eight weeks, with an average of four editorials a week there had appeared in this newspaper 312 editorials.

Something that appeared in ONE of the 312 editorials offended our reader. So she refused to renew her subscription for that reason.

Which leads us to wonder if we wouldn't get a little more satisfaction out of life by operating a hot dog stand—or perhaps going into the real estate business.—Park Ridge, N. J., Local.

Cashing In On Vice

Somehow we never could quite follow the idea that a supposedly reformed crook was the ideal character for soulsaving activities, but many seem to think otherwise.

In an issue of a southern newspaper appeared an account of the former career of an evangelist, one Rev. Percente, whose principal stock in trade seems to be his unsavory past record. The article doubtless inspired by the reverend gentleman himself, gives a rather boastful narrative of his former sins.

It declared that he has been a saloon keeper, a prize fighter, a bootlegger, and the operator of a gambling house. After completing a penitentiary sentence for violating the prohibition laws, he got religion and entered the ministry.

Now if the gentleman's reformation is real and sincere, his past record should not be held against him. But why should he drag that record into print? The only reasonable answer is that he is trying to surround himself with a cheap glamour, in order to attract the attention of the moron element which delights in glorifying past and present criminals.

Mizpah

Perhaps this will be my last time to write for publication in the Chilton County News and I take the opportunity to say a few words of sincere appreciation to all those who have made the nine years I have spent in Clanton such pleasant ones.

To you who have let me sell you advertising and printing I wish to say: Thank You! Your courtesy has been most encouraging. Many of you have been so gracious as to express commendation of my efforts, and I assure you it is deeply appreciated. I hope that you will continue that same attitude to Billy and those who will help him to make of the News a better and better paper as the years go by. You will always find the News staff ready to cooperate with movements to better the community.

While I have come into your places of business many times I have always been closely concerned with the back shop, and more often that not you have found me with ink on my fingers; so, in parting, I would say to you: Remember the boys who set the type, bear with them if they accidentally misspell a word, for they have lots of words to spell every week. Don't be too harsh if your adv. isn't exactly the way you wanted it to look, for sometimes they get tired and sleepy on Tuesday nights. Give them a word of praise when they deliver a piece of printing or an advertisement that pleases you, and they'll work with you and for you "til the cows come home"—and later.

Finally, I leave with the News and you, my friends, the best wishes any person can give another. You have been my friends in all the ways we may expect friendship, and often you have gone beyond that limit. Clanton is one of the finest places in the world; you have a right to be proud of it, and I am glad to have been a part of it for the past nine years. My fondest memories remain with you.

—Vernie Teel.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

I saw a man standing at a window with a burning match between his fingers. He was relating a story that he thought was very interesting. While he talked the fire crawled up the match toward his hand. At last the blaze bit into his flesh and he flung the match to the floor and groaned with pain. How foolish it seemed for a grown man to thus let a fire burn him. And yet, that was no more foolish than for a human to adopt a bad habit that is not injurious at first and yet all the time it is burning its way toward the vital part of living. It does not seem injurious today for you to smoke, drink, eat like a glutton and violate the laws of nature, but the time is coming when you will feel the burn of the fire. Then you will have your regrets, but you will already be injured.

It had been a long day in June and just before the sun went down the tired man became fretted with his tired horse. Together they had walked all day long, turning the soil, and now both man and horse were almost too tired to move one foot in front of the other. The plow struck an elm root and the horse flew back and the temper of the man flew to pieces. He lifted his whip and lashed his horse unmercifully. Then the battle started. It was man against the horse and the horse against the man. After many snatches of the lines and much writhing of the horse, the furrow was resumed. It would have been much better if that tired man had unhitched the traces of that tired horse and both of them retired for rest. It is so foolish for a tired man to whip a tired horse. When you have worked hard all day and you find that you are tired in body or mind and things begin to fret you; why not "take out" and quit for the day?

While sitting at an open window watching the smoke as it went rapidly by in the arms of a brisk wind, I heard the cry of my little lad in the yard below. He was cold and yet he was loathe to give up his play. For a moment I thought of the two methods of hushing his cry in my ears. One was to pull down the window and shut out his cry—the other was to rush down the stairway and bring—into a warm room. This I did and soon the little fellow was warm and happy with his dad. As you look out over a world that is turned by wind and waves and crying in its heart, there are two ways of dealing with that cry. One is to hush it by closing it out and the other is to hush it by giving of yourself to bring the world into a warmer atmosphere of love and sympathy. Which are you doing?

While standing at a distance from a building that was in the course of construction, I could see the men at work and I could see the material being lifted to the tenth story. I could not see the ropes that carried the material up to the workmen but I knew that they were there. Many a time have I seen men and women being lifted in their inner life, and while I could not see the power that lifted them, yet I knew it was there. God can not be seen and yet He is lifting us. He draws our good works unto Himself and thus lifts us on high. On the other hand when we see people being drawn down toward the ways of the world, we must not forget that there is a power that is drawing them. We may not see that power, but it is there just the same.

I walked down into the basement of the courthouse and found the janitor in the boiler room. He was old and seemed to be alone in the world. I asked him where he lived. Pointing to a room in the basement he said: "I live down here in the basement." There he was, living in the basement, and dealing in the elimination of that government building. Understand that the janitor in that building was not the only person I have seen living in the basement of life. In every town and city we find men and women who are living where they have no vision, and where they breathe dust and the impurities of life. Where are you living—in the top story of life, or are you living in the basement? Why not climb up where the air is pure and the vision is broad and good? Life is always fuller and sweeter the higher you climb. For goodness sake get out of the basement if you want to really live.

Press Association's Friends Accepting Invitation To Go To Cuba On Low Cost Tour

Many People Interested In Cuba Trip Planned By State Editors

DETAILS OF HAVANA TRIP OF PRESS ASSOC.

There are a thousand and one details connected with a trip, and here are the answers to many of the very natural questions that will arise.

Time and Place—The trip starts from Montgomery on Sunday morning, June 14th, at 7 a.m., by special train over the A.C.L. Railway. The train will be all day coaches—but air conditioned, so the trip will be very pleasant from that standpoint. Two diners will be attached, and Tampa will be reached at 5 that afternoon. The party will go in the train to Port Tampa and immediately go aboard and set sail.

Tickets—The convention secretary will have an office at the Whitley Hotel, Montgomery, all of Saturday, June 13th, and Friday, also, if necessary. Late comers will see him there and get their tickets, etc. Those whose reservations get in earlier—June 5th, by all means—will have their tickets and reservations already made and ready for them. The earlier the reservation the better placed on the ship.

Reservations—All editors and members of their respective parties are asked to have their reservations in the hands of the convention secretary on or before June 5th. Earlier than this, if possible. All funds will be deposited in the bank at Alexander City, and if for any reason anyone cannot make the trip after paying for it, the money will be immediately refunded. There will be no waiting for refunds nor any red tape connected with it.

Baggage—As reservations are received baggage forms for the Cuban and American customs, tags for baggage, etc., will be sent and the tickets will also be sent if desired. It would be wise to get these either Saturday before starting on the trip or on the train. They will be prepared and ready. The baggage will be carried on a baggage car and at Port Tampa transferred to the ship. Here stewards will take it to the staterooms. At Havana it will be carried to the hotel and be waiting there when the party reaches the place.

Steamer En Route—The train will stop at Troy at 8:10, at Ozark at 9:05 and at Dubon at 9:45 for the convenience of the people of that section. The rate will be based on Montgomery but it will not be necessary to join the party there if it will be more convenient for you to board the train at one of the other points.

Clothes—The climate of Cuba is about like the middle of May here all the year round. Summer clothes, of trousers. The ladies will want to take dressed for the evening in either a white suit or a blue coat and white trousers. The ladies will want to take sports clothes for the daytime wear and one dinner or semi-evening dress for the night affairs. There will be no occasion when full dress will be desired or necessary.

The Boat—The party will go on the "Cuba," an ocean-going liner. It follows the Florida coast line and is very seldom out of sight of land on the way. During June is the ideal time for an ocean voyage, and the trip will probably be over so calm a sea that the party may be disappointed at the lack of motion. Seasickness is a possibility, naturally, but most probably there will be no member of the party who will be troubled with this. There is too much to see and enjoy on board for that, anyway.

Entertainment—The entertainment starts on the boat. An orchestra will be aboard for dancing. The party will have a Treasure Hunt Sunday night and other interesting events enroute to Havana and a similarly enjoyable trip coming back is also planned. In Havana there is a night trip to see the gay Havana night life in detail that will intrigue everyone. A day trip over the city, one of the most historic in the world and especially to every American, will consume several hours, and a long drive into the country is also scheduled. Other trips may also be taken that are exceedingly worth while for those who want them—to Matanzas, to Botabano on the Caribbean Sea, and to other places on the island. The party will have a number of interesting entertainments by the government of Cuba, the Cuban Press Association and the National Tourist Commission, but details of these are not yet available.

The Hotel—The Plaza Hotel, where the party will stop, is one of the best in the city. It is not the newest but it is as comfortable as a modern hotel can be. Here the party will stop two to a room with bath, and meals will also be taken here in a dining room that is world famous for its food. The evening meal will probably be on the roof garden, overlooking the night lights of this beautiful city. Language—Spanish is the language, of course, but every store has a clerk who speaks English. All of the hotel employees speak English and one will have little difficulty on this score.

Purchases—We will be allowed to bring back, duty free, $100.00 worth of purchases. The visitor is tempted on every hand, for French and English goods come to Cuba duty free. As a result Irish linens, French perfumes and powders, etc., cost in Cuba about a third the amount they do here in the United States. And Cuban cigars are also cheap, as well as other Cuban products. Real Panama hats will take the eyes of the men, also.

Tips—Every member of the party is advised to take plenty of his or her favorite cigarette. In Cuba the Cuban cigarettes cost five cents a package—but American cigarettes cost five times what they do here. And a package of cigarettes makes a wonderful tip for service.

Cost of Trip—Here's a trip that offers entertainment and advantages that the average tourist could not possibly get, and at about half what the trip would ordinarily cost. If you have not already done so, make your reservations today.

Thorsby Institute News

A large crowd attended both the baccalaureate and graduating exercises. The Rev. J. W. Jones, pastor of the Thorsby Baptist Church preached the baccalaureate sermon. The choir sang "The Heavens Resound" under the direction of Miss Foss. The Senior Class sang their class hymn and Miss Foss accompanied by Thelma White, a music pupil of Miss Foss, sang "O Divine Redeemer."

The Rev. J. M. Graham, pastor, Presbyterian Church, Prattville, Ala., delivered the address to the graduating class on Monday morning. The topic of his address was "A Call to Youth" and was very inspiring. Before Dr. Graham's message two Senior Essays were read. Each year the two seniors making the highest scholastic record read their essays at the commencement exercise. Mary Louise Reinhardt read her essay, which was entitled "How Nursery Schools Train Children" and Sarah Green read "The Constructive James Madison." There were also two special musical numbers. The Glee Club sang "Calm As The Night" and a girl's sextette sang "To A Wild Rose." Following Dr. Graham's address the diplomas were presented to twenty-one seniors. The following gifts have been contributed to the school by the Senior Class: An Alabama flag, ten dollars for reference books for library, scholarship to a working student for thirteen dollars. (This was given to Ira Martin.)

Also forty-nine dollars was given to the Institute, to be used as seems best. Miss Marion Butler of Rockville, Conn. made possible an undergraduate scholarship of thirteen dollars. This went to Francis Conway. She also won one to Francis Conway. There were also high rank in General Mathematics. J. R. Lowery, a Junior, won the same amount for excellent work in Geometry. Margaret Ward won two dollars and fifty cents for standing the highest in History. The History and Mathematics prizes were given by Mr. Sam Pate of Thorsby.

The Piedmont College scholarship went to Mary Louise Reinhardt and Sarah Green because of their high standing. Lewis Wilson is an alternate for this scholarship. The money for the perfect attendance awards was given by Mr. Harpe, Mr. Willis, Mr. Ed Howard and Mr. Foss of Thorsby, also by Mr. Taylor of the Clanton Cash Store. Fourteen received these awards of one dollar each.

A good crowd stayed for the picnic dinner which followed the graduation exercises. Ice cream and cold drinks were sold by the Junior Class. The money made from these sales will go toward their class fund for next year. Following the dinner a club baseball game was played on the Institute grounds. The Philomathics won.

At the annual alumni meeting on Monday, the following officers were elected: Mrs. Hubert Reinhardt, president; Miss Kathryn Foss, vice-president; Mr. Milton Higgins, treasurer; Phares Raybon, secretary.

Miss Capitola Mattingly had as her guests during commencement Miss Geneva Burden from Harms, Tenn., also a friend of Miss Burden. After the 8th of June Miss Mattingly will be at her home in Lexington, Kentucky.

Miss Ruth Ford and Miss Klingelhoefer are driving through to Miss Klingelhoefer's home in Beaver, Penn. From there, Miss Ford will go to her home in Dalton, Mass.

After spending a week near Selma, Ala., Miss Glasson will return to her home in Wilmore, Kentucky.

Miss Helen Jenkins and her mother will spend a part of the summer near Pittsfield at Balance Rock, Mass. Miss Jenkins is to attend her college reunion at Mount Holyoke soon after leaving Thorsby.

On Friday night, May 21, the Senior Class presented a play entitled, "The Albany Depot" by William Dean Howells. The class day exercises were very attractively presented with Madame Mysterioso, (Mary Louise Reinhardt) prophesying about different ones as she called them to hear her foretell their future. The Class History was read by Lois Rister, the Class Prophecy was given by Gladys Martin, the Class Will was given by Mary Louise Reinhardt, and the poem by Sarah Green.

On Saturday afternoon one of the best recitals ever given at Thorsby Institute, was given by Miss Foss' pupils. It was a varied program of vocal and instrumental music, and the pupils showed marked improvement and did very well. The last number was a two piano one by Miss Foss and Mae Pearl Sorrell.

Saturday night the Alumni entertained the Seniors at a very pleasant party at the Dining Hall. The program was nattered after Major Bowes Radio Hour. Ragnor Ekblad took the part of Major Bowes, and called on various ones to sing, give a reading, etc. After the program delicious ice cream and cake were served. The class colors of orchid and green predominated in the decorations and the refreshments.

The office will be open from 8-12 during the summer. After this week and for several weeks Mr. Vinson Suttive will be in charge. Later Mrs. H. R. Maddox will be in charge.

Miss Glasson will be at the office until Friday. She will give out the report cards on Thursday. Mr. Maddox will also be in the office mornings and afternoons through the week. Anyone wishing to register for the coming year should see Mr. Maddox as soon as possible.

Thorsby Institute is not in the habit of hosting, but it has had each year since it was started in 1906 a full year of nine months, never less.

Not Against Law Seine For Min

In last week's News there was an article from L. T. Quinn stating that the law to use a seine which stated that a violation of the law to use a seine of any length in any public water in Alabama, Due to the fact that seines are used in Chilton County a bit for the purpose of catching minnows, considerable confusion has arisen. However, a representative of the law in an interview with A. R. Lightsey was told that this law does not mean that you can't seine for minnows in a small seine, but that it applies to other kinds of fish which are sometimes caught with even small seines. But when a small seine is used there is no violation of the law according to Mr. Lightsey.

The extra Nitrogen in every ton of ARCADIAN, THE AMERICAN NITRATE OF SODA is just like extra cash. Bulletin No. 326 of the Department of Agriculture and Immigration of the State of Virginia reports the cash value of this extra Nitrogen over the guaranteed 16% as high as 88¢ per ton.

There can be no question about this. It is official. No wonder thrifty farmers insist on "ARCADIAN". Of course they want that extra value.

Corn For Ala. Markets

There is a market for about five and half million bushels of Alabama corn. Because of mixture of white with yellow, buyers are finding it very difficult to use Alabama grown corn. Here is what two leading business men of Birmingham say:

"With reference to the Corn Program in Alabama, and to farmers in this state who are raising corn for market it is absolutely necessary for us to either raise strictly white or strictly yellow corn to secure the maximum price for their product. Nearly all over the State but particularly in South-

Alabama, the farmers are raising various colored corn, that is neither pure white nor yellow. It probably would be difficult to grade mixed corn, and it is almost an utter impossibility to find a market for this particular mixed corn, and when a market was found the price was from 8 cents to 10 cents per bushel less than had this been strictly white or strictly yellow."

The improved seed corn program

PATROLMEN WARN ABOUT

DRIVING WHILE DRUNK

Recent arrests made by Highway Patrolmen Waites and Henley would indicate that all offenders of the law within their jurisdiction, will receive the same treatment if they come within sight of the two officers.

Especially will those who attempt to drive automobiles or trucks while intoxicated get the limit—but of course in the usual quiet and dignified manner being shown by these two efficient officers.

Waites and Henley stated this week that they do not wish to be unduly

"hard" on offenders on the highways, but at the same time they are there to enforce the highway laws. They called special attention to drunken drivers, bad lights, and drivers licenses, which is being launched by the Extension Service throughout the State should prove one of the most valuable programs.

"Birmingham alone, consumes about two million bushels of white corn annually and one million bushels of yellow corn. The mills here have gone on record as favoring local grown corn and will give preference to it in making their purchases, provided it will grade all white or yellow.

"It is very difficult to sell mixed corn and when you can obtain the market for it, the price is much lower than that of white or yellow, therefore, I hope that every farmer in Alabama that attempts to grow corn will endeavor to plant pure variety whether he intends to market any of it or not.

Let's push this campaign vigorously and drive the mixed corn out of the State entirely."

Farmers planning to sell corn should grow only a pure white variety or a pure yellow, or plant varieties of different colors at least three weeks apart.

Chewing Insects

Auburn, Ala.—Most garden insects, including bean and potato beetles, and large worms can be controlled by a mixture of one pound Derris and ten pounds of sulphur, advises Prof. J. C. Robinson, head of the zoology department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. This mixture can be used without injury to the plants and without endangering the persons eating the crops, he says. In addition to controlling the chewing insects, the mixture also repels the sucking insects and controls the red spider.

Farmers Advised Not Mow Kudzu Too Young

Auburn, Ala.—Kudzu should be well established before beginning to mow, advises J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist. It should be allowed to grow at least two full seasons before mowing is started and if the soil is very poor, it may be necessary to wait three seasons.

Experiments by the Alabama Experiment Station indicate that it is best to cut kudzu only twice each year—probably in June and October.

Entering a restaurant Marvin Hilt, unemployed bus driver of Chicago, tried to pull a holdup with a toy pistol. He was shot and critically wounded by a customer who was carrying a real gun.

While standing near a bonfire Cecil Love of Cincinnati was struck in the nose by a bullet which had been thrown into the blaze by a companion.

WALTER K. McADORY
Chief McAdory is perhaps one of the most efficient law enforcing officers of the State. Heading Alabama's Highway Patrol, he is bringing about a more orderly run of motorists over the highways of Alabama.

Negro Jailed On Alleged Attack Charge

Goodwater, Ala., May 24—(Sunday)—Deputy Sheriff R. N. Franklin, of Coosa County, said here early this morning that Oscar Patterson, negro, had "confessed" assault of a seven-year-old girl to several witnesses, including Sheriff Mack C. Waites, of Coosa County. Franklin said the confession was made at Montgomery County Jail, where Patterson was rushed for safe-keeping.

A 24-year-old farm hand paced a cell in Montgomery County Jail last night waiting for "the law to take its course" having been saved from a Coosa County mob at Goodwater Friday night by tearful pleadings of the mother of a 7-year-old girl he is accused of assaulting.

The mother, Mrs. R. M. Hawkins, remonstrated with the mob to "let the law take its course," while a group of quick-thinking citizens and officers got the negro, Oscar Patterson, away from the Goodwater Jail on a pretext they were taking him to a physician for examination. They rushed him here for safe-keeping.

Emergency Crop Loans Will Close On May 31

Auburn, Ala.—May 31 has been set as the final date for Alabama farmers to make applications for emergency crop loans this year, advises the Farm Credit Administration. Farmers interested in such loans may obtain detailed information from their county agents.

Loans from the emergency crop loan funds are being made only to farmers who cannot obtain credit from other sources.

safe-keeping

Deputy Sheriff R. N. Franklin said Will Gilliland, a hardware merchant, whose car was used to spirit the negro away, also pleaded with the fast-growing group of approximately 20 citizens not to commit violence. Franklin said a warrant for criminal assault, punishable by death, had been taken.

At Georgiana yesterday Circuit Court Judge W. W. Wallace said a special session of the Coosa County Grand Jury would be called, possibly Monday, to investigate the assault which authorities said occurred in a field near the Hawkins home.

Graves Proclaims Will Rogers Week

Noting with gratification that the motion picture industry of the nation has set apart seven days beginning May 22 to pay tribute to the memory of "that cheerful philosopher and friend of man, Will Rogers," and that it is a "great pleasure to cooperate in this national gesture to perpetuate the memory of his usefulness," Gov. Graves in an official proclamation issued yesterday, has designated the week of May 22 to 28, inclusive, as "Will Rogers Week" in Alabama.

The proclamation follows: "I note with gratification the fact that the Motion Picture Industry of the United States has set apart seven days, May 22nd to 28th, inclusive, 1935, to pay tribute to the memory of that cheerful philosopher and friend of man, Will Rogers. It is my great pleasure to cooperate in this national gesture to perpetuate the memory of his usefulness."

"All over the land the theater will celebrate the dedication of the Will Rogers Memorial Hospital at Saranac Lake, which was the gift of the Motion Picture interests and which will in the future administer to the ill and needy of the stage and screen, both of which Will Rogers loved and adorned."

"I, therefore, urge our citizens everywhere in Alabama to join in this tribute to our beloved humorist and to support the movement that will maintain and perpetuate his memory in this humane and worthy undertaking."

"I, therefore, as Governor, proclaim the period from May 22nd to 28th, inclusive, as Will Rogers Week dedicated to his distinguished career and his devotion to the welfare of his fellow beings."

DEATH OF MRS. CHARLOTTE E. CULP

On last Friday night at 9:00 o'clock the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. L.B. Yeagan and carried away the humble spirit of our old and worn mother, who has been in a very unfortunate condition for the past 30 years.

She had reached her 81st birthday on March 23rd, 1936, but in spite of her weakened condition from recent attacks of heart dropsey, she was never confined to her bed and on the day before she died her health seemed to be as good as usual. She passed away as a lamb without a murmur in a short time of about ten or fifteen minutes. The greatest consolation that we can have for dear old mother is that in spite of her demented condition she possessed a very strong faith in Jesus her Lord and Saviour, and her heart was filled with tenderness, and through our prayers we hope and believe that she is at rest in heaven.

Mrs. Culp was the widow of the late C.M. Culp, who passed this life on January 8, 1926. She leaves to mourn her loss two sons, one daughter, two brothers, one sister, and a host of grandchildren, relatives and friends.

Her body was laid to rest in the Mt. Pisgah cemetery on Saturday, May 16, at 3 o'clock, p.m. The Rev. Fred Davis, pastor of the church, and the Rev. J.W. Jones of Thorsby, conducted the funeral services with Spigener Funeral Home in charge of burial under direction of The Brown-Service Funeral Co., Inc. Pallbearers were John Yeagan, Albert Edwards, Leo Headley, Crawford Williams, Jake Henley, and Walter Rollan.

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to all who aided us during the death and burial of our deceased mother.

—A. J. Culp, Mrs. Minnie Yeagan.

Trying to open a stick of chewing gum while driving near Chico, Calif., John Nepele lost control of the automobile and crashed into a bridge, injuring himself severely.

Second, they are proud of being able to graduate from school even though the chances looked discouraging a few months ago. The school is honored to have these young men and young ladies receive their diplomas and go out into the world.

Sheriffs Asked To Push Prohi Actions

'DRY UP' ORDER SEARCHED FOR POLIT'L MOTIVE

But Analysis Shows None And Governor Declines To Amplify His Letter

NO THREATS EITHER

Highway Patrol At Call Of Chief Executive If He Elects To Use It

Alabama citizens are again discussing the liquor situation as a result of the findings of the Montgomery County grand jury and the letter of Gov. Graves requesting all sheriffs of the State to enforce the prohibition law. The Montgomery County grand jury, cognizant of the situation in the county, recommended the repeal of the prohibition law, or failure to repeal, its enforcement by the State.

Conjecture was rife over the State Saturday regarding the letter of Gov. Graves to the sheriffs of the 67 counties and there were many different ideas advanced as to why the letter was written, whether there was any sort of motive for it outside of the actual enforcement of the prohibition law and whether there was any politics behind it.

Gov. Graves has not seen fit to elaborate on his letter to the sheriffs. It is the kind of letter that any governor would write about any law. A governor, no matter who he is, favors law enforcement. A study of the letter does not disclose a threat upon the part of Gov. Graves but a sincere desire to have law enforcement. Gov. Graves did not intimate that he would use the power of the State to enforce the law.

Highway Patrol

He has under his command a State highway patrol which is a highly efficient organization already in spite of the fact that it is a new organization. Few believe that Gov. Graves would divert his highway patrol into a skill bursting organization for the enforcement of any law and of course skulls must be cracked, many men killed and injured and search and seizure upon the highways invoked if the State engages in active efforts to enforce a law that cannot be enforced in a number of counties of the State because juries have long since quit convicting.

Two solicitors in two of the wettest counties in Alabama, Solicitor Temple Seibels, of Montgomery, and Solicitor Bart Chamberlain, of Mobile, have exhausted every resource at their command to secure the enforcement of the prohibition law in their two circuits which include Montgomery and Mobile Counties.

These two solicitors have begged and brow-beaten every grand jury for years in an effort to get indictments against those who broke the prohibition laws. In some cases, very few, they have secured indictments but petit juries failed to convict. Solicitor Chamberlain has gone so far in Mobile County as to ask prospective jurors if they would convict in prohibition cases and they have answered in the negative. The writer knows of his own knowledge, because he has served on a grand jury in Montgomery County that Solicitor Seibels has done his best but nothing came of it.

Enforcement Expensive

The talk is that Gov. Graves can break up open violation of the prohibition law at great expense to the State. He can use his highway patrol which will be a help in stopping importation of good liquor and beer into the State, but it is known of all men that such a thing would only send the liquor business into the back alleys and dark places. The supply would

Time Extended For Filing Worksheets

Auburn, Ala.—The State Conservation Committee has extended to May 30 the time for Alabama farmers to fill out work sheets under the new $470,000,000 national farm program.

"There absolutely will be no extension of the time beyond that date," said members of the committee when extending the time to give all growers an opportunity to fill out work sheets.

All growers are being urged to file work sheets as this in no way obligates them to cooperate or to apply for grants this fall. On the other hand, unless they do fill out work sheets before May 30 there is no way they may obtain a grant this fall even if they do carry out all other provisions of the program.

How Roper Makes Record

A good friend, Howard Roper, of the State License Inspector, is a lot of friends over the county, although his job is not the kind usually makes friends for a man. Howard is different. His work meant over $800 more in license this county over the previous year.

FREE BRIDGE BILL SENT TO WHITE HOUSE

Graves To Proceed With Toll Removal Soon As President Signs Bill

With the final passage by the House yesterday in Washington of the Black-Boykin bill, extending to 1956 the privilege originally limited to 1946, of collecting tolls on Alabama's 15 highway toll bridges, the last formidable barrier was removed to the widely discussed and periodically attempted "freeing" of these bridges from all charges for their use by the motoring public. The remainder of the "freeing" process now consists of the carrying out of ministerial functions.

To finance construction of the bridges, $5,000,000 of bonds were issued and sold by the Alabama State Bridge Corporation, these bonds being secured by mortgages on the bridges themselves; interest and principal of the bonds to be paid with collections of tolls for use of the bridges. There are $3,780,000 of the bonds still out. (Continued to Back Page)

MAYOR SECURES TRAIN SERVICE FOR CLANTON

Trains 1 And 4 To Soon Begin Stops For Passengers Here

RAILROAD PLANS TO ELIMINATE GRADE

The service rendered Clanton by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad by its passenger trains will soon be considerably improved and complete, according to an announcement made this week by Mayor C. Fenn Jones.

For sometime Mayor Jones has been actively engaged in correspondence with officials of the railroad in an attempt to secure passenger service from Trains Nos. 1 and 4, which are now considered fast trains through Clanton and do not stop. And, recently two officials of the company, T. E. Brooks, vice-president, and J. A. Morrison, superintendent, paid Clanton a visit on an invitation from Mayor Jones, and discussed the matter with him.

The outcome of this conference and the efforts of Mayor Jones was given in a letter to Mr. Jones last week informing him that the railroad company would spend almost $4,000 immediately to cut down a grade on the main line here enabling these two fast passenger trains to make their start after stopping. It was stated by the railroad company that this grade has been a handicap to these two trains when they were forced to stop in Clanton.

The letter to Mayor Jones also stated (Continued to Back Page)

Dr. Parnell Expresses Opinion On Matters

The following is a statement from Dr. C. N. Parnell, Democratic candidate for Commissioner from the Third District:

"To the Voters of Clanton County: When first solicited by my friends to enter the race for Commissioner, I gave it very little consideration. But after further solicitation, I told them that if the pending bill in the legislature, which would create a road supervisor, became a law, I would enter the race. The bill passed, and to make my word good, I entered the race. I still thought very little about the office and did very little canvassing. However, with a flattering number of votes from my friends, I was placed in the run-off with Mr. Ousley.

"Since my friends have insisted, I have decided to stay in the race, and for the past three weeks have spent all my spare time seeing as many of the Democrats as possible. Because of their encouragement I have become very much interested in the race.

"I favor our County Farm Agent and his work. I believe we could not do without him and his efficient force of workers at this time.

"We cannot begin to estimate the good our Health Unit is doing for the people of the county. They are now carrying out a house-to-house survey to determine the prevalence of hookworm disease. Due to the efficient work of our state and county health workers, typhoid fever is almost a thing of the past. They are also doing untold good by pointing out to the fathers and mothers the defects of their children in the way of bad teeth and tonsils, and many other defective conditions which might be corrected in youth and give them a better chance to become well developed men and women.

"Many counties, including Autauga, Perry, Bibb, Shelby, Coosa, and Elmore, were able, I understand, to get sufficient funds to carry on their (Continued to Back Page)

The Resettlement Program

In a recent conversation with an official of the government's resettlement program, the News learned of many things that the Democratic administration under the leadership of Franklin D. Roosevelt is reaching out and doing for the "forgotten farmer."

He called special attention to the program that is being carried out in Coffee County, where farmers were placed in most destitute circumstances by the mismanagement of the government before its present regime took hold. Over three hundred farmers in Coffee County are being given the chance of a lifetime, so far as they are concerned. The government has taken over these farms, employed experienced agricultural men to go in there, erect new buildings, fences, and plan a six year program for these farmers who were without means of a livelihood.

These farmers are also given the opportunity to purchase these farms, which had been taken over by a loan years before under mortgage. Now, these farms are given back to the farmers, they will have a long-time term on them and with the aid of the government, turn them into profit and pay for them at the same time.

Truly this is a most commendable program of our government—a program sponsored by a man whose far-seeing eyes have that kindly feeling toward the "forgotten man"—a part of the Democratic form of government. It cannot be disputed.

Howard College Places Some Deserved Emphasis

The inauguration of an annual "Scholarship Day" at Howard College is positive proof, if any were needed, that schools still exist which place emphasis upon learning. It is proper recognition of the fact that those who excel in scholarship at a college are as deserving of special recognition as those who are outstanding upon the athletic field.

Many observers have agreed that too much stress has been placed upon athletics in college recognitions. The public, through the popularity of football, has fallen into the error of rating schools according to their gridiron prowess. How often does one hear such comment as: "Siwash? Oh, yes, that's where Fleet, the great halfback, played," or "Nonesuch ought to be a great school, now that Whoosis is coaching down there." Of such stuff has college fame too largely been built.

But now Howard College is doing its bit toward restoring the balance. It has set aside a day on which to give special honors to those who have evidenced a true spirit of scholarship, a zeal for learning. These students will be the heroes of the day, and, one hopes, a persuasive example.

This movement on the part of Howard College comes during a session when the college has great reason to be proud of its athletic program. The East Lake school holds today the city collegiate championship in the three major sports of football, baseball and basket ball. The attention drawn to scholarship, therefore, is not a sour grapes attitude, but a proper acceptance of the idea that a school is not truly great, regardless of its athletic record, until it also publicly honors those who have borne their part well in the classroom and the laboratory.

So all honor, then, to these boys and girls who will receive this merited approbation of their work, and honor to the college that places high value upon scholarship.—The B'ham News.

Clanton's Progressiveness

The name of our little city is rapidly being spread to many sections due to the progressive spirit of our citizens who even yet perhaps have not 'awakened to the vast number of opportunities that are every day showing up, and if taken advantage of, we would grow faster and soon become one of the leading little cities of Alabama—even far ahead of our present reputation.

It can be readily seen that Clanton is now striving to go forward—its bounds are receiving a test, not being made through any particular efforts, but through perfectly natural causes. We are truly in the beginning of a new day for our city.

Much credit is due to many of our outstanding citizens and officials who have realized these possibilities and have put forth considerable effort step by step toward realizing the things that will make Clanton and of course, Chilton County, truly more of a thriving spot in Alabama.

Particular mention should be given the efforts made by our Mayor toward securing the cooperation of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, and the fact that the railroad officials, too, see that Clanton has splendid possibilities. It was through the recent efforts of our Mayor and the cooperation of the railroad that Trains Nos. 1 and 4, will soon come to regular stops at Clanton as is noted in a news item on the front page of the News this week. The stopping of these two fast passenger trains in Clanton will mean much to our little city. The News congratulates the railroad and Mayor C. Fenn Jones on this progressive step.

"Soundest Program Ever"

"I think very highly of the new soil conservation program. Its greatest strength comes from the fact that it recognizes that the permanent well-being of agriculture rests upon the prevention of soil erosion and the conservation of soil fertility. Other strong points are that it will be administered largely by farmers themselves and that it provides funds to help individual farmers finance improved practices.

"It does not provide an effective means of production control for such crops as tobacco and potatoes and was passed too late to permit of full recognition this year of regional and local problems. However, I believe that the way is open for the correction of both of these difficulties, and that if farmers will be patient and give the program their whole-hearted support, out of it can be developed the soundest farm program this country has ever had.—John R. Hutcheson, Director, Virginia Extension Service, in The Progressive Farmer."

Next Tuesday's Primary

We voters go trekking to the polls again next Tuesday to choose between candidates in run-offs for county offices.

The Democrats of the county have placed before the voters, men whose ability and integrity cannot be questioned—men who are asking the voters to elect them to these important offices, so that they may give of their time and efforts to add to the efficiency of our county government.

In Tuesday's primary election, there is only one run-off between two splendid citizens who are seeking the office of Commissioner from the Third District. Political observer say that this will be a close count between these two men—both of whom are capable of administering the duties of the office they seek.

In any event as to the choice of the voters, one thing should be done, that is go to the polls and vote Tuesday. Many would perhaps believe that Tuesday's primary is not important. But, it is one of the most important elections of the year. The next important will come in November.

Sweet Potatoes And Cars

That the southern sweet potato will some day provide the motive power for automobile engines is one of the predictions of the present, but this outlook does not yet warrant the farmer in turning to the cultivation of the sweet potato upon a huge scale. A good many bridges must be crossed before there will be sweet potato filling stations scattered over the country. There probably will be enough gasoline for present purposes during the next dozen years and any important developments in the fuel line will probably come after the expiration of this time. Meanwhile the gasoline producers will be energetically at work with a view to producing gasoline from materials other than crude oil, while trying to cheapen the processes for getting such crude oil as remains after the long period of waste and debauchery in the oil fields.—Tuscaloosa News.

FARMERS' QUESTION

A Southern newspaper prints an elaborate set of questions and answers issued by the "county conservation office" of its county, in which the questions are asked and answered by officials in charge of the new soil conservation and soil building program.

There are 41 questions propounded and answered of which the following is a sample:
"Question: What are the popular soil-building practices in this county and what is the maximum payment on each?"

"Answer:
"Planting lespedeza on crop land, $1.50 per acre. Planting kudzu on crop land, $2 per acre. Planting vetch and crimson clover on crop land, $1.00 per acre.

"Leaving beans, peas and crotalaria stalks and vines on crop land (seed picked for seed.) (included one-half credit for inter-planted crops) $1.50 per acre. Plowing under cowpeas, beans and crotalaria on crop land while green, $2.00 per acre. Plowing under vetch and crimson clover, $1.50 per acre. Plowing under green rye, wheat, etc., after two months growth but before dough stage $1 per acre. Plowing under all the crop of sorghum or millet, $1.00 per acre.

"Establishment of TVA pastures on crop land $2 per acre. Planting black locust trees at owner's expense, $5 per acre. Properly terracing land that needs terracing at 40c per 100 feet, with a maximum of $2 per acre. Applying 16 per cent superphosphate (under certain conditions) from 50c to $2.50 per acre."

And so on, and so forth.

The foregoing is only a fragment of the rules and regulations governing the new soil conservation program. The whole scheme is complicated enough to drive a Philadelphia lawyer crazy, but maybe the farmers can figure it out, with the aid of an army of government inspectors, and the like.

HANDICAPS OVERCOME

An anonymous writer has called attention to some of the handicaps which were overcome, by those whom the world recognizes as geniuses and leaders of the first rank. Among those mentioned are the following:

Demosthenes, who became one of the world's greatest orators, stuttered in his youth.

Julius Caesar and Napoleon Bonaparte, two of the greatest generals and statesmen of all time, were epileptics. So was Mohammed, who founded a religion which now has more than 200 million adherents.

Alfred the Great, considered "the wisest, best and greatest king" of England, had a lifelong internal disease. Among authors and poets Carlyle was dysentery, Byron had a club foot, Keats had tuberculosis, Milton was blind, and Pope was a hunchback.

Darwin suffered from a nervous disease, and Beethoven composed some of his most majestic musical works after he had become totally deaf.

In our own generation, the great electrical wizard, Charles P. Steinmetz, was a deformed dwarf, and Helen Keller one of America's most accomplished women, has been deaf and blind from childhood.

The list of world famous notables who have labored under serious physical handicaps might be extended almost indefinitely. Their example should be inspiring to any who are inclined to complain about minor afflictions or difficulties.

Dr. M. M. Hursch of Cohasset, Minn., climaxed his 28 years of ministering to the sick by cancellation of his unpaid accounts totaling $50,000.

"To make the town a decent and respectable place in which to live," Mayor C. E. Whitsell of Burnsville, W. Va., warned residents that swearing on the streets must stop under penalty of law.

A pay check for $11.96, issued to Andre Stokke in 1891, was recently cashed by the Red River Lumber Company of Westwood, Calif.

The city of Seattle, Wash., is being sued for 75 cents for damages to the trousers of Robert H. Scott, who asserts he tore them on a nail in a street car seat.

Angry because he was not permitted to draw his savings from a bank in Bayonne, N. J., William Frechan, 55, literally wrecked the interior of the institution and then dropped dead of heart disease.

Floods --- Large And Small

Recently, in the far west, in a certain section of Utah, a flood, following a heavy rain, came down the mountain-side destroying homes, school houses, highways, railroads and lands. Investigation revealed that this flood came because a rather large portion of land up on the mountainside had been cut over and grazed until there was nothing to prevent the accumulation of a large volume of water and it's speeding down into the valley. It carried with it rocks 10 feet in diameter and soil which buried many acres of land and much other property.

Of course, in Alabama we do not have floods like that, and only occasionally do we have one that attracts very much attention, but there are millions of small floods and a tremendous movement of water and soil, over the entire State following rains, especial in winter.

The fact that the individual acreage involved are small keep the "floods" from being noticed and headlined in the paper, but the soil moved by erosion and the damage done to lands by the soil washing off and being deposited in stream beds and fields below will be many times greater following one big general rain in the State than by this one big flood in Utah.

Examination of the soil on roadsides and clay banks over the State following recent freezes will show that the soil has been loosed up an inch or two on ground having no vegetative cover and the first rain following these freezes will carry away a large of this loose soil. On the slopes it will be seen that a ditch as soon as it thaws away a big volume of soil to be away to the lowlands and stay there as it rains. This condition not be found on soil having trees and other vegetation.

The soil conservation program for the establishment of trees and other plants on these eroding areas, millions of plants are being set to control this soil loss. It is duty of every citizen to assist this program by protecting these eroding areas to encourage the recovering of millions of acres.

If we will keep down woods, mother nature will go a long way toward covering these acres at no except a little protection. We fight this destroyer of plants that furnished by nature to vocer acres. Let's convert them into relating acres.

HOME COMING AT SHILOH IS TERMED BIG SUCCESS

As we announced in last week's papers, we had our home coming and dedication services at Shiloh, which we think was a real success. We had some real inspiring talks, good preaching and singing.

We were forced to make some changes from the published program. We first had the devotional by the Rev. T.W. Billingsley at 9:30 o'clock. He read from James and prayer was led by the Rev. G.G. Williams. Next came the welcome address by the Rev. W.P. Lowery, our pastor, extending a hearty welcome to all, also giving a brief history of the church, and saying many other inspiring things.

Response to the welcome address was given by the Rev. G.G. Williams. It seemed that his talk means as much or more, than any we had, with such few words. It was just a real sermon in about ten minutes.

Next on program was a talk by the Rev. Paul Oden, subject: "The Scriptural way to Finance the Church," which was real interesting and teaching. Many passages of scripture were quoted, proving that God taught us how to do business for Him.

At eleven o'clock we had the dedication sermon by the Rev. J.W. Jones, using the 18th verse of the 16th chapter of St. Matthew, for his foundation, which was a real treat to us all. If there had been nothing else said or done this sermon would have been worth many times more to us than the service we made to prepare for the prayer was led by Brother

At 12:00 o'clock we spread our dinner on a table that was prepared in advance. It seemed that all had enjoyed the meal and really enjoyed the service. At this time we were very thankful. We thank the visitors who responded so liberally to help make this meeting a success.

At 1:30 the congregation was called back by singing. The devotional for afternoon is conducted by the Rev. Norris, reading the scriptures.

Next on program was talks made by Mrs. A.L. Bearden and Mrs. W.J. Billingsley on W.M.U. and Sunbeam work. Then came the open discussion which was responded to by most of our eight preachers who were there, talking mostly of the old pastors who had served Shiloh Church, telling lots of good they had done and the hardships they had to encounter and sacrifices they and their wives had to make to carry the gospel to a lost world. We had some good singing by C.M. Billingsley and his quartet.

All together this meeting was a real success and real teaching for which we, as a church, are very thankful. We have been made to wonder if it would not be wise and also pleasing to God to make our home coming an annual affair.

PARIS IS GLAMOROUS SETTING OF "MAGNIFICENT OBSESSION"

There are a million ideas in that name, most of them glamorous. Paris is the setting of several idyllic love scenes in the Universal picture, "Magnificent Obsession," which comes to the New Wadesonian Theatre on Friday.

The sweethearts are Irene Dunne and Robert Taylor. They swirl you off to Paris with them, so you can watch them making the picture and making love.

Follow them in one of those skittering, jittery little taxis that whirl around in the Springtime like the chariot of Eros—old Dan Cupid in Greek make-up—summoning young couples to romance. Well, there they are, Irene Dunne and Robert Taylor. Never mind the taxi driver. He never sees anything.

They are in Montmartre now, where there's light and gaiety, wine and laughter. Then, circling past the Place de l'Opera, they stop at the Cafe de la Paix. Keep your eye on Irene and Bob, or they will lose you in the crowd. Their "magnificent obsession" is being in love. Now they swing through the Champs Elysees, past the Arc de Triomphe, out to the Bois de Boulogne.

What a night to be in Paris! What a night to be in love! A deep purple velvet dome of sky, gem studded with stars. The perfume of flowers and freshly cut grass. There's another elusive scent which romantic people believe is the perfume that surrounds true lovers.

These two are drinking the wine of life, sipping the nectar of the gods. Then, as they turn back to the city, taking a different route which curves along the banks of the Seine, drama seems to rise from the dark, rushing waters of the river. Drama that pulses even as Paris throbs to human heartbeats. There's plenty of drama, as well as romance, in "Magnificent Obsession."

But wait a minute. People can't be running around all night, following two movie stars. They have to get to work early tomorrow morning. Let John Stahl pay off the taxi; he's the director of the picture.

Yes, sir, thinking you are in Paris is a "magnificent obsession."

Atmore Prison Farm Raising Food By The Carload And By The Ton

By Atticus Mullin

Atmore Prison Farm, Ala., ay 27—They have their sugar bowls, their orange bowls, their rose bowls and their cotton bowls but today the writer visited the food bowl of the convict department of Alabama and drove through and saw the most attractive farm in Alabama and probably the most attractive and varied crop producing farm in this entire country.

Just an idea of what we saw: 700 acres of Irish potatoes yielding 100 bushels to the acre.

900 acres of cotton which will yield more than 500 bales.

250 acres of oats already harvested but not threshed.

600 acres of upland rice that will yield 25 bushels to the acre.

160 acres in garden which will yield untold thousands of cases of canned vegetables for all prisons.

2,000 acres of corn.

10 acres of dewberries.

80 acres of peaches well fruited.

10 acres in young pear trees for canning.

40 acres in tomatoes to be canned for convict consumption.

125 acres in peanuts.

150 acres of sugarcane.

And we were too late to see the production of 200 acres to radishes, the radish land already being planted to other crops. And we were too late to see 400 acres produce tons of nitrogen where Austrian peas were planted and which acres are now planted to other crops.

We visited the farm in company with Cleon Rogers, the president of the Board of Administration; Hamp Draper, head of the Convict Department, and J. H. Smith, warden at Spigener. We drove through the farm 52 miles in all and saw everything growing and it was one of the most inspiring farm sights we ever saw and we were raised on a farm.

Other Crops, Too

In addition to the acreage mentioned, we saw 75 acres of sorghum, 50 acres in freshly set sweet potatoes and more than 150 acres in baby lima beans, all for the consumption of convicts.

In addition to the growing crops we saw 250 head of fat beef cattle which will be slaughtered for the consumption of convicts in the various prison camps and also 200 head of Guernsey dairy cows. The dairy business of the Convict Department is, of course, run at a loss but the dairies provide plenty of products for the convicts and a little to sell. We also saw 200 head of mules and probably 250 head of hogs. The latter will be slaughtered for consumption by the convicts.

The Atmore farm was purchased and started into operation by Gov. Graves in 1928. The State has acquired slightly more than 8,000 acres of land of which something more than 6,500 acres are in cultivation. The idea of the 6,000 convicts in prisons in Alabama. There are approximately 1,200 convicts at Atmore furnishing the labor for the farm. They are well cared for, have every sanitary provision, plenty of wholesome food and an outdoor life on the farm.

Canning Plant

We visited the canning plant where Fenton Noland, an expert, is superintendent. They can everything in this plant, including tomatoes, okra, lye hominy, sweet potatoes, Irish potatoes, string beans, lima beans, peas, dewberries, peaches, corn, and nearly every other vegetable product. The canning is done under scientific supervision and sanitary regulations and is as clean as any canning done in the entire country.

It is the plan of Cleon Rogers and Hamp Draper to raise sufficient syrup corn with its consequent meal, rice, canned goods, Irish potatoes and other products to supply the convicts of the State without outside purchases. Not all of it will be done here at Atmore but with the help of Kilby, Number 4, and Spigener, little of the real necessities of life will have to be purchased for the convicts of the State. The State owns its own railroad spur connecting with the Frisco Railroad and its own engine which shunts cars to and fro. There is a paved road from Atmore to the prison farm.

As an example of what the canning plant did last year, the daily canning sheet shows that for the last nine months, 40,315 cases of vegetables and fruits were canned for convict consumption. The case is composed of six 10-pound cans. It is hoped that this year not a single canned tomato will have to be purchased by the convict department. It was the first time we ever saw canned Irish potatoes, but they can them here and they retain the flavor of new potatoes.

Every crop on the farm is looking good and outside of a shortage of hogs, due to a previous administration having sold off most of the brood sows, it is an ideal food bowl for the convicts of the State. And in another year the hog production will be stepped up 100 per cent.

We had lunch with Mrs. Cecil Jerigan, who runs the camp hotel, and we will go 100 miles out of our way next time to get there in time for lunch.

C. S. Kelley is the warden at Atmore. Carthus Irwin, deputy warden, and we ran across our old friend Emmett Batchelor, of Elmore County, an at-large representative of the Convict Department, who is helping them out with potatoes and other rush crops.

They welcome visitors here and if there is a farmer in Alabama who wants to see a real farm he ought to come down here and get an eye-full. We did.—The Montgomery Advertiser.

MISS MILDRED SMITH IS AT HOME FROM COLLEGE

FFA Annual Meeting Set For July 16-17

Auburn, Ala.—Plans are being made for approximately 900 young farmers and vocational teachers to attend the sixth annual convention of the Alabama Association of Future Farmers of America to be held here July 16-18.

During the three-day meeting the delegates will receive special training in farm leadership which is to be the keynote of this year's convention, says A. C. Allen, Jr., Holtville, State FFA president, who will preside. In addition they will visit the State Experiment Station here to study the latest developments in scientific agriculture and research.

Veterans Of '98 Will Convene At Port City

The annual department encampment of the Spanish-American War Veterans will be held at Mobile June 7-9 with Fitzhugh Lee Camp No. 2, acting as host. Simultaneously, there will be reunions of the First, Second and Third Alabama volunteer regiments and the Fifth Immunes, all of which were encamped at Camp Coppinger, near Mobile, during the Spanish-American War. Col. E. L. Higdon and Maj. Henry B. Foster will be in charge of the programs.

Outstanding events of the encampment will include the placing of a memorial marker at Camp Coppinger, business sessions, regimental banquets, a cruise on Mobile Bay, and a fish fry at Fairhope. Commander J. A. Lipscomb will preside at the business sessions.

Last night H. A. McConville, camp adjutant, said that the encampment committee had extended an invitation to every Spanish-American War veteran in Alabama.

Henry Hughes, 74, farm laborer of Sydney, Australia, in his will written on the back of a torn and soiled envelope left his estate of $30,000 to his nephew, Daniel Hughes.

We don't believe it...

We so often hear it said that the Veterans will take their Bonus Bonds and spend that money in a way that will not be so beneficial to them. But we don't believe it. The Veterans of this county are thrifty and will use their bonus money wisely, and invest it securely.

Frankly, we recommend a personal banking account. It's good to have money in the bank, and good to have your money working for you. We invite your business, and appreciate your account, large or small.

A New Deal For The Youth Of America

Let's take a glimpse into the inner thoughts of a young man who has been allowed the privilege of becoming a member of one of the Democratic administration's CCC Camps. We publish here a clipping from "The Clanchiala Bugler," a lively little paper put out by the Clanton CCC Camp:

A NEW DEAL FOR YOUTH
By Sam C. Nummy

Prior to the organization of the CCC, the young men of this country were walking the streets without employment. Many boys loitered around gambling houses and other vile places. They had lost all ambition.

After these men were given a chance to earn their living by enlisting in the CCC, their future was brightened. They were helping their people and bettering themselves in many ways.

But the young men who first enlisted didn't enjoy the opportunities and privileges offered in the camp now. They had to build their camps. Now we have everything we need for recreation. Libraries to use to better ourselves. Vocational work. If we want to see that it is really a New Deal for the Youths of this country.

HAVE YOU HAD TYPHOID INOCULATION?

If you have been putting off being inoculated against typhoid fever, here's an item from the "Mistakes I Have Made" department of The Progressive Farmer which should serve as a timely warning.

"My greatest mistake last year was my failure to take vaccine for typhoid fever. I fell victim to this dread disease in June, and then took pneumonia and pyelitis. I was confined to a city hospital for three months, many days in helpless delirium with each hour seeming the last. Had it not been for the prayers of Christians and the best of medical attention, my mistake would have cost my life.—Mrs. M.F. W. Mississippi."

Farmers' Cash Income Highest In Six Years

Farmers' cash income to date this year is the largest since 1930 and further gains are in prospect, reports the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Total sales of products plus government benefit payments was $2,079,000,000 the first four months this year compared with $1,970,000,000 in the corresponding period of 1935.

"Farm income in the second half of 1936 will depend to some extent on the new crop yields," says the Bureau, "but it is probable that if industrial activities are maintained at the level now in prospect, income will continue to exceed that of a year ago."

ward to and something to fall back on in time of adversity, for he is building up a financial credit for himself an this family when he may be in dire need and in time of distress, as a result of being unemployed.

If Alabama did not have an Unemployment Compensation Law the employer would still have to contribute one per centum of his payroll direct to the Federal Government for the year 1936 and a greater per centum in subsequent years; thus, the workers of Alabama would lose all of the benefits that come to them through such an Unemployment Compensation Law, by the fact that the employer could not get credit on his income tax for his contributions made to the State, whereas under the Alabama Unemployment Compensation Law the employer can, by making the contribution direct to the State, take credit against his Federal excise tax up to 90 per cent.

We all know that "dole" as such, is distasteful to the average self-respecting citizen, and we also know something of the aftermath of the so-called
"dole system."

The average rate of benefits for the worker when he or she is unemployed is 4 to 1, that is, they may receive one week of benefit payments for each four weeks of employment. The average ratio for benefits that the worker receives in money for his contribution is about 10 to 1; thus, if he has a salary of $20 per week, his contribution would be twenty cents. His weekly benefits, when unemployed, are on the basis of 50 per centum of his earnings, but not to exceed $15 per week. The $20 per week worker would receive benefits of $10 per week, or better than 10 times his contribution. Does this not sound good, and does this not sound beneficial to the working man? These are actual figures I have been quoting.

Also, as a result of the Unemployment Compensation Act, the State has an Employment Service Bureau, which will be continuously at the service of the working people in this State, to help them obtain work should they become unemployed, as well as assisting them toward securing unemployment benefits. One of the features of the Employment Service is to help unemployed people secure work on the basis of the prevailing wage paid for the type of work which they are qualified to perform.

There are now thirteen States that have adopted Unemployment Compensation Laws and it is my opinion that as fast as the legislatures meet throughout the other States of the Union, they will likewise adopt such laws.

The Alabama Unemployment Compensation Commission has now in the process of preparation Rules and regulations concerning this law and as soon as they are completed they will be published and distributed for the information and guidance of those interested.

Every cent contributed to the Unemployment Compensation Fund goes toward benefit payments, and not a dollar for administrative cost, as the entire operating cost is borne by the Federal Government.

Our greatest problem at the present time is to educate the public on this vital and important issue. It is therefore my earnest suggestion that those who desire further information regarding this Act either call or write to the office of the Unemployment Compensation Commission at 623 Adams Avenue, Montgomery, Alabama, where a courteous staff of employees will cheerfully furnish information asked for.

ed that just as soon as this work was completed the trains would begin to make stops here.

This announcement brings to a realization a dream of many of Clanton's citizens who have been deeply interested in getting these two through trains to serve Clanton. For sometime the Kiwanis Club endeavored to convince the railroad that these trains should make stops here.

The letter to Mayor Jones from the Louisville & Nashville Railroad is as follows:

"Hon. C. Fenn Jones, Mayor, Clanton, Ala.

My dear Mr. Jones:

"Referring to our conference on May 20th relative to plan to give you additional passenger train service for— (a) passengers to and from Montgomery and points beyond, (b) passengers to and from Birmingham and points beyond, on trains Nos. 1 and 4.

"Please be advised that the work of raising the grade of our tracks at Clanton, at a cost of $3,800, will be started promptly, and immediately upon completion of that work, the arrangement will be inaugurated. You will be advised of the date on which stops of Nos. 1 and 4, as agreed to with you, will commence.

"Appreciating your cooperation in this matter, and the opportunity you gave me, after more than ten years, to note the unusual progress made by your City since I knew it so well, I am

Very truly yours,

T. E. BROOKS,

Vice-President."

Mayor Jones is receiving the congratulations of the citizens of Clanton and the county on his successful attempts to give Clanton better train service, with the splendid cooperation of the railroad company.

Just when the work of eliminating the grade will start is not known, but it is understood that it will get underway immediately, Mayor Jones stated.

TOLL BRIDGE

With the toll privilege extended 1956, refunding bonds can now be issued for the original bonds paid, or bondholders may, if desired, have the proper certificates placed on the originals. The bill is already provided for, in the Legislature, which also makes provision for the leasing of the bridges to the State Highway Department for not to exceed $300,000 a year, the charging to be immediately suspended and principal of the bonds to be paid from the annual rental.

Gov. Graves indicated yesterday following the signing of the Boykin law by the President, that official machinery for the bridges will get under way immediately. An advisory committee, appointed in the early part of his administration to confer with him in the making plans for the necessary refunding arrangements, will call this into conference within the next few days. The task of the committee, incidentally, will be far easier following arrangements to pay the debt in 20 years, thus giving to clear them from interest still outstanding in the amount of 10 years that remained of the toll charge privilege time limit.

If another measure now pending Congress and hearing final passage, Congressman A. H. Carmichael through, Alabama may even be able to realize on the investment that has been made in the toll bridges. The Carmichael bill, States that bridges, would be aided by the Government to the extent of 50 percent in any effort by the State to pay for and free bridges.

Inasmuch as the Government participate in all in financing Alabama's toll bridges, this State arrangement to pay for them by them to the Highway Department, under the Carmichael bill, would mean that Alabama receive from the Government of $5,000,000, or $2,500,000, to devote to taking up bridge bonds that amount or else build high with it, eventually paying for bridges through the process outlined.

At least, it is claimed. Alabama stands to get from the Government under the Carmichael bill, half the cost of toll bridges that are on the Federal aid highway in the State.

Of The Times

About The Ladies?
It is natural, or otherwise, it happened to think about the time. But it occurs to us as a whole lot is being said and the veterans receiving their Service Bonds, more familiar about the ladies who took part in the World War. If our serves us right, there were a number of ladies who wore the uniforms with the Red Cross in "Over There" amidst bursting

Reid Visits
My good friend, Eddie Reid, of Montgomery stopped by to see us today and we enjoyed his visit. Eddie is executive secretary of the Alabama League of Municipalities and a splendid fellow. He has been busy lately taking care of arrangements for a convention of city officials and municipalities, and Eddie really take care of the arrangements.

Don't Forget It
Gains and bargains are being called the attention of Veterans now. The face of the arrival of the Bonus, we think it a wise move. But one item we certainly don't want the veterans to forget. That is subscriptions to the News, and if you fellows are not receiving News, now is the time to come to the aid of the editor.

Regulations
Notice by the papers that our friends, Kenneth Miller and Files Law, Jr., of Montgomery, have completed publication of the book "The Facts About the Bonus Case." We heard this book coming off the press soon and our copy with impatience. We are from making serious editorial comment on it until we peruse its pages. Kenneth, are there any complimentary autographed copies available, I dig up the purchase price. My heartiest congratulations to him. I hope you make a pile of

We Hear It, Or Not?
May have been a dream—we're not sure it occurs to us that we heard something about the paving of the stretch of street from Polk Bros. and connecting to the Montgomery Highway. If we didn't hear it, it must be somebody was talking it a bit. That improvement would be a great deal to the necessary reduction of traffic in that direction, and it would open up some good building lots. We are ready to grow some more.

Glendid Sermon
One who failed to see the picture "Efficient Obsession," which was at the New Wadesonian Theatre last week, missed one of the best sermons we have seen or heard in a long time. The sermon was heard, through the picture. The New Wadesonian is giving some excellent pictures to us now.

J. Baldwin, 72, Dies At Edelweis

Benjamin J. Baldwin, 72, son of A. J. Baldwin, Alabama's Attorney General during the War Between the States, and Celia Fitzpatrick Baldwin, early Tuesday at his beautiful "Edelweis," near Mountain Creek.

Mr. Baldwin was a native of Montgomery, Mr. Baldwin was graduated from Auburn and Harvard was graduated in law from the University of Virginia. He never practiced law, however, but took over management of the large Baldwin plantation in Bullock County, soon after marriage to Miss India Baldwin of Culbert, Ga.

Mr. Baldwin was 15 years ago the Baldwin family place and the Mayfield country house at Mountain Creek, which they named Edelweis. Here, Mr. Baldwin spent his happy days landscaping the estate and experimenting in horticulture. In recent years it had become one of the showplaces of the countryside.

BUSINESS-LIKE DEMOCRATS DECORATE HALL FOR G.O.P. CONVENTION, CLEVELAND WITH "NEW DEAL" WPA FUNDS

Once again, a business-like Democratic National administration comes to the front to aid Republicans in their efforts to re-build a badly torn party. Commenting on the Republican National Convention in Cleveland, the widely-circulated magazine "News-Week" had the following to say Tuesday:

"Scene: In the vast $10,000,000 Public Auditorium, 500 workers finished repainting walls, resurfacing floors, installing new electrical equipment, and remodeling doorways. Ironically, most of the $316,551 spent on the work came from the Federal WPA—the same WPA that is destined for a shellacking when convention orators and platform-builders swing into action.

"On the heels of the WPA workers came decorators to ornament the hall with anti-New Deal posters and banners. Carpenters prepared facilities for 900-odd newspaper men. Western Union and Postal Telegraph employees strung

Just how these Republicans can give the Democratic "New Deal" such criticism and then use funds made available by a Democratic administration to fix up their convention hall, is a bit difficult to say. But, nevertheless, it does seem they did it, anyway.

$2,000,000 FOR VETS HOSPITAL IN STATE O.K.'D

Final Approval Up to F.D.R.; City Hopes Unit Will Be Located Soon

News that Comptroller of the Currency McCarl has approved funds amounting to approximately $2,000,000 for a new 350-bed hospital for Alabama has been received from Senator Black by veterans officials.

Final approval of the project, now up to President Roosevelt, is expected to be a mere formality. Approval of the project by McCarl came after a long fight, in which Senator Black took a leading role, to obtain additional hospitalization facilities for the state.

According to word from Washington, the proposed $400,000 addition to the Veterans Hospital at Tuscaloosa will be carried forward without change, the new hospital to furnish needed facilities. (Continued to Back Page)

Attend Poultry Meeting Of Cosby-Hodges

Evan Parrish, S.A. Jones and Aubrey Robinson of this county were the guests of Jazz Feeds last week at a poultry school conducted at the Birmingham offices of the Cosby-Hodges Milling Co.

Two of Dr. Salsburgs Laboratory specialists supervised the school. They gave a complete outline of all poultry diseases as well as dissecting several sick birds. Everyone enjoyed and reaped much benefit from the affair, and it is hoped in the near future Cosby-Hodges will be able to have a school of this kind at Clanton so that all of the poultrymen of this county may attend.

year, and one of the most outstanding showings this year occurred when for the first time in many years when the Democrats of the county polled more votes in a primary election than the Republicans did (lose political observers of the county and state aver that this is one of the best indications of future victories. This occurred in the first primary in May.

Tuesday's primary landed R. L. Ousley, one of the county's most widely known farmers and business men, as the Democratic nominee for Commissioner from the Third District. He won over his opponent, Dr. C. N. Parnell, of Mapleville, by a 36 vote lead, the unofficial count showed Tuesday night. The unofficial count gave Ousley 510 votes with Parnell 474. The light vote was due to be due to the small amount of interest in this particular choice, it being the only run-off on the Democratic ticket.

Paul C. (Chester) Mims, known as "The Man In The Moon," was defeated for the nomination of county treasurer on the Republican ticket by W. J. Billingsley, also of Clanton, and one of the county's well known business men. The unofficial count Tuesday night gave Billingsley 779 votes and Mims 400.

In the Third District race for Commissioner nomination on the Republican ticket, I. L. Burnett won over his opponent, J. C. Atchison, who is serving as Commissioner at present. The unofficial count gave Burnett 634 and Atchison 511.

The vote over the entire county, in each box, was very small. Less than one-half of the qualified voters of the county went to the polls. The official tabulated count of Tuesday's primary will be published in the News next week.

Farm Debt Adjustment

Many farmers who have financial problems—those who have lost their farms by foreclosure but wish to redeem them, those who need refinancing, those who wish to work out some plan for remaining on mortgaged farms—do not know that Voluntary Debt Adjustment Committees have been set up in almost every county in every state to give counsel to distressed debtors. In regard to this service for distressed debtors The Progressive Farmer gives this information:—

"These committees have served as a source of information and counsel to distressed debtors. They have helped farmers work out equitable agreements so that they can pay their debts. They have stopped unnecessary foreclosures. In cases where a composition of debts seem impossible, extension agreements which will, in a sense, freeze the debts pending settlement and provide for the efficient operation of the farm have been worked out. As a result of the activities of these committees, many thousands of farms have been saved from foreclosure, and debts aggregating hundreds of millions of dollars have been adjusted."

"These committees are in the nature of farmers' councils in matters of debt adjustment. They are anxious to help farmers, and should be consulted about matters of this sort. You can find out about your local committee by asking your county agent."

Farm Boy at The Crossroads

At the season when high schools are turning out so many graduates to a future which seems doubtful, there will be general interest in the following advice by L. J. Taber, Master of the National Grange, given in The Progressive Farmer:—

"Which road shall the puzzled farm boy take? What shall he do? Farm work, my boy, may seem hard and it is sometimes monotonous. But what can be harder than seeking a job where none can be found?"

"There is one road open to every boy on the farm. It is a safe and sure pathway that can be made to lead to happiness and a satisfying and useful life. Many men fail because they do not understand their life's work. Others fail because they find no joy in the tasks that they must daily perform. The time has come when we must learn to do by doing, when hand and head need direction, and when the heart must find joy in the achievements of life."

"There may be no more new land, the cities may be overcrowded, but the essentials of civilization and of life—food, clothing, and shelter—will not change and they all come from the soil. Just as sure as it is that eating will not go out of style, just so sure it is that the good farmer will have a real job in all our future. Nor are the old demands for food and clothing alone in justifying our faith in agriculture's future."

"We not only must feed and clothe the nation, but we must also restore wasted resources and fertility. No new frontiers? We can find them in conserving for the future. Here is a challenge that will interest every young person in our land. As we put wealth in the 'soil bank' by restoring its fertility, as we reforest our hillsides, as we build new playgrounds and sources of recreation, as we add to the possibilities of securing food and fun, health, and recreation in a better rural life—in doing all these things we shall find new frontiers to explore."

Mr. Taber concludes his message by advising each farm boy to do these simple things:—

"1. Take full advantage of the opportunities offered you by farm organizations and by rural church and Sunday school for teamwork in promoting material progress and spiritual values.
"3. Make full use of the opportunities

Republican Platform to Approve "New Deal" Idea

Barely in time for the convention in Cleveland, the overworked National Republican Club, the Womn's National Republican Club, the New York Young Republican Club and other G O P organizations, finally unveiled in the Metropolis "a proposed national platform that might have astonished even the most ardent admirers of President Roosevelt. For aside from the generalities without which no Old Guard pronouncement would be recognizable, the document is no less than a pale reflection of the New Deal itself."

It approved flatfootedly unemployment insurance and old age pensions with Federal aid to the States; a Federal-State program for youth; labor's right to collective bargaining; the establishment of minimum wages, maximum hours, abolition of sweatshops and child labor; a conservation program to combat flood and soil erosion; a housing program; cooperation with other nations to revive world trade and, believe it or not, a system whereby business organizations would set up codes of employment and competition.

Of course each and every one of the foregoing has already been put on the statute books by Mr. Roosevelt's administration, as have also been enacted laws covering every subject touched upon less vividly in this long deferred declaration. And no details are divulged as to how the G O P would go about the exceedingly tedious process of revamping or administering the respective measures. In fact, all that has been done during the three years of the Roosevelt administration is haughtily ignored, except for the broad indictment that its activities have violated the "American system." But while there is no definition of methods, the draft as submitted to the delegates to the Cleveland-convention on their sponsors does contain some interesting side lights.

For example, in reaching after so many decades a recognition of the right of workers to engage in collective bargaining, which of course President Roosevelt put into effect through the NRA and through the Labor Relations Act after NRA was knocked out, this Charles D. Hilles model stipulates that such collective bargaining is to be permitted only if there is "no interference from any source."

As befits the occasion, this draft is silent on the subject of holding companies, but it vigorously demands less Government regulation of business. It calls for a return to the Hoover system of "farm relief" by Government buying of surplus commodities, thus tossing that problem into former Gov. Frank O Lowden's lap. It boldly, even arrogantly, takes the Federal Government out of relief, with the resultant starvation of several millions persons each year. It placidly paves the way for higher income taxes in the lower brackets and is heartily in favor of more jobs, without indicating how they are to be got or given.

It therefore winds up as the G O P once more and so ceases to be incongruous. But it is a clearly defined exemplification of a fact that for some time has been evident to observant people, namely, that no major political party can longer ignore the necessity for liberal reforms in this country, such as even the Conservative die-hards of England indorsed at the turn of the century.

And while even implied imitation may still be the sincerest form of flattery, this is no year for flattery in any form.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

Was passing a general repair shop and saw the proprietor at work at his daily task. Knowing that he could repair almost everything I remarked to him: "Friend, you are a general repair man and I have quite a few church members who are in bad repair and I am wondering if I round them up and march them down to your shop, if you could repair them." The man placed his tack hammer on a table, straightened himself erect and took off his hat and then replied: "Parson, I can not do that kind of repair work, but I know one who can do it—Christ, my Lord." I replied: "Correct, my brother, and I shall try to get my members to Him." If you are all torn to pieces in your moral life, if you are all broken down in your church loyalty, I know One to whom you can go and be repaired. Your pastor can not do this, no friend of yours will be able to do this; Jesus alone can repair your soul life.

A fast northbound train was going through Georgia and when it was near Macon, a sage of wild, poisonous snakes broke cage and ran wild over the floor of the coach. All passengers and crew left the coach in haste. The car was coiled until it reached Atlanta where steps were taken to conquer the dangerous reptiles. What a lesson for us on the whiskey business. Why not put alcohol under the strong box of the law and keep it safe under the restraints of prohibition? It is said to be true, but the brewers are breaking the cage that holds this reptile under restraint and the hideous thing is now crawling all over every coach of human life. Sensible passengers are giving a large space to this dangerous poison, but the simple minded are playing with this snake and dying by the thousands.

Was riding along the highway and at a curve there was a large sign painted for all travelers to read. The words that I read on that sign board were: "Look out, whiskey will kill you on this highway." That was a sign that needs to be painted and placed at every curve on every highway in our country. Whiskey will kill you not on one highway alone, but upon every highway. If it should be known that there was an organization of outlaws shooting down one thousand travelers a month in this country of ours, Uncle Sam would go to the last limits to break up that organization and to bring its laws here to justice. Listen to me, the whiskey business is a lawless band doing business along every highway, and every month one thousand people die, mangled and torn by crashing machinery, and all because the bandit of whiskey is traveling our highways. What fools we American people are.

I saw a lad playing war with soap bubbles. Not many feet away was a brick wall and the boy had that wall in his mind as the fort of the enemy. He would blow his bubbles and then snatch them free from his spool and watch them as the wind carried them against the wall. He said that he was bombarding the enemy's fort, but no damage was ever done. Many a bubble went true to the mark, but no bricks were upset. Many a time in the pulpit have I felt myself to be very much like that lad. It may have been that I was only blowing bubbles in the pulpit and hurling them against the brick walls of sin. To say the least I was making no impression on the forces that oppose the gospel. It takes more than blowing bubbles in the pulpit to batter down the walls of sin.

In our little city not many moons ago a blind man was being led down the sidewalk by a little girl. He carried a cup in his hand and pausing before a young man standing in the doorway of a lunch stand, the little girl said to him, "Please, sir, will you not help the blind?" The young man seemed irritated and in an angry tone replied, "No." The blind man and the little girl passed on and the young man turned around and walked back to a gambling machine and played two coins and lost. That was one young man who should have marched himself around back of the store and then kicked himself all over a vacant lot. Had no money for the blind and yet he had two nickles to shove into a slot machine. If I am a correct judge, justice is far behind in its kicking business, and yet that young man is as good as any other one who plays his money away when it is needed for food and living supplies.

Farmers Told How to Control Cattle

Auburn, Ala.—Now is the time to declare war on flies, says W. H. of the dairy department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, in that "barn lots, stables, hog and premises in general should be cleaned in order to eliminate all fly breeding places."

"The Alabama State Board of Health suggests the following fly poison: 3 gallons of hot water, 2 pounds sugar, 1 pint of vinegar, and 10 pounds of molasses with enough water to the volume up to 5 gallons. Pans of this poison should be placed high enough to be out of reach of children, small animals, and poultry."

The dairy department at Auburn suggests the following remedy for setting cattle from flies:

One pound laundry soap dissolved in 3 gallons of hot water, mixed with one pound previously dissolved in water, and finally adding one gallon crude oil. This is not a fly killer, an excellent repellent. The should be shaken before use and be slightly applied with a brush.

135,000 ALABAMA FARMERS APPLY FOR PRICE PAYMENTS

The State Soil Conservation Committee has received over 135,000 applications for cotton price adjustments, reports Walter L. Rouse, administrative officer in charge of the State Soil Conservation program.

Checks are being issued on applications as rapidly as possible, mailed to county agents for distribution to farmers. The county agents are notifying the farmers as soon as checks arrive in the county offices.

Farmers can still make applications for the cotton price adjustments but there may be a considerable delay in checks being issued unless applications are filed immediately with county agents. The delay on applications will be due to state county forces being busy on the $470,000,000 soil conservation program.

All his writing gardens and crops are still seedling rain.

Flowers are most up with their work much rains.

Quite a few from here attended the singing at Mulberry Sunday. All report an enjoyable day.

The revival begins here the first Sunday in next month. Brother Green will be our pastor, Bro. Mims. The date is rather early on account of crops, and so on. But we hope this gathering may mean something of more value and may be well attended.

B.Y.P.U. seems to be lagging a little. Wake up, members, and get out pep and zeal into this work. Make your part more acceptable by being able to talk and discuss it rather than read it word for word. Reading part may seem easier, but if that is all that was necessary it would be necessary to hold these meetings for most all could read the entire Bible at home.

Pink Watley is on the sick list suffering with a sun-stroke. Reports that he is improving.

Mrs. Curtis Sewell of Clanton is visiting relatives here.

Raymond Smith and family of Birmingham were visitors of Mr. and J.P. Smith last Sunday.

But not least, let's don't forget singing school begins the second day in July. Good singing is one important part of any church, so let's full advantage of this training.

Graphic Pictures Of Dips, Gains In 6 Years

"The other day we had occasion to gather some statistics and we were surprised at the upward trend in all lines," remarks Charles E. Broughton in his newspaper, The Sheboygan, Wisconsin, Press. "For example:

"From 1930 to 1933 the unemployed army increased 313 per cent, by Dec., 1935, it declined 30 per cent.

"Cotton from 1930 to 1933 declined in price 61 per cent; wheat, 59 per cent; corn, 73 per cent and in the years 1933 to 1936 cotton advanced 92 per cent; wheat, 111 per cent and corn, 152 per cent.

"Hogs were selling at $2.94 per hundred weight in 1933; today the price is $9.75. Steers that brought $5 per hundred weight in 1933 are today $10.15.

"Butter in 1933 sold for 18 cents a pound and today at 26 1/2 cents. Oats were at 17 5-8 in 1933; 28 cents today. Malting barley in 1933 brought 27 1/2 cents; today 92 cents; tobacco was $10 a hundred weight and today $20.

"In commerce our exports from 1930 to 1933 declined 56 per cent and imports for the same years 52 per cent. From 1933 to 1936 exports advanced 33 per cent, imports 37 per cent and the reciprocal trade agreements are just becoming effective.

"Listed stocks declined from 1933 to 1933, 75 per cent; from 1933 to 1936 they advanced 134 per cent.

"From 1930 to 1933 public utility power production declined 9 per cent; and from 1933 to 1936 advanced 326 per cent.

"And how did the government's program affect the nation in general?

"The administration saved from foreclosure 2,000,000 homes in cities and rural communities; increased farm income in three years by $3,000,000,000; increased the wealth of the nation by $30,000,000,000 since March, 1933 and in that period industrial production increased from 63 per cent of normal to 100 per cent of normal in April, 1936 of the Federal Reserve Board's 1923-25 average."

Farmers Urged Plant Sorghum And Cowpeas

Planted on good land a combination of 25 pounds (or more) of sorghum and 60 to 90 pounds of cowpeas per acre will still give excellent yields of hay, advises J.C. Lowery, extension agronomist.

"Though difficult to handle, some good low land, which is not too wet, will produce a supply of hay when planted to this mixture," he says. "Since seed of this well-known combination can usually be purchased from one's neighbors, it is very practical for those who cannot obtain soybean seed."

HEALTH DEPT. WILL BATTLE MOSQUITOES

Extensive Plans Are Made To Cooperate With County Units

With the return of summer, the State

Health Department advises that every precaution be taken against mosquitoes not only to prevent spread of malaria fever but as a matter of personal comfort.

Clean-up campaigns have been conducted in many communities, with county health officers reporting much interest on the part of citizens in eliminating mosquito breeding places, but in many instances these campaigns may not have reached into the rural sections where careful screening is less common.

"With the coming of warm weather, mosquitoes soon will be present and among various varieties will likely come some of the anopheles species, the female of which transmits malaria through her sting, if she happens to be infected, said Dr. J. N. Baker, State Health Officer. "Every householder in the State should see that all possible breeding places on his premises are eliminated—empty can, old automobile tires, pools where water may collect after a rain, faulty roof drains and the like."

Where there is a fish pond in the yard, he continued, the edges should be kept free of weeds and grass, where mosquitoes like to breed. As an added precaution, the pond should be stocked with surface minnows, preferably those known as gambusia, which love to feed upon mosquito larvae.

"Considerable progress has been made by the Health Department and by our various county units during the last several years in draining lowlands and otherwise making war on malaria by keeping down mosquitoes. Every citizen may aid in controlling this disease which is still a serious health problem in Alabama, by taking the proper precautions around his own home," Dr. Baker declared.

And lastly, teach yourselves and your children to keep the screened doors and windows shut at all times and see that any holes in the screens are repaired.

Every housewife is confronted with the three-day question of variety in the meals she serves.
In beef we become addicted to roasts or steaks and forget all about the other good beef cuts which will give pleasing variation and be easy on the pocketbook, too. Perhaps our trouble lies in the fact that we are not as familiar as we should be with many of the possibilities offered by beef. If you are one of those whose use of beef is limited to a roast or a steak, the chart given above will be invaluable in learning to identify and locate the many retail cuts of beef. The chart will show you at a glance just how each one should be cooked. You will want to preserve this chart for ready reference.

The Importance of Knowing Your Own Mind

SOME years ago the person in charge of one of the largest business organizations in the world, marked that in his experience of the rarest of human individuals the young man about to enter business who possesses a fairly definite idea of what he wants to do and the qualifications for doing it.

To be uncertain in your own mind about what you want to do when you are applying for a job is a serious handicap, but the handicap is far more serious if the uncertainty continues for months or years after you have landed the job. This uncertainty does continue to exist in the minds of great numbers of men and is a factor largely responsible for the lack of success of those who spend their entire life drifting from one job to another never earning more than a bare living in any of them.

In nearly every business the road of apprenticeship is likely to be more or less boring and is not highly remunerative. But this can be invaluable to the beginning business man in all its phases, to make up his mind in which of these phases—accounting, retail selling, general administration—he is most interested and qualified to succeed.

The business leaders of tomorrow will be the young men who today are using their apprenticeship to discover where their interests and aptitudes lie, who are developing definite purpose to chart their course accordingly, and who by observation, reading and study are preparing themselves to attain their

Wide Trend Toward Lower Motor Levies As New York State Cuts Gasoline Tax

Clark, June 1, 1936.—Hailing the action in the New York State legislature as the first step in a movement toward tax relief, Baird H. Markham, director of the American Petroleum Institute, predicted today that other states will follow suit.

Markham, whose organization is of national significance, and highway users in their state declared. "For the first time in a long time, a major reduction in the tax on gasoline has been started. I believe this is going to be so popular with the people that other state legislatures will follow suit and reduce gasoline taxes."

The tax reduction fight started in New York State, he pointed out, has been introduced in two other states to reduce their gasoline taxes. He expressed the belief that a legislative year, will find similar reductions in their gasoline tax rates are being made.

Markham, who is a member of the New York legislature, said only a frank recognition of the fact that the tax on gasoline is a burden on the people, and the reduction will partly counter the injustice whereby motorists are forced to bear an undue share of the increasing state expenses through diversion of highway funds to other purposes.

Markham said how rapidly gasoline prices have risen in the past decade, and if the same rate of increase continues for another decade, the average motor vehicle in the United States would be paying $100 a year in gasoline taxes. He said it is important nationally to make the end of this increasing tax. If we have tax reduction at all, it must start somewhere, and we must start now.

Markham had been placed in a safe place very day since Columbus, and America the total would be only one year's gas tax.

Markham said that among all workers in

Boys And Girls Raise $7,366 For Crippled

Auburn, Ala.—FFA and FHA chapters have raised a total of $7,366.41 to help equip convalescent homes for crippled children in Alabama. A check for this amount has been turned over to Dr. J.A. Keller, state superintendent of education, by A.C. Allen, Jr., Holtville, state FFA president, and Miss Annie Moon, Ashland, state FHA president.

The money raised must be spent to buy equipment from a list provided by surgeons at the three orthopedic centers in the state. The sum of $1000 is to be spent in convalescent wards in Selma, there being no plan for a convalescent home there. The remaining $6366.41 is to be divided equally between convalescent homes in Birmingham and Mobile.

Were Did "O.K." Originate?—Answer

The editors of the Chevrolet dealers' magazine have been doing research work, seeking the origin of the expression O.K., in response to inquiries received from its readers. The expression figures so largely in the company's used cars, that dealers became interested in its history.

Several plausible explanations have been uncovered. One of the most likely is that the expression is derived from a seaport on the southern coast of Haiti, which was a famous source of superior rum and tobacco shipped to the American colonies. The name of the port was Aux Cayes (pronounced "oh cay"). The colonists buying rum or tobacco would ask, "Is it Aux Cayes?" If it was, they knew it was good. The words soon became a symbol of good quality, but the letters O.K. naturally took the place of the words when written by persons not familiar with the real meaning.

Another theory traces O.K. to the Choctaw Indians. In their bartering with other tribes, they used the word "okeh" to designate a piece of merchandise or livestock as fit and good. Others hold to the theory that the initials O.K., meaning "ordered recorded," being carelessly written on documents, were misread as O.K. and so came to stand for a symbol of correctness. It is also asserted that O.K. as an abbreviation for Artemus Ward's spelling of "all correct," first gained currency among oldtime telegraph operators.

Still another theory is that years ago a customs inspector whose initials were "O.K." stamped them on bales of goods that he passed.

As a verb, the Chevrolet publication says, the expression should be written O.K.'d or O.K.'ing.

As used by Chevrolet dealers O.K. means that used cars bearing these letters were carefully checked and reconditioned before being put on display.

"Oh, Yeah!" exclaimed Emil Kaspar, $20-a-week railroad worker, when doctors informed him that his wife had given birth to quadruplets in a hospital in Passaic, N. J.

A Personal Message To WORLD WAR

Veterans

From A Buddy of the Rainbow Division

Next week the "Bonus Bonds" will be issued to veterans in Chilton County, and I am glad to see the boys get this money. They are entitled to every dollar of it.

Having been right in the thick of action with the Rainbow Division overseas, I know what we had to go through with.

And too, I want to see every ex-service man who gets his bonus, receive dollar for dollar value for it, whether it be in a new car, a used car, real estate, or what not.

If you are interested in buying a good used car, then see me. If you are not convinced that I will give my "Buddies" dollar for dollar value, then you don't have to trade.

Regulations for securing your Bonds are strict. You must be known at the post office, or have some reliable person identify you. If I can be of service in this respect, feel free to call on me.

saving of $49.00 on each day of operation under the new set-up on the supervision and equipment operators alone, whereas, the records in the Probate Office show that under the new set-up by our Road Supervisor, Mr. Arledge, that the supervision and equipment operation cost the County $295.70 more per month, than the last month cost under the old system. Figuring this on a 26 working day basis it cost our County $11.37 per day more to operate under our Supervisor set-up than under the old system.

"I feel it is only fair to the taxpayers, who pay the operating expense of our County, that they should know the difference in the cost of operation since Mr. Arledge has seen fit to publish his statement.

"If anyone doubts the above statement, I will be glad to show them the official records which are open for inspection. I am for better roads at less cost.

"Yours very truly,
J. LEE SMITH,
Judge of Probate."

At the time for the payment of the bonus approaches, postoffices in Alabama are preparing to distribute the mail containing the adjusted service bonds with as much speed as possible. Here are a few facts to keep in mind: The mailing of the bonds will start on the morning of June 15 from 12 different postoffices throughout the United States.

sharp rise, and could not stop in time to avoid hitting the truck. The dead youth and Carlos Wyatt are said to have been riding on the running board of the car. The car was almost completely demolished. The youths were said to have been returning from a ball game.

The two Robinson youths are the sons of the Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Robinson, of Route 5. Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at Liberty Hill conducted by the Rev. H. D. Durbin, assisted by the Rev. M. Lockhart and the Rev. W. S. Cox and Rev. S. S. Williams. Pall bearers were Cecil Wilson, Herman Edwards, Sam Cleckler, Frank Cox, Erskine Parrish, Orin Wyatt and Emmett Parrish. He is survived by his parents, one brother and one sister.

In another accident near Clanton, Darius Williams, negro, received a broken leg, and was rushed to the Central Alabama Hospital here by a Martin ambulance. The accident happened near Lomax, last week.

Addressed and cannot be forwarded. Regardless of the fact that the registered letter may be addressed in care of a person or firm, delivery shall be made only to addressee.

If you are not known to your mail carrier or window clerk, it will be necessary that you have someone appear in person and identify you.

The bonds will come delivered to you at the address you gave in application and those who live on rural and city routes are urged to be convenient to that address so that delivery can be made promptly.

If letter is not delivered at address it will be returned to the postoffice and held for the veteran.

Mr. Downs stated that the postoffice will remain open Tuesday night and Wednesday afternoon to expedite delivery of the bonds. He cautioned veterans not to sign or do anything to the bonds except in the presence of the certifying office at the postoffice. This is most important.

ties for caring for veterans. President Roosevelt several months ago authorized reopening of proposals for a new hospital in this territory after one hospital had been located in Tennessee. The fact that the president authorized the reopening of this matter is taken by veterans to mean that he will approve plans for the proposed Alabama hospital.

According to tentative plans proposed to Washington by veterans leaders the Tuscaloosa hospital would be transferred into a hospital for nervous and mental cases. The $400,000 allotted for the addition to the hospital will finance enlarging of the unit from 340 beds to 500 beds.

The new hospital would be used for housing the regional veterans offices and would provide 350 beds for general hospitalization.

ARLEDGE MAKES STATEMENT

My statement, "Reorganization of the County Road System," appearing in this paper this week and which was partly printed in the Union-Banner last week, was not intended to criticize or be construed as a comparative statement of operation costs as it was considered it to be; it was made for a comparative statement of the figures were used as an aid in operations for any one day, the full quota of overcases employed by the system of one or more roads for each Beat, and the cost of operations. It is not the intent of this office to criticize, judge, condemn any act or acts, nor policies formerly followed in connection with the construction, maintenance and repairs of the public roads and of the County.

PASSING FOOTPRINTS
Of The Times
— Billy Smith

Kiwanis Club
are indeed sticking our chest out since reading the report of action of the Clanton Kiwanis Club which is being published this week in the inside workings of this Club. It does not appear that, perhaps, the organization is not so important. But, to one who is a member, it is a certain thrill, a tremendous satisfaction over a thing well done. It makes it more than worth to be a member. We note, however, that there are several prominent Clanton whose names do not appear on the membership of the Club, who could do a great work by being a member.

Republican Convention
The Republicans have finished with the cheering and shouting and have made up their minds as to the man they think might defeat Roosevelt. They chose Gov. Frankland, of Kansas as that man. We don't know Alf, and we can't judge on him. But, we do know down deep in our hearts that comes to this country very seldom, a true humanitarian, who dares to try, and a man who has brought safety, peace and prosperity back to a people. Yes, the people of the United States will seldom elect that to the President's chair. He will be the Democrats' choice again. They know a good man when they find one.

Oblige
We are quite much obliged to those who have given us copy for this week's News. We're in the hands of the boys at the next week with yours giving us paper this week without yours present.

About This, Die?
Read with interest and amusement The Montgomery Advertiser morning that the well known Atticus Mullin ran across our L. D. Diefer, in the Capitol compared him to Joseph, with the coat of many colors. We don't doubt the state of Atticus, and too, we know and are sure that Clanton has a man with such taste. Die's of business here, too, bespeaks good taste.

Big Omissions
received something of a rather different the other day. Our friend Mr. B. R. Flyer, made us a present of a pound white onion that measures six inches in circumference. How long it will take us to eat it, we don't know, but we are glad to take a part of it to Cuba.

We Laugh
Hull, editor of The Alexander Outlook, conducts one of the widely read editorial pages in the state, and took a crack at Clanton last week. Here's his version of Clanton:

Clanton is all pepped up over the fact that the L&N is going to allow through passenger trains to stop at Clanton. We congratulate Clanton on her good luck.

RECEIVED FROM SUPT. LITTLE AND MOTOR PARTY
We have received a card from Education Luther E. Little, composed of Mrs. Little and Mrs. Searey. They were in Boulder City, Nevada, who are making a motor trip.

FARM LOANS TO BE PLACED TO LOCAL MEN

Local Directors Will Be Responsible For The Loan Handling

In keeping with the plans of the Farm Credit Administration to decentralize its operations, the Federal Land Bank of New Orleans will place the responsibility of handling loans endorsed by national farm loan associations in this section in the hands of local directors, effective June 15th, according to Mr. Edward B. Green, President of the Bank. In those areas where the associations are cooperating with the Bank in this move, the field representative who has been servicing loans for the past few years will be removed. "There is a very marked improvement over the conditions which made it necessary in 1932 for the Bank to use direct contact methods with its borrowers," said Mr. Green, "and we are very happy to be able to turn over to associations the job of servicing their loans and reassuming all management."

GOP Wasted 30 Months Failing To Take Action President Roosevelt Took First Day

"The opposition party has been in power 12 years, during nearly all of which time they had not only the Chief Executive but both houses of Congress and they could have put through any sort of legislation they wished. The purpose of the Farley of the Democratic National Committee at the Michigan Democratic convention in Grand Rapids. "They could have done all the things that Franklin D. Roosevelt has done and their President had the courage and the desire for service to the general public."

"I think you must agree with me that it would have been a very much easier job to have prevented the Hoover panic than it was to check it and turn the tide after that great disaster was upon us in full force. Take a single instance: "Does anybody believe that if the former President had grappled with the banking situation as firmly and as intelligently as the present President did, the economic disaster would have been as acute as it was? The stock market crash that inaugurated the depression in the fall of 1929. That shook the banks. Tempted by the opportunities, hundreds of banks had rushed their depositors' money to Wall Street to be loaned to brokers carrying stocks on margin. It should not have taken two and a half years to learn that many of the banks were in a desperate state. As a matter of fact it did not. Failure after failure heralded the gruesome intelligence. They toppled and fell at the rate of 30 to 40 a week. At the end of June, 1932, one huge institution, presided over by an ex-president of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, sent its millions of demand to Washington for a $90,000,000 loan."

Kiwanis Club Report Shows Achievements

"INDEED ENCOURAGING"

"The annual report of J. E. T. O'Connor, Comptroller of the currency, revealed that only five national banks, with deposits of $5,400,000, have failed since the Federal Deposit Insurance law became effective January 1, 1934," remarks the Aberdeen, D. American, (Rep.) "The return of confidence in the banks has been responsible to a certain extent for the upturn in business. Through their function as loaning agencies they have been valuable in tiding small business concerns over the rough spots and in aiding generally in putting money into circulation. The improvement in the banking situation is indeed encouraging."

OUTSTANDING DEEDS SHOWN IN PAST YEAR

Motto "We Build" Is Truly Carried Out By Local Kiwanis Club

Just what the Clanton Kiwanis Club has meant to Clanton and to the entire county is clearly brought out in a report compiled this week by the Public Affairs Committee and the Publicity Committee of the Club, covering work of the past year.

This report not only covered those objectives of the club that have been carried out, completed and marked off the "must" list of the club, but also several objectives that are now about to be realized, and plans for those to take place within the next few months.

The Clanton Kiwanis Club, the only business and civic organization of its kind in this county, has grown considerably in membership during recent months, the report showed. The new members are composed wholly of business men of Clanton who have been watching with keen interest the activities of the club and realize the splendid work it is doing for the members toward progress for the town and county, placed themselves as candidates for membership immediately.

One of the members of the local Club through his continued and unselfish efforts has been elected to the position of Lieutenant-Governor of Kiwanis of Alabama. This is John Hollis, superintendent of Mitchell Dam, who gives of his time for the work of the Club. The report compiled by the Club this week brought out the following achievements, some of which the Club started to rolling and with the cooperation of officials and other non-members brought to a realization, while others were directly credited in full to the Club, even the same individual members took a great part in bringing into concrete form.

City Water Supply: The Kiwanis Club through its requests to the city Council and considerable work in the outside, brought about an extension of important water mains in the residential section of town, thereby affording better fire protection and living conditions. And now the city has almost completed the digging of another deep well to insure continued sufficient water supply for the city.

Stock Show: The Club is now making arrangements for the staging of a Stock Show for the county. This will be held sometime during the early Fall. Grammar School: Considerable interest has been aroused sometime ago in the condition of the old Grammar school building in Clanton, which was claimed to have been a menace to the safety of the children. The Clanton Kiwanis Club, through considerable effort persuaded officials to tear down the old building, which has been done, and a grade new one is being built.

Farmers Progress By Business Methods

Illinois farmers sold $77,000,000 worth of products through their cooperative organizations last year, according to a recent report. Fluid milk led both in value and volume—75 per cent of all produced in the state being disposed of through co-ops.

Other agricultural states can show similar proof of progress resulting from cooperative production and distribution methods. Each year, the volume of business done by such cooperatives has increased, as has the number of cooperating farmers. The result is greater stability in agricultural operations, and a better balance between the old bogeys of supply and demand. Leading farm cooperatives have done fine work in stimulating their members to adopt more scientific and profitable production methods.

Agricultural cooperatives simply apply the old and proven principles of mass-action to the business of farming. The record demonstrates the soundness of this, and the outlook for the co-ops was never brighter than at present.

Marching On Despite Editorial Propaganda

Comment on business prospects and the finances of the Government and the people of the United States are of two kinds these days, the comment that is expressed in words and the comment that is expressed, as Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau put it, "by cash on the barrel head".

There were interesting examples of both kinds on Monday, June 1st.

A Republican editor, Mr. David Lawrence, in the anti-administration United States News, devoted an entire page of its issue of June 1st to what in his words might "seem to be gloomy forebodings" of national bankruptcy. On the same day the Treasury offered a billion dollars in new Government bonds and notes and they were snapped up long before the day was over, with subscriptions about seven times the offering. The interest rate on the bonds was the lowest on any outstanding bonds and the rate on the five-year notes was 1 3/8 per cent, also the lowest on the list.

The Hoover administration in September, 1932, had to pay 3 1/2 per cent on a five-year note.

The "gloomy forebodings" of the Republican editor are not shared either by the big or the little investors in Government securities nor does it seem that they share, when their dollars speak so resoundingly for them, his fears of inflation. The proof is supplied not only by the public reception of this offering of Government securities but by their prompt increase in investment value on the New York Stock Exchange. For even the Hearst newspapers of June 2nd reported: "The latest issue of Treasury bonds were dealt in 'when issued' over the counter for the first time and went to an immediate premium."

Reports of sales of securities, greatly increased business profits, higher volume of trade, items such as the Edison Electric Institute's report on June 3rd of an 18 per cent increase in the output of electric power over the corresponding week last year—all of the current news on the financial pages of the daily newspapers—are most assuredly not written for purposes of political argument. Here it is simply 'cash on the barrel head' telling the story of constant recovery under the Roosevelt regime.

The American people are not going to be easily terrified by stories that the federal debt and the federal deficit are dragging them down to ruin when the solid and indisputable facts tell them a different story, a story of increasing well being and steady march out of bankruptcy, the bankruptcy they knew and felt in 1932.

The American people do not need to be

Man's Greatest Servant

Answering the question, "What material thing has contributed most to making American living conditions the highest in the world?" a well known commentator said, "Abundant and cheap electric power and light."

We have grown so used to employing electricity for both domestic and industrial purposes that it is easy to lose sight of what a drastic revolution the power industry has caused in its relatively brief history. Today well over 75 per cent of all the homes of America are supplied with electricity. These homes are as different from the homes of forty years ago as night is from day. Back-breaking tasks that once were done by hand, are now done swiftly, easily and cheaply with electric appliances. A snap of a switch brings us light. Electric refrigerators, ranges, radios, sewing machines, cleaning apparatus, air-conditioning equipment—these are boons that are within reach of millions of citizens today, and give them a standard of living that couldn't be had by a millionaire in the "nineties. Electricity is man's greatest servant.

Equally sweeping change as taken place in industry with the application of power to tasks that once had to be done by manual labor, or with the aid of less efficient and elastic forms of mechanical energy. Electricity has vastly increased the average worker's productivity and earning power. Its efficiency and economy have resulted in a tremendous lessening of the cost of production of a thousand and one commodities—thus bringing them within reach of millions, where once they could be had only by the few. It has immeasurably improved working conditions, and has shortened the working day and working week. And, directly and indirectly, it has created an untold amount of employment.

Scenes Of Carnage

A writer in a recent issue of American Mercury presented a new and interesting view of the automobile accident problem. He observed that, in the light of present day conditions, it is not remarkable that 36,000 persons are being killed in traffic accidents annually—but that it is remarkable that the number is not several times as great.

In the average state, almost anyone not completely crippled can obtain a license to drive a car, irrespective of his ability, responsibility, intelligence or judgement. If he chooses, he can operate a car that belongs by rights in the junk heap—a car with an inaudible horn, feeble or glaring lights, uncertain brakes, and a steering gear affected with St. Vitus dance. If he drives that car in a dangerous manner, cutting curves, weaving in and out of traffic, and "giving her the gun" whenever possible, the chances are that he will escape arrest—and that if he is arrested, he will be assessed a relatively small fine and permitted to go right on driving. When the inevitable finally occurs, and someone is killed or injured because of his recklessness or incompetence, he may have a harder time getting out of the mess—but that won't bring a dead person to life.

If any progress is to be made in reducing the horrible toll of automobile deaths and injuries, stringent methods must be adopted. Traffic codes must be modernized and enforced with the utmost strictness and impartiality. Much higher qualifications for the issuance of drivers' licenses must be established. And the unsafe automobile, as well as the unsafe driver, must be banished from the road. Otherwise, America's streets and highways will continue to be scenes of carnage.

reminded that we engaged in a war on depression and they have a general knowledge that its cost amounts to some 42 billions of dollars to date, the drop from the normal national income of around 80 billion dollars a year to the 38 billions in national income in 1932. That appalling set-back accounts for the depression deficits; but it did not ruin us. As a Nation we have gone into debt some eleven billions of dollars to prosecute successfully the war on depression—less than the 14 billions of peace-time loans we made to Europe. And we have realizable assets to account for a goodly portion about a third, of the eleven billions.

But the increase in private assets has been many times the national deficit and a Nation that was desperately ill is far along the road to economic health. There was a plan for a recovery, a plan that worked and is working, despite editorial expletives against its author in the White House.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

I was passing through the kitchen and looking toward the stove I saw a little kitten all huddled up in the biscuit-pan. The servant had left the pan in a chair and the cat saw fit to make use of it to its own comfort. Because the cat was in the pan was no reason why I should conclude that it was a biscuit. Because a man is seen in a pulpit is no reason why we are to conclude that he is a preacher. Because a man is in the pew is no reason why we should say that he is a listener. Because you are married is no reason why we should conclude that you are a real companion. It takes more than merely being in a pan to make a biscuit; it takes more than being in a pulpit to make a preacher and it takes more than being married to make a companion. The place does not matter half so much as being the real article before we are in the place.

I visited a man who was having difficulty with his breathing. He called for windows to be lifted and for some one to fan him in the face. He acted as though there was a scarcity of air. The trouble was not in the thinness of the air on the outside of that man's body, but it was the diseased condition on the inside of his body. There was enough air for him and then enough left for everybody. If conditions had been perfect on the inside of that man, he would have found no trouble in inhaling all the air needed. Many a time have I listened to people who lamented that they could not obtain a righteous state of living. They agonized over the correct way of living and lamented that they could not be good. They wanted preachers and good people to help them. The trouble was not in the supply of goodness, but it was because of the soul disease within. When we make perfect the conditions within, we can breathe in an abundance of righteousness.

While talking with a Christian mother she remarked concerning her grown daughter: "I am so happy that my daughter is not popular. It pleases me for her to be as she is for she does not smoke and she does not drink. I am not saying that a girl of today must smoke and drink to be popular but I am saying that these two things go in to make up popularity." As I listened to that mother I said deep in my heart: "Would that we had more mothers like that." At a party a young lady was being urged to smoke and dance and drink. The one producing the argument said: "Why, Madeline, if you are a popular you have got to do those things." Mother, listen to me; there is something that is worth more to your daughter than popularity. Popularity is one of the shortest roads to immorality. When your daughter becomes "very popular" she needs to stay with her mother.

Often I wonder what kind of a man I am becoming. Some of these modern interpretations of life fail to register in my ideas of progress. When I was a boy I used to hear mothers saying with pride: "My boy is a model young man; he does not curse, smoke or drink." In these last days I rarely ever hear an expression of that kind, but often do I hear mothers as they are speaking of their daughters: "My daughter is all right, she does not curse, smoke or drink." Guess I am "old fashioned," but somehow it seems to be out of place to refer to young women as "cursing, smoking, drinking." These things do not belong to those whom I would love to honor and reverence as the wives and mothers of children. I have seen many things in my life but I have never yet seen a dove scratching in a dunghill and should I see such a thing I would say to the dove: "You do not belong there."

It is estimated that not less than four and a half billion dollars worth of fertile soil goes down the valley of the Mississippi river every year. Far to the north and west hillsides are made barren while that fertile soil goes to waste on the bottom of the river, or goes out to sea. The soil is gone and our nation is made that much poorer. But, that is nothing to be compared to the waste that is going on in the Church of God. We have thousands of lives numbered on our church roll and they are being washed out to eternity. Like the government we should become concerned about the waste that is going on and do something to conserve our spiritual soil.

As William Witte, 90, of Merrill, Wis., was lighting a cigar his beard caught fire, and he died four hours later. No evidence could be produced when two youths were brought into the court at Erie, Pa., for stealing a bicycle because, so they told the judge, "a man stole it from us."

Doctors said heart strain caused the death of nine-year-old Teresa Parenteau of Rouyn, Canada, who weighed 298 pounds at the time of her death.

H. Y. Lockwood of Oakland, Cal., was held up by a bandit and relieved of his watch, which the thief examined carefully and handed back to Lockwood, saying: "Keep it. I have a better one."

Alabama May Lose Extension

Dr. L. N. Duncan, director of State Extension Service, has notified all State extension agents, including county men and farm agents, that Alabama's allotment of Federal funds for State Extension Service unless provision is made to meet the demands of the Federal Government, the matching of Federal funds. He also has given notice that ten million dollars, or more, which the State should have under the new Agricultural Extension program will be greatly reduced unless the Federal funds are matched.

In making the official announcement, Dr. Duncan quoted statements of Dr. C. W. Warburton, director of United States Extension Service, Washington, D. C., showing that funds cannot be allotted any more for extension work for the year July 1, 1936, to June 30, unless the Federal funds are matched by State funds as provided by Federal acts.

Dr. Duncan did not make suggestions as to how to solve the problem, except to say to extension agents:

"It is exceedingly important that these facts known at your opportunity to the farm men and men leaders and other citizens of several counties in order that people may take such steps as may seem wise and proper with reference to the matter."

After Oscar Weber fell dead from a sculp line in St. Louis officials $396 in cash in his pockets, along a bank book showing deposits of $900.

When his garage caught fire Dr. Morton of Cleveland, O., grabbed a bucket nearby and tossed it on the blaze. The flames roared and higher; he had thrown fire of gasoline on it.

GET GULFLUBE—

It's "Stripped for action"!

Poorly refined motor oils, like a swimmer with all his clothes on, can't do an efficient job. They carry too much excess baggage—waste that should be "stripped off" by refining.

Most 25c oils, like a swimmer stripped of part of his clothes, are rid of some waste—but not enough for best performance. No refiner of 25c oils could afford to go further, before Gulf's Multi-sol process was perfected.

GULFLUBE MOTOR OIL, like a swimmer stripped for action, is rid of every bit of excess waste. It's the only Multi-sol-made 25c oil—the finest, purest oil a quarter ever bought. Gulflube gives you better lubrication, lower bills and a cleaner motor. Prove it—at the Sign of the Orange Disc.

Hay Mowed At Correct Stage Makes Best Feed

At what stage of growth and development should cowpeas, soybeans, alfalfa, lespedeza, and grasses be cut to make the best hay?

"Based on research and practical experience," answers E.O. Pollock, extension hay specialist, U.S.D.A., "it appears that alfalfa should be cut for hay when from one-tenth to one-fourth in bloom, or about the time the first basal shoots appear; soybeans between the time the seeds begin to form and when they are half developed; lespedeza when in full bloom; cowpeas when the first pods begin to turn yellow from maturity, but before any of the pods mature enough to shatter their seed during handling; Johnson grass when the first heads appear from the boot; and miscellaneous grasses not later than full bloom."

Mr. Pollock states that late cutting "not only results in actual loss of protein but the hay becomes less palatable and more difficult to digest." The quality of many excellent crops of hay is virtually sacrificed after the hay is ready for harvest because of late cutting, he says.

Farmers Learn That Farm Planning Pays

Farm planning has a new meaning to farm families in Chilton County who borrowed from the Resettlement Administration to carry them through this crop year, according to Marvin Durbin, county supervisor, who recently announced that 218 families in this county are receiving rural rehabilitation aid this year.

"Those families who have received such loans," said Mr. Durbin, "are learning that budgeting and other business methods are just as important in their comeback as the money advanced to them. Most of our farmers were forced on relief by conditions over which they had no control, but undoubtedly some of them went on relief because they failed to use business methods and employ sound judgement in planning their operation.

"The Resettlement Administration recognizes its responsibility to guard such families against a return to relief status, and that is what is back of our farm and home management plans."

Each family, Mr. Durbin explained, agrees when his loan is advanced that both farm and home will be managed according to plans drawn up with the help of J. W. Fant, county agricultural agent, Ruth Pardue, county home demonstration agent and the county supervisor.

Under this plan, according to Mr. Durbin, farm produce is divided into three groups—food crops, feed crops, and cash crops. The major emphasis in determining crops to plant is placed first on a comfortable living for the family, and second, on feed for farm animals. This, he said, is based on the fact that living at home is less expensive and more certain than living out of stores.

THE COW OF COWS

Simply Sybil's Pallas is a senior and grand champion Jersey Cow, International Dairy Show, 1935. Owned and bred by Hugh W. Boone, Youngstown, Ohio.

JERSEY COWS are common enough—but Simply Sybil's Pallas is a breeder's dream come true. Near perfect in every respect—wonderful body, level top carrying out well both ways, deep veins, marvelous udder in texture and attachment—fully worthy of her proud title, National Champion. She is the Cow of Cows.

This magnificent Jersey Champion is Nature at her peak—creature gifted with the vital spark that only Nature can supply, natural balance of all the elements required in the making of a champion. This natural balance of vital elements is the principal difference between Simply Sybil's Pallas and a common cow—the difference between the best and the rest in almost everything.

And here's another example of the natural balance that make true quality—Natural Chilean Nitrate. Into this nitrate nitrogen Nature blended her own secret balance of vital impurities, many minor elements over and above its nitrogen. And Nature herself, aged, cured and mellowed this product through countless centuries in the ground. That is why Natural Chilean stands out a quality fertilizer by every test, in the scientist's laboratory or the practical test in the farmer's fields. GUM-DIPPED TIRES

WIN INDIANAPOLIS 500 MILE RACE

Louis Myer won the Indianapolis 500-mile race, at an average speed of 111.567 miles an hour, breaking all track records, without tire trouble of any kind.

No tires except Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires could have resisted the terrific heat generated at such high sustained speeds on the hot brick track, lap after lap, hour after hour. You can have no greater proof of blowout protection.

Not one of the thirty-three drivers would risk his life on any other tire, for each driver knows that heat is the chief cause of tire failure and blowouts. Firestone cords are soaked in liquid rubber, which saturates and coats every cotton fiber, preventing friction and heat and adding great strength. This is the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping, that gives you greatest blowout protection and safety.

Profit by the experience of race drivers. Equip your car today with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires—it costs so little to protect lives worth so much.

THE New Firestone STANDARD

Hospitality Plans, Lunch Plans Are Given By Mrs. S. J. Ezell

To have a great meeting, we must all have a part. Both Chilton and Unity need but to know what is expected of them to do it. Therefore we are outlining our jobs.

W.M.S. presidents and all Sunday school superintendents announce the program next Sunday, get cars, trucks or buses so that all the folks can come.
Begin now to plan for everybody.

Those designated as "leaders" on the program:

1. Contact every member of every lunch committee in your group. Decide how you will plan your lunch, and definitely instruct them. Two plans have been suggested:
(a). Ask each church to feed fifty or more, on the day listed, using about the suggested menu.
(b). Let leader apportion to one church enough cakes for fifty, to another, chicken, etc., until the menu is filled.
2. The leaders are asked to be downstairs on the day your group feeds until after the baskets are opened, that you may know about the response from your group and report at your Quarterly meeting and be able to make better plans for next year. You are not asked to serve plates, the Clanton W.M.S. will do that, but to check the baskets from your own District.
3. If you cannot serve, get someone to take your place at once, and send the name to your leader. I know you do not want people to get hungry because they depended on you. I am sure they will not.

Clanton furnishes all the drinks, and prepares the plates so that all who can get all the program and classes.

The menu is suggested by the Executive Boards of Unity and Chilton W.
M.U., but may be changed by the leaders, if agreeable to those from each association.

Pletcher--Pilgrim Rest News

Well, folks, just a few words from the south part of Chilton County.

We all feel lots better here as we had a few showers of rain. The crops have suffered a little damage. There hasn't been enough yet, but we are thankful for the small amount, and are still praying for the rain to continue.

Our B.Y.P.U. seems to be improving. We met with a very good attendance Sunday night. We had several visitors from Billingsley and Selma, and want to invite them back again. We are always glad to have someone visit our

B.Y.P.U. We are hoping that we can make our union one among the best. Don't forget our Sunday school also. We are still having it every Sunday morning at 10:00 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Johnson of Bessemer are visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Abbott of Pletcher.

Miss Langston of Selma is spending a few days with relatives here.

The Pletcher Home Demonstration Club met last Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. J. Chandler. There were several ladies present. Our next meeting will be July 10 at the home of Mrs. J. L. Abbott. Let's everyone be sure and be there.

Our B.Y.P.U. had a real good program Sunday night and several new members were added to the roll. We welcome new members and invite others to join.

We are looking forward to a good time next Saturday night at the B. Y.P.U. social.

We received several nice rains in our community the past week. They were appreciated very much. Remember, next Sunday is our regular preaching day. Everybody come, both morning and Sunday night.

Miss Marjorie Bentley of Thorsby was the week end guest of Miss Joan Atkinson.

Miss Mary Frances Atkinson is visiting relatives in Birmingham and Gadsden this week.

KIWANIS CLUB

The Club has been keenly interested in the work among boys and girls over the county, as well as among farmers. The Club has realized as one of its objectives a larger appropriation for this type of work and now the county has a worker for young farm boys and girls under the 4-H Club membership. This work is in full swing.

Health Work: Chilton County now has a full-time health unit. It was through the initiative of the Clanton Kiwanis Club that this work is now in progress in this county and doing a great piece of achievement. And recently there was added to this Unit, an all-time Sanitation Officer. At the time it appeared that this health work would be discontinued and through efforts of the club it is still carrying on its activities over the county.

Crippled Children: The Club has been directly responsible for sometime for the bringing to Chilton County of a crippled children's clinic, and recently sponsored and pushed the sale of Crippled Children's seals in the county, with the cooperation of the Clanton Pilot Club.

Clanton's Airport: It was through the untiring efforts of members of the Kiwanis Club that Clanton now has an airport, and not so long ago this field was enlarged to such an extent that it will soon be ready to accommodate most any size ship that lands here. It consists of 92 acres, and work is going on there now. It is also expected that the field will be entirely completed at an early date with a large steel hangar.

Clanton's City Hall: The City Council was prevailed on by members of the Kiwanis Club to equip the new auditorium with proper seating facilities, and in the very near future this is to be done thereby causing this attractive building to be suitable for most all occasions and public gatherings.

Christmas Lighting: The Kiwanis Club is directly responsible for the beautiful lights that decorate the city during Christmas week of each year. This is considered one of the perkiest small cities in the state during Christmas week, through this lighting effect. CCC Camp: The CCC Camp at Clanton was thought at one time to be near discontinuance and through work of the Club it is now intact and growing. It was also an objective of the Club to bring this camp to Clanton and to cooperate with its officials.

Telephone Service: For some time the Club has been endeavoring to secure an uptown office of the Western Union. This is still being worked on and the Club hopes to bring it into a realization.

Telephone Service: The Kiwanis Club has at all times strived for improvement in the telephone service in Clanton. This is being constantly done whenever possible. At a recent meeting the Club had as its guests, the District Manager and the Division Engineer of the Southern Bell Telephone

The Club has been doing considerable work on this for sometime, and recently several prominent railroad officials have visited Clanton on continued requests of the Club that this service be rendered.

Regular weekly luncheons are held with splendid membership attendance and good programs. On the night of Monday, June 22nd, the Clanton Club will observe "All Kiwanis Night" at Mitchell Dam, with an inter-club meeting bringing the clubs from Montgomery and Selma here to join them. "All Kiwanis Night" is observed at the same time by all clubs in the United States and Canada.

Several other objectives of the Club are now in progress and heading toward realization, the report stated.

Dictators Fear Free Press

At the recent fiftieth annual convention of the members of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, especial stress was laid by various distinguished speakers on the need for maintaining inviolate the ancient American doctrine of freedom of the press.

Colonel Frank Knox, of the Chicago News, said: "A free press and a dictator cannot live in the same country. If a free press exists, a dictator is unhorsed—and the people retain their liberties. If a free press is destroyed, a dictator thrives—and the liberties of the people disappear."

Sir Wilmot Lewis, Washington correspondent of the London Times said: "The newspapers of today are not free in all lands, but where they still have liberty and defend it—against enemies without and within—where they stand for discussion and agreement, setting themselves unbreakably against the regimentation of customs and obedience by goose-step, even the cynic may find a place for hope."

Other speakers presented similar views. And it is difficult to see how any man with a knowledge of world history, ancient and modern, could disagree. The two greatest treasures any people can have are a free press and the right of free speech. They constitute the basis of all liberties. They are the very lifeblood of social, economic and political freedom. They are the friends of representative government and the enemies of dictatorship.

The newspapers of America have shown courage in aggressively resisting all efforts to curb their liberties. In doing this, they perform a duty to the people of the nation—and they show that they are worthy of the great responsibility that is theirs in these discordant times.

The Motorist's Prayer

"Grant me a steady hand and watchful eye, that no man shall be hurt when I pass by," starts The Motorist's Prayer. The prayer first appeared in the London Church Times.

The Prayer is a reminder that good driving is a Christian obligation. It follows: Grant me a steady hand and watchful eye. That no man shall be hurt when I pass by. Thou gavest life, and I pray no act of mine may take away or mar that gift of thine. Shelter those, dear Lord, who bear me company,

From the evils of fire and all calamity. Teach me to use my car for others' need, Nor miss through love of speed The beauties of thy world; that thus I may With joy and courtesy go my way,

Hold On To Your Own

A mistake often made by people especially by widowed mothers with grown children, is to turn over the property to the sons and daughters. An interesting bit of experience along this line is given in the following letter from The Progressive Farmer on "The Biggest Mistake I Made in 1935."

My biggest mistake was letting all my business go in my son's name. In January 1934 I lost my husband. I took my boys and made a good crop, signing everything from rent notes on up with the government in my name. I knew just how and where everything went. We made 10 bales of cotton and lots of other stuff and I cleared over $400. In 1935 I let my son take everything in charge. We worked a three-horse crop, making 20 bales of cotton and selling around $300 worth of truck, but I cleared nothing. The crop was all spent and no one knew what for. But this is the beginning of another year, and I have learned a lesson. It pays every person to see after his own business. — Mrs. — R., Alabama.

The Republican Platform

An accurate summary of the platform adopted in 23 seconds at the Republican national convention in Cleveland was contained in a front page headline in the orthodox G O P Herald Tribune of New York. It read:

"1936 PLATFORM COMPARED WITH THAT OF 1932. 'Planks o nRelief' spending, money and utilities are materially the same."

The implication is that the Republican party produced no single constructive policy in Congress or elsewhere during the more than three years of the Roosevelt administration. Learned nothing and forgot nothing. And with ex-Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, ex-Senator Bingham of Connecticut, ex-Senator Moses of New Hampshire, ex-Senator Edge of New Jersey et al. on the sub-committee of the Resolutions Committee, the implication is, and of right should be, correct.

No more apt description was supplied than that of M. Harvey Taylor, the Pennsylvania GOP State Chairman. Said he: "The candidate and the platform are designed to appeal to both conservative and liberal elements." Mr. Grundy's Mr. Taylor did not mean that his party was nominating a liberal on a conservative, or vice versa. He had in mind the fact that both platform and candidate are all things to all men.

The farm, tariff, social security, child labor, world court and all other planks literally face both ways. The promise of a re-enactment of the ill-fated McNary-Haugen act, twice vetoed by Republican Presidents, is glibly given, along with such an absolute exclusion of imports as would preclude sales of farm exports. As though this policy of isolation on the part of the world's greatest industrial-agricultural nation had not thus been sufficiently established, the tariff plank as such provides a higher tariff wall, while in the same breath adjusting it "with a view to promoting international trade."

"State laws and interstate compacts" are urged to "abolish sweatshops and child labor" but no reference is made to the pending child labor amendment already ratified by 24 states and insofar as "compacts" between the states are concerned, no better definition could be given of the Constitution.

But more conspicuous are the omissions from this strange document that condemns everything Rooseveltian whilst asserting that such Roosevelt measures as it mentions can be better administered under GOP auspices. For instance, billions of words and sizable sums to Liberty League lawyers have been expended to discredit and invalidate in the courts the TVA, yet it was not mentioned in the Republican platform. There was not a syllable on the subject of the chaos in the coal industry, which required long paragraphs of promises in previous GOP platforms, despite the issue raised by the Guffey Coal Act. Bank deposit insurance was not touched upon; housing was unmentioned—surely one of the nation's most pressing problems.

Yet, strange as it might seem, spending was not ignored. Of course, the budget would be balanced but without the facility of obtaining from another source 39-40th of expenditures. While Mr. Landon's party promises economy without new taxation, it also pledges distribution of public funds which would run into huge figures. It is going to carry on relief, as it must; it would set a new pace for benefit payments to farmers—without particularizing, as in the case of old-age pensions financed by "a direct tax widely distributed"—whatever that may mean if not a sales tax but at least a soft pedal on income taxes in the higher brackets.

Meanwhile, Gov. Landon has started the exceedingly difficult task of interpreting and clarifying the proposals of the party which would displace Franklin D. Roosevelt in the midst of his task. Would it not be admirable to start it alphabetically—with agriculture?

Keep Plow Busy

Don't stop the plow. A mule and plow can easily be worth $25 per day at this season of the year. A mule and plow can kill more grass in a day than a dozen hoe hands. Keep the plow moving from sun to sun, if you would have muck when the winter comes.—Laverne Journal.

Enforcing Traffic Laws

An Athens, Ala., justice of the peace means to impress on the people in this section that the traffic laws on the highways must be obeyed. He has collected over $600 fines within a 30-day period.—Alexander City Outlook.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

And it came to pass that a certain man in Florida announced himself as a candidate for an important county office. To help himself along and to promote his own popularity he had printed many cards with his name and the office desired. Then he added this post script: "I am known as Honest John." These cards were scattered broadcast over his county and then reports and charges began to fill the air. When they had come floating thru the air to "Honest John" he became very much alarmed. Politics had picked him to pieces and not even he himself could determine as to whether he was as honest as he thought himself to be. In great haste he sent out a call for his cards to be returned and then rumor had it that he was even offering two dollars cash for every card. Verily, verily, I say unto you, if you do not want folks to know more about you than there is to be known you had better stay out of politics.

A mocking bird had her nest just outside of my study window. Finally the nest was alive with living birds and the mother bird was so happy and busy. An old house cat located the treasure box of the bird and proceeded to take a seat under a clump of shrubbery. She was discovered by the mother bird and I never heard an alarm not that sounded more distressing than the one that came from the throat of that bird. She fluttered and flattered and yelled until all in the house knew that something was disturbing her. Her babies were in danger and her little body was shaken with emotion and alarm. Often have I longed to hear the cry of human mothers when they discover that the child of the home is in danger. Many of them today are sitting serenely by while the cat of tobacco, the cat of whiskey, the cat of auto rides, the cat of bad company, is crouching near and ready to make the fatal spring. Mothers listen to me, when you let the cats mentioned crawl near your home nest where your babies are living and growing, you had better cry out with alarm. Such things do not signify safety for your brood.

A strange thing took place at the parsonage door. A man in rags stood before me playing up his colors of poverty, hoping for prosperity. He wore no shoes, his garments were in rags and no hat was on his head. I had cause to believe that he had adorned himself in that garb that his appeal might be the stronger. After it developed that he was collecting clothes for a second hand bargain house. Many people have learned the art of playing up their misfortunes as a source of anticipated prosperity. Lots of folks of late have learned to cry with joy when the trade looks upon them and says, "You poor unfortunate one, here is food, clothing or money." Well, what are you going to do about it?

I was hoeing corn and had strict instruction to thin every hill down to one stalk. Finding a hill that had in it five stalks and all of them being healthy and rich in color, I decided that I would let them grow. I watched that hill of corn to see what it would produce. It had such a promise of many large ears of corn in the fall. Imagine my surprise when I went to gather the corn in October to find only one scattered-grained nubbin. If I had thinned out the hill to one stalk I would have found one large ear of corn and maybe two of them. Parents often point to their children as being rather wonderful. "Why, sir, that boy of mine can do almost everything that you can mention." I am not certain that "a jack at all trades" will ever become an expert at any trade. It is better to do one thing well than it is to do a half dozen in an imperfect way. Thin down, you work to one stalk in the hill and you will likely produce success.

While travelling through the National Biscuit Company plant in Brooklyn, New York, we were introduced to a man who held the position of being the "taster" of the firm. He tasted products offered to the market to see if they were good. The way some folks run around to different churches and to hear new preachers, they must be "sermon tasters." Such folks can always tell you what is wrong with every preacher. Are you a "sermon taster" or have you found a good quality of gospel and you are sticking?

ENOCH HENRY JOHNSON

Mr. Enoch Henry Johnson was born September 30th, 1867, and died June 7th, 1936. He leaves to mourn his loss his widow, Mrs. Margaret LeNorah Johnson, and thirteen children—six sons and seven daughters. There are thirteen grandchildren, four brothers and five sisters.

The thirteen children are: Jason H., Tom K., and Earl C., of Verbena, Ala.; Lawton A., of Prattville, Ala.; Elbert B., of Denver, Colorado; Sam A., of Detroit, Michigan; Mrs. Homer G. Tapia and Miss Georgia Johnson, of Mobile, Ala.; Mrs. J. O. Dickinson, of Altoona, Ala.; Mrs. E. M. Hunt, Mrs. Wm. B. Harrison, and Miss Gladys Johnson, of Birmingham, Ala.; and Mrs. Chas. P. Holdt, of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, S.A.

"I'm glad they aren't quintuplets," said George Dionne, of Milwaukee, Wis., when notified that his wife had given birth to twins.

Alabama Press Association Vacations at Havana, Cuba

Editors, Their Wives, Children and Guests
Spend Week of June 14 On Island
As Guests of the Cuban Government

By NELL WELLS WALTON,
Lafayette Sun, Lafayette, Ala.

Havana, Cuba, a modern city with a background of old world charm—such as the destination of the four hundred and thirty-six persons composing the Alabama Press Association, their wives and children who boarded the special train at Montgomery, Sunday morning, June 14th. Every degree of interest and enthusiasm was manifested by the party as the train of open coaches, one baggage car, and the diners moved on its way to Tampa, Fla. A cordial greeting was extended the writers group by Llean Otero and Augustin Lazo, members of the Cuban Club of Reporters, who met them in Tampa.

Upon leaving the train the passengers went directly on board the S. S. Florida, which has a capacity of 780 passengers and a speed of 19 knots per hour. Enraptured and his orchestra furnished delightful dance music, Cuban and American, during the early part of the evening, after which a game of Hunt was enjoyed. The game hung heavily all about and the waves beat heavily against the ship. As a result several members of the party became seasick, and did not all good seafaring persons are supposed to do.

The ringing of the ship's bell Monday morning signalled that breakfast served and the assembly was told a brief stop would be made at West, Fla. When the Florida reached the Press group was amazed and amused at the native swimmers who played near the ship and who were for coins thrown them by the ship. Upon recovering the money divers placed it in their mouths and then called for more. As soon as a steamer had been relieved of her load, the "Key West" she put out on her 90-mile voyage to Havana, a trip that would take the Alabama out of sight of land. En route into the Gulf stream was ascertained for the waves were high and stronger.

About 4:30 P. M. Monday the shout "Cuba, Cuba!" echoed throughout the ship and the press party was filled with excitement as the island appeared a veritable dot on the distant horizon. Drawing nearer to land the passengers were able to discern Morro Castle, the Maine monument, Cabanas prison, and many other points of interest, standing in bold relief against a sky of blue and grey. Also could be seen the spot where the Maine lay at the starting point of Cuba's liberation. The Morro Castle, in all its splendor, now used as an officers' training camp (the West Point of Cuba), was constructed by slaves in the sixteenth century at a cost of $80,000.

Carrying the Convention members, P. & O. liner, Florida, arrived in Havana Monday afternoon at 5:00 P. M. The press delegates were given a gala welcome at the dock by members of the Reporters Association, officials of the Cuban National Tourist Commission. The municipal band played "The Stars and Stripes" and the Cuban and American national anthems as the steamer pulled and the visitors stepped on to Cuban soil.

Cars and chauffeurs under the direction of the Tourist Commission lined the dock, ready to convey the visitors to the Plaza Hotel, where reservations had been made and where eight years before the Alabama Press Association held their annual convention. The Americans were amazed at the absence of traffic laws. There were only a few traffic lights in the city and cars pass on the right side, cutting corners, passing on the left, weaving their way through in and out of the congested traffic. Most of the cars are open ones of American make.

The Hotel Plaza, a spacious building with lofty ceilings, is one of the most beautiful in the city. Immediately following arrival the Alabamians were the guests at a cocktail party offered by the Compania Ron Bacardi in their private bar. At 8:00 P. M. dinner was served at the Plaza and music and dancing were enjoyed.

At 9:00 A. M. Tuesday cars were waiting and the press group was carried 12 miles south of Havana to Santiago de las Vegas, which is under the direction of Mr. Francisco Castro, under secretary of Department of Agriculture. The main building was once the school for Spanish troops, later it became a trade school for boys and then the Cuban Experimental Station. The station was organized to obtain knowledge of the technical needs of Cuban agriculture and to carry on scientific investigation. The station maintains a service of plant and seed donation to Cuban farmers and daily receives a voluminous correspondence.

Upon returning to the city the Press enjoyed a cocktail party at the private bar of the Havana Club, luncheon at the Plaza, and a tour of the newspaper offices of the city.

Dr. Antonio Beruff Mendieta, Havana's youngest mayor and a lawyer of distinction, graciously received the Press Party in the City Hall. At his direction the Tourist Department was created. Visitors were presented copies of a guide book to Cuba.

Tuesday evening was spent in witnessing a Spanish National Ball game called Jai-Alai, considered the world's fastest sport. A cesta, or basket, with a gloved hand is used to receive and return the ball to and from a wall.

The players may either take the ball out of the air or let it bounce against the wall and catch it on the rebound. The game is played by 35 professional athletes from Spain and Cuba and calls for great strength, endurance, skill and dexterity on the part of the player. Two or four players may participate in a game. A visit to a number of night clubs was also enjoyed.

Visitors roamed the streets of the city, shopping and seeing the sights. Wednesday morning until 11:00 o'clock, at which time the Hon. President of the Republic, Dr. Miguel Mariano Gomez, received the party in the Presidential Palace, a beautiful building erected at a cost of two million dollars. Mahogany furniture, gorgeous draperies, gilded ceilings—all were a source of much admiration. His Excellency, the President, addressed the group expressing the friendly feeling of Cuba for the U. S. and desiring a continuation and furtherance of that feeling. The visitors were particularly impressed with the genial hospitality of the Chief Executive of Cuba.

At 12:00 o'clock Berman Liquor Co. was host at a cocktail party at the conclusion of which the group entered upon a city and country tour. The voice of the city spells the hum of motors, baying steamer whistles, tooting auto horns, the cry of vendors, blurred intonations of newsmen's mixed with the thumping music of guitars, rattling gongs, and tympani. Narrow streets with buildings with tall windows and brass doors are viewed in the older part of Havana. In the newer section wide avenues, lined with graceful palms and beautiful buildings may be seen. There are many signs with curious names and strange messages, but no trouble is experienced in finding an English-speaking person. Shady parks and promenades, theatres of marble, magnificent hotels, clubs, sidewalk cafes, statues, hotels, restaurants, shops, government buildings—all enhance the beauty of the city. Throughout Havana little reminders of Cuban life that have persisted since medieval times, are evident.

The Maine Monument, erected to the memory of the victims of the Maine, is on the shore opposite the side where the boat sank. Constructed of marble the two columns are capped with a bronze American eagle. The structure cost $48,000.

The Havana Cemetery, which ranks third in the world in the cost of monuments, proved of much interest to the group. The cemetery, started in 1567, has many magnificent marble tombs, as large as small houses, where members of families have been entombed for generations. Particularly interesting is the tomb in which the remains of Ex-President G. M. Gomez repose. Rent is required for burial space, thus insuring proper care of the cemetery. If the rent is not paid the skeleton is moved to the buses or boneyard, which is surrounded by a high wall inside of which visitors are not allowed.

Among the interesting and beautiful artistic cathedrals visited by the press party was the historic Columbus Cathedral where once reposed the bones of Columbus. Perhaps the most elaborately and artistically decorated church in the city is "Our Lady Of Mercy," the interior of which is lined with 25 carat gold and hand paintings which were a product of seven years' work by a Cuban artist.

In the suburb of the city is located the Tropical Garden, a tropical allegory of verdant beauty. The garden is owned by a brewery in the city of Havana and is worthy of a visit by an lover of beauty and artistry. Riding into the country the Press observed sugar, tobacco, and fruit plantations owned by wealthy Havana citizens. The natives or tenants of the farms live in huts, many of which are thatched. The chief sources of income to Cuba are these plantations, distilleries and timber. The soil of the greater part of the island is fertile and capable of vast yield.

The concluding feature of the day was a reception with the Reporters Club as host, with Rene Canizares as master of ceremonies. Included in the program was an address by the president of the Club, Mr. Cesar Rodriguez, interpreted by Augustin Lazo, followed by several musical and dance numbers. Concluding the program was the presentation of a section of a spar of the Spanish ship, "Oquendo" to the Reporters Club. The presentation was made by the president of the Alabama Press Association, Webb Stanley, and Senator Will O. Walton, official representative of Hon. Bibb Graves.

At 10:00 o'clock Thursday morning the Press Association was received by the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President of the Senate in the capitol building. The capitol is the seat of the legislative bodies of the Republic and stands majestically in the midst of tropical flowers and shrubs. The building was designed and constructed by Cuban architects and engineers. It is a profusion of marble, bronze and gold and its furnishings are exquisite. The floors are all of marble with the same design repeated in gold in the ceilings. It houses the legislative halls, offices, conference rooms, library and a restaurant for the convenience of its members. In the Hall of Lost Steps, which is in the building, the president of the Republic takes his oath of office in front of the statue of the Republic. Directly in front of the statue is the famous 24 carat diamond contributed by the laborers who constructed the building.

Following a tour of the building the Association assembled in the Legislative Hall where each delegate is provided with a microphone and listened to addresses made by Justo Luis del Piao, president of the Senate and Dr. Carlos Sterling, speaker of the House.

The Press Association's visit to the beautiful City of Havana was climaxed with a banquet at the Plaza Hotel given by the Cuban Hotel Association, under the auspices of the Tourist Association. Dr. Ramon Rodriguez was toastmaster of the occasion and addresses were delivered by the following: Mr. Frederick Kessler, in behalf of the Hotel Association; Mr. Juan Sabates, President of the Tourist Commission; Mr. Augustin Lazo of the Reporters Association; Mr. F. W. Stanley, Alabama Press Association; Hon. Will O. Walton, State Senator of Alabama. There was also a floor show of dancing and singing.

Typhoid Warning Is Issued By Health Unit

The first case of typhoid fever to occur in Chilton County during 1936 has just been reported to the County Health Department. This case occurred in a town with a protected water supply and a town that is in good condition so far as sanitation is concerned. The question arose as to the source of the infection, but upon questioning the patient the answer became fairly evident. The person with the typhoid had recently returned from a vacation that had included camping and fishing, which very evidently meant drinking water from various unprotected springs and wells, staying in camp houses with poor sanitary facilities, and eating food from doubtful sources and perhaps food that was improperly prepared.

This case might very properly be called "vacation typhoid" and such cases occur all too often. Most anyone you ask could tell you that typhoid fever is caused from eating food or drinking water or milk that has become contaminated by the body wastes from a case or a carrier of typhoid fever. They could also tell you that the disease is preventable through vaccination and sanitation. And yet when this person leaves the cares and worries of making a living behind and goes on a vacation he is very apt to leave this information concerning typhoid behind also.

Be careful of the water and milk you drink and the food you eat, not only while you are away on your vacation, but at all times. And remember to be vaccinated against typhoid, for while the vaccine does not give full protection in all cases it does seem to give some protection in every case. There are so many diseases that science has not yet learned to prevent that it seems a waste of money, time, and what is much more important human lives to have those diseases that can be prevented.

Mt. Nebo News

The Sunday school and Epworth League are moving on very nicely but there is room for improvement for there are some who do not attend Sunday school which we would be very glad to have as members. Visitors are always welcome.

Sunday being our regular preaching day Brother Ellis delivered two wonderful sermons which were enjoyed by all present. The afternoon subject was "Seeing That They Will Not Listen To Me." Ex. 6:12.

We will not forget to congratulate the League for their good program Sunday night. The Juniors and Adults did well with their parts. The subject for Sunday night was "Common Questions About Race." Each part was discussed well by each speaker. After the program Brother Ellis delivered a wonderful sermon. His subject was, "The Way." Mark 2:14; John 14:6.

Wake up members, and let's put a little life into this work, and make our parts more interesting by being able to talk and discuss them rather than read them. Let's all try to be present, too, each Sunday night and make our work worthwhile. The subject for next Sunday night is "The Practice of Democracy." This is a wonderful subject to be discussed.

The revival at this place will start the third Sunday in July. Let's not forget and make our plans now to attend.

Caught pilfering the collection box, John Ledonne, 23, a singer in the St. Paul Church at Newsmar, Ky., confessed to the crime. He said he was pressed for payment of a bill.

PHILADELPHIA TO BE SCENE OF DEMOCRATIC ACTIONS

Roosevelt To Deliver Acceptance Address At Franklin Field In Order To Accomodate Large Crowd

MRS. F. D. ROOSEVELT

In 1932 Nominee Franklin D. Roosevelt broke a precedent by going before the Democratic National Convention at Chicago to receive the notification of his nomination for President the day it was made, and to respond from the convention platform with his speech of acceptance.

In 1936 President Franklin D. Roosevelt will break another precedent when, on receiving notification of his renomination by the Democratic National Convention at Philadelphia, he will deliver his address of acceptance in the open air at Franklin Field before the Convention itself and a gigantic rally of Democrats. He would appear before 15,000 delegates and spectators if he spoke in Convention Hall. At Franklin Field he will be looking into the faces of 100,000 people when he lifts his voice for them and the listening millions everywhere in the land to hear him open the Democratic National campaign.

The National Convention will be exactly presented in its out-of-doors session in Franklin Field the evening of June 27th. The diagram and appearance of the floor will be the same as if the Convention were meeting in its Hall. The state delegations will have their relative places around the placard standards which marked their positions at the indoor sessions. The presiding officers, awaiting the President, will direct the assembly from their usual rostrum. The hands which were in the galleries of Convention Hall, augmented by many more, will flank the rostrum and be strategically scattered around the grounds. Serenades-at-arms will do their best to keep the Convention aides open for the delegates, and will see that the Convention has an island to itself. The public will throng around that island and pack the field to its limits. Bright lights will shine on the vivid scene and bring out the colors of countless flags and banners.

This great central rally in Franklin Field will be reproduced without the convention in over 20 of the greatest cities in the country.

Arrangements have already been made for great meetings in baseball fields, stadiums and convention halls. The Roosevelt Nominees hope to have similar smaller Rallies in practically every city and town in the country. In smaller cities these Rallies may take the form of outdoor meetings, or assemblies in hotel ballrooms or town halls, and some cities are even planning evening outdoor barbecues and picnics. All of these Rallies, large and small, will have their own program of entertainment. The universal feature of all these National Rallies will be the reception of the President's address by radio.

For the purpose of conducting these National Rallies simultaneously with the one at Franklin Field, there is being created a great nation-wide organization known as the Roosevelt Nominees. Its slogan is "I WANT ROOSEVELT AGAIN." Membership in the Roosevelt Nominees which includes admission to the local Rally will be acquired by the payment of $1.00 or more to the local organization. The member's name, together with his contribution, will be registered on the Roosevelt Nominees Enrollment Roster which, after the Convention, will be presented to President Roosevelt. The ticket will be issued in two parts. One half will be a certificate of membership as an original Roosevelt Nomineer to be paid for, signed and retained by the member. The other half will be the free ticket which entitles the holder to admission to the Rally.

The Roosevelt Nominees will accomplish two purposes. First, they will have raised by the very day of the President's nomination, a substantial part of the national campaign fund, and second, they will launch that campaign with victory rallies in cities and towns throughout the country by giving assemblies of local Democrats, and all those who want to have a part in President Roosevelt's re-election, the opportunity of hearing and receiving inspiration from the President's address of acceptance.

All of these meetings will be held simultaneously on the evening of Saturday, June 27th. The President will begin speaking over the radio from Philadelphia at approximately 10:00 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time, and all local Chairmen should check with their nearest broadcasting station as to the exact time the speech will be received in their area.

Rubinfoff Holds World Record for Broadcasting

Rubinfoff and his violin—and Chevrolet—are a combination that few, if any, radio listeners in the United States have received in their homes via the air. The famous violinist and his Stradivarius, stars of the Chevrolet Musical programs, have the distinction of going on the air from more broadcasting stations than any other program in the history of radio. Three hundred and seventy-eight stations broadcast Rubinfoff three times a week, a total of fifteen-minute programs. That figures out at 283 hours, and if one week's programs were broadcast one after the other, day and night, it would require 11 days. The illustration shows Rubinfoff, carrying his precious violin, posing his car after a special appearance at Detroit.

Leadership School Held For Clubs

On Thursday, June 18, the Home Demonstration Club leader for 15 communities attended a Food Preservation leadership school at the Home Economics Department in Clanton.

Miss Gladys Kimbrough, Food Preservation Specialist, Educational Department, Ball Brothers Company, gave the demonstration. Miss Kimbrough's wide experience in foods and her practical way of giving a demonstration made the lesson very useful.

The term "Home Canning" may suggest a lot of hot, hard work to some people, but those who saw Miss Kimbrough converting raw material into beautiful delicious jars of tempting food realize that it is one of the fine domestic arts. Miss Kimbrough does not believe that canning is an inspired art. She holds that good material, plus proper equipment, simple recipes and sound instruction should always get good results. Her demonstrations supported this theory.

The same demonstration will be given in the Home Demonstration clubs during the month of July by the club leaders assisted by the Home Demonstration agent, Miss Pardue.

Economy that goes far beyond the thrifty use of gas and oil...

DRIVE A FORD V-8 AND SAVE THE DIFFERENCE--EVERY MILE

Ford economy does not stop with economical use of gasoline and oil. From the day you buy a new Ford V-8 until the day you trade it in, you save the difference every mile.

1. FORD EXTRA VALUE. Modern V-8 engine. Welded steel body reinforced with steel. Safety glass all around. Centerpoise ride on 123" springbase. Super-safety mechanical brakes. Big 6.00x16" air-balloon tires on deluxe models. Torque-tube drive. Clear-vision ventilation and windshield that opens. ALL THESE FEATURES AT NO EXTRA COST IN THE FORD V-8.

2. FORD LOW MAINTENANCE COST. Only Ford owners enjoy the big economies of low priced Genuine Ford Parts and the Ford policy of exchanging factory reconditioned parts (including the V-8 motor) for a fraction of the cost of replacement of similar parts in other cars.

3. FORD HIGH RESALE VALUE. Because more value is built into the Ford V-8, more unused value is left when you trade it in. Striking evidence of this fact is the high value the public itself puts upon used Ford V-8 cars which has made the Ford always worth a higher percentage of its original cost than any other car.

CHILEAN NITRATE CONTEST
SPONSORED BY JEMISON F.F.A.

A very interesting demonstration is being conducted by E.C. Martin, son of Charlie Martin, two miles north of Jemison on Highway No. 31. This demonstration is sponsored by the Jemison Chapter of the F.F.A., and financed by The Chilean Nitrate Educational Bureau. It is supervised by H.H. Denison, Vocational Agriculture teacher of Jemison High School. On this two and one-half acre plot they have one-half acre in the center with no side dressing of Nitrate of Soda and on each side of this check plot is one acre to which 200 pounds of Nitrate of Soda is used as a side dressing when corn was 45 days old. Signs will be erected to indicate the check plot and both side-dressed plots so that those passing may tell where they are located. All interested are urged to watch this demonstration and see just what difference develops. Some time in early August a guessing contest will be held at this demonstration at which free lemonade will be served and the person guessing nearest the actual yield of the plots will receive a prize of $200. The chapter in this section of the state having the best demonstration of this kind will be awarded a nice radio set.

THURSDAY

BECOMING AT HOME OF

GILLILAND SUNDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Gilliland received lots of nice presents. We had with us three preachers, Rev. Chastain of Anniston, Rev. Campbell of Montgomery and Rev. Gilliland of Sylacauga.

The morning was spent with hand-shaking and meeting one another and singing. At noon dinner was spread out in the shade where about seventy-five enjoyed the great feast.

In the afternoon Mr. Newton Gilliland, Mr. Porter, Mr. Albert Hix, Mr. Porch Blackman, the Avondale Quartet from Sylacauga spent about 30 minutes in singing and then went to Collins Chapel to spend the rest of the day. We then had preaching service. The service was opened by the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gilliland, Rev. Leslie Gilliland, a young preacher. After lots of good singing Rev. Chastain made a good talk. He was from Anniston, Rev. Campbell of Montgomery made a good talk. The service was turned over to the young minister, Rev. Leslie Gilliland, and he preached a wonderful sermon. A lot of people were shouting and shaking hands before the meeting closed and praising the Lord.

Clanton Methodist Church News

Rev. A. E. Middlebrooks, Minister

This week the pastor is leading a group of young people in a conference at White Water Camp near Autaugaaville. The young people are from the Selma District.

Dr. Middlebrooks will return Friday and occupy his pulpit Sunday morning speaking from the theme "Licked by Lilies." The thirty-minute vesper service from five to five-thirty is a period of rest, quiet, meditation, devotion led by impressive organ music. There is no sermon or address or speaking of any kind. If you feel the need of a more calm and deepening spiritual life and an opportunity to meditate upon the things of God come to this afternoon service. Members from other churches are given a most cordial invitation.

Church school will open at 9:45 and the young people's evening meeting will be at 6:30.

Visit the Methodist church Sunday afternoon and see what the 5:00 to 5:30 service is like and how it will help you.

Adams News

We heard two splendid sermons Sunday by our pastor, the Rev. J. D. Hopper. The church was well filled for both services.

Brother Hopper took dinner Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Klinger, Mr. Roebuck.

Miss Marjorie Wallace of Maesville spent the day Sunday with Miss Adell Scott.

A surprise birthday party was given for Mrs. A. W. Giles on Friday night. She was celebrating her forty-seventh birthday and Mrs. T. B. Minor celebrated her sixty-eighth birthday on the same day.

Our church has a mighty good record. It lacked two days of being four years since there had been a funeral in when Mr. Evans was buried here on Wednesday. Mrs. Evans and family have our sympathy in their recent bereavement.

Our B.Y.P.U. social that was given Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wilson was a howling success. Everyone present seemed to enjoy themselves. Plenty of cream and cake were served to round out the evening of fun.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Smithman of Prattville spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Scott and family.

Mrs. T. B. Minor went home with her daughter, Mrs. E. Smithman of Prattville Sunday. She expects to stay a few weeks.

DEATH OF MRS. VIRGINIA A. MARTIN

Silently and peacefully the death angel took the sweet spirit of Mrs. Virginia A. Martin from a world of sorrow and suffering to her future abode, last Thursday evening, June 11, at 6:05 o'clock.

She endured her extended illness quietly and left this world with a smile and expression of peace which were characteristic of her during her long life of eighty years.

She was the mother of nine children—five sons and four daughters. She leaves a host of grandchildren, other relatives, and friends to grieve her passing.

Endowed with those qualities of leadership, kindness, cheerfulness and sympathy for others, she distinguished herself from the masses.

YOUNG MAN BRINGS NEWS OF BIG WAR MANEUVERS

First news from the big "War" in Canal Zone waters has begun to filter through. Earl Pate, son of Mr. and Mrs. A.L. Pate, who enlisted in the United States Navy in November, 1935, has just returned from the 1936 South American cruise. He was aboard the destroyer U.S.S. Warden.

The fleet, during maneuvers, steamed South far enough to make acquaintance with Father Neptune. The Warden steamed into the royal realm of the deep at 810, 5 minutes west longitude and latitude 00, 00 minutes, and 00 seconds.

For those who had never crossed the Equator a rather odd initiation was given. Those who survived the initiation were pronounced "Shellbacks," and a "Neptune Certificate" was given to each. Earle Pate is now a "Shellback."

The fleet's destination was Calica, Peru, S.A. The fleet returned to Balboa Island, Panama, on June 8, and arrived in San Diego, California at 2:00 o'clock p.m., June 16.

ago. Her other old salt friend, Slim Summerville, constantly bickers with Kibbee, but when authorities threaten to take the little girl away, the two old sailors present a united front.

Despite their strategy and an attempted flight to sea in the night, the inevitable happens, and vixenish old Sara Haden, the truant officer, takes possession of Shirley. But not for good, however, because unexpected friends turn up to bring Shirley and Kibbee together again and the picture to a happy close.

Shirley executes her toe-tickling new dances in company with Buddy Ebsen, who was a sensational Ziegfield Follies dancer, while her old songwriter Lew Pollack, composed the music for her three new hit tunes.

June Lang, Jane Darwell, as the lady who has her heart set on Kibbee, and Jerry Tucker are prominent in the supporting cast of "Captain January." Produced under the supervision of P.G. DeSylva, the picture was directed by David Butler.

ROOSEVELT, GARNER NOMINATED SERVICE BEGUN BY TRAINS 1 AND 4

MAYOR JONES HAS STATEMENT

Several Passengers Take Fast Trains on First Stop of Schedule

For the first time in history, perhaps, Clanton saw fast trains Nos. 1 and 4 of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad stop here and give passenger service to this section. These stops last Sunday inaugurated an added service of the railroad for Clanton.

The work of eliminating a grade at the station in Clanton has been completed and the railroad has announced that these trains are now making stops in Clanton for passenger service from Clanton to Birmingham, to Montgomery and return. This means that the service is straight through to these cities and points beyond and not local service at stations between.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad is receiving the congratulations and praise of the citizens of Clanton and the entire county on this step. Last Sunday, when the trains made their first stops, something over twelve passengers were picked up at Clanton and almost as many on the return trip.

Of Trio Who Enjoyed
Swim Beforehand

Two young women and one man who were enjoying a swim in the pool at the tourist camp of George Freeman north of Jemison on the highway, suddenly decided to relieve Mr. Freeman of what cash he had, a knife and a shotgun, according to Sheriff Hardy who is holding the trio in the county jail here on robbery charges.

The report stated that the women, Annie Ruth Deshaio and Grace Newborn, of Birmingham were still attired in bathing suits when the robbery occurred, late Friday night. Highway Patrolmen Waites and Henley were summoned and caught the two women and the man who gave his name as (Continued to Back Page)

JOHN GARNER TO BE RUNNING MATE AGAIN

Franklin Delano Roosevelt was re-nominated by a shouting Democratic national convention at 12:42 a.m. (eastern daylight time), Saturday for another four years in the White House.

By acclamation—foregoing the formality of a record vote for the first time since Wilson was so named in 1916—the convention welded in the heat of a final post-midnight demonstration the first half of the Roosevelt-Garner ticket of 1936.

John Nance Garner, arriving here to be on the scene of victory, was re-named at another session for the vice-presidency.

Through eight hours of outpouring praise of Roosevelt—56 nominating and endorsing speeches—the tired-throated weary-eyed delegates stayed to cheer. And at the end, although most in the once-packed galleries had emptied, they demonstrated anew.

Curtains!!

Jim Jones lives out in the country, twenty miles from his office, and drives to work daily. The drive takes place largely on a modern highway, with the last few miles confined to busy streets.

The drive can be made safely in about thirty-five minutes. But Jim would feel ashamed of his record if he ever took that long. So, by "stepping on her" hard, he manages to make it in twenty-five minutes, and sometimes less. The other day, in fact, he did it in twenty-two minutes—a saving of thirteen minutes over the time taken by more conservative pilots.

That saving of time is a great boon to Jim. It permits him to spend ten or fifteen minutes talking about golf to the boys at the cigar stand, or reading the funny papers. And the day he made his record he spent the saved time, plus quite a few minutes more, boasting about it.

Of course, Jim has to weave in and out of traffic occasionally, cursing the slowpokes who move along at a sedate forty-five. And sometimes he has to steal a right of way. Now and then he misses a crash by an inch, and after the first flush of nervousness passes, he chuckles to himself about what a good driver he is. Once he did have a minor accident, but the insurance company paid for that.

There are a good many thousand Jim Joneses driving cars in this country. They go on for years with nothing happening to them—and then the inevitable occurs.

That Distant Tomorrow

"We are not old tomorrow," wrote Paul Speicher some time ago. "Therein lies the difficulty. If we were old tomorrow, selecting investments which would liquidate tomorrow or which would bring us a certain income tomorrow would be a fairly easy assignment. But if we are not old for ten or fifteen or twenty years from tomorrow, to buy investments today which we know will liquidate without loss at the end of twenty years is an almost impossible task."

This is a sombre thought, but its truth is undeniable. And in it can be found the reason why so many foresighted men have decided to permit their savings to be invested by others—by experts, trained in the intricacies of finance, whose judgement has been proven sound. These men turn to life insurance, to trust funds and to similar plans for providing future security, because they wisely understand their own limitations. So far as is humanly possible, they do away with the risk attendant upon investment. They look forward without fear to an independent old age. They have observed the tragic examples of thousands of others.

Most Reliable

I consider my greatest mistake in 1935 was not buying reliable, advertised goods. Last March I needed a new plow and went to the hardware store to pick one out. I had sufficient money to buy a standard, well known, well advertised plow and intended to do so, but a salesman persuaded me to buy one at a much lower price. A month later I noticed this plow was wearing out and would soon be gone. I was without a good plow and didn't have money enough to buy another. In June a friend and I went to a store to buy our summer outfits. We both had money enough to buy

Home Town Boy Makes Good

Jasper roared itself hoarse in welcoming home Speaker William B. Bankhead—a favorite son who made good in a big way.

Speaker Bankhead told the homefolks that he would be a candidate for the high post he now occupies at the next session of Congress.

In the midst of the celebration there was even talk of a William B. Bankhead for President in 1940 movement. That is one of the risks a man runs when people get to liking him too well—they are willing to push him into almost anything.

Statesmanship Needed On Supreme Court

Seeing that our Supreme Court judges are clothed with such tremendous power, are responsible to no one, and hold office for life, should not our Presidents use much more care in selecting them and the Senate much more care in confirming them? In selecting a Supreme Court Justice just as in selecting a President of the United States it is absolutely imperative that America ask: "What high qualities of statesmanship has he shown that we may trust him with such great power over our lives and liberties and property? Have his experience, training, education, and public utterances demonstrated that he understands and has mastered the tremendous and ever-changing social and economic problems confronting our people? Does he know what farmers are up against? Does he know the needs of laborers in our shops, mines, and factories? Is he also fair to men of business and the professions? Is he constantly concerned about the welfare of women, children, and the American home? Does he know the special needs and problems of North, South, East, and West?"

The supreme requirement for a Supreme Court Justice today is not that he shall be learned in all the lore, the traditions, the technical principles of the law, essential as that is. The supreme requirement is that he be a man of genuinely broad and profound statesmanship, including both a heart and head mastery of all the tremendous new social and economic forces of our twentieth century life. Without such a combined knowledge and sympathy he may become a blind Samson pulling down the whole temple of American government on our heads.—Clarence Poe in The Progressive Farmer.

Somebody's Wrong

"The Democrats will carry all of the 48 States but six, and they may carry all of them," says Chairman Farley.

"The Republicans will carry all but six States and I wouldn't be surprised to see them carry all of them," says Chairman Hamilton.

"The Union Party will carry two-thirds of the States," says Candidate Lemke.

Come, come, boys, let's quit soft-soaping each other.—Montgomery Advertiser.

A Suggestion

The Eagle's nomination for the Alabama editor who, in recent weeks, has served his community with the most courage, intelligence and energy:

Reese Amis, of The Huntsville Times, who has exposed and fought wholesale corruption in his county of Madison and driven several hundred vote buyers and sellers out of the courthouse.

This sort of courage is all the more admirable because it is of the unselfish brand, and though it has given The Times increased prestige among the better citizens, it has also made many an enemy for the paper and its editor.

The result has been a special session of the grand jury, and we sincerely hope the county solicitor, circuit judge and jurors will climax the splendid undertaking by sending the crooks to jail.

The Alabama Press Association could do no finer thing than establish some sort of prize for the Alabama editor who, during the year performs the most useful and courageous service for his community.

These tough-minded editors who regard their papers more as an institution of public service and less a business for private profit, ought to have recognition from their fellows as a sort of antidote to the enmity it generates among the local parasites and crooks.—Dothan Eagle.

Rip Van Winkle slept for 20 years, but, of course, his neighbors didn't have a radio.—Atlanta Constitution.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

A man of the world made this speech to me that is worth your reading: "Today I was in the cafe for my dinner and I saw eight young ladies enter. They were neatly clad, they sat down and ate quietly and at the close of the meal I observed that no one of them had ordered beer and not one smoked a cigarette. I went to the proprietor and asked him where such an unusual company of young ladies came from, and he told me that they were attending a church meeting in that little city. I tell you, parson, a man of the world can see the difference between a church girl and a society girl." I replied, "Right you are, and the difference makes the standards of life." I want to tell you parents, the best place on earth to carry your girl, your boy, is to Sunday school and church. You are then leading them into standards that will make them to outclass the worldly life about them.

A friend of mine related to me a terrible bull fight that he witnessed. He said that the bulls argued with each other while they jerked the small trees to pieces with their horns and filled the air with dust from their feet. Then they went together with hook and horn to defend their honor on the battle field. Back and forth they pushed and fought until one of them got his neck in a curve and the other succeeded in breaking it. Of course the fight was over with him. He had fought until he had his neck broken. Many a time have I witnessed men, parties, even churches, arguing over certain issues. Sometimes they go together to fight it out, and sometimes they fight until one or the other party succeeds in breaking his neck. We see folks every day who fought something long enough to get the neck broken. When a fellow has a broken neck he is out of the fight.

When Dr. Sam Steel was pastor of the old McKendree Church in Nashville he was accused of being a modernist. His presiding elder slipped in on him one night to hear what he could hear. Dr. Steel preached in his characteristic manner. He had detected his elder in the crowd and called upon him to lead the closing prayer. The elder prayed thus: "Lord, we are in Thy house and we have heard some mighty strange things tonight. If I had been in the pulpit many of those things would not have been said." At that moment in the prayer Dr. Steel lifted his head above the seats and said: "That is most likely so, Lord." The elder stumbled through the rest of the prayer. I sometimes wonder if the Lord does not get confused listening to the confusion that exists between and among his people.

When I was young in the ministry I went into a community where the besetting sin was that of gossip. I felt called upon to preach against that sin and I let the chips fly up and down, right and left. I was sure that I had dealt that form of evil a deadly blow. Imagine my surprise on my next monthly visit to find that the gossiping was going on just as before. My message that I thought to be so dynamic had not even ruffled the surface. I have learned to appreciate the zeal, the courage, the faith, the confidence, the assurance of youth, but I have long since learned that the world is not going to be reformed in one generation. We can preach our lives away and folks will just keep on doing as they did before we came upon the stage.

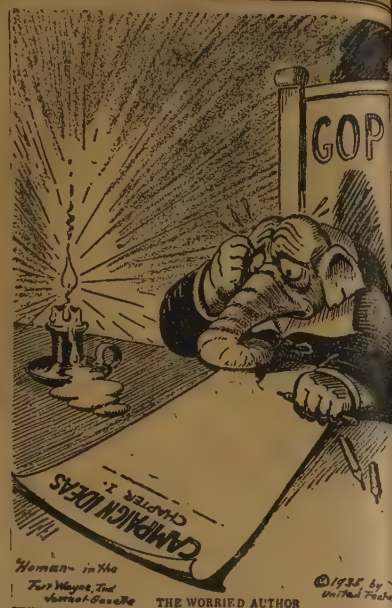

A tired looking lady boarded the street car and not finding a seat she reached for the strap. A sympathetic man arose and offered her his seat. This was so unusual and so unexpected that the lady fainted. For a moment there was confusion in the car. After the lady had revived and was able to speak she lifted her blue eyes to look into the face of the man who had so generously offered her seat and thanked him for his courtesy. This was so unusual that the man became excited and he fainted. What story should carry a lesson to each of us. In these days of rush and selfishness we have well nigh forgotten the virtue of courtesy. It is no longer "ladies first," and rarely ever do you hear, "I thank you kindly." One of the greatest losses of modern times is that old time Southern chivalry. We should be as courteous as we expect the other fellow to be.

Taff-Primm

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Primm in Thorsby, occurred a very pretty wedding on the evening of Saturday, June 27, at 8:30 o'clock. This was the marriage of their daughter, Lois Lavelle, to George B. Taff of Birmingham. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Lawrence L. Stanton of the Congregational Church of which Miss Lavelle was a member. The Lohengrin wedding march was played by Mrs. V. H. Suttie as the bride and groom entered the living room through the hall from the dining room, and stood beneath an arch of green in the north end of the living room where the ceremony was performed.

The bride looked beautiful in a dress of white cellophane chiffon and carrying an arm bouquet of white, pink and yellow snapdragons and ferns. Miss Primm was well known in Thorsby and community, educated in Thorsby grade school and a graduate in Thorsby by Institute, a student at the University of Alabama.

May each of us strive to meet him on Yonder's "Golden Shore."

Miss Corinne Polk Becomes Bride Of James F. Parr At Beautiful Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Mary Corinne Polk and George Franklin Parr was impressively solemnized Wednesday evening, June 24th, at eight o'clock at the First Methodist Church in the presence of a large assemblage with the Rev. E. A. Childs of Marianna, Fla., officiating. A setting of beauty and dignity marked the ceremony. The vows were spoken before the altar banked with southern smilax, palms and ferns. On either side were floor baskets of Easter lilies and white gladioli alternating with branched candelabra and burning cathedral candles.

The musical prelude was presented by Mr. James McClendon, organist, and Dr. C. O. Lawrence, soloist.

Miss Alice Polk, sister of the bride was maid of honor. She wore blue organza over blue taffeta. Her arm bouquet was of pink roses and gypsophila. Four bridesmaids were gowned in pastel shades of knotted net and wore braided ribbon tiaras. They carried arm bouquets of gladioli and double larkspur. Miss Ernestine Childs wore peach color, Miss Edith Hand was attired in yellow, Miss Jane Roberts wore blue and Miss Mary Robinson wore pale green. The four flower girls wore miniature models of the bridesmaids. They were Julia Nell Parrish, Anne Maddox, Ina Saxon McCrany and Janet Ross. They carried colonial bouquets of mixed flowers in pastel colors.

Ushers were Joe A. Ikerman and Ramsey McKinney, who lighted the altar candles, John Parr and William Arthur Willis, Jr.

The bride entered upon the arm of her father, by whom she was given in marriage. They were met at the altar by the groom and his brother, James Christopher Parr, Jr., who served as best man. The bride was a lovely picture in her wedding gown of white wedding ring satin, fashioned on lines of extreme simplicity. Her veil of illusion and lace was caught to her hair with dainty sprays of orange blossoms and extended the full length of her sweeping train. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

As Mary Corinne Polk, the bride has enjoyed universal popularity. She is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Polk. She received her education at Thorby Institute and Athens College where she won many honors.

Mr. Parr is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Christopher Parr, Sr., of Greensboro, Ala. He attended the schools at Greensboro and was graduated from the University of Alabama.

After the ceremony the brides' parents entertained at their home with an informal reception. The bride and groom left immediately for a trip to points in South Alabama and Florida.

"I WOULDN'T RISK MY LIFE ON ANY OTHER TIRE"
Says Louis Meyer—Only three time winner Indianapolis Race 28 33 36

EQUIP YOUR CAR WITH
Firestone
GUM-DIPPED TIRES
for Greater Safety!

THERE is a reason why Louis Meyer won the 500-mile Indianapolis race this year—and why he is the only man ever to win this gruelling race three times. He always used Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires, and never experienced tire trouble of any kind.

Louis Meyer knows tire construction. He also knows that to drive for 500 consecutive miles over this hot brick track, negotiating the dangerous curves 800 times at the record-breaking average speed of 109 miles an hour, requires tires of super strength and greatest blowout protection, as a blowout on any one of the dangerous curves would likely mean instant death. By the Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process every cord in the tires on Louis Meyer's car was soaked and coated with liquid rubber, thereby preventing internal friction and heat. This is the secret of the extra strength and reserve safety built into Firestone Tires.

When you make your holiday trip this week-end, you of course will not drive 109 miles per hour, but at today's higher speeds you do need tires that will give you greatest blowout protection and will stop your car up to 25% quicker. Take no chances! Let us equip your car today with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires, the safest tires built. It costs so little to protect lives worth so much!

THE New Firestone STANDARD

Designed and constructed by Firestone tire engineers for long mileage and dependable service—a first quality tire built of high grade materials by skilled workmen, embodying the Firestone patented construction features of Gum-Dipping and Two Extra Layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread.

Its exceptional quality and service at these low prices are made possible by large volume production in the world's most efficient tire factories. Made in all sizes for passenger cars, trucks, and buses.

Drive in today and let us show you this new Firestone tire!

"Vacation Typhoid" Is Being Warned Against

Montgomery, Ala.—When you pack up your fishing tackle and camping outfit and get away from the "daily grind" for a few days this summer, beware of "vacation typhoid," warns Dr. J.N. Baker, State Health Officer. By "vacation typhoid" Dr. Baker meant typhoid that may be contracted in out of the way places where the vacationer might go, and where the water may be impure, sanitary facilities inadequate, or food supplies doubtful as far as healthfulness is concerned.

Such cases of typhoid already have been reported to the health department this summer, although it was emphasized that there is no danger of an epidemic, so widespread had become the practice of being vaccinated against this disease.

Recently a case cropped up in a community where the water supply is pure and well protected and sanitation is adequate. Why the case should occur was not a mystery long—the county health officer learned that the victim only recently had returned from a vacation.

The vacation included camping, fishing, traveling and having a good time generally, which the health officer said no doubt meant drinking water from unprotected springs and wells, staying at camp houses with poor sanitary facilities, eating food and drinking milk from doubtful sources.

"The first thing to think of when you plan for a vacation is, have you been immunized against typhoid and other diseases which you might come into contact with," Dr. Baker said. "Practically everyone knows how typhoid is spread, but even though they are thankful they are protected at home, often forget to be careful when they are away."

COOSA COUNTY REBUILDING BRIDGE ON HATCHET CREEK

Goodwater, Ala., June 28.—Coosa County will build another bridge across Hatchett Creek on the Jackson Trace Road, in the western part of the county, to replace the one washed away by high waters the early part of this year. This bridge will open a direct road from Montgomery to Weogufka State Park, and on to Birmingham.

In 1813 and 1814 Andrew Jackson blazed this trail, moving his army over it while fighting the Creek Indians in this section, among the battles being that of Talladega and Horse Shoe Bend.

A native of Huntsville, Fletcher spent most of his life here. While he held a degree of law from the University of Alabama and was a member of the bar, he never actively practiced, turning instead to a business career. He never married.

Other Interests
Besides his legislative record, which brought his wide attention as author of the State's budget and control act, Fletcher was prominent in many fields. He was head of the S. S. Fletcher Cotton Company and the Fletcher Mill here, a stockholder in other local mills and a director in the First National Bank.

Fletcher first was elected to public office in 1911, serving in the House of Representatives. In 1931 he was elected to the Senate. He was considered an authority on finance. Legislators often referred to him as the "father" of the budget and control act which prohibits issuance of voucher, check or warrant unless there is money in the treasury to meet it.

SCOTTSBORO—A TOY FOR COMMUNISM

SCOTTSBORO—THE FIRE-BRAND OF COMMUNISM, by Files Crenshaw, Jr., and Kenneth A. Miller, Brown Printing Company, Montgomery; 336 pages including appendix—$2.50.

Poor, innocent black boys; victims of a negro-hating, lynch-loving South; fore-doomed by trumped-up evidence to be a sacrifice to the decadent aristocrats' lust for blood.

There is the picture of the Scottsboro case, presented in a bright red frame to every corner of the world where an aroused sympathy might draw a bit of cash into Communist coffers; to corners of the world that think of Alabama as a place populated with strange, slave-holding savages.

What is the other side of it? Has Alabama a case against the Negroes indicted and convicted of raping two white girls on a north Alabama train? Was the State's evidence "faked"? Were the trial juries influenced by emotion and class hate? Were the courts of Alabama, the prosecuting counsel, the newspapers corrupt tools of an uncivilized people?

Absurd as the whole thing may seem to Alabamians and to Southerners, it may not be dismissed so lightly. The intelligent person outside the South, armed only with day-to-day news dispatches and bombarded with Red propaganda, may justly demand: "If you have a case, let's have it!" And it is for the presentation of Alabama's case, with all of its ramifications, that a Montgomery lawyer and a Montgomery newspaperman collaborated in the writing of SCOTTSBORO—THE FIRE-BRAND OF COMMUNISM.

Here are the summary and challenge embodied in the author's preface:

It is the belief of the compilers of this book that anyone with an instinct to find out the truth, will want actually to read the record before forming an opinion upon the guilt or innocence of the negroes.

This book contains the actual testimony of every witness on the stand that had anything to do with the guilt or innocence of the defendants in the cases which were appealed. It is a verbatim copy of the testimony of these witnesses as set forth in bills of exceptions which were drawn up, not by the State of Alabama, but by the defendants' attorneys themselves, including Samuel S. Leibowitz and Joseph R. Brodsky, and admitted by them to be correct.

When you have finished this book, ask yourself:

"If I had been on the jury, what would have been my verdict?" This interpretive history opens with the arrests at Paint Rock, Ala., of the nine negroes charged with the criminal attack, proceeding through the Scottsboro trials, with the original testimony, to the entrance of the I.L.D. From there it became a Roman holiday after the fashion of Sacco-Vanzetti trial, through which the Communist party seized on every opportunity for publicity and its consequent reward in cash.

The book includes all of the pertinent testimony, much of which news-

EQUIP YOUR CAR WITH
Firestone
for Greater Safety!

THERE is a reason why Louis Meyer won the 500-mile Indianapolis race this year—and why he is the only man ever to win this gruelling race three times. He always used Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires, and never experienced tire trouble of any kind.

Louis Meyer knows tire construction. He also knows that to drive for 500 consecutive miles over this hot brick track, negotiating the dangerous curves 800 times at the record-breaking average speed of 109 miles an hour, requires tires of super strength and greatest blowout protection, as a blowout on any one of the dangerous curves would likely mean instant death. By the Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process every cord in the tires on Louis Meyer's car was soaked and coated with liquid rubber, thereby preventing internal friction and heat. This is the secret of the extra strength and reserve safety built into Firestone Tires.

When you make your holiday trip this week-end, you of course will not drive 109 miles per hour, but at today's higher speeds you do need tires that will give you greatest blowout protection and will stop your car up to 25% quicker. Take no chances! Let us equip your car today with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires, the safest tires built. It costs so little to protect lives worth so much!

Poultry And Egg Production

Sharp increases in poultry and egg production are revealed in a report by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

There were 12 per cent more chicks and young chickens of this year's hatch in farm flocks on June 1 than there were on that date a year ago; and the production of eggs shows a 5 per cent increase.

Recent gains in poultry are attributed chiefly to increases in the North Central States, the increase over a year ago being 14 per cent in the East North West, 14 per cent in the West North Central, and 16 per cent in the Central States.

The increase in production reported to be due partly to the use of about 2 1/2 per cent more layers and partly to increased production per layer.

HIGHLIGHTS OF ROOSEVELT'S SPEECH

Philadelphia, June 27.—Highlights of President Roosevelt's address accepting the Democratic presidential nomination:

I come not only as the leader of a party—not only as a candidate for high office but as one upon whom many critical hours have imposed and still impose a grave responsibility.

I can not with candor tell you that all is well with the world. Clouds of suspicion, tides of ill will and intolerance gather darkly in many places. Philadelphia is a good city in which to write American history.

The collapse of 1929 showed up the despotism for what it was. The election of 1932 was the people's mandate to end it. Under that mandate it is being ended.

The royalists of the economic order have conceded that political freedom was the business of the government, but they have maintained that economic slavery was nobody's business.

Today we stand committed to the proposition that freedom is no half and half affair. If the average citizen is guaranteed equal opportunity in the polling place, he must have equal opportunity in the market place.

The brave and clear platform adopted by this convention, to which I heartily subscribe, sets forth that government in a modern civilization has inescapable obligations to its citizens, among which are the protection of the family and home, the establishment of a democracy of opportunity, and aid to those overtaken by disaster.

We seek not to make government a

TRAINS 1 & 4

publication:
Editor:

"Extending over a period of many years the officials of our City and various civic organizations have endeavored to influence the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company to give Clanton the service of trains Nos. 1 and 4, but until now all our efforts have failed. On March 27th, 1936, I addressed a letter to the Hon. J. B. Hill president of the company, setting up facts why these fast trains should stop here. After considerable correspondence which resulted in a conference in the Mayor's office May 20th, with Mr. T. E. Brooks, Vice-president, and Mr. J. A. Morrison, superintendent, in company with Mr. L. F. Gerald, local attorney, an agreement was reached which went into effect on June 28th as is shown by letter enclosed from Mr. Morrison.

"I think the people of Clanton and the entire county should feel proud of the train service afforded us now by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company and should express our appreciation by using the trains in future more than we have done in the past, together with their freight facilities.

"If you will count the cost and consider the hazard, you will find to travel by rail is cheaper and safer. There is another feature that should appeal to a fair minded public, and no doubt will attract attention is called to it. The Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company paid to Chilton County last year, $23,623.19, and to the City of Clanton, $138.82.

"So you see my friends, to destroy, or damage the railroads, we share in the loss and damage ourselves. We need the railroads, let's play the game fair with them, and insist, if necessary, that do fair by us.

"I understand that twelve or fifteen passengers took train No. 1 here Sunday morning, June 28th, its first stop under the new regulations, and that No. 4 put off several passengers in the afternoon.

"The purpose of this letter is to express thru your paper the appreciation of the citizenship of Clanton and Chilton County to the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company for the service of these two fast trains, and to respectfully ask the public to use them when convenient. Clanton and Chilton County continues to grow and improve. Let's work pleasantly together for the public benefit and not to further our own selfish interests.

"C. FENN JONES,

Mayor."

Following is a letter received recently by Mayor Jones from a railroad official, making formal announcement of this improved train service.

Birmingham, Ala. June 27, 1936.

"Hon. C. Fenn Jones, Mayor, Clanton, Ala.

"Dear Mr. Jones:

"Correspondence and conferences with reference to trains Nos. 1 and 4 stopping at Clanton.

"The work involved in changing the grade of the northbound track has been completed and arrangements have been made to stop Nos. 1 and 4 on signal, beginning Sunday, June 28th, to pick up or let off revenue passengers to and from Montgomery and beyond, and to and from Birmingham and beyond.

"We hope this service will prove of material benefit to your city.

"Yours truly,

"J. A. MORRISON,

Superintendent."

"We have complete stock of groceries and meats, and I feel sure that I will be able with this large stock and my past experience, to give the people of Clanton and Chilton County some excellent service and aid in furnishing them with groceries," Mr. Armstrong stated.

To prove his statements in regard to low prices, Mr. Armstrong is running a large advertisement in this issue of the News offering some outstanding grocery specials for the week.

ROOSEVELT

York, placed the President's nomination, terming him the "franchise man," the convention burst into an ovation that filled this 15,000-seat auditorium with tumult for a solid hour. The convention floor again was a sea of banners after Gov. Tom H. R. South Dakota, was recognized as Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, convention chairman, to make a statement that the rules be suspended, the nomination recorded by acclamation.

Robinson had to pound with all rugged strength to bring the delegates to order for a vote. Hundreds were anxious to be first in the parade around the hall that finally followed.

When the Arkansas senator bowed out his "all those in favor will say a roar, solid in volume and resounding back from the high vaulted roof answered him. Not a "no" was heard.

It was Mack, picturesque in his fashioned black shoe-string tie, touched off the 50-odd minute demonstration for the man whose personal and political friend and adviser has been for more than a quarter of a century.

Some party leaders claimed that was the "greatest" ovation ever mark a Democratic national convention. Certainly it was noisy enough the delegates jammed the hall overflowing in a color splashed around the great auditorium. The standards of every State were waved.

Both among those attending the convention and elsewhere there was comment today of the new deal form rushed through on a voice last night. Not only the constitutional amendments issue, for which it is a plank, but also the labor and reforms stirred much talk.

Labor Heads Pleased

New dealers here privately enjoy when both William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, praise labor plank which spoke of wages, shorter hours and collective bargaining. Both had criticized Republican platform.

"Distinctly encouraging" words used by Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, in speaking of the labor plank. It is called among things for improvement of the life payment, soil conservation and O'Neal added, however, that organization would have preferred "stronger statement" on one of points.

Far into the night, the speeches continued. One second chosen from each State and territory. The words of some were lost in tumult as were those of the late on the list, Gov. Bibb Graves, of Alabama. The shouting that Judge Mack's praise of the "franchise man" still echoed as he talked.

As the name of State after State was called in alphabetical order, under stepped to the speakers' rostrum. Next after Graves was Mrs. H. White, of Arizona, declaring that women of the Southwest "have an enduring sympathy for the present administration."

Next came Mrs. Hattie C. United States senator from Arkansas who said that even though the preme Court had "played tennis" part of the new deal program, Roosevelt still had a record "never equaled."

Interrupted By Applause

Judge Mack, stern visaged and frequently raising high a pointing finger, was interrupted by frequent applause before his climax. He told how he had first presented Roosevelt's name as a candidate for New York senator in 1910, of his career in State Legislature, as assistant secretary of the navy during the war, of his nomination as vice-president in 1920.

In that campaign, said Mack, showed "his sportsmanship in doing" "He could take it."

It was when he told of the president's fight against infantile paralysis that the applause stopped him. He said that "all the suffering through which he has gone" given him a greater "understanding of human needs of all kinds." Again he was stopped when he said that Roosevelt came back to public life when he was able "solely in answer to the of friendship."

Many in his audience knew the reference to the Roosevelt family with Alfred E. Smith.

Praising the record of the new he asserted that the party was for the issue." His concluding words were:

"With our decks cleared for with justice and right and with us, we are ready for more under the inspired leadership of great American whose name I give as your candidate for President longer a citizen merely of one but a son of all the 48 States. I am a son of the United States."

The last four words were added Mack to his prepared text, but matter. No one on the floor of them anyway.

YOUNG DEMOS

dress was short, it was packed with enthusiasm and held the audience with extreme interest. He praised the voters selection of the Democratic nominees of the county stating that "from experience I know the people of your county can trust the affairs of the county in the hands of such men."

In commenting on the organization of Young Democrats, Judge Parrish stated "I admire the candor and frankness of the young men and women of today. They can take problems and situations that caused older people to duck and dodge in the past few years, and face them with perfect frankness and calmness."

"While I realize that I am no young man," he continued, "I am old enough to recognize in the young people of today a leadership that is needed throughout the country, and these young people must carry through. I have a profound respect for the young people who are fighting for Democracy—Democracy is the party of the South."

Judge Parrish, Mr. Birmingham and Mr. Reid were detained for several minutes after the meeting adjourned shaking hands with many of those attending the meeting and expressing their thanks for the splendid talks.

Andrew A. Dillon. They were caught trying to make a get-away and after they had crashed their car into a guard rail post on the highway. Patrolman Waites stated that one of the women attempted to get away by asking a ride on a passing truck. They were brought to Clanton where they were still being held Tuesday.

Other arrests reported by the sheriff's office include one for reckless driving, two for carrying concealed pistols, three public drunkenness, one driving while intoxicated, one for violating prohibition law and one for assault and battery.

Sheriff Hardy and his deputies with the aid of the highway patrolmen are continuing their drive against law violators in the county.

"Why I Switched to Dodge"

by GEORGE DEWITT SHEETS, Granford, N. J.

I traded in my small car to get a big Dodge "Beauty Winner." It was one of the best moves I ever made.

Why? Because, in the long run, I figure this big Dodge is actually going to cost me less than the small car I had.

For example, I'm getting 21 miles per gallon of gasoline—and I haven't added any oil between changes. And Dodge is so easy to buy! One can get a Dodge for not much more than $25 per month! It's easy to see why more people buy Dodge cars than any other make, with the exception of the three lowest-priced cars!

Easy terms gladly arranged to fit your budget, at low cost, through Commercial Credit Company.

years. He is one of the outstanding Democrats of the county and has always put forth considerable effort and time in behalf of the Democratic party of the county, state and nation.

The meeting was immediately turned over to Mr. Polk who spoke in encouraging words of the bright outlook for the Democratic party in the coming November election. He also recognized the new members of the county and pledged his cooperation at all times to the committee and the Democratic party.

E. N. Bentley, another of the county's widely known business men of Thorsby was elected vice-chairman. Mr. Bentley, too, is one of the staunch Democrats of the county and his efforts in behalf of the party have been felt throughout each campaign and election. He has been in the garage business in Thorsby for a number of years and is one of the leading business men in that progressive town.

For secretary, Billy Smith, publisher of the Chilton County News was elected by acclamation to serve for the next four years. He has served in that capacity for the past three years.

Claude H. Pipes, prominent young business man of Clanton and clerk of the City of Clanton, was unanimously elected treasurer of the committee. Mr. Pipes is one of the new and younger members of the executive committee.

Mr. Polk informed the committee that he is immediately forming plans to present to the next meeting which will be called in the very near future.

Last Saturday was a joyful occasion when the children of W. M. Oden were all present except two, (Thomas Oden, of Providence, R. L. and Fred Oden of Isabella) to enjoy the day at the home of Silas Oden of Mt. Carmel. The following were present on this occasion were:

W. M. Oden and wife, Paul and Marvin Oden, Crit Oden and family, W. M. Lawley and family, Ira Kelley and family all of Lawley; W. W. Kelley and family of Maplesville; J. F. Bowden and family of Birmingham, H. R. Oden and family of Isabella; Raymond Oden and wife, also of Isabella. Others were Mr. John Sanders, Misses Laura, Eula and Nellis Sanders, Jack and David Sanders, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Sewell, Miss Olea Watley, all of Mt. Carmel and Thomas Jarrett of Montgomery. The morning was spent in exchanging greetings and conversation. At the noon hour a beautiful lunch was spread under great oaks where plenty of ice cold lemonade and tea were served. Brother Paul Oden led a beautiful prayer at the table which was prettily decorated with wild flowers.

In the afternoon swimming and other entertainment were enjoyed until a late hour when it was time to depart, hoping to all be together again next year.

Misses Marlyn Hardy and Frances Almore have returned to their homes in Clanton after attending summer school at Howard College.

WPA PARCELS $350,000,000 TO HELP JOBLESS

Employment Of 2 Million In Next 3 Months Provided By New Deal

Washington, June 30.—A $350,000,000 installment out of the work-relief appropriation was distributed by the Works Progress Administration today to continue employment of 2,300,000 needy during the next three months.

Treasury warrants for approximately one-fourth of the new $1,425,000,000 relief fund were counter-signed by retiring Comptroller General J. R. McCall at the same time as Secretary Ickes announced he would confer with President Roosevelt tomorrow to expedite the start of the Public Works Administration program, separate from WPA. Explaining that an executive order was required to permit WPA to make grants as well as loans from the $300,000,000 in revolving funds reappropriated (Continued to Back Page)

Tom M. Taylor, proprietor of the large Taylor Wholesale Grocery Co. of Clanton, left recently for Tucson, Arizona, where he expects to spend several months on account of his health and in an attempt to improve it.

Mr. Taylor left this message with the News to pass on to his many friends and customers this week: "I regret very much to find it necessary on account of my health to leave Chilton County for awhile. While I am away, I want my friends and customers to know that I deeply appreciate the past favors I have received here, and especially wish to again thank them who have favored me with their business."

"While I am away, I want to ask you to continue to patronize the Taylor Wholesale Grocery Co. where you will continue to receive the same efficient and prompt service. During my absence the business will be in the active charge of Jimmie Taylor and anyone wishing to transact business with the firm can do so through him." Mr. Taylor's many friends wish for him a most pleasant stay in Tucson and hope that he will return in splendid health.

Two-Thirds Rule Abolished

The two-thirds rule was abolished at the Democratic national convention in Philadelphia last week.

A movement has been underway for 20 years or more to abolish the two-thirds rule and the South has fought the proposition consistently on the ground that abolition of the two-thirds rule would curtail the power of the South in National conventions.

Southern Democrats should not feel bad about the convention doing away with the two-thirds rule, however, since an agreement was reached whereby future representation in Democratic conventions shall be based upon proportionate Democratic votes cast instead of upon a population or congressional district basis.

The Democratic party is really a National party and not a sectional party like its chief opponent.

Under the rule allowing representation in the conventions upon proportionate Democratic votes cast, the South will fare very well, its power will not be lessened in the conventions.

The Democratic party has practiced the two-thirds rule for more than a hundred years.

Farm Labor Needed

An Associated Press dispatch from Montgomery, Ala., quotes Mayor Gunter of that city in a statement regarding unemployment which requires no comment. The statement was issued after a check of the city and surrounding counties showed unemployment to be increasing at a time when farmers were seeking workers. Mayor Gunter said:

"While Montgomery, cooperating with the Federal government has been one of the leading cities in furnishing WPA work, it is evident it can't go on forever.

"Farmers are looking for workers and many cotton fields are groaning for attention, yet we find hundreds of workers idle here in the city and they refuse to go out and get this work while it is seasonable.

"I know the work is out there in the farming sections. I'm a farmer myself and I know the conditions. Those who have been on relief should bear in mind that those who are worthy of help are those who make a sincere effort to help themselves."

The Mayor pointed out that these agricultural jobs should be obtained at once in view of the scheduled shutdown of WPA work on July 1.

Favoritism Barred Under Democratic Fund System

Answering accusations of Old Guard Republicans that Democrats asked postal employees to buy one-dollar admission tickets to rallies to hear President Roosevelt's speech of acceptance, Chairman James A. Farley said in a radio address that while every effort had been made to prevent solicitation of Federal employees by the members of the 6,343 local committees throughout the country, those not under civil service rules had a perfect right to contribute if they wished to do so. Roosevelt Nominator subscriptions "that ought not to have been made," he said, were being promptly returned.

"The opposition must of course find something to criticize in this plan," he continued. "Here we have a spontaneous organization created in less than two weeks of more than 6,000 local chairmen and probably 60,000 or more people on their committees and if any one makes a mistake they contend that everything is wrong. On Saturday a million Americans will have subscribed this dollar fighting fund for the re-election of the President. You and I know that the fund will not match in volume the contributions of the rich and powerful who will finance the opposition party. That is so because the management of that

More Than An Admonition

"What was once an opposition has discovered that the Roosevelt Administration is giving the people what they need and want; that at last we are on the road to 'Government of the people, by the people and for the people,' something the Old Guard remembered merely as an admonition of the immortal Lincoln."—Springfield, Mass., News (Ind.)

Loyalty To Our Leader

Baldwin County and Bay Minette have good response to feel a sense of loyalty and good will toward the Democratic party, the present administration and the state's representatives at Washington.

The new and growing prosperity of this entire region dates from the beginning of the New Deal ushered in with the accession of power of the party and its executive heads.

There is no doubt that President Roosevelt will be elected to carry on four years more the work which he has so well begun.

Constituted authorities within the party to which the majority in Alabama gives its vote and to which we look for guidance are calling for contributions to the campaign fund that is necessary to carry on the work of nominating and electing Mr. Roosevelt.

A dollar in hand today is worth, more as evidence of faith and good works than will two torches in hand when the victory celebration begins after the November election results shall have been announced.

Show your loyalty in a practical way today. Do good and contribute.—Baldwin Times.

Bolters On Both Sides

With ex-Governor Al Smith, Dr. Royal S. Copeland, William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, and other former Democrats threatening to "take a walk" and not support the Democratic ticket this coming fall the Democrats will apparently be able to fill their places with dissatisfied Republicans.

Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska elected as a Republican, will string along with the Democratic party again this year, it is said. Gerald P. Nye, of North Dakota, elected on the Republican ticket, is a strong supporter of the Roosevelt Administration. James Couzens of Michigan has announced himself as a candidate for re-election on the Republican ticket, but he is and has been for the past three years a strong supporter of Roosevelt's New Deal policies.

The indications are that the Democrats will be able during the coming campaign to match every Democratic bolter with a Republican bolter. Both parties will have bolters—Jasper Mountain Eagle.

The Republicans are denouncing the New Deal but they didn't dare to advocate in their platform repeal of the new banking laws that guarantee deposits, the law regulating the stock market, the unemployment insurance act, the old age pension law, the farm program and other New Deal laws themselves that have caused criticism of the administration but the administration of these laws. They know to advocate repeal of the New Deal laws means certain defeat.

Keeping Financial Protection Unimpaired

A representative life insurance company recently reported a decrease of 48 per cent in demand for cash surrender values in the first four months of 1936 as compared with the same periods in 1934. Since 1934, the report added, there has been a steady decline in such demands.

This, of course, is the result of better general life insurance savings because of the need for ready cash. The ability to borrow on life insurance policies in time of need, however, prevented men from having to dip into the money they had put aside against old age or some misfortune. That is a splendid sign of the times and shows the practical working-out of individual social security plans.

party has always stood for special favors and private control of the people's government.

"We know now without question that the people of this country welcome the Roosevelt Nominators plan. For the first time in political history it is shown to be possible to secure funds in an open and above-board way. It is insured against obligation to those who by large single donations hope to secure special favors after election day. As National Chairman I am not going to permit these people to be deprived of their rights just because a few opposition leaders would like to scare them out of their loyalty."

MORAL ECHOES

Dean Swift, the famous English wit and preacher, was asked to deliver a charity sermon. He preached so long that he wearied his audience and injured the collection. Later on he was asked to preach another charity sermon in another church, but he was asked to make it much shorter than he did on the former occasion. The Dean smiled and said, "I won't worry them this time." He went into the pulpit and when the time came for the sermon he announced this text: "He that giveth to the poor lendeth to the Lord." "Now, my friends," he began, "You have heard the terms of the loan; if you are satisfied with the security, down with the dust." The great preacher then closed his Bible and walked down out of the pulpit and took his seat. The sermon was over. The collection that followed was a great success. It is not how much a preacher says that makes a good sermon, but what he says.

After the sinking of the Titanic two men were clinging to a broken piece of timber. The timber was not sufficiently large to keep both of them up. They looked into each other's eyes for a moment and then in place of fighting for the timber, one of them let go and went down. This was a heroic act, worthy to be related among the brave, the sacrificial things of life. Here was a man who had rather die himself than to be the cause of the death of a fellowman. That is the way that Jesus loved us. He died that we might live. In this day of selfishness when we read of a sacrifice like that, we are made to believe that there are yet to be found the finest elements of human life.

A man and his wife sought for an apartment in a certain little city. They were taken in by one who was willing to share his home. Months passed and harmony prevailed. The couple went to another city, leaving behind them a rent bill that has never been paid. When will people ever learn the fine art of honesty? When a man tries hard to live right and be a friend to man, of times he is made the loser, but that should not cause us to lose faith in folks. The most of us learn from experience that it is not all gold that glitters. We also learn oft times the most treasured characters are those who make but little show. Blessed is that man who leaves no bills behind him.

A man who had the advantage of the doctor was approached by the representative of that doctor with a bill that was due for many months. He was asked to pay it, but the collector was forced to listen to this defiance: "Pay that bill—and I never expect to pay it. That doctor has ten dollars to me one and he can lose it better than I can pay it." Many a man is little enough to view his bills through a like manner. He may owe a rent bill, he may owe a grocery bill, he may owe a bill at most any kind of a store and console himself that because the man owed has plenty, that he is not under obligation to pay him the honest debt that he is due. Strict honesty speaks loud with the message that a debt is a debt no matter how much anyone may have. If you are going to be a real man, you can not afford to fail in paying your debts. Many who have small amounts due them can afford to lose that amount, but no man who wants to have character can afford to fail to pay the accounts that are due.

Ask that man who is fishing on Sunday: "Why are you missing church on this Sabbath day?" In like manner ask that fellow who is playing golf on Sunday—that fellow who is keeping open store on the Sabbath—that fellow who is enjoying a Sunday picnic—that fellow who is attending a picture show or a ball game: "Why are you missing church today?" And you will hear all kinds of alibis. Occasionally we hear one who is frank enough to express his mind answering the question with this confession: "The church has no interest for me." The greatest problem confronting the church of today is not one of getting members, but it is that of keeping the members in the fellowship of church life. Would that we could find the thing that would hold our membership in the fellowship of church life with the strength of steel. "The church has no interest for me," says the indifferent everywhere.

UNUSUAL EGG IS BROUGHT TO NEWS OFFICE RECENTLY

Mr. J. L. Billingsley of Clanton Route
Three was a visitor to the News office one day last week and brought with him a rather curious egg—or we should say, eggs. This egg, so Mr.
Billingsley said, was laid by a Rhode Island Red hen and was unusually large and on the inside was another ordinary size egg, fully developed.

Nervous, Weak Woman Soon All Right

"I had regular shaking spells from nervousness," writes Mrs. Cora Sanders, of Paragould, Ark. "I was all run-down and cramped at my time until I would have to go to bed. After my first bottle of Cardui, I was better. I kept taking Cardui and soon
I was all right. The shaking quit and I did not cramp. I felt worlds better. I gave Cardui to my daughter who was in about the same condition and she was soon all right."

CARDUI

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU,

The Building Character

By James W. Crookmore, CCC Camp

It is from the building of a character that the greatest good has come. This there is no way to show you a proof. And this good will be a temporary help. It will help, not only year but next year, and on out the long journey of life.

The CCC can show you pictures, terraces, where they have, rich soil from washing into rivers you may see the trees they plant roads they build, the parks they build. But there is no way that you can see a picture of the character that is building into the youth of the We cannot picture the exact that have learned to read and that learned trades, that have health and experience that will them throughout life.

The CCC is not a Forest Conservation Corps primarily, nor is it a Conservation Corps. It is a Conservation Corps to take hold of the younger generation that had no opportunity than any other such generation before it. It took the boys from the land that were unemployed, were draw backs to their families, the state in which they lived, youth that was easy prey to the temptation of criminals, that was alone just as the leaf drifts on the sea. It took the major part of the money, sending the boys home, taught them how to work for honest living for themselves.

In conclusion, let me say a is not great because of its money, cause of its trade, but a nation is if it has a high quality of citizen. The Civilian Conservation Corps building character for the generation.

MISS JETTIE WARD BECOMES BRIDE OF MR. B. R. NIX

A wedding of much interest, large circle of friends, was the Miss Jettie Ward, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Ward, of Montgomery, Alabama, and Mr. B. R. Nix, of Montgomery, Alabama, solemnized at four o'clock Sunday afternoon, June 28th, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. John Smart, of Birmingham, Alabama.

The Rev. E. H. Carleton, pastor of the 76 Street Presbyterian church, officiated, using the ring ceremony. The living room of the home a beautiful setting for the ceremony. The vows were spoken before a provided altar, banked with ferns. Southern Smilax against a background of white, with ivory candles and candelabra, cast a soft glow of semi-darkened room.

Tall baskets of gladioli and dragons and other Summer decorations completed the attractive. The bride wore an attractive tulle of moss white crepe, a shoulder corsage of colorful flowers, her hat a brimmed white felt, with other accessories white, with just a small touch of trimmings.

The only attendants were Grace Ward of Brent, Ala., and Bill Wilkinson of Mobile.

The bride attended Alabama College, Montevallo, and the University of Alabama, where she received her degree. For several years she has been teaching in the Chilton County school where she has a host of friends.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Nix of Jamestown, La., is a young business man. He is connected with The American Snuff Co., now located in Dothan.

Immediately following the ceremony an informal reception was held. A lovely wedding cake, embossed with orange blossoms and lace, was served in the dining room. The table was covered with a handsome white cloth of Irish lace. After the cut the cake, Mrs. Smart was aided in serving refreshments by James J. H. Hudgins and R. K. Donald. About forty guests were present.

The following out of town were present: Allen N. Smith, Langford, Mr. and Mrs. Frank son, of Montgomery, Mrs. John and son, Weldon Ward, Miss Avery and Preston Ragland, and Mrs. Ward Yeager of Ennis.

Following a short wedding at Chattanooga, Tenn., they will home in Dothan, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton N. Sadler, of Kan., since their wedding in 1911 have always dined from one plate.

For Bad Feeling Due to Constipation

Get rid of constipation by taking Black-Draught as soon as you feel that bowel activity has slowed and you begin to feel sluggish. The sands prefer Black-Draught for refreshing relief it has brought. Mrs. Ray Mullins, of Leno, writes: "My husband and I both suffer from Black-Draught and it splendid for constipation, biliousness, and the disagreeable, tired feeling that comes from constipation." With reference to Black-Draught, which this medicine gives her children, she says: "I like the taste and it gave such results."

PAY... by the 10th

Credit in the business world is based on the prompt payment of bills. "Pay by the 10th of the month following purchase," is the rule wholesalers and jobbers expect retailers to live up to.

And in turn your home town merchant must ask you to pay for the goods or service which you purchase of him "by the 10th" so it will be possible for him to keep his credit good.

Credit is an endless chain of good faith. Don't be the "weak link."

Pay by the 10thth whenever possible.

PARALYSIS

Morgan, Colbert, Lawrence, Franklin, Lauderdale, Madison, Winston and Limestone counties but no deaths have occurred despite the seriousness of the disease in many instances.

Dr. Baker said in part:

"The status of the infantile paralysis problem in Alabama while not now alarming, because of its limitation to certain counties in the northern part of the state, by no means justifies an attitude of indifference or complacency on the part of Alabama's health department, nor of its citizens, nor of the practicing physicians who are the ones to whom the first appeal is made.

"Up until now, science has placed at our disposal no dependable vaccine or immunizing agent, such as we have for typhoid or diphtheria. Once the disease has been contracted, there is no specific remedy known to science which can be applied for its cure.

"However, we do know that the disease is caused by a virus, transmitted from one individual to another by secretions from the nose and throat, and that it gains entrance into the body through the lining membrane of the nose.

"Many cases of this disease occur, especially when it is prevalent in epidemic form, which are so mild as to escape detection because there is no paralysis of any of the muscles; yet these cases may harbor the virus and be the means of communicating the disease to others. Therefore, at present, practically the sole means available for the control of this disease is the limitation or prevention of the intermingling of groups of people from infected areas with those from non-infected areas."

NEW DEAL

ed by Congress, Ickes estimated the value of new non-Federal projects would total $600,000,000 or $700,000,000.

May Select Projects
With about $1,340,000,000 expected to be available to WPA during the fiscal year beginning tomorrow WPA officials explained that State and local administrators had been authorized to select projects to be carried out from the $400,000,000 left over from the present program. In recent months projects have been limited to those which should be finished by July 1.

Pennsylvania, with $36,828,750, led the list of allotments made available to State administrators today. New York City came next with $36,697,500. Nevada's $353,000 share was the smallest of any State.

Other allotments, all immediately available, included:
Alabama, $4,088,875; Arkansas, $3,097,500; Florida, $2,845,500; Georgia, $4,333,875; Louisiana, $5,302,000; Mississippi, $2,578,625; North Carolina, $3,220,000; Oklahoma, $1,521,125; South Carolina, $2,645,125; Tennessee, $3,973,375; Virginia, $3,244,500.

Old Wage Abolished
Distribution of the funds coincided with an order raising WPA wages on seven Southern States which had the effect of abolishing the $19 monthly wage which was the lowest paid anywhere in the country. The new minimum is $21.

Wages in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Tennessee which averaged $28.03—were raised to compare with those in Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Virginia and parts of Kentucky and Texas averaging $30.028.

President Roosevelt had estimated that $2,000,000,000 would be required to provide a year's employment for the more than 3,000,000 able-bodied persons on relief. The $1,000,000,000 carried over by other agencies, plus separate appropriations for CCC, PWA, rivers and harbors, reclamation and other projects, will bring the total jobs to about 3,000,000 officials said.

Local Project Is Placed On Preferred List Mayor Jones Says

That Clanton will in the future receive government funds to the tune of forty per cent of total costs of proposed improvements, was assured in a telegram received by Mayor C. Fenn Jones from Senator Bankhead.

The telegram which is quoted below assures Clanton of the funds when they become available and Mayor Jones stated that when the funds are made available that work would begin on extending watermain and doing considerable street improving within the city limits.

Some time ago Mayor Jones was advised by PWA officials that the local projects had been placed on the preferred list and the telegram this week confirms this. Following is the telegram.

Only Man Considered For Head Of School With Three Buildings

Congratulations are being bestowed upon Prof. L. C. Warr, of Clanton, and former principal of the Clanton County High School on his being selected as principal of the large Etowah County High School at Attalla.

Prof. Warr will succeed Prof. W. H. McGregor, who will return to the State Department of Education after teaching one year, and who made a success of that term.

The Etowah High School employs twenty-seven teachers, occupying three buildings, one of which is two-stories. Prof. Warr was the only man considered for this responsible position by the State Board, and was recognized for his fine record as principal of the local high school.

He stated that he intends to move to Attalla, but intended to keep his residential property in Clanton. He served as principal of the local high school for several years, but feels that the section he will soon go to, will offer many possibilities.

It is not often that a Chilton County boy gets the chance to shake hands with the President of the United States, nor does it happen often that one talks with him informally. But when the President of the United States gives a Chilton County boy a cigarette—then that is something.

Nevertheless, Charles C. Foshee, son of Charlie Foshee of Clanton, has done all three of these things and is proud of it—and justly so.

Charles, a graduate of the local high school and who has been attending

Largest Display Of Lightning In Many Years Reported

HAIL DOES DAMAGE IN SOUTHERN PART

Chilton County will well remember the effects of the wind and rain storm and the electrical display in the skies last Monday night. Considerable damage to crops and property over the county has been reported.

It seems that the brunt of the storm centered in the southern and southwestern parts of the county, while lightning played havoc in various spots in other sections.

There were several homes struck by lightning in and near Clanton, while two barns have been reported destroyed by fire caused by the lightning, with several farm animals killed. J. N. Dennis, prominent farmer of the county reports over one thousand watermelons damaged to such an extent they are not salable. The melons had been pulled preparatory to being shipped Tuesday morning. A heavy storm which struck in the southern part of the county, about six miles from Clanton, simply ruined several watermelon crops, and other crops, it was reported to the News Tuesday.

The large barn belonging to Jim Parrish, on the Lay Dam road was struck by lightning and destroyed by fire. Included in the loss was a large incubator and one calf.

The barn of Albert Wilson, southwest of Clanton was also destroyed and included the loss of one mule. It was also reported that a mule was killed by the lightning near Cooper, where the heaviest damage by hail was reported. Cows, calves and other animals were reported to have been knocked unconscious in that section by the hail. Several trees, houses and outbuildings were reported struck and badly damaged by the lightning.

Old-timers state emphatically that the electrical display on Monday night was one of the most brilliant and longest they had ever seen. It started about nine o'clock, and continued to almost four Tuesday morning, with heavy rain and wind.

Legion Convention Is Postponed Indefinitely

A card mailed to the News by Francis Marion Inge, Department Commander of the American Legion, stated that the Legion Convention which was scheduled to be held in Huntsville, has been postponed indefinitely.

The postponement was due to the epidemic of infantile paralysis which has gripped the northern section of the state and was called on the advice of Dr. J. N. Baker, State Health Officer. The date of the convention will be announced later, Commander Inge stated.

PASSING FOOTPRINTS Of The Times

— Billy Smith

It Is Soon

Mr. Jones advises us that the project of improving the streets and extending watermain for Clanton has been approved by the government and the money for this work will come sometime soon. That is good. Mr. Mayor, and we hope that it is the real soon.

Do, Too

We imagine the people who have been residents of the City of Clanton since the extension recently of the city limits, will be glad when the streets are underway too. Then they get watermain, and better fire protection. However, we congratulate them on the fact that they were not of any city taxes for the first time. Mayor Jones stated that it is his idea to get a good supply of water, then extend the mains—after for the government to fork over forty per cent of the cost. Not bad, at.

Best This Week

It's the story of the week. It's a little too. A certain young lady driving out to her cook's home near End Tuesday morning. She felt something come through the car window strike her shoulder and her feet. As she reached the cook's home, she ran across her feet and legs. She yelled, she jumped from the car and did the thing—a large rat. Now, under what would have happened that young lady seen what the rat was that came through the car window at first. We imagine there have been something going on at that time. Don't ask us what the lady. We promised not to tell.

Congratulations

This week we extend our heartiest congratulations to our good friend, Ira Neeley, on his recent marriage to Miss Neeley. We extend our congratulations to Miss Neeley, also. She is a quiet sort of fellow. But he is out and does something that young men apparently find difficult.

You're Back, Boys

We're our highway patrolmen, and Henley, for the past several weeks. We didn't know that they, with families, motored (not on motorcycles) down to points in Florida for their rest and fishing. They're back now, and we're glad to see them.

Of The Road

Following the Patrolmen makes us wonder that the Highway Patrol has a new copy of The Road Rules in regard to trucks. We're getting a copy, but do remember that it states when a truck stops on a highway at night, a red light should be placed at least 300 feet in the rear in front of the parked truck. By daytime, a red flag must be placed at the same distance. It might be that truck drivers became familiar with these new rules. We're sorry we have them this week.

The Paralysis

Epidemic of poliomyelitis, infantile paralysis to you and me, is not in that comforting, however it seems that has been checked in the northern part of the State. We understand several families have recently moved into Clanton and Chilton County the badly affected areas, and several children have been sent here. To us, that seems to be a rather large chance on spreading the dreaded disease, and we can't reason why Chilton County should become exposed to it when it can be taken to prevent this kind of quarantine.

There are out that cases have been heard here, but we are unable to hear the rumors. It seems to us that such precaution cannot be taken until health authorities in this matter that they should use the usual given them in doing everything to prevent an epidemic, or at least of the disease in this county. The county health officer has announced that a nasal spray is now being used to combat this disease and on this appears in the front page of the News this week.

New Auto Tags To Be Purple And White

Montgomery — Alabama's new 1937 automobile license tags—purple and white background—are now being shipped to the probate judges of the State.

Early shipment of the plates was ordered because of limited warehouse facilities at Kilby Prison where they are manufactured. An act of the 1935 legislature requires all cars after October 1, 1936 to bear front and rear license tags, thus doubling the tag factory output.

'So Much For So Little'

"The nearer the dam you can get, the better the fishing."

For years this tip has been luring Alabama fishermen—against repeated warnings—up to the very bases of the state's great power dams. Risks have been forgotten in the exhilaration of sliding a hook down the concrete side of the dam and pulling out a wriggling trout.

Today two Birmingham men are dead. Out of the hundreds who have taken the risks, they were among the ones hurled into the surging waters at Lay Dam Sunday when an automatic switch, responding to a demand for more power in North Carolina, suddenly spun one of the giant water wheels. They were the two who were unable to grasp the life net flung out by attendants.

There is no understanding why men will venture so much for so little. It is hoped that the deaths of Allen P. Hodges and Thomas A. McLane will serve as the warning sufficient to stop this dangerous practice—Birmingham Post.

Warning!

The spectre of infantile paralysis stalks through North Alabama, striking fear into the hearts of every mother and father. It becomes more fearful with the reminder from our health authorities that "science has provided us no dependable immunizing agent against it, and after it has been contracted there is no cure."

The Tennessee Valley counties of Morgan, Lawrence, Colbert, Franklin, Lauderdale and Limestone are said to be the most seriously affected. 109 cases have been reported, most of which are in these counties.

Dr. I. N. Baker, state health officer, warns that no children from the rest of the state should be allowed to go into the affected areas until the danger is past. His warning should be heeded.

A Polite Reporter

The gallantry of an old-time western reporter is recounted in a story which recently reappeared in several publications. It concerns the late great actress, Sara Bernhardt, and the late Sam Davis of the Carson City Appeal.

Mme. Bernhardt and her company were playing in the West, when Davis was requested by the San Francisco Examiner to meet her in Reno and accompany her to the then metropolis of California, and he did so.

After several days of acquaintanceship, during which Davis naturally showed the actress every attention, the time came to part, whereupon "the divine Sara" expressed her appreciation of his kindness by kissing him on either cheek and then on the mouth, saying:

Nothing daunted, Davis made the polite suggestion: "Madam, I also represent the Associated Press, which serves 380 papers west of the Mississippi river."

Whether he received the additional expressions of appreciation to which he appeared to be entitled the story does not state.

The Democratic Platform

The Democratic platform in striking degree possesses the strength of understatement. Not that it yields or recedes or apologizes. Entirely the contrary. It points forward. It does not rant and strut and swagger, as political declarations are wont to do.

In effect it says, calmly and simply and reservedly: "We meant it, and we will keep on from here."

"We have" and "we will continue" recur again and again as the theme. The "net" is, carry on. That tone appears most significantly in the part which deals with the Constitution. No dramas here. But rather a tone of firm patience.

Dealing in a wide and inclusive way with the nation's problems, such as wages, hours, child labor, working conditions, floods, dust storms, droughts, neutrality, questions of State or Federal approach, the platform says in substance:

We have tried, we have met obstacles, we will try again to see whether we can do the job without a change in the Constitution—but do the job we will, and not confine ourselves to the single phase which has been belatedly recognized by the Republican opposition.

To all those who had expected something rabid, the Democratic platform of 1936 will be a deep disappointment. It will reassure the great mass of reasonable Americans that the Roosevelt Administration if given four more years of power will yield not an inch in its purpose to restore prosperity and promote the safety and happiness of the people.

Since any political platform is relative, in the sense that it must compete with the platform of the opposition, here is the contrast, as we see it, with the one that was born in Cleveland:

Whereas the Republican platform looked forward with trepidation, backward with longing and sidewise with apprehension, the Democratic looks only in one direction—straight ahead along the course already charted.

Whereas the former was full of contradictions, giving the appearance of having been constructed by liberals shoveling in one paragraph and reactionaries the next, there is in the Democratic platform that precious element called unity, than which there is nothing more potent, in literature or in politics.—Editorial in New York World-Telegram.

"The Republican platform is a document which confesses that their only hope for victory is a pledge to carry out Roosevelt's program. But why not let Roosevelt do that himself?"—Mobile Press. (Ind.)

"No Republican candidate for President since the Civil War has faced so perplexing and confusing a task as that which confounding a task as that which confront Gov. Landon."—Pontiac Press. (Ind.)

"The Republican platform muffed its three great opportunities, that of the constitutional issue, that on monetary policies and that on Federal economy. It is a hodgepodge of compromise."—Salem, Oregon, Journal. (Ind.)

"In Georgia alone 15,000 homes and 19,000 farms were saved outright by the New Deal's policies now being denounced by the President's enemies. Is this what they mean by 'rangerous and destructive'?"—Atlanta Constitution. (Dem.)

"A private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable." That strong dogmatism appears in the Republican platform of 1936. Where have we seen that identical sentence before? In the Democratic national platforms of 1900, 1904, 1908, 1912, etc. So the Republicans have finally caught up in 1936 to where the Democrats were in 1900 in their 'discovery' that 'private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable.'—Charlotte Observer. (Ind. Dem.)

"The Cleveland Republican platform said: 'We pledge ourselves to the merit system. It should be restored, improved and extended.' Research shows that Mr. Landon's own State has no civil service system at all, although, according to Kansas State officials, a law providing for one has been on the Kansas statute books since before the war. Here is a state of facts that should be taken into consideration by persons attempting to make up their minds about Landon, the relatively unknown."—Baltimore Sun, (Ind.)

"It is when a nominee comes out of obscurity in a very short time, as Gov. Landon has done, that the task of introducing him to the country assumes real difficulties."—Wichita Falls Times. (Dem.)

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

During the World War a company of young Americans had volunteered for service on the battle front. Transport ships were limited and the captain announced to his men that only a few of them would be chosen to cross the ocean. Their names were placed on a piece of paper and if they found a cross on the back side when they drew they were to go to the front. One lad wrote to his mother just before the hour of drawing: "Mother, I am praying that I may draw a cross. That boy was not hunting an easy place in the army. He wanted to go right on to the front and so he was praying that he would draw a cross. His prayers were answered and today that lad is sleeping beneath the poppies on Flanders Field. As you stand before the Great Captain of our salvation, that Captain who is looking for recruits on the battle front of life—are you praying that you will draw a blank? He who would wear a crown must first bear a cross."

While sitting on the grandstand just above a puddle hole that was between the seats and the protecting wire, I saw many things that amused me. Two men came sauntering along, one dressed in a black suit, the other in a white suit with white shoes. The man with the dark suit was leading the way and while he was looking for a seat he paddled right through the mud slush that came up to the top of his shoes. Along came the second man and he too waded through to the ruin of his pants and shoes. After passing through the mud they stopped and with an expression of utter disgust they looked into each other's eyes and the first man said: "What a mess" and it was. I wanted to say to the man in white: "Do not be so cock sure when you are following a companion, he may lead you into the mud and mess up your white clothes." When you have a good character it is foolish to follow anyone into the mud of life. Better use your own eyes and brain. Watch your way when you are being led by other folks. Beware of letting anyone lead you into the mud.

While watching the construction of a building I observed the inspector as he came along looking carefully over every piece of timber. He stopped at a beam and after much investigation he called the supervising and said to him: "That piece of timber must come out." The man tried to argue with him but the inspector held out in his demand. At quite a cost to the company and much delay to the building, the faulty beam was removed and one that was solid was put in that place. One faulty beam of timber would make unsafe the entire structure. Young man, young woman, look carefully over that character structure that you are building. How many bad habits have you already worked into that structure? Do you drink? Do you smoke? Do you run the primrose path? If so you had better remove that habit. Such things will cause your character structure to crash in years to come. All around us we see lives that are crashing down in the prime of life and all because those who go down took the risk of working bad habits into the character building when they were young in life. You are taking a tremendous risk when you work into the structure of your life any bad habit. You are very foolish indeed when you get mad with a preacher, or any one of God's inspectors, who come along and ask you to remove that faulty piece of character timber that you are working into your structure.

A man on the sidewalk stopped me and holding an article in his hand that he had purchased at a nearby store, he said: "You see this article, I bought it over there and the man selling it to me lied to me about its quality." I told him that he was preferring a serious charge. The man then grew red in the face and he said: "He did lie about it and I can prove it." It is a mighty poor business when people go to lying in buying or selling, but there is another form of lying that I would have you to think about. Which is worse—to lie about a thing or to be lying around on Sunday. We see a lot of folks on the Sabbath just "lying around." Sunday morning they are lying around undressed, unwashed, unshaved, getting no good out of God's best day. Don't be guilty of lying around. On Sunday get up, wash up, dress up, shine up and go to God's house. You should have little to say about the fellow who lies about things when you are guilty of lying around on the Sabbath.

Farmers Can Earn Payment Raising Own Legume Seed

By growing their own supply of legume seeds this year for use in 1937, farmers can qualify for payments under the Agricultural Conservation Program," Dr. L. N. Duncan, director of the Alabama Extension Service says.

Under this program, soybeans, velvet beans, cowpeas, and other summer legumes may earn Class II, or soil-building, payments. Special provisions, which qualify these legumes as soil-conservers, except when produced for seed for planting, were included in the program of the Southern Region with the idea of encouraging farmers to produce in their own supply of seed for use in 1937.

Dr. Duncan points out that the plan is to plan for the next year's seed supply, and "every farmer in the Southern region should grow ample quantity of legume seed to meet his needs in 1937."

Obtaining A Raise Or Advancement

THE advantages of analyzing yourself beforehand are never greater than when about to interview your employer in the hope of obtaining a raise or advancement. Know exactly why you think you should have a better job or more money, and before you step into your employer's office have all the points you want to make marshalled in their logical order.

"What are you prepared to do that is better than you are doing now? What assets do you possess that make you capable of handling a more responsible job, or that make you worth more money to me than I am paying you?" These are questions that are certain to be in your employer's mind. It is up to you to have the answers.

It all boils down to selling your employer on you, just as you had to do when you originally got the job. You must make him realize the benefit and profit to him that you can offer in return for a salary increase.

If you have figured out beforehand just what you can deliver, how you can measure up to the more exacting requirements you will be expected to meet, you will have the self-confidence that banishes nervousness and hesitation. And that self-confidence may be the most telling argument in your favor, for a quality that every employer values highly in an employee.

Rhode Island Probation Cuts State Crime Cost

Providence.—The fact that it costs more than $1 a day to keep a man in prison and only 3 cents a day to supervise him on probation has resulted in a saving of nearly $750,000 in a year by the state of Rhode Island, according to Joseph H. Hagan, chief of the division of probation and criminal statistics.

While Mr. Hagan declares he is more deeply interested in using "more probation officers and fewer prison guards" he believes the economic saving is well worth earnest consideration by the taxpayers, who would have to foot a bill exceeding $1,000,000 yearly but for the Rhode Island probation system, which is the nation's third oldest, having started 37 years ago, but 21 years behind Massachusetts, the leader.

New Way To Dress Up Your Studio Couch

THE studio couch is coming into its own in the modern home. Twentieth century hospitality includes the ability to ask guests to stay the night even though the apartment be small and only one bedroom available. This accounts for the extraordinary sales of studio couches and the transformation of the living room itself into a combination studio-bedroom. Suggested below are a few ideas to incorporate the studio couch into a lounging nook by daytime and destroy none of its advantages as an emergency bed.

A framework of rough 2 x 2 seasoned lumber is built to the necessary size. This is then covered with pressed wood and trimmed at the joints with ordinary decorative moulding obtainable from any lumber dealer. Book shelves, radio, liquor or linen compartments can be built into the end sections and it is well to include also on the top of each end section an electrical

CLANTON ON HONOR ROLL

New York, June—Clanton was named as being on the honor roll of American cities which have helped roll up the impressive total of $2,139,998 in pledges to the American Joint Distribution Committee campaign in 1936 for reconstructive and emergency aid to Jews in Central and Eastern Europe. Felix M. Warburg, National Campaign Chairman announced today.

The campaign of the Joint Distribution Committee which is seeking $3,500,000 this year, will run until December 31. The sum already pledged is almost three times as much as the Joint Distribution Committee had in pledges at the same time last year. In this effort 642 communities throughout the United States and Canada have taken part to date.

A number of large cities will hold their campaigns in the fall and the returns from these campaigns are expected to swell the total fund, according to Isidor Coons, National Campaign Director. The American Joint Distribution Committee is the foremost organization extending aid in the form of emigration help, trade and vocational training, economic assistance, medical and sanitary aid, education for children, to millions of Jews in Germany, the refugee countries, Poland, Latvia, Lithuania, Czechoslovakia and other parts of Central and Eastern Europe.

Difficulties Provide the Opportunities for Success

A PROMINENT business executive has said that if he had to name the one quality most essential for success in business, he would say that it is the ability to find genuine pleasure in overcoming difficulties. A tendency to shrink from or avoid difficulties can be a wellnigh fatal handicap to the young man starting his business career.

Every responsible job in every line of work presents its difficulties. The more responsible and better paid the job, the more it abounds with them. It is this very fact that accounts for the fascination of business, and that assures the man successful in overcoming difficulties an ample reward for his labors. It is safe to say that the size of an individual's earnings is an accurate measurement of the number of difficult situations he must deal with in the course of a day's work.

There are millions of people who can fill the routine jobs which business provides. Their reward is the reward the rank and file always receives. The opportunities for success lie in doing the difficult jobs. The man who finds himself in a job where there do not seem to be any difficulties can be sure there is a future in that job for him.

If your goal is a successful business career you cannot do better than hunt for difficulties. Never try to avoid them or pass them on to someone else to worry about. Learn to discover and cope with them better than the men around you, and your success is assured.

CHILTON FARMER FLAYS SPEECHES OF REPUBLICANS; PRAISES NEW DEAL

Chilton County News, Clanton, Ala.

Wonder how the people of Chilton County and Clanton feel, after hearing a Republican speech in Clanton recently? I feel like everyone heard it, and a great deal of it trying to get the hearing distance. I listened for the plowing up of cotton and the criticism of the New Deal that has been the salvation of this Southland of ours, and even of our great Nation.

Then I had better do like everybody I heard not so long since, and she would not start for any one to curse her or abuse her feelings would run off and leave them, so I went west and went as far as the road but could still hear the words in my ears.

I will say to my friends to begin that I am proud of being a Democrat and I believe you are, too (Those are Democrats), especially after the President's acceptance Saturday night over radio.

Have some mighty good Republicans, (some that I love as well as Democratic friends), and I want to call a few facts to freshen your memory even though you did not keep even of your business, you can see the four years preceding the plowing up of cotton, (from 1929 to 1935), you know how hard it was to get a debt; you also know how much you could find to park a car on a street, even on Saturday afternoon, you know how many of your neighbors lost their homes all of their hard-earned possessions; foreclosure of mortgages; how children suffered even for milk and food.

Now we are living in an age now when industry is doing the work, and putting millions of men out of work. I even recall the time when I had to go to plow out six corn middles in one half-day. I plowed one mule, used a three-inch scooter by itself, so you can see I went several rounds to the middle.

I could take the same mule now and make four times as much stuff, and everybody is doing the same thing now. We do not need any more construction jobs, have plenty of power plants, and plenty of machines to do the work of man. All we can do is feed him and let him fish or loaf.

I hope I shall not worry your patience. My records show I fell in the hole $25 in 1929; $205 in 1930; $458 in 1931 and in 1932 I planted cotton without fertilizer and fell behind $100. In 1933 I did not plant any cotton at all myself but let my renter plant fifteen acres, and plowed up three and one-half acres of measured land, and came out a little better than the year before. If I had planted a full crop and plowed up in proportion I would have had a little clear money.

So in 1934 I rented forty per cent of my base acreage to the government and borrowed twelve cents on my cotton and I came out with a small profit.

In 1935 I again rented to the government and sold cotton under a twelve cent guarantee from the government and came out some ahead again.

So I am still cooperating with the government and I am willing to continue.

I would like to say to my Republican friends: If you have forgotten these dates that I mentioned, and these facts that I have stated, and want to try four more years of the worst depression that the world has ever known, I will fast with you and pray the good Lord to forgive us for what we have done, and somehow or some way sustain life for the next four years and give us a chance to repent and to elect Roosevelt president of this great Nation of ours.

Yours truly,
LEE A. POPWELL.

America Must Relight Fires of Freedom President Roosevelt Says in Address

(By Charles C. Foshee)

Special to Chilton County News—Arlottesville, Va., July 4—America relight the fires of freedom that Jefferson started, President Roosevelt said today within a short space of the tomb of the sage of Monticello, home of Jefferson.

Addressing 5,000 persons from the tomb of Jefferson's home, the President cheered as he concluded his address with these words:

"I honor other men had given Jefferson were unimportant to him; the liberties he had given other men were free were all that really counted."

Text of Roosevelt's Independence Day address today at Monticello follows:

"It was symbolic that Jefferson should live on this mountain top of Monticello, on a mountain top all unite and Jefferson was a meeting point of all the vital forces of his time."

"There are periods of history when man seems great because those stand beside him are small. Jefferson was great in the presence of great and free men."

Life Richly Diverse

Jefferson, farmer, lawyer, mechanic, artist, architect, philosopher, statesman, he encompassed the full scope of knowledge and ideals were freed to feed the fires of his own life, not just wood to be left neatly in the wood-box."

"More than any other historic home in America, Monticello appeals to me as an expression of his personality of a builder in its design, not alone of whole, but of every room and part thereof, in the very furnishings Jefferson devoted to his drawing board and made in his shop, there speaks ready capacity and above all, creative genius."

"One day in his long life he gave the world a Declaration of Independence on behalf of political freedom for himself and his fellow-Americans."

"One hundred and sixty years have passed since the Fourth of July, 1776, that day Jefferson was 33 years old."

Havana Trip Will Be Repeated Soon

Success Of The Alabama Press Tour Gives Opportunity For Second Cuba Trip

The visit to Havana by the Alabama Press Association and its friends in June was so successful in every detail and aroused so much interest in Cuba and Alabama, that the railroad and steamship officials have decided to offer the same trip at the same price to those who did not have the opportunity to go on the other.

This trip according to an announcement by the Atlantic Coast Line and P&O Steamship Company, will leave Montgomery on Saturday, August 15th, at 6:25 p. m., arriving in Tampa at 7:30 Sunday morning for a sightseeing trip of Tampa, Clearwater Beach and St. Petersburg. The Sunday tour of West Florida is an added feature and with slight changes the remainder of the program will be exactly the same tour the Press Association took. The price will remain the same at $73.70 from Montgomery, which includes all transportation, hotel and ship accommodations, all meals from the beginning of the trip and sightseeing and entertainment in Havana.

Four or a half days in Havana, just at this time of the year, far cooler than the United States, should be attractive to anyone for a vacation coming in August.

Those desiring information are asked to write W. Roy Brown, Tour manager, Gay-Teague Hotel, Montgomery.

NATIONAL YOUTH MOVEMENT POLICIES ARE EXPLAINED

Details And Qualifications Of The New Program Of The National Youth Administration-Stratation Given By State Director

Following is given an outline, mostly in detail, of the new program of the National Youth Administration, a part of the government, made possible through President Roosevelt, for the purpose of aiding the youths of the United States:

Application:—All youths desiring to make application to the work program will apply to the district directors in the office nearest their home. Application in person is preferable but where distance is too great to permit such, application can be made by letter. District offices are located in Decatur, Gadsden, Montgomery, Tuscaloosa, Birmingham, and Mobile.

Applicants for high school or college aid must apply direct to the principal of the school or president of the college which they wish to attend.

Eligibility:—Members of WPA families certified by the District Director of Intake and Certification who have passed their twentieth and not yet reached their twenty-fifth birthday will be eligible for the new work program. All youths now at work on the program will not have to be recertified.

Eligibility for school aid has not yet been definitely established but it will in all probability be much the same as last year, being offered to students regarded as needy by the heads of the various institutions.

Wages:—Youths on the work program will be paid at prevailing hourly rates of pay as established by the WPA for the state and locality and will work approximately one-third the number of hours required for similar types of work on the WPA. This does not mean that the worker will receive any more than he is now paid each month. It means in some instances, that he or she will work fewer hours, depending

NEWS OF THE WEEK

By Warren Mitchell

Well, give a good look at this column, ladies and gentlemen for it is my first to appear in this paper and I hope you will follow them and enjoy every one of them.

The United States Supreme Court should try and rule the weather unconstitutional and try sending a little rain before the crops burn up and cause a greater reduction in crops than the AAA. Maybe they remembered that the weather was out started by the New Deal.

The kind of soil erosion the Democrats don't want prevented is a landslide for Roosevelt.

Hurrah for the Republican rally held in Clanton recently. They held a pompous ceremony and with much ado proceeded to give Franklin D. a rade down the back. These befuddled gentlemen remind us of the little boys holding a baptizing. They were trying to baptize a rooster, a duck and a billy goat. They got the rooster and duck under all right but couldn't get the goat down in the water. After much blowing and puffing one of the boys said, "Ah, let's just give this goat a good sprinkling and let him go on to hell." The Republicans have about decided they can't lick "Rosy" so they will just heave and holler and let him slide right on into office. They more they say the more they help him.

A Canadian paper says that if the League of Nations fails it will mean for Europe a return to the Jungle. Where has Europe been all this time anyhow?

Following the Schmeling-Louis fight the radio announcer asked Louis if he would like to say a few words over the radio. Louis replied that he would like to go someplace where he could stop his knees from knocking. He was not joking either.

After the Italians do their first Sunday driving in the Ethiopian rain they will start a campaign to force the country back on Haile Selassie.

It is said that a woman loses her front teeth before a man. We wonder if the tongue has any things to do with this?

Shakespeare said: "He must need go that the devil drives. All's well that ends well."

NEWSPAPER ROUTE MAN SEES PROGRESSIVENESS IN COUNTY

Finds Improvements Are Being Made In Every Community; Visits Several Hundred Homes In County Each Week Day

(By C. M. Williams)

Since becoming distributor for the Birmingham News and having the opportunity of acquainting myself with the people over a large area of Chilton County it is interesting to learn that we have an industrious, progressive and intelligent people in our county. In every separate community through which I pass daily the people are busy in their crops and around their homes. You find improvements being made in every community. New homes are being built, old ones are being repaired, and many are being painted. We need no better evidence of progressiveness among people. Power lines are being carried into some communities and the farms and homes are being electrified.

Again some of the best school buildings in Chilton County. These, and many other things indicate a progressive and intelligent citizenship. The thing that is most gratifying to me and the thing which indicates the intelligence of a people is the fact that so many of them are reading a daily newspaper. People who read are informed. An informed people are an intelligent people. I travel over a large area of the country—one of the largest paper routes in the country. Almost every home on my route is getting a daily paper. To verify this statement I wish to give you a list of my subscribers in the rural districts only. It would require too much space for all.

Alabama Farmers

Growing More Pigs

Montgomery, Ala.—Alabama has 24 per cent more pigs than it had at this time last year, reports J. C. Garrett, State and Federal statistician, who states that 638,000 pigs are on farms of the State compared with 515,000 at the same time last year.

The present pig crop is the largest in Alabama since 1924, says the statistician. "The increase is due both to larger numbers of sows farrowing and to a larger number of pigs saved per

Beauty Hints

By Jane Heath

YOU can't trot off in the summer sun and think your eyes are going to look lovely and eyelashes fetchingly long—unless you take a few minutes out of your wee bit of care.

The sun has a tendency to make your eyes pale and your lashes practically non-existent—unless you have to overcome this. Use Kurlash, a scientific compound of ment made of rich natural oil. Apply it on the lower lashes, it will bring out their natural tone and can be certain it will promote luscious growth.

Don't fail to pack Kurlash your bag—or slip it in your purse. This precious little gadget curls your eyelashes in thirty seconds—and it is well spent. Curled lashes are important—they make your eyes look larger, and in the sun they throw flattering, subtle shadows that are guaranteed to fascinate eligible males.

And now for swimming! Did you know the liquid mascara called Lashline is not only delicately tinted, but waterproof?

For tea dances at the vacation resorts, where you are wanted in pastel or for the new trend in shades of eye shadow—Aqua blue, spring green, royal blue, let, light blue, olive green, magnificent.

GUM-DIPPED CORD BODY—Every cotton fibre in every cord in every ply is soaked in liquid rubber. This is the only process known that prevents internal friction and heat, providing greater strength, blowout protection and longer life.

TWO EXTRA LAYERS OF GUM-DIPPED CORDS UNDER THE TREAD—This patented Firestone feature binds the whole tire into one unit of greater strength, cushions road shocks, gives extra protection against punctures.

LONGER NON-SKID MILEAGE—The new scientifically designed non-skid tread is wider, flatter, with more and tougher rubber on the road, giving long even wear and thousands of extra miles.

AS HE OPENS VIRGINIA PARK
Secretary Of Interior Applauds Great Shenandoah National Park; Calls Play Areas True Conservation

(By Charles C. Foshee)

Special to the Chilton County News

Big Meadows, Va., July 3—Into a natural amphitheatre flanked by jagged peaks of the Blue Ridge, 20,000 people converged today to hear President Roosevelt's dedication of the 180,000 acre Shenandoah National Park.

At Washington the Chief Executive stowed a picnic lunch in his car to travel over the 100 mile route into the heart of the picturesque mountain country and over the Skyline Drive, a highway running along the mountain tops.

With Mr. Roosevelt's dedication at 2:30 p. m. (E.S.T.) the people had the pleasure of seeing two cabinet members, Secretary Ickes, whose department embraces the National Park Service, and Postmaster General Farley.

Marine Band Plays

The marine band also was directed to journey to the Capital to take part in the ceremonies.

The speaker's stand, on a site 3,500 feet above sea level, was decorated with a huge eagle in front. An awning was ready in case of rain.

The waiting crowd gave the President a great cheer as the guns of Virginia National Guard boomed out the 21 gun salute. Mr. Roosevelt's car passed between solid lines of CCC boys as he approached the meeting. His car was driven up close to the speaker's stand, with him were Mrs. Roosevelt and Gov. Perry, of Virginia. He was well guarded with secret service men who permitted only a few people to shake hands with the President. He was dressed in tan double breasted suit, wore a white straw hat, black shoes and tie. Mrs. Roosevelt wore a tan linen coat suit with white shoes.

Brief outline of Roosevelt's speech

The President indicated he expected to keep up the work of the CCC in the future.

"Our country," he said, "will need many other young men as they come to manhood for work like this for other Shenandoahs."

Describing the great usefulness of the Skyline as a recreation spot, and the plan for extending it through Virginia and North Carolina, Mr. Roosevelt continued: "We seek to pass on to our children a richer land—a stronger nation."

Speaks to Virginians

Speaking directly to Virginians, he said: "I wish that every citizen of the United States might be able to visit the patriotic shrines with which Virginia abounds. On the basis of my own personal experiences I can say that no person brought up in the northern or extreme southern tradition can have, short of a personal visit, the slightest conception of the treasures of patriotic and historic interest that Virginia possesses. The grace, the charm and the culture of Virginia life, however fully it may be set forth on a printed page, is in fact, almost a closed book without such a contact."

President Roosevelt's party motored to Charlottesville where he will spend the night. There he will give his Fourth of July speech at the historic home of Thomas Jefferson.

OATES FAMILY HAS REUNION

At the home of Dewey Oates on July 4th a few of one of the pioneer families got together for the first time in years, all had a good time enjoying a grand picnic lunch at twelve o'clock and plenty of good cool drinks all day.

Those present were: Mr. Henry Oates—his sons, Mr. Marvin Oates, wife and children, Clarence, Laverne, Mary and Bettie Sue. Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Oates, Mrs. Maggie Oates Foshee, Mr. A. M. Rollins, wife, Sallie Oates Rollins daughter, Nellie Rollins, Mr. and Mrs. John Rollins daughter Jewell, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Kemp and Margaret, Mr. Charlie Childress, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Daniel, Mrs. Celesta Ward and Mr. Woodrow Mims.

Everybody had a good time and hope to get together next Fourth of July.

Our revival begins next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Brother J. D. Hopper of Mt. Creek will conduct the services. We invite each and every one to come and be with us.

Meanderings and meditations: The glitter of Fifth avenue shop windows.

They should shine since they receive a bath and polish every morning . . . Seven dollar neckties . . . and custom-made shirts at twelve dollars a copy . . . That reminds me that a maker of shirts now numbers many women among his customers . . . But a beauty shop has just been opened for men . . . So that makes it fifty-fifty or something . . . That mid-town restaurant that specializes in gefilte fish . . . With a customer list that is mostly Hibernian! . . . Then a mid-town establishment that caters to cocktail chasing women who always have dogs with them . . . The hat check girl picks up a tidy sum on the side by caring for the pooches . . . She keeps them happy with dog biscuits.

. . . and says they really are no . . . Helen Hayes and her seven-year-old daughter . . . Who is her best pal and severest critic.

That dingy old red brick building at 29 East Thirty-second street . . . Sold to have been once the home of Canfield, the gambler . . . Came into prominence because of the elevator operators' strike . . . It's union headquarters . . . Rubloff carrying his violin into the Paramount building . . . Why should I be thinking of that island way down in the West Indies . . . Where one may have a bungalow on a beach, food, clothing and two servants for a mere $20 a month? . . . ## Farm Crops Farmers May Plant In July

Emergency feed crops which farmers in the drought stricken areas of Alabama may still plant are listed by J. C. Lewery, extension agronomist, and members of the Alabama Experiment Station staff, as follows:

1. Cowpeas.—Cowpeas may be planted in most sections of the state throughout July with reasonable expectations for fair yields if planted on good land. Plant 25 pounds or more seed per acre in rows wide enough to permit one or two cultivations. Sow broadcast on good rich, moist bottoms at rate of not less than one bushel per acre.

2. Soybeans.—Soybeans the Ootootan and Laredo varieties may be planted first part of July in upper half of state and later in lower half of the state. Plant in rows wide enough to permit one or two light cultivations. Use 30 pounds of seed per acre. However, if seed are scarce, a lower rate of 15 to 20 pounds per acre of the small seed kinds may be used successfully.

3. Sudan Grass.—Broadcast 25 pounds of sudan grass per acre on moist fertile land. Sudan offers excellent possibilities on good land for farmers to produce sufficient hay for the farm. It produces a hay crop in a short time. It also is an excellent crop for temporary grazing.

4. Sorghum.—Sorghum is an old "standby" for hay and for cutting green and feeding throughout Alabama. It is a crop that can be grown easily and should be used generally this season as an emergency crop. It may be broadcast alone at rate of 25 pounds or more per acre, or if seed are available broadcast with 1 bushel of cowpeas.

5. Millet.—German millet is adapted for planting in July in practically every section of the state for cutting for hay. On good moist land it gives good yields in a short time. Broadcast millet at rate of 25 pounds of seed per acre.

Fertilizers.—If fertilizers are used apply 400 to 600 pounds of basic slag or 300 to 400 pounds of superphosphate per acre for legumes, such as cowpeas and soybeans. For crops such as sudan, sorghum, and millet, top dress with 150 to 200 pounds of nitrate as soon as growth starts. In many instances these crops will likely be planted on lands previously fertilized for other crops which were destroyed by drought.

Farmers are especially urged to make fullest possible use of all moist, fertile creek and branch bottoms by planting them to feed crops.

Service that adds Comfort to Your Home

During these hot summer days, the time you save with a telephone to aid in settling daily problems may be the difference between a day that worries your nerves into a frazzle, and a day that includes the time you need for relaxation.

There are so many details in running a household. An extra loaf of bread from the grocer—a six o'clock order of ice cream from the drugstore—and so on. And with a telephone to run errands, many concerns of the day are easily disposed of.

Of course, most everyone is familiar with the value of telephone service, but if you are trying to get along without a telephone you may be surprised, and pleased, to know how little it costs to have a telephone in your home.

All you need to do is to ask any telephone employee, or get in touch with the telephone Business Office. Order your telephone today, and add comfort and protection to your home.

"SO MUCH FOR SO LITTLE," A LETTER FROM ROUTE 2

Dear Editor:

Please allow me space to say a few words in regard to Mr. Billy Smith's piece in last week's paper in regard to people fishing.

Mr. Smith says it is offering so much for so little. He said it should be a warning to people who are tempted to fish close to a power dam. I think it should be a warning to people that there is more danger in forgetting God, than fishing close to a power dam. God said to remember the Sabbath day and keep it holy. He sure did not say to forget Him and go fishing. There have been three men lost their lives by coming to those waters to fish on Sunday. People should take warning from the Lord. He has power to save people from all harm if they love and obey Him.

Those who are tempted to fish on Sunday, hereafter, remember God's commandment. We do know a child of God will not fish on Sunday, or do any other thing to break His commandment—Mrs. J. D. Mullins

Miss Alice Brooks of Andalusia and Mrs. James Wade returned last Monday from a two-weeks vacation in Chicago, Ill., where they were the guests of Mr. Jack Hayes.

MORE JOBS NOW FOR COLLEGE GRADUATES

Pick-Up in Industries Opens Up Opportunities.

Minneapolis—America's 1936 class of college graduates find from 20 per cent to 100 per cent more jobs available than the class of 1935, with starting salaries $5 to $20 a month higher in many lines. The heavy industries show the most striking revival in employment opportunities, with more "scouts" visiting campuses to interview promising seniors than at any time in the past several years, according to a check-up of the employment situation at 61 leading universities and technical schools, made by Northern Trust National Life Insurance company.

Increases in the number of employment opportunities from a moderate pick-up as much as ten or five times the number of calls registered last spring. Though last year in turn showed a marked improvement over 1934, as almost a range of from $75 to $120 initial salaries prevailing last year, business concerns are now offering an average of $10 a month more in many instances, making a prevailing range of from $85 to $130, depending, of course, upon locality, nature of work, and calibre and record of the graduate.

More concerns are offering $100 to $125 in a typical comment.

Greater activity in the heavy industries is reflected in the fact that of 39 colleges of engineering and technical institutes, 33, through their placement departments, report increases in the number of positions offered, and 23 report the average level of starting salaries to be up.

The electrical, chemical, oil producing and refining, iron and steel, and general manufacturing industries are the principal fields into which new engineering graduates are being called this year. Construction projects, many of them government work, offer jobs to the civil engineers. Many graduates are being placed in sales work by the heavy industries, usually involving special sales training courses with salary paid during the training course, and a progressive schedule of advancement if satisfactory performance is delivered by the graduate.

Of 38 university departments of business administration, 29 find a definitely larger number of positions offered 1936 graduates. Twenty report the level of starting salaries to be higher than last year.

Bovine Tuberculosis Is on Decline in Nation

Washington.—With the addition of Connecticut to the list, 39 states are now practically free from bovine tuberculosis, one of the great scourges of the cattle industry. Tuberculosis eradication work began in Connecticut more than 25 years ago, and since 1918 has been carried on with the active cooperation of the federal government. New London, New Haven and Fairfield counties, the Department of Agriculture announces, recently have been added to the official list of "modified accredited counties in America." Official tuberculosis tests in other counties of the state had previously given them practically a clean bill of health.

To prevent the disease from gaining a new foothold, it will be necessary to retest the previously infected herds at regular intervals and destroy any diseased cattle found at these inspections.

Federal officials estimate that not over one-half of 1 per cent of the cattle in the United States are now infected with bovine tuberculosis. The principal remaining areas of infection are in New York and California. Most of the infected animals are dairy cattle. A decade ago about 4 per cent of the cattle in the United States were infected. As a result of the anti-tuberculosis campaign waged by the federal government, in co-operation with the states and cattle owners, each year has seen a reduction in the infection.

By Mrs. S. J. Ezell

Clanton and Unity Associations came together in great numbers last week to participate in the greatest Mission Institute we have ever held. The cooperation of the Lunch Committees was so perfect that each day bountiful lunches were served to about four hundred. Many were there for each of the three days, which means that they benefited greatly from the study of the books and the other services.

We had an enrollment of 620 with sixty-one churches represented. We are certain that not all registered, but even so, an amazing number.

The speakers were superb. Dr. J. O. Dawson brought three great sermons. Miss Hallie Lee Stoudermire, home on furlough from India, brought many curios, demonstrated many costumes, and told us of the advance of Christ's Kingdom in that far away land. She brought the Missionary address on Tuesday. On Wednesday Dr. F. F. Plainfield, one time missionary to Brazil, now working with foreigners in Tampa, Fla., told a thrilling story of God's Providences in his life. Thursday Miss Essie Fuller, recently home from Brazil, made us know and love that country as we never had before. Giving to missions will be a privilege instead of a duty to many who heard and studied in this School of Missions.

Dr. Fred M. Barnes, State Secretary, brought two great messages on "Missions in the Bible." Dr. Ezell, on Thursday completed the study of that book.

We had a splendid corps of teachers. Miss Eunice Loner, Haleville, taught Y.W.A. Miss Juliette Weeden, Clanton, taught the Bible. Miss Mary Armstrong, Clanton, taught the Bible. Miss Mary Armstrong, Clanton, taught the Bible.

Start A Fall Garden

Now that we are having rains, and the fact that our early gardens are about gone, we should take advantage of the season and plant:

- BEANS (Bunch and Pole)
- BEANS (Limas, Bunch and Pole)
- PEAS (Both Table and Hay)
- TURNIP,
- TOMATO,
- COLLARD,
- CABBAGE
- RUTABAGA,
- POTATOES

By all means, plant a patch of Fall Seed Potatoes, even tho the seed are high. A peck will make several bushels if planted properly and favorable weather continues. If you have your own Potatoes, treat them with Ethylene Chlorhydrin to bring them out of a rest period.

"Consult your seedsman as to WHAT to Plant—WHEN to plant and HOW to plant."

HOMEcoming DAY AT POPLAR SPRINGS, COOSA COUNTY FINE

Overflow Crowd Attends Event At One Of The Oldest Churches

The following account is of the Homecoming Day held recently at the famed Poplar Springs Church in Coosa County. This account was written for, and clipped from, the Birmingham News:

Poplar Springs Homecoming Day Sunday was a red letter event in the history of that historic and almost century-old church in Coosa County. From early morning until the noon hour people arrived in large numbers. By 11 o'clock the church was filled and an overflow crowd remained near the church or seated in cars under the trees in the church grove. People were there from Georgia to Texas, Jefferson, Montgomery, Shelby, St. Clair, Chilton, Elmore, Coosa, Clay, Talladega, Tallapoosa, Randolph, Marshall and Limestone counties, and probably a few other counties in Alabama, contributed to the crowd estimated by many to be more than 1,000. This vast assemblage of people had in the past or their people, especially those from a distance, once lived in that community.

Col. J. B. Atkinson delivered a memorial address, followed by a decoration of the graves in the church cemetery, which has been the burying ground for that community for almost a century.

Singing lessons in the Christian Harmony, the Class Choir, books used at Poplar Springs from early history of the church, and also lessons in the new books were conducted by J. F. Culbertson, R. J. Jacobs, Arnold Jacobs, Rex Adams, W. H. Smith, V. C. Cannon, B. C. Hammond, A. R. Vardaman, Gilbert Beckett, Mrs. John A. Darden, Mrs. A. R. Vardaman and Mrs. Robert Embry

The high point in the day's exercises was the sermon of the day, delivered by the Rev. T. E. Steeley, pastor of First Baptist Church of Roanoke, Ala., and who is a grandson of the Rev. John R. Steeley, a pastor of Poplar Springs Church more than 60 years ago.

Other ministers present and who made talks during the day were the Revs. John W. Dunlap, former pastor, who conducted the devotional exercises; W. M. Bryant, also a former pastor, who delivered the welcome address; A. P. Thomas, pastor of Poplar Springs at this time; H. O. Cashott, St. Clair County; Sam C. Reeves, Goodwater, and the Rev. Mr. Dennis, of Sylacauga. Prof. A. R. Jones, of Electric, made

Miss Neeley Weds Ira Crowe Last Sunday

A wedding that is of wide interest in this section took place last Sunday when Miss Essie Neeley became the bride of Ira S. Crowe, of Clanton, at a quiet ceremony at the bride's home here. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. S. Holland.

Mrs. Crowe comes from a well known family of the county, and is a popular young lady of the young social set of North Clanton. Mr. Crowe is well known over the county and throughout Clanton. For some time he has been prominently connected with the grocery business here and is one of Clanton's prominent young business men.

Following the ceremony, the couple left for a short wedding trip into Tennessee. They will make their home in Clanton, and Mr. Crowe will be connected with the Clanton Cash Store.

jointly by farmer borrowers and the Federal Government, through the Production Credit Corporation. Loans are made to individuals, partnerships or corporations for all legitimate agricultural purposes, such as crop production, raising or feeding cattle and dairying. The present interest rate is five per cent and farmers are only charged for the actual number of days the funds are used.

He also explains that the Associations do not lend Government money but obtain their loanable funds by discounting farmers' mortgages through the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank and the eight Alabama Associations have loaned farmers more than two million dollars this year.

Further information may be had from County Agricultural Agents, Home Demonstration agents or teachers of Vocational Agricultural schools.

This preventive measure has been recommended by the State Health Department. The application should be made by a physician.

It has been announced that revival services will begin on July 26th at the Popwell Springs Church, with the Rev. G. G. Williams doing the preaching. Everyone is cordially invited to attend these services during the week.

CEMETERY CLEANING AT OLD EILAND CEMETERY JULY 27TH

The News has been requested to announce that there will be a cemetery cleaning at the Old Eiland Cemetery on Monday, July 27th. All who are interested are urged to come and bring necessary tools.

Dr. Baker discussed the present Infantile Paralysis situation in the State, and urged that every precaution be taken to prevent the spread of this terrible disease. Dr. Baker advises abandonment of all public gatherings in infected areas, and urges people not to go into counties where the disease is now epidemic.

After the business session in the afternoon, the counties represented gave reports on the results of the Easter Seal sale and other activities through which funds were raised for the care of crippled children. The total amount raised in Chilton County was $105.94.

We feel very grateful to the Clanton Pilot Club, whose interest in the movement was responsible for the raising of a large portion of this amount.

With funds raised in Chilton County, one case has already been selected for treatment as soon as possible facilities are available. Several other cases have been reported and are under consideration by the local committee.

With the funds at hand now we will be unable to meet fully the needs of the county for the present year, but let us hope that the interest in this work will continue to grow until no child in Chilton County whose condition can be remedied will be permitted to grow into adulthood a helpless cripple.

Becomes Principal Of Etowah High School

PROF. L.C. WARR

Professor Warr has accepted a position as principal of the large Etowah County High School, at Attala, Ala. Story appears on front page.

CRIPPLE CLINIC

Mr. W. T. Archer, President of the Alabama Society for Crippled Children. The program consisted of talks by outstanding leaders in the fields of public education, public health and public welfare; round table discussions of the problem involved in providing care and treatment for children suffering from physical handicaps; and reports from counties represented as to ways in which these problems are being met in the various counties.

Mr. E. H. Gentry, Supervisor of Vocational Rehabilitation and Crippled Children's Service, gave a summary of Alabama's program of services for crippled children. This program is a joint project of the State Department of Education, the State Department of Health and the State Department of Public Welfare. It is under the direct supervision of the Department of Education, in cooperation with the other two child-caring agencies. Since the organization of the Alabama Society for Crippled Children in March, 1926, to Feb. 1, 1936, according to Mr. Gentry, 1,971 crippled children have been restored at a cost of $88,618.21. Parents financially able to care for their own crippled children have been encouraged to have the work done. Thru the medium of clinics, an average of about 1,600 children per year have been reached, and parents have received the advice of orthopedic surgeons for the care of their children. More recently provision for the care of crippled children was incorporated in the Federal Social Security Act. Alabama's program was the first to be given Federal approval, and Federal funds are now available to the State for matching purposes. The Alabama Legislature has made an appropriation of $40,000 per year to the Crippled Children's service, but under the State budget law only about $10,000 is actually available.

This makes it necessary for counties to raise funds with which to match money made available by the Federal Government, over and above State participation, if the program is to go forward and actually meet the needs of the crippled children in the State.

Through the sale of Easter seals, and in various other ways, the counties have responded and, it is hoped will continue to respond, to the plea of the crippled child for restoration.

Two very interesting features of the conference were talks by Dr. Keller, State Superintendent of Education, and Dr. Baker, State Health Officer. Dr. Keller stressed the fact that not only crippled children, but normal children as well, are being handicapped by the present distressing school situation. He urged a more active interest on the part of the lay public in the school child and his problems, to the end that legislators may be convinced that the people whom they represent really want full term schools and are willing to pay for them.

Dr. Baker discussed the present Infantile Paralysis situation in the State, and urged that every precaution be taken to prevent the spread of this terrible disease. Dr. Baker advises abandonment of all public gatherings in infected areas, and urges people not to go into counties where the disease is now epidemic.

After the business session in the afternoon, the counties represented gave reports on the results of the Easter Seal sale and other activities through which funds were raised for the care of crippled children. The total amount raised in Chilton County was $105.94.

A communication from W. Roy Brown, who is instrumental in arranging for trips to Havana, Cuba, at special low prices, stated that another trip for Alabamians is now being arranged.

Why Gulf is the Gas for July

THE "DOG DAYS" start in July. Hot, sticky days that play hob with your car's mileage—unless you use a fuel tailored to the weather. If you don't want part of your gas to go out the exhaust unburned, wasted—get That Good Gulf in July. It's specially refined for summer driving—"Kept in Step with the Calendar." And that's why all of it goes to work, none of it goes to waste. Try it.

A SUMMER SONG OF FARM MEN

Here again at his very best is Jesse Stuart, the farmer-poet of Kentucky, author of "The Man with the Bull-tongue Plow."

Great Summer Sun of Heaven, shine upon us,
Throw golden rays, Great Sun, on our bronze shoulders!

We're grateful, Sun, for golden rays upon us,
And knotted body-muscles hard as boulders!

We're grateful, Sun, for life, for earth, for bread,
For land to give us birth and hold our dead;

We're grateful for the white rain in our eyes!

We're grateful for the stir of blowing wind.

We're grateful for our march toward the Sun—
Marching in the strong clay temple—we are in.

Marching, marching, marching to the Sun—
Marching in love with life and unafraid;

Youth, strong American, with dreams ahead!

Blow on our bodies, winds of summer world!

Blow on our lungs sweet breath from vine-clad hills!

Blow from the stars, blow from the living world.

Blow from the green-leaf clouds and mad-white rills!

We love winds of the world, of Time and grass.

That blow forever in sweet monotone,
Blowing a knell for living souls to pass
Back to their native earth and native stone;

Blowing a knell that new souls are now born

To take the plow, to guide man's destiny—
Brown, stalwart men to guide this nation on Through little travails of man's destiny!

Winds of the World, beat music loud and strong,
And as we march, let us march to a song!

—Jesse Stuart in The Progressive Farmer.

FUNERAL FOR CLARENCE MIMS HELD AT WALNUT CREEK

On July 6, Mr. Clarence Mims, age 29, who died at the Central Alabama Hospital last Sunday, was buried at Walnut Creek cemetery with the Rev. Malcolm Lockhart officiating.

Mr. Mims was the son of E. L. Mims of the Refuge community and is survived by his wife, father, mother and two sisters, Mrs. Mae Wyatt and Miss Vera Nell Mims.

Bearers were W. G. Easterling, Ernest Easterling, Reese Baker, Oliver Bradley, Lester Powell, and Monte Mims.

Plant Better Cotton

A total of 38,496 bushels of pure cotton seed directly from breeders were used in Alabama in some 30 counties according to preliminary reports from some 30 counties to J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist.

"In addition these same counties used 75,749 bushels of good seed which had been saved at special gin days or otherwise cared for in ginning to prevent mixing but were one or more years from the breeder, he reports.

"From all improved seed used in 1936, a supply of 3-4 to a million bushels of better planting seed can be saved if proper precautions are followed in ginning the cotton produced from the seed directly from the breeder.

"The cotton improvement program in Alabama is based on the one-variety community plan or community farm organizations.

"One-variety communities have been organized or are in the process of organization in Tallapoosa, Chambers, Coosa, Elmore, Chilton, Perry, Monroe, Washington, Geneva, Pickens, Lamar, Cullman, DeKalb, Etowah, Madison, Franklin and Walker. Community farm organizations have adopted cotton improvement as a major community project in many counties. Outstanding of these reported to date are Escambia, with 14 community organizations; Butler with 6; and Morgan with 8. A number of large producers are cooperating in the cotton improvement program, notably in Lawrence, Colbert, Madison, Jackson, Greene, Pickens, Talladega, Calhoun, Cherokee, Tallapoosa, Barbour, Pike, Autauga, Perry, Dallas, Marengo, Butler, and Sumter. State Demonstration farms are all growing improved varieties.

MRS. CORA MIMS BAKER BURIED AT CANE CREEK

Funeral services for Mrs. Cora Mims Baker, age 48, who died at the Central Alabama Hospital on July 2, were held at the Cane Creek Baptist Church on July 3 at eleven o'clock A.M. The Rev. Malcolm Lockhart officiated, being assisted by the Rev. W. S. Cox.

Mrs. Baker was the wife of Alfred Baker and was a member of the Cane Creek Baptist Church. She is survived by her husband; her father, Mr. Payton Mims; three sisters, Ella, Susie, and Janie Mims; and two brothers, Oscar and Ewen Mims.

Bearers were: John Easterling, Lester Powell, Jim Baker, Dalton Bice, C. D. Duke, and Allen Moatts.

Because his mother refused to let him have the family automobile, John E. Hann, Jr., has confessed to Pittsburgh police that he shot and killed her.

Sam Reynolds, Atlanta garage man, was arrested by the local police when they found that he used a few well-placed licks to boom his tire-changing trade.

REV. A. L. FOSHEE DIES

"Know ye not that there is a prince and a great man fallen this day in Israel." 11 Kings 3:38. These are the words spoken by King David upon being told that Abner had been slain. Truly these words express our feelings together with our grief in the death of a great old soldier of the cross, who is frequently spoken of as the father of the New Liberty Hill church, where his body was laid to rest on last Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

"Thousands of people came to pay tribute of respect and love to the memory of a man whom there was no guile," for it was he who prayed for, and rejoiced in, the salvation of all his friends. He also was a great pillar and helper of his pastor at all times.

Brother Foshee preached over this country for years when he was enjoying good health and was able to get around. He was a good pastor; a tireless worker for his Lord, and a man who always regarded his ministry as a most solemn and sacred trust. This work he filled with a most beautiful devotion. I think it may be truly said of his pastorates that his people loved him and had the utmost confidence in what he did.

His sympathy was boundless, as was his love for the people he served. The writer believes that he was at his best and in his most glorious hours on earth, when he helped and comforted those who were bereaved by the loss of a loved one. His words and spirit seemed to breathe the breath from heaven as he spoke to console his troubled friends and few were they, who did not weep at his tenderness, and rejoice at his beautiful and divinely tempered endowment.

His faith was secretly, triumphantly, glorious, anchored in a risen and victorious Lord. Most men said "Brother

Farm Conditions Greatly Improved

"By every test, agriculture definitely is coming back," says Gov. W. L. Myers, of the Farm Credit Administration.

"The index price for farm products has more than doubled since February, 1933—an all-time low. Gross farm income has increased nearly $3,000,000,000 since 1932. The farm real estate market has been increasingly active, with advancing prices, over the past three years, until now the national average value of farms is 82 per cent of what it was in the immediate pre-war years, 1912-14."

Suit for divorce has been filed by S. W. Rushmore, 66, of Plainfield, N.J., against his wife, whom he admits spanking to "bring her back in the line of virtue."

Mrs. Harry Smith of Walkerton, Ind., has invented and marketed a "kimona jacket" for the poorly feathered chicks.

Foshee" when they were privileged to greet him, whether that was at home or on the streets of any of our towns. We believe firmly that his spirit is and was at rest in a better world than this, as soon as breath left the body.

The floral tribute and the devotion of his friends speak their message of affection for Rev. A. L. Foshee, more beautifully than the lines of even the greatest poet. Let his memory live forever and forever. His wife, Mrs. Rosa Mims-Foshee, a daughter, Ethel, and three grandchildren, Lottie, Mary, and William Scarborough are left to mourn his loss together with a host of devoted friends.

—One who preached with and loved him.

"Don'ts" For Ambitious Inventors

Weird "Perfect Mousetrap" Devices Reveal Common Pitfall

If you have ambitions to be an inventor, and want to profit financially from your inventions, there are a number of "don'ts" you should keep in mind, according to the Inventors Foundation, New York City.

One of the most important of these is not to be carried away with the novelty and ingenuity of your projected invention, without regard to the market that exists or could be developed for it. Proof of the fact that there is no profit in merely fantastic inventions is provided by some of the attempts to invent the perfect mouse trap. The idea has fascinated numberless inventors and patents have been granted for—

A mirror mouse trap in which the unhappy mouse runs wildly around trying to contact his own image, and finally dies of exhaustion or a nervous breakdown.

A belled collar for mice. The collar is fastened around the mouse's neck, whereupon he runs back into his hole, the other mice flee in a panic, the belled mouse pursues, and the hole is rid of its mouse population.

A phosphorescent, plywood cat scented with peppermint which is placed before the mouse hole and is supposed to scare the mice to death.

In general, failure to combine commercial acumen and a keen merchandising sense with inventive ingenuity is the greatest weakness of American inventors, says the Inventors Foundation. The Foundation, organized several years ago by Henry J. Gaisman, Chairman of the Board of the Gillette Safety Razor Company, and a successful inventor, cooperates with New York University, the International Correspondence Schools, and Stevens Institute of Technology, in providing inventors with authoritative information on inventing, patenting and the marketing of inventions.

GOODE TO SEEK U. S. RELIEF FOR DROUTH LOSS

Begins Survey To Assess Ala. Loss Already Placed Over 30 Million

Launching an intensive survey to determine the amount of loss incurred by destruction of and damage to crops in Alabama resulting from prolonged drouth and continued high temperatures Commissioner of Agriculture R. J. Goode announced he expected to have complete official information on the situation assembled by July 10, and on the basis of this information he will make application to the Federal Government for the full quota of relief shown to be needed by this State's drouth stricken farmers.

"The Secretary of Agriculture announced through the press this morning from Washington that drouth conditions in the Northwest are as bad now as they were in 1934 when the United States Government appropriated $500,000,000 for drouth relief," Commissioner Goode said. "Many sections of Alabama are as bad off as the Northwest, and I am going to make formal request that Alabama receive its full share of all drouth relief funds made available, and have the official figures when I do, to back it up with proof of the need for it here."

Enlisting the cooperation of the U. S. Crop Reporting Service for Alabama and J. C. Garrett, State and Federal agricultural statistician for this State also the cooperation of the Extension Service at Auburn, Commissioner Goode has placed at the head of the survey he has instituted, F. W. Gist, his statistical adviser, who recently retired after many years of service, as Federal and State agricultural statistician. He expected, he said, to have the survey completed by July 10, though much of the information will be on hand before that date.

Whole State Hit

The searing blight of the drouth and intense heat cover practically the entire State at the present time, he stated, and has spread over even the south-western section which for a time had escaped it. Corn, forage, hay, and pasture are about finished, he said, and the damage includes cotton along with other crops, where all major crops were planted. Some farmers, he stated, have never been able to plant all their major crops due to scarcity of moisture.

Yesterday, with no let up in drouth conditions, it was estimated that already the damage and destruction of crops had passed the $30,000,000 mark.

Joining forces with Commissioner Goode in the taking of prompt steps for the relief of Alabama farmers, Dr. L. N. Duncan, president of Auburn and head of the Extension Service, announced he had already asked for Federal aid for them, and had requested the U. S. Department of Agriculture to send experts here, to meet with county agents throughout the State.

Later in the day it developed that a representative of the Federal department was in Gadsden. He was communicated with and two conferences arranged, one to be held Tuesday at Athens and the other on the day following at Jasper. Dr. Duncan was advised that other representatives would be sent to attend additional conferences elsewhere in Alabama.

Early Molting Hens Expensive, Says

Hens which begin to drop feathers in June and July are not worth keeping in good poultry flocks, John E. Ivey, extension poultryman, who states that these birds should be removed in order to save feed expense.

Early-molting hens do not lay many eggs as late molters, and eggs they do lay are produced at a time when eggs are plentiful and prices are low.

An ostrich egg would make a set as large as one of 36 hen eggs.

While being cross-examined in damage suit, Frederick A. C. of Rye, N.Y., collapsed and died.

PASSING FOOTPRINTS

Of The Times

— Billy Smith

Heartiest congratulations go to Taylor, manager of the Taylor Grocery Co., this week, on his birthday. Mrs. Taylor gave something of a surprise when a number of his friends began gathering at his home last Thursday night. Cool and calm he is, Jimmy just reminded the fact he didn't feel a day older.

Only The Highway

We want to thank Atticus Montgomery, Advertiser for remarks about our fruit crop county, which he made in a front article in The Advertiser yesterday. We want to remind him we only saw what was on the high-which is a pretty good sample of it off the highway. And, too, we can find no trace of seeping by to see us or anyone. So, here's an invitation to Mr. Montgomery to come to see us.

Having Good Time

heard from Irvin Lande, son of Mr. Lande, the other day. Irvin is Camp DeSoto having a grand time with the boys, and says he is to stay there six weeks. We're wondering how Irvin is going to get his stamp collecting up there. We hope he will keep it going.

Welcome To Clanton

welcome this week goes to S. L. Busby, formerly of Calera, in this county. Mr. Busby has just arrived in Clanton to enter the filling station business.

A Great Day

enjoyed the delicious barbecueed out at Gragg Field Tuesday night. It's flavor and tenderness was inquired as to who the boys might be responsible for the barbecueing. A glance told Marion Foshee and Manuel were on the job, which was the matter. It was a great day, too, we feel, and also that the PWA who were of honor at the blow-out were glad that Clanton doesn't intend to forget.

Apologies

this week we are giving you an apology for the grounds covered by news and there seemed a shortage. We discovered the road supervisor did not have the rumor started last week. It was bitten by a dog, and we have bit a dog; there are no infantile paralysis in the county. Smith is on a needed vacation. Thompson hasn't been flying on account of the weather. McCain has completed his two buildings and intends to erect there have been no fires—and just isn't much news this week.

CLASS HATRED ANSWERED BY SENATOR

R. Achievements Cited Democrat Women Hear Alabamians

Washington, July 21.—Senator L. Radcliffe, Democrat, of Baltimore, Md., told the Democratic National Women's Council last night that President Roosevelt "has done more for the classes of people than any that's ever been in the White House."

During what he termed criticism of Roosevelt by critics of the administration, Radcliffe lauded the president as "great humanitarian" and recited the evidence of his business, prosperity and happiness for people in all walks of life.

Senator Thomas Heflin, of Alabama, also told the council of what he described as benefits from policies of the present administration.

"President Roosevelt," he said, "is rendering prosperity to us, not the kind that is felt by a few money kings, but the kind that is felt by the common man."

"Only class of people," he continued, "that I know of who are fighting the President are those who were not now rich again."

Representative William Lemke, of North Dakota, Heflin said "no one in the third party ticket has a chance to carry a couple of states."

Representative Frank W. Boykin, of Alabama, addressed the meeting

LOCAL FARMERS FIND A REAL SANTA CLAUS

Large Sum Poured Into Pockets Of Farmers Of This County

Farmers of Chilton County received a total of $557,899.04 in rental and benefit payments and profits on cotton options between the time the AAA program started in 1933 and Feb. 29, 1935, reports County Agent J. W. Fant, who has been responsible for distributing the checks to farmers in this county.

Total benefit payments to farmers throughout Alabama have amounted to $39,237,230. Statistics furnished by County Agent J. W. Fant also show that the total value of cotton and cotton seed increased from $37,402,000 in 1932 to $84,105,839 in 1935, an increase of 125 per cent.

In releasing these figures, Mr. Fant stated that this increase in income has played an important part in increasing the business conditions in Chilton County and the State of Alabama.

REPORT VOTERS DESERT LANDON BY THOUSANDS

Nearly 5,000 Who Have Voted Republican Are For Democrats

As indication of political trends in Gov. Alf M. Landon's home state less than a month after he was nominated by the Republicans at Cleveland Press dispatch from Topeka under date of July 3:

"As the deadline for Kansas voters to change parties for the August primary was reached today, incomplete reports from 12 counties showed 4,803 voters formerly registered as Republicans had switched affiliation to the Democratic party, while 956 Democrats had re-registered as Republicans. The 12 included the four largest counties of Wyandotte, Sedgewick, Shawnee and Reno, and the cities of Topeka, Wichita, Leavenworth, Pittsburg, Arkansas City, Hutchinson, Emporia and Concordia."

The consensus of opinion of unbiased observers was that the registration changes indicated increased support for President Roosevelt. Comment as to some sections, where appeals were made to Gov. Landon to include in his call for the special legislative session on July 7 provision whereby the State would derive income from the sale of beer, changes in registration were reported to be due to "loyalty" to the governor.

THE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM

"Most striking in the 1936 Democratic platform is its conciseness and brevity. It is a straight-from-the-shoulder pledge, understandable to the most elementary mind. It straddles nothing. Its framers designed it as a document from which only one meaning could be taken."

A NEW DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

(AN EDITORIAL)

In Philadelphia, where in 1776 political freedom was proclaimed, Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1936 has proclaimed the Democratic principle of economic freedom. The patriots of 1776 threw off political tyranny which placed the many at the mercy of the few; the patriots of 1936 propose to throw off the economic tyranny by which the few rule the lives and happiness of all others. Americans will not submit to a rule of economic royalists in 1936, any more than their forefathers were willing to submit to the rule of political royalists in 1776.

President Roosevelt, in his speech accepting the renomination to the presidency has made the New Declaration of Independence in such ringing and inspiring words that the nation is thrilled to enter a political battle in behalf of the principle that this nation is a land not only of equal political opportunity, but of equal economic opportunity as well.

A wider freedom and a new American way of life—that is the goal; there must be not only political freedom which insures citizens equal opportunity in the polling place, but also that which assures them equal opportunity in the market place. Man must have liberty which assures him "not only the opportunity to make a living in keeping with the standards of his time, but he must have something to live for."

Once again, declared the Democratic standard bearer, the average man confronts the same problem that confronted the minute man in 1776. A few selfish men entrenched in privilege, possessing immeasurable advantage over others through special favors, had formed a group of economic royalists with enormous power through the use of other people's money. They had built a new kingdom through concentration of control. Complexities of modern life had given them their opportunity. They used corporations, banks and securities, the machinery of industry and agriculture, the returns of labor and capital; they impressed into their selfish service every feature of modern life and assumed a power undreamed of by the fathers who founded this nation. They reached out for control of the government itself and gave their new despotism the robes of legal sanction. "Those who tilled the soil," continued the President, "no longer reaped the rewards which were their right. The small measure of their gains was decreed by men in distant cities. Throughout the nation, opportunity was limited by monopoly. Individual initiative was crushed in the cogs of a great machine. The field open for free business was more and more restricted. Private enterprise became too private. It became privileged enterprise, not free enterprise."

For many people, "political equality" had become meaningless in the face of "economic inequality." Today however, President Roosevelt tells millions of his fellow citizens, "we stand committed to the proposition that freedom is no half and half affair. If the average citizen is guaranteed equal opportunity at the polling place, he must have equal opportunity in the market place."

The Democratic party is committed to the principle that a government can protect a man not only in his right to vote, but can also protect him in his right to work and live. As Vice President Garner said in his speech of acceptance: "We still ask for the support of all those who believe as we do that the function of government is to protect the many from the selfishness of the few, to guarantee to all the means of livelihood and participation in the things that make life good and noble and worth living."

No backward step does the administration propose to take. The goal is in sight and the fight will not cease until it is attained. In the words of the President the American people are "enlisted for the duration of the war."

The Hi-Y On The Highway

The problem of the young driver has been taken up by one of the national organizations best fitted to deal with it—the National Hi-Y Council of the Y.M.C.A. The Council has just published, with the co-operation of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, a manual entitled "The Hi-Y on the Highway," a guidebook for bringing Hi-Y Clubs everywhere into active participation in the traffic control movement.

This manual was used as the basis for a discussion of the young driver and his obligation at the National Hi-Y Congress recently at Berea, Kentucky. Dr. Herbert J. Stack, Director of Youth Education for the National Bureau, started the discussion by emphasizing that motor vehicle commissioners and police chiefs the country over complain that the accident record of young drivers is definitely worse than that of adult motorists.

The young driver, Dr. Stack said, is frequently charged with bad driving attitudes. These, rather than inferior knowledge or skill, seem to account for his poor accident record. He likes to show off. He takes unnecessary chances. He is discourteous. Two remedies for the situation suggest themselves. The first, a repressive measure, would keep the young driver off the road by raising legal driving age to 18 or 19. The second, put forward by those who object to the first as being prohibitive rather than progressive, would provide facilities for giving the youngster a proper understanding of the automobile and his relationship to it. This would mean an extension of the present educational trend toward teaching good driving in the high schools.

The Hi-Y can fit splendidly into this scheme. It is precisely the organization to extend the principles of traffic control learned in the classroom into extra-curricular activity. Setting up a traffic control council, formulating a school traffic control program, developing good driving attitudes are projects for which the Hi-Y is well equipped. We may hope that the Hi-Y on the highway will prove to be a strong constructive influence in making the country's young drivers good drivers.

A Better Day For The Investor

"Investors will demand more and more service from brokers and exchanges," said Charles R. Gay, President of the New York Stock Exchange, recently. "I believe that investment is becoming continuously and constantly more analytical, and that speculation in securities is growing more intelligent, without losing anything of its aggressiveness. I am persuaded, furthermore, that in the period of recovery and expansion which lies ahead of us, both investors and speculators are going to uncover values in old established businesses which in reasoned ventures in securities, they will seek co-operation in uncovering necessary facts—cooperation which brokers and stock exchanges naturally will be called upon to render."

The relation between the broker, stock exchange and investor has greatly changed in late years—and for the better. The securities and Exchange Act has outlawed many dubious practices, and affords great protection to security buyers. Equally important, the great stock exchanges have voluntarily adopted the strictest possible rules to govern corporations listing their securities and brokers handling them. This means that the investor can, if he will, pursue an investment program based on facts, not unreasonable hopes.

Why Do They Hate Roosevelt?

One of the most often repeated charges against President Roosevelt is that he has "cerated class hatred." In any comprehensive list of complaints against the President made by a Republican this charge is invariably repeated.

The indictment is made without explanation or rami-fication but the critics usually give the impression that it carries some obscure, sinister significance of great import. Apparently it is aimed at a particular class whom it is taken for granted will not miss the point.

The circumstance is one that might well occupy the attention of students of mass psychology. Marquis W. Childs has made a valuable analysis that should prove helpful in an article entitled "They Hate Roosevelt" in a recent issue of Harper's magazine.

Mr. Childs gives a number of typical case histories of members of immensely rich families whose members nurture a bitter hatred of the President. He points out the anomalous circumstance that this group has profited more from a dollars-and-cents standpoint than any other.

In analyzing the hatred Mr. Childs says: "It is a passion, a fury that is wholly unreasoning. One encounters it over and over again in clubs, even in purely social clubs, in locker and card rooms. At luncheon parties, over dinner tables, it is an incessant theme. And frequently in conversation it takes a violent form, the expression of desires and wishes that can be explained only, it would seem, in terms of abnormal psychology."

Using fictitious names Mr. Childs cites instances where the hatred of Roosevelt has gone beyond all reasonable bounds. The unbalanced budget, waste, graft, the gold standard and other issues are not even discussed. Instead fictitious accounts of plots within the White House, lewd stories about the President and his family too filthy to print have become the choice topics of conversation. More often than not these stories are the inventions of the degenerate scions of Liberty League families who become drawing room heroes with each new tale.

Mr. Childs sums up the social tragedy of this circumstance as follows:

"They seem to have no realization of the plight of the world. The events that occurred between the autumn of 1929 and the spring of 1933 have apparently left no mark upon their memories. The fact that when Mrs. Skeane dismissed her gardeners and chauffeurs in 1933 the dismissal was more disastrous to them than to her, does not lodge in her mind. The fact that in a time when millions are destitute through no fault of their own James Hamilton is very fortunate in having a cabana on the warm sands of Florida has not dawned upon him. Nor does it seem to have occurred to Joshua Thornberry that the plight of hundreds of thousands of families in his own city, who without government relief would speedily starve or freeze to death in the zero weather from which he can so readily flee, may have some logical connection with the taxing of the money which he has cleaned up in a quick and easy stock deal. Not that Mr. Thornberry is not, among his peers, a good fellow, kindly and generous. He simply is not aware of the gravity of the unemployment problem. His ignorance of what goes on outside his little insulated and padded world is abysmal."

It is to this group presumably and to a few conscientious individuals who sincerely believe that classes have no place in democratic America that the charge that Roosevelt has awakened class bitterness is designed to appeal. If there is a wider breach between the classes in America today, who is responsible?

Certainly it cannot be said that Roosevelt has been a demagogic rabble-rouser. What better proof that the rabble-rousers, Dr. Townsend, the Rev. Smith, Father Coughlin, Representative Lemke and their followers hate him with almost as much venom as those of whom Mr. Childs writes?

If Roosevelt has appealed to any class has it not been to the great army of middle-class citizens, farmers, clerks, laborers that make up the bulk and fibre of America? And has it not been his contention that to benefit these is to benefit the whole people? And have not the results been ample proof?

Lately the President has concentrated his attacks upon the "economic royalists" and "entrenched greed." Those who remember vividly his first two years in office cannot recall attacks of this nature. It is a fact that in his first days in office the President not only appealed to the economic giants, but designed his program to aid simultaneously all groups of the economic ladder.

Who were the first to attack the New Deal? The "economic royalists" first raised the flag of a single class, the American Liberty League. They declared they fought to protect American liberties by following a nonpartisan course. The organization was nonpartisan only in that it included members of both parties, but of a single economic group. It began one of the most skillfully planned and financed propaganda drives in the history of the United States.

The "economic royalists" have presented a united front against Roosevelt—Al Smith, apparently a mercenary recruit, the DuPonts, Bainbridge Colby, former Governor Ely of Massachusetts, former Senator Jim Reed, John J. Raskob, Andrew Mellon, etc. Some of them merely stooges of royalty, but all with a common cause—beat Roosevelt.

Was it not this group that first threw down the gauntlet of class warfare? The policies of the New Deal were aiding all classes, but to those used to the exclusive benefits of government that was anathema.

Theodore Roosevelt, Grover Cleveland, Woodrow Wilson—all were victims of the same circumstances. McKinley, Taft, Harding, Coolidge and Hoover made no such enemies.

The hatred against Roosevelt has never before been equaled. It can be explained in part by a number of circumstances. First, he has let it be known that providing the opportunity for every American to earn a decent standard of living is the responsibility of every citizen. To those who have never accepted any responsibility except coupon-clipping the task is extremely distasteful.

Second, the President has let it be known that the type of prosperity before 1929 with the government as the protector of economic royalism instead of the impartial umpire is not the goal of the New Deal. There is nothing that can arouse hatred like a guilty conscience—The Montgomery Advertiser.

"When you learn that Landon has been fighting bank deposit insurance and when you recollect that he was a regulation dry, you begin to feel that he must be pretty much of a Hoover type, after all. We do not think more than a handful of Americans want to abandon bank deposit insurance. It is one of the most popular and most successful of all the New Deal measures."—New York News. (Ind.)

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskell

At Ocala Florida an English Sparrow and a cigarette smoker came near destroying the beautiful Methodist church. Here is how it happened. The cigarette smoker tossed a half smoked cigarette into the street. The sparrow was on the look out for something to be used in the building of its nest and carried the burning tube in its bill and deposited it in its nest made just under the eaves of the church. A few moments later the smoke was rolling up from that place in the roof and the alarm was given. For a few moments it seemed that the entire plant would be destroyed. If we had a way of determining the amount of damage done to the body of folks by the cigarette, if we only knew how many fires were started by the discarded cigarettes, I rather think that we would become advocates of discarding this enemy of life and property.

An aged Baptist minister had served his congregation for many years. He had been faithful. He had worked hard and sacrificed much. Now he was old and feeble and must retire. He knew that it would not be many years before his funeral would be held in that church. One morning as the old man sat in his study of the future he picked up his pen and wrote, "Tell my old Board of Deacons when I am gone, over me to shed no tears. For then I will be no more dead than they have been for many years." It would be very suitable to place flowers at the feet of many of the officials in all of our church as they sit in service on the Sabbath. Of them it could be said, "They are dead and don't know it."

Did you ever hear of any one becoming hurt because the preacher did not call to see him when he was sick? Well, I have. A preacher is expected to know when folks get sick, even if he is not notified. They will notify the doctor, but the preacher he should know without being told. Henry Johnson of sacred memory in the Alabama conference once said this to his new congregation. "Now folks, you must tell me when you are sick. Phone me or send me word. I have been preaching a long time, but I have never yet learned the art of going out on my front porch in the morning and sniffing the air and telling who is sick in the community." If you notify your pastor that you have sickness and then he does not come, bite him as hard as you please, but for goodness sake refrain from chewing at him until you know that he knows. He can not sniff the air and tell when you are sick.

One day I was in the woods and I kept hearing a man hollering as if he were in distress. Finally I decided to answer him. We kept up the call and the answer until finally we came together. I found out that he was lost. He informed me that when he discovered that he did not know the way out of the swamp that he would holler his way out. Since that day I have been in the pew of a church when the fellow in the pulpit did a vast deal of hollering. The sound was rather peculiar and I wondered if he too was not lost and was trying to holler his way out. It is rather strange to hear what sounds come from the pulpit sometimes. Some preachers sound like ox drivers in the pulpit, while some sound like fox hunters. When you hear such hollering in the pulpit, mark my word, the person is lost and is just hollering his way out.

A little girl went for the milk on Sunday morning and as she was nearing the neighbor's house she observed that everything was quiet about the place and no milk was sitting on the front steps. Just at that moment a window went up on the second story and the head of a six-year old girl was pushed far out and this is what she said, "Listen Mary, we have been attending a camp meeting this week and every one in this house has been converted and if you want to get milk at our house after this on Sunday, you will have to come around to the back door." That was from door conversion. Many a church member has that kind of religion. We do not take what does not belong to us where people can see. We do not open our front doors on the Sabbath to do business, but the back door is open. We are mighty sure that our questionable conduct is hid out in the dark. We are converted and if you milk on Sunday you will have to come around to the back door.

Mowing The Pasture Helps Control Weeds

Auburn, Ala.—Permanent pastures require care if they are to give best possible returns and protect the soil against erosion, according to O.C. Medlock, project manager of the Soil Conservation Service at Anniston.

Dog fennel and bitter weeds are extremely troublesome in the Anniston section and other Alabama areas. These can be controlled by improving the sod and preventing the production of weed seed. The weeds cannot produce seed if mowed about twice a year, first in June and again in September.

When Mrs. F. H. Reynolds of Cairo, Ill., got out a hat she had not worn for several months, she found a snake coiled within it.

Cream Standards Are Established In State

Montgomery, Ala.—Regulations establishing grades for cream sold in Alabama for the manufacture of butter were passed by the State Board of Agriculture in quarterly meeting here Friday. The grades, to become effective January next year, follows:

(a) "Sweet Cream" shall consist of fresh, clean cream of good taste and odor, and the acidity shall not exceed 10 of one per cent, calculated as lactic acid.

(b) "Grade One Sour Cream" shall consist of cream that is clean and free from objectionable odors and flavors, and that has at the time and place of purchase an acidity not exceeding 8 of one per cent, calculated as lactic acid. All Grade One Sour Cream shall be delivered to the purchaser within four days, and shall be delivered to the butter manufacturing plant within twenty-four hours after purchased, unless suitable facilities are maintained for holding this cream at 50 degrees Fahrenheit or below.

(c) "Grade Two Sour Cream" shall consist of cream that has objectionable flavor or odors, or that is too acid (or sour) to grade as Grade One Sour Cream.

(d) "Unlawful Cream" shall consist of cream that contains dirt, filth or other foreign matter which renders it unfit for human consumption, and that is stale, cheesy, rancid, putrid, decomposed or actively fermenting.

"All places where cream is received for purchase or resale shall be so arranged that the premises and utensils can be kept clean at all times and the cream be protected against contamination," said another resolution.

Shall Government Be Entrusted To Its Rescuers Or Wreckers?

"The question before the American people is clearcut and cannot be disguised," declared Chairman James A. Farley of the Democratic National Committee in opening the national convention in Philadelphia. "That question is:

"Shall we continue the New Deal which has rescued our country from disaster and despair or shall the Government be turned back to the old dealers who wrecked it?"

"There you have the issue stripped of all camouflage. The gravity of this issue is the measure of our responsibility. Fortunately for us and for the country, we know now that the old dealers stand right where they have always stood. The convention at Cleveland, both in manner and method, revealed once more that their old habits are not abandoned.

"Our party will remain in power so long as its ideals and purposes do not deviate from the straight path of public service. We are a fortunate party, first in the high patriotism and caliber of our President; second in that we are on the right side both morally and economically.

"The minority party, by force of circumstances, has been compelled to adopt a platform unsurpassed in the history of party declarations for platitudes and vague promises. Some day they pledge themselves to accomplish what our administration has already accomplished. Some day they offer to put the farmer in the same economic position that the New Deal has put him in but never do they say how they are going to do it. Some day they are going to establish business on a basis comparable with that upon which our conduct of national affairs has placed it—but first they would go back to the system that brought on the great panic. Some day the great corporations are to be assured of all the favors they enjoyed under Republican rule and at the same time everybody is to have equal opportunity and unbounded prosperity. They are going to relieve poverty without spending money, provide jobs without costing industry anything and bring contentment and happiness to everybody—some day.

"Nobody takes the Cleveland platform seriously—not even our political adversaries. The leading Republican newspaper at the national capital in a painful effort to make the document sound like sense, said of it: 'On the whole the platform avoids the mistake of being too specific, properly concentrating on principles.' It mentions some of what it terms 'not infrequent

The Woodchucks

By Sam C. Nummy, Clanton CCC Camp

The CCC boys are given the title of Woodchucks because they work with things pertaining to nature. For this reason I am listing my series of articles under this head. I am endeavoring to discuss every phrase of the work in the Corps. This time I am going to discuss the history of the CCC in the past, present, and future.

About three years ago President Roosevelt was seeking some means of employing people in the United States so he called Congress together and the Civilian Conservation Corps was organized.

The President thought it would be better to let the Army assume the responsibility of sheltering, clothing, and feeding the boys. This was because the Army was an experienced organization. After selecting the Army to perform this service, the Department of Interior, Department of Agriculture, and the Soil Conservation Service was selected to work these men, because the purpose of the work was primarily to protect and build up on natural resources. In the beginning of the organization the boys were sent to the Army Forts for reconditioning for two weeks, and then transferred to Companies or camps. In the beginning the only formation known was the work formation.

Today the Civilian Conservation Corps is a family well organized force. The boys have to stand retreat every afternoon because this shows patriotism. They have regular Company Nights for entertainment and religious service, educational picture shows put on in camp. Every camp has a library with plenty of good books so the boys may spend their leisure time properly. The Army Officers drill the boys so they may be transferred from place to place in a unit easily.

The CCC is the best form of relief known but it is still in its infancy, if this organization is made permanent, divided changes will likely be made. A uniform will be adopted that will be decent to wear anywhere. The boys will be given scholarships to forestry schools, and other subjects the boys might want to be taught. These schools will likely be operated by the Government on practically the same basis on which an Army and Navy school is operated. Then the boys will have a chance to climb and also be promoted in this organization.

Chilton Man Urges Voters To See That Roosevelt Retained

"Well, I would like to speak a few words to the laboring class of people of America. The time has arrived that if we are to receive our portion of the things that pertain to the very existence and happiness that God has placed in this old world for us, we have got to do our own thinking and thrust out in front with the bunch that has America at heart and help fight the battles of life.

"We can't lie down and sleep any more and just let the other fellow do our thinking, or, as we used to say, 'What ever old uncle or grandfather says or the way he votes is all right. I will vote that way too.'

"Nowadays, the men of the age 60 and up are trying to get us to throw down and to vote against our President, Franklin D. Roosevelt and all the balance of the Administration, to put them out because they are spending too much money on us and it will bankrupt the world. They want us to and are begging us to vote for another Hoover bunch, or worse, the Landon-Knox ticket, or give our vote with them for old Townsend so that they can get $200 a month. How far do they think that would go towards sending the nation into bankruptcy? But that is all right if it is all coming, their vote and we will hit the ceiling or will be lacking if it does bankrupt the nation.

"Can't you see that it is time to open your eyes and look and get ready to vote in November to keep every member of the Administration that we have already? I feel that the laboring class is already up on the promises that the Landon and Knox ticket make. If they are elected, they are going to see to it that the government turns us loose back into the old turn plow days to 'root hog, or die'.

"Poor people, the way is clear. Which road are we going to travel in November and on through the next four years? It won't be long now until these hired and paid speakers will be blowing the hot air on every corner. If we don't keep cool, that hot air will melt some weak spot in us and cause us to vote wrong. Then it will be too late.

"But I don't think that the good old farmers and laboring class will get too hot. They are used to the heat anyway. They know President Roosevolt picked them out of one of the worst depressions that they have ever experienced, and they are not going sliding back into another one if they can help it.

"It's begin rolling our old Hoover wagon and Roosevelt busses, get them up and get them ready for the ride in November. I want to see the parade the next day after the election, just to see which wagon the good ole farmers and laboring people are riding on.

"I understand in Governor Landon's recent statement that he declares that eighty-five per cent of the farmers are his personal friends. Now I doubt if fifty farmers in the world had ever heard of Landon until he became the Republican presidential nominee. I venture to say that all the farmers and members of the laboring class all over the United States that vote for him in November can be loaded into one box car. Now if anybody feels like drinking beer, let's go."

President—George Moore
Vice-president—Delphine Popwell
Secretary-treasurer—Leonard Popwell.

Reporter—Howard Martin

After the election of officers, B.N. Lacy, Assistant County Agent in 4-H club work, took up several points on how to select a good dairy cow. The selection of the dairy cow is very important as it determines whether the owner will make a profit or a loss. A poor dairy cow (one producing 200 gallons per year) will return only $250.00 per year, while a good dairy cow (one producing 600 gallons per year) will return $760.00 per year, above feed cost. This proves the importance of a good dairy cow.

More Praise For The People of County

The News publishes herewith a letter from C. M. Williams, rural route carrier for The Birmingham News: Dear Mr. Editor: Will you please allow me space for a postscript to the item with reference to the Birmingham News' readers published in last week's issue of the "News". Two important traits practiced by these readers are honesty and promptness. Every reader of the paper on my route is paying his bill promptly and willingly. These two attributes alone contribute perhaps, more to the success and happiness of a people in any walk of life than anything else. I wish to congratulate our county and myself for such splendid citizenship.

U. S. Farm Tax Bill Smallest In 16 Years

Auburn, Ala.—The farm real estate tax bill in 1935 was $365,000,000, the smallest in sixteen years, reports the Bureau of Agricultural Economics to the Alabama Extension Service. The total compares with a peak of $567,000,000 in 1929, with $393,000,000 in 1919, and with $218,000,000 in 1913.

Farm taxes increased annually with few exceptions for nearly forty years—from 1890 through 1929, when the average tax per acre was about six times that in 1890. This long-time upward trend was broken during the depression. Last year the tax was about three and one half times that in 1890.

The Bureau recently completed tabulations on farm real estate taxes per acre for the years 1890 to 1930 for 198 representative counties in 23 states, based on information obtained from county tax records as part of a W.P.A. project administered by the bureau.

In 1890 the tax per acre for the country as a whole averaged about 10 cents. By 1900 the tax was up to 12 cents an acre, by 1910 it was 18 cents, by 1920 it was 50 cents, and by 1929 it was 59 cents—an all-time peak. Taxes then fell sharply—breaking the long-time upswing—and by 1934 averaged 37 cents an acre. Preliminary estimates indicate an average rate of about 37 cents in 1935 also.

Winners Will Receive Refund Of Extra Cost

Auburn, Ala.—Forms for winners to apply for refund of extra expenses under the Bankhead Cotton Control Act are now in the hands of county agents, reports Walter L. Randolph, administrative officer in charge of the Agricultural Conservation program in Alabama.

Winners may fill out the forms, file them with the county agent and collect up to 25 cents a bale on the cotton they ginned to pay for tagging the cotton, collecting certificates from farmers and making tax reports, provided they did not charge the farmers for this service when they ginned the cotton.

Auburn Advises Now Is Time To Plant Fall Crops

Auburn, Ala., July 20.—"Now is a good time to begin planning Fall crops such as oats for grain, grazing and erosion control, rye and rape for grazing," says J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist.

"Some of the lands on which drouth has destroyed the crops may not be suited for planting Summer crops but might be excellent for planting Fall crops," he says. "Such lands could be made into ideal seed beds by light Summer plowings or disking, sufficiently to control weeds. A good firm seed bed is essential to success of Fall planted crops."

"Rye and rape are especially desirable for grazing. Italian rye can be seeded cheaply and afford considerable grazing. It is planned in early Fall."

"Oats will supply grain about cotton chopping time when grain is needed so badly."

"All of these Fall crops should be planted in September and certainly by Oct. 15."

"The present drouth greatly emphasizes the importance of Alabama farmers growing more oats, short growing season hay crops, and kudzu. Kudzu fits into drouth conditions as temporary grazing."

"The recurrence of drouth in recent years makes it imperative that cropping plans be made anticipating drouth conditions."

IMPROVING BOTH LOCAL ROADS AND LOCAL ROAD ADMINISTRATION

By T. J. Arledge, Road Supervisor

"Federal aid for secondary roads is no longer a subject simply to be debated, but is actually with us at the present time. But, to justify the use of Federal money for secondary roads through county units we must, of course, assume that the county-unit plan for handling secondary roads is desirable. Although there is some difference of opinion on this subject, it would seem that the experience of several states offers sufficient proof that with the proper organization the county-unit plan is very satisfactory and could be improved to proper standards of efficiency."

"Wherever the county units are operating efficiently, there seems to be no question about continued county control of the secondary roads. Nearly all the questions raised in opposition to the county control is in those states where a great many of the counties are not properly organized and there is a decided contrast between state and county efficiency. This means that something should be done to improve the counties that are not operating efficiently. There are various ways of bringing about the improvement. Some new state legislation will be required. In the case of Chilton County the last session of the state legislature enacted a law providing a supervisor to direct and develop a plan of procedure for a permanent county road unit for the purpose of bringing the road system up to the proper standard of efficiency, to improve conditions that we may be able to continue county control of the secondary roads. The important question at this time is whether the county officials themselves will see the necessity of making these improvements. In states where the State Highway Department is operating efficiently and the counties are not, it is perfectly natural that there should be some tendency to turn all the work over to the state."

"Federal aid to the states has been just about 100 per cent successful in raising the general average of state work. In the beginning, federal supervisors have had to make some of the officials in backward states, but no one can truthfully say that the results did not save money and give the public better service. Similar results may be expected in the county work. Chilton County wants her portion of these federal funds but we do not propose to turn over to the State Highway Department the natural control of county road system, and we should be done to provide a fair to guarantee and protect the allotment to the counties."

"The county is the logical chief agency of local government, extending most of the related local government functions of which local road administration is one. The conclusion is invalidated by charges of inefficiency and local politics on the part of county government. Requirements of an accounting, establishment of minimum standards, functional physical classifications of local systems, unified road administration within the county, and adequate financing of the road system, both of self and in relation to comprehensive county planning, can place county administration on a basis of efficiency and sound operation. If this does remove local politics from local administration, the remaining politics will be far less sinister than the politics possible under centralization of the local road administration in the state. Again, if counties are not logically territorial units—and they are not—the answer is not to tear out county administration functions of government that can be performed satisfactorily by no other government agency. Chilton County will control of her road system because we are building a road organization equal the efficient operations of county unit in the state."

Mt. Springs

The Rev. Stanley filled his regular appointment here Sunday and Sunday night. He was accompanied by Miss Davidson and a group of young people from Thorsby. These people put on an excellent C. E. program for us which we enjoyed very much. In this group was a quartette composed of four Thorsby boys. They sang two songs that was very good. We appreciate the cooperation of the Thorsby church and invite them to come, and worship with us again.

We are very glad to have Jack Higgins with us this week. He is teaching a vacation Bible school and is also interested in scouting. See him and talk with him. It will be worthwhile. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved people of this community who have lost loved ones recently. Especially Mr. Clyde Moates.

Driver Knows About Turkeys Now

Montgomery, Ala., July 20.—Those who would violate Alabama's "gobbler" law take notice—because the turkey might do something about it them.

It is the story as it was related by F. Allison of Bellamy, at the re-opening of the State Forestry Commission.

One of his trucks left the Bellamy forest for the forest—probably the richest forest in the United States. When turned a half hour later, the Colorado something was amiss. So he inquired.

One of the mill hands told him that the driver had proceeded but a distance into the forest when he entered a turkey hen crossing the path with her brood.

His consternation the hen took a start and flew straight into the windshield of the truck in a vicious attack on the intruder. The windshield shattered and a piece of the fly-lass cut an artery in the driver's neck.

The cut was so severe the driver was taken back to Bellamy for treatment, while the hen—unsatisfied at being off into the forest with her a proud conqueror of man and machine age.

CROSSROADS NEWSPAPER CORRESPONDENCE AWARD GOES TO A FARM WOMAN

Mrs. Susan Frawley Eisele of Blue Earth, Minnesota, has been judged the best country newspaper correspondent of 1936, it was announced today by Wheeler McMillen, Editor of The Country Home Magazine, which sponsors the annual award to crossroads reporters.

Mrs. Eisele, who writes a weekly column for the Fairmont, Minn., Sentinel, lives on a farm nine miles from Blue Earth, with her husband and three children, the youngest of whom arrived almost simultaneously with word that she had been recognized as the best writer in her field.

In recognition of her work, Mrs. Eisele will receive the $200 first prize, together with a trip to New York and Washington, as soon as she is able to travel. The award is the equivalent, in rural journalism, of the Pulitzer Award in the metropolitan press. The winner last year was Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Mahoney of Oasis, Missouri.

Mrs. Eisele's work was chosen from 3,600 clippings from country papers, submitted by the rural editors as the writing of their best correspondents. The judges, in addition to Mr. McMillen, included Miss Gertrude B. Lane, editor of The Woman's Home Companion; William L. Cheney, editor of Collier's; and Sumner Blossom, editor of The American Magazine.

The annual award was inaugurated by The Country Home Magazine, a national farm publication, in an effort to give recognition to what the editors believe is a most important phase of American journalism. The quality of writing submitted, according to Mr. McMillen, has been extremely high; simple and straightforward.

Virginia---Mother Of States And Statesmen

By Charles T. Foshee

It may superficially appear odd that an alien to Virginia soil should take it upon himself to write about it, but being a lover of mother nature has made the state a shrine for me. I believe those back home who have never seen this noted and beautiful state would like to have some idea of its charm, romance, nature—these make Virginia attractive. The people of Virginia are the living solvent through which all her other attractions are felt. The one word most descriptive of the people is kindness. They are a proud people, yes, but their pride is not offensively obtrusive, because it depends on worthwhile things.

Something like a hundred thousand persons will visit the Piedmont section this year to see the home of Jefferson, not to mention those who will go for other reasons. A state having with in its borders the triple loadstones of Jamestown, Yorktown and Williamsburg, achieves, at once, uniqueness. But Mount Vernon and Arlington, shrines of unnumbered pilgrims, the matchless Shenandoah, the numerous crystal caves (one under every hill), the magnificence of fertile farm lands, the great army and navy post, the teeming commerce of Richmond and Norfolk, these have their appeals to one individual or another, until one may say Virginia sets securely by her sea and mountains, certain of capturing the admiration of all American generations.

The roadsides are by no means as generally bordered by habitations as the case with some other states. The sea beaches are not found in conjunction with bold backgrounds. But take her for all in all, there is no state so rich in so much of interest; no state more stimulating to thought or better worth investigating; no state which can vie with her in number and beauty of her rolling expanses of rich countryside with the possible exceptions of Maine and Michigan, and no state so large a portion of native people with such a natural basis of their historic background. Due to the fact it possesses homes of the first settlers. You can readily understand why state loyalty has grown so easily in Virginia. The Virginian quietly takes it for granted that he lives in the best part of America and little acquaintance with Virginian background is required to understand his attitude.

A gentleman of Seven Oaks called me to note the names of the great oaks on his lawn. He had named them after the seven presidents borned in Virginia. The oaks towered to unbelievable heights and their massive branches conveyed an irresistible impression of solidity and natural fellowship with the people below them. Facing all was a large, dignified, hospitable house inhabited by gracious people of culture. Under such environment it would be a strangely obtuse person whose roots did not spread in a soil so inviting, so rich in history, so beautiful, so eminently conducive to the production of the fine flower of enriched manhood. Of course the very same surroundings may tolerate a diabolic nature, but such a home in Virginia seems to cry out to its children: "I have done my best, now you do yours," and the very best products are every inch men.

Wholly distinct from the Tidewater region, not merely in location but in the character of its dwellings, is Charlottesville, you could fairly attribute the choosing of this region to the peculiar type of soil. It is a long and narrow upland strip, all at a good elevation and marked by the pleasing peculiarity that on the very tops of its rounded slopes the fertility is as great as elsewhere. This circumstance is impressive as one looks out from Charlottesville at Monticello, itself on a lofty hill (higher than the Birmingham mountains) and sees looming to the left of it a much higher mountain beautifully cultivated.

Looking back we see that Virginia was settled at the worst point for the health of its people. The mosquitoes and bad water nearly killed the colony. The Piedmont has all the healthfulness of Plymouth and all the fertility of the Tidewater. Jamestown was malarial and even the water was brackish.

But while the Tidewater soon became rich Plymouth, was always poor. And now, Piedmont soils are free from stones and has formed into a beautiful garden. We can well enter with the elder Jefferson and his conferees into the enthusiasm that thrilled them when they saw that fair land and consisting of one sweetly rolling hill after another covered with magnificent timber, watered by numerous streams supplying power for their mills, bathed in tonic air as free from infection as any on earth.

The influence of Jefferson is found here everywhere, fostering the erection of numerous edifices which are placed everywhere so as to take the largest advantage of site. They seem to fit and adorn the landscape more perfectly than elsewhere.

In the design of the University the genius Jefferson created what has stood unrivaled since his time as the most attractive edifice of any institution of learning. He got a double front, each very different from the other, all stepping down and leading away from the lovely central dome. The forecourt, honored by a bronze statue of him, is a gem of design. The other front, with its low rows of imposing pillared dormitories, is also like nothing else we have except as copied from this. Room thirteen of the left wing was Edgar Allen Poe's while he was in school. It is marked with a tablet in his memory, also room twenty-six of the same building was Woodrow Wilson's when he attended the University. It is observed

Marbury-Mt. Creek Briefs

This writer, signing himself "just one of the unknowns," asks that we add the views of an average reader to our series of cover essays by eminent readers.

Marbury and Autauga County were blessed with several days of good rain the past week, but still the people complain so much about the weather it might serve them right if it were discontinued. If the rain does continue it will cause a great shortage in the cotton crop and maybe the return of the boll weevil or a panic.

Joe Narramore was elected commander of Autauga Post 122, American Legion at the Post's annual meeting at Bridge Creek club house. The post was very happy to have as its guest Mr. Percy Pitts, commander of the Clanton Post. A delightful barbecue supper preceded the business meeting.

Your writer along with friends, motored to Clanton to see the hard played baseball game between Clanton and Lay Dam—two old rivals. This was a real baseball game with the score at the end 13-12 in favor of Lay Dam. We did want to see Bill Armstrong play, but that was Bill's day off. We picked up a little fun in the grandstand that might interest you a bit. It was a conversation between two ladies:

First Lady: "I don't see how those ball players ever get clean."

Second Lady: "Silly, what do you think the scrub teams are for?"

That's just about as bad as a little cousin of mine from Denver, visiting her aunt in the country and saw churning being done for the first time:

"O, Auntie," she cried, "please let me punch the milk awhile."

That also reminds us of the fact that Alabama's former senator, J. Thomas Heflin, will take the stump for President Roosevelt. The former Senator said his first speech would be in Alabama and later he would go to Kansas, Illinois, Indiana, Tennessee and Kentucky.

"I don't give Landon a single state," the Alabamian said. "The people won't cut the wagon loose from the horse when we're half-way up the mountain."

If you will only take notice there are three great menaces to safety driving today in the great United States of ours. They are, Hic, Hike and Hug.

Mussolini has learned from his Ethiopian experience that into each life some rain must fall.

that visitors to Charlottesville return once and again. The distinguished beauty of the homes about it, set in exquisite landscapes and enjoying a climate pleasing for so many months in the year, are altogether irresistible to visitors from north or south, east or west.

It is difficult to avoid superlatives at Charlottesville. The average traveler may think advertising somewhat overdone, the placing of sale furniture on the floors of Monticello is a matter of taste. But at any rate most things are as they should be in this improving world, around and about Charlottesville. In whatever direction one journeys, there is so much good that the allowance of time is never sufficient. A veritable nest for hatching out presidents was this highland Virginian nook.

Next week I shall let you of other interesting points of this state.

$9,000,000 A YEAR

sounds too big to mean much, doesn't it?

$750,000 A MONTH

$173,077 A WEEK

stays a trifle on the dreamy side;

$24,657 A DAY

We're getting warm now; we can almost understand it:

$1,027 AN HOUR

and THAT'S a lot of money in anybody's language especially when that much money is going out

EVERY HOUR!

To Alabamians for Alabama

THREE quarters of a million dollars a month—paid out in wages, spent with merchants, manufacturers and dealers, paid in taxes—is one of the Alabama Power Company's principal contributions to Alabama's business activity, her prosperity and her social advancement.

This sum averages $173,077 a week, $24,657 a day, $1,027 an hour, EVERY HOUR—24 hours a day, seven days a week, 52 weeks a year—pouring out into Alabama channels of trade, giving jobs to Alabama people, sending men and women and children into Alabama stores with money to spend, making more jobs possible, creating a bigger market in Alabama for Alabama products, increasing opportunities for Alabamians in Alabama.

This money builds highways, it educates children, it supports churches. It touches the life of every county in the state—not only the counties we do business in, but all the other counties as well. It benefits every Alabamian—including yourself!

The $9,000,000 being spent by the Company in 1936—in payrolls, purchases and taxes alone—includes $3,750,000 in salaries and wages to over 2,000 employees, and every one of them lives in Alabama. It includes $3,000,000 worth of materials and supplies bought from Alabama firms or from firms represented in Alabama and employing Alabama people. It includes over $2,250,000 in taxes paid to the state, the counties, the towns and the school districts of Alabama.

Your monthly electric bill buys for you electric service that ranks with the best and cheapest anywhere. But it does much more than that, for your payments, joined with those of 110,000 other Alabama homes, offices, stores and factories, are playing a big part in Alabama's prosperity and progress. That money, in the hands of a Company whose interests are all wrapped up with Alabama's interests, is much like the music in the song—"It goes in here . . . and comes out here!" Mighty little of it remains in the hands of the Company. Mighty little of it goes outside the state. Most of it is paid out as fast as it comes in—to Alabamians for Alabama!

Congratulations

More congratulations this week. This time to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Simpson on the arrival of that fine young son, and he is a Junior.

We're In Error

In the article about Charles Foshee on last week's News, we stated that he was connected with the CCC Camp in Charlottesville, Va. We were wrong in that statement. Charles is attending the University of Virginia and making an outstanding record there. His articles on the recent visit to Charlottesville by President Roosevelt were most interesting. Another of his articles on the State of Virginia appears in this issue of the News. We don't know where we conceived the idea Charles was with the CCC Camp, and we hope he will give us more of his interesting articles. Charles is on such friendly terms with the President, we are glad that we know him.

Large Number Receive Paralysis Shots Here

Dr. J. M. Kimmy, county health officer, stated that they are giving a large number of people, both young and old, the shots of nasal spray now being used in the fight against infantile paralysis in the state. There is no charge for these shots at the county health office, however, drug stores in Clanton are offering the preparation with sprayer at a reasonable charge.

Dr. Kimmy is warning against any public gatherings in the county in his efforts to prevent a spread of the dreaded disease in this county. Several new cases have been reported in the state and as near as Bibb County. Deaths are increasing in the state from the disease also. Dr. Kimmy stated that no precaution would be too great in stopping the spread of the paralysis, and preventing it from coming into this county.

POLIO WAR

Escambia, and who formerly held that position in Lamar County, was taken sick last Monday in Brewton, and Thursday was removed to the home of his mother-in-law near Centerville in Bibb County. The diagnosis of infantile paralysis was not definitely made until Sunday.

Aid Sent To Bibb

In view of the fact that Bibb County has no organized health unit, Dr. Baker said, Dr. W. H. Y. Smith, of the State Health Department staff, accompanied by a nurse, has gone to Bibb County to aid in getting the preventive spray generally applied, to protect citizens of the county and render such other service as might be indicated.

During the first week in July, it was said, Dr. Owings examined thoroughly a patient in Escambia whose symptoms were those of infantile paralysis, and thereafter so diagnosed it. This case reported prior to the introduction into the State through the U.S. Public Health Service of the preventive spray, was classified at the time by health authorities as a "sporadic" case, not connected with the north Alabama epidemic. Dr. Baker yesterday assigned a member of his official staff to go to Brewton and take over the duties of Dr. Owings, as health officer of the county.

The two other new cases reported yesterday were one each from Franklin and Jefferson Counties, bringing the total to date to 173, with 10 fatalities.

State Employees Sprayed

All members of the State Health Department are taking the nasal spray preventive treatment and at the Capitol yesterday it was made available to all officials and employees of the State who wished it, being administered by Dr. H. G. Camp, chief physician inspector for the State Convict Department, assisted by Dave Birmingham, department chief clerk. Dr. Camp is supervising application of the spray at all State eleemosynary institutions, State convict road camps, and city and county jails in counties that have no public health units.

Use of the spray which is now State-wide, is becoming more and more general throughout the city and county of Montgomery. The unprecedented demand for atomizers for use in spraying has taxed drug stores and wholesale druggists to the limit to supply it.

Playing The Game

Many rules for the government of human conduct have been laid down, and all of them have been broken. Still, it isn't a bad idea to think about some of them occasionally, and if possible give the sensible ones a trial.

An exchange prints a few, attributed to Walter Johnson, famed baseball pitcher and manager, and while they particularly apply to the game of baseball, the principles enunciated are equally applicable to the game of life in general. Johnson says:

"Play fair; be on the level.
"Have respect for discipline.
"Never allow for failure; accept the breaks of the game as they come.
"Grit your teeth and bear down when things look toughest.
"Don't criticize fellow players.
"Live cleanly.
"Never quit!"

Freedom Something More

It is a far cry from the simple democracy of Thomas Jefferson to the complicated machinery of modern government. Could the method of democracy have remained unchanged in this more than a century, in the face of changed conditions?

The answer to that question was once discussed by Woodrow Wilson. He pointed out that "in the early days of simplicity which marked the beginnings of our Government," Jefferson had said that the best government consists in as little governing as possible. And there is still a sense, said Wilson, in which that is true: "It is still intolerable for the Government to interfere with our individual activities except where it is necessary to interfere with them in order to free them."

To this Wilson added:
"But I feel confident that if Jefferson were living in our day he would see what we see: that the individual is caught in a great confused nexus of all sorts of complicated circumstances, and that to let them alone is to leave him helpless as against the obstacles with which he has to contend; and that therefore, law in our day must come to the assistance of the individual. It must come to his assistance to see that he gets fair play; that is all, but that is much."

"Freedom today is something more than being let alone. The program of a government of freedom must in these days be positive, not negative."

Senator Norris' strong, clear declaration of faith in the leadership of President Roosevelt occasions no surprise. He gives the full measure of Gov. Landon in a few words—"the man nobody knows." You can't get a genuine liberal of the veteran Nebraska's astuteness.—Huntington Advertiser. (Ind. Dem.)

"In justice to the gentlemen of the Republican high command who named Landon their nominee 60 days ahead of the party convention, it must be recorded that they gave him a platform upon which he can stand with no sacrifice to his political 'principles' and from which he can jump without embarrassment in many directions. The Republican candidate for the Presidency enters the campaign committed to precisely nothing."—Los Angeles News. (Ind.)

Republicans And Agriculture

Speaking for and in the presence of the Republican Presidential nominee to two score newspaper correspondents at Estes Park, Colorado, the first week in July, Robert D. Carey, conservative Republican senator from Wyoming, said: "Gov. Landon is against benefit payments to farmers as a permanent part of the nation's farm policy," as that "would constitute regimentation." He added that during his five-hour conference with the nominee "there was no discussion of a substitute policy."

Speaking for and in the presence of Gov. Landon in the latter's office at Topeka to these newspaper correspondents five days later, Frank O. Lowden, conservative Republican ex-governor of Illinois, said: "After a conference of more than two hours, we are agreed on a farm program." The Associated Press account reads:

"Lowden did the talking. Part of the time Landon sat behind his desk at the side of the former Illinois governor but for the most part he moved about greeting visitors in the outer office. When the question about farm benefit payments arose, Landon was in his chair. Lowden, who said details of the farm program were not discussed, was asked whether it embraced benefit payments. He replied: 'We agreed that to get land into legumes or permanent grasses, bounties would have to be paid and the country would benefit. Is that correct, Governor?' 'That's right,' Lowden said. 'Would that be a permanent program?' Lowden was asked. 'Oh, yes,' Lowden replied. This time Landon's concurrence was not sought."

In view of the noteworthy fact that the Republican nominee uttered two words at the Lowden press conference, namely, "That's right," and none at all at the Carey press conference, it appears certain that Gov. Lowden's quick trip to Topeka in the hottest spell of the last six years was not in vain. Nor did the veteran Pullman company authority fail to commit the candidate to a farm policy which as he described it, is so strikingly similar to the Roosevelt farm program as to be in most respects identical.

All of this in spite of the scorching denunciations of every move the President has made toward the restoration of agriculture, and the buying power of the vast farm population, by the duPont Liberty League and Republican orators and editors that frequently approached both the apologetic and the asinine. In fact, said Gov. Lowden, the farm issue should be removed from politics entirely."

He told the reporters that the soil conservation-bounty policy has long been promised in Republican platforms. This was backed up the next day by the orthodox Old Guard New York Herald Tribune, which added, indignantly: "As long ago as 1930, in a speech at Madison, Wisconsin, Gov. Lowden advocated the fundamentals of the policy which Mr. Roosevelt made his own last January."

"Hastily?" Well, the President acted as soon as the Supreme Court had invalidated the AAA.

But these assertions from such high conservative sources are merely belated admissions that the Roosevelt policy is the very best the G O P has to offer? They accentuate the fact that the Harding, Coolidge and Hoover administrations ignored the promises in their platforms and that the Hoover administration did nothing about Gov. Lowden's proposal of 1930, even when farmers the country over were in dire poverty? Gov. Landon himself in his message to the Kansas legislature in January, 1933, declared that revolution in the farm belt had been imminent.

And it should be even more deeply embarrassing to the Republicans that when the soil conservation act was passed by Congress early this year, 64 Republicans voted against it and only 20 Republicans voted for it in the House of Representatives. In the Senate, 11 Republicans voted against it and five Republicans supported it.

But there were 12 agricultural depression years, during which the Republican Old Guard was in supreme command at Washington. It is fair to contrast their gross neglect of the farm problem, that was constantly becoming more serious, with the Roosevelt record. Eight weeks after his inauguration President Roosevelt signed the AAA emergency measure and in incredible time set up the far-flung machinery for its administration. A year later he successfully combatted the ravages of the worst drouth in our history by utilizing the act's middle name, "Adjustment." These achievements, coupled with his prompt adoption of a substitute farm program in the emergency that arose last January, constitute in the minds of the President's enemies the unforgettable, the unforgivable, sin.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskell

Admiral Dewey was a great stickler for the truth. He said, "There is nothing that I detest so much in a man as lying." One day a young soldier was brought before the General and charged with not being on duty. The lad said that he had suffered a sunstroke and had been detained. The General knew that he had been on a drunk the night before and made this reply, "Young man you are lying to me. You were very drunk last night and if you had been honest enough to tell the truth, your punishment would have been light, but for lying you get ten days in the irons." Like Dewey we have grown to detest a lie. David is credited with the statement "All men are liars," and the most of us are prepared to think that he came near telling the whole truth. Some of us lie about one thing. Some of us lie about another. Be honest now and confess the thing that you lie about.

They tell me that the last legislature removed the speed limit along the highways in Alabama. The time was when five miles an hour was the limit for speed, but now there is no limit. The State has put government men out to patrol the highways and when a driver is found making unreasonable speed he is brought before the courts. His Satanic Majesty, the devil, has also removed all speed limit along the broad road that goes down to everlasting night. The difference between the laws of Alabama and the laws of fast living is that the road to ruin is not patrolled with guards to stop the reckless way of living. The speed limit to sin has been removed and men everywhere are crashing on this broad road. The only warning that comes to the fast driver along the road to fast living is the voice of the preacher, but his voice is not heard.

I drove my car up to a highly recommended resort in Florida. We wanted to have lunch and spend an hour resting and seeing the sights. On entering the lobby of the hotel the first thing that greeted us was a row of slot machines. There were six of them. They were "One Armed Bandits" all lined up for robbery. There were four young females in backless bathing suits and two young males with a guard about their waists and hips, standing before these machines and they were playing them as rapidly as they could click. I wanted to bury my face in shame for two reasons. One was because I was a part of a government that would allow such bandits to do business under the protection of law and the other was that our young people are being swept off their feet with a passion to gamble. My Lord, when will we come to our senses?

The ball game was over and the home team was happy over the leading score. Two young men on the winning team stood out as the best players on the team. The lady where these two young men roomed came to me with pride saying of them, "Doctor, my two boys won the game. They are such fine boys. They can not be induced to take a drink of whiskey and I am proud of them. I am not saying that those two boys won that game just because they were total abstainers, but I am saying that being strictly temperate did help them toward success." Hear me young men, hear me young women—if you want to win on the diamond of life you had better let whiskey alone. It is nothing to your credit if you drink. The drinking man loses the game for himself, for his loved ones and for his home town. Shame on you every time you put the glass or the bottle to your lips. You are fixing to "Fan Out."

Far out in the country there was a prosperous farmer who was a steward in one of my churches. I was spending the night in the home of this good man and when he carried me to my room for the night, he pointed out a match box that was painted with luminous paint and made secure on the wall. He told me that when the light was out in the room that I could see the match box should I need a match during the night. When the room was dark I could see the luminous box on the wall. As I lay upon my bed and looked toward the light I prayed this prayer, "Lord, make my character to so shine, even in the darkest hours, so that man will be able to see Jesus in me. We should have our character made luminous with the light of the Master so that we can shine in the dark."

IMPROVING BOTH LOCAL ROADS AND LOCAL ROAD ADMINISTRATION

By T. J. ARLEDGE,
County Road Supervisor —PART TWO—

The Federal Aid Highway Bill, known as the new Hayden-Cartwright Bill, authorizing appropriations for the fiscal years 1938 and 1939, has been passed by both houses of Congress, according to an article in the Engineering News-Record. Authorizations for each of the years included in the bill are as follows: Regular Federal Aid, $125,000,000; grade crossing elimination, $50,000,000; secondary or feeder roads, $25,000,000; forest highways, roads and trails, $14,000,000; national parkways, $10,000,000; national park roads and trails, $7,500,000; roads in Indian reservations, $4,000,000; and highways in non-taxable public lands, $2,500,000. The secondary-road authorizations specify: farm-to-market roads, rural-free-deliver mail routes and school bus routes. This is the first regular federal-aid appropriation for secondary or feeder roads, money actually appropriated for use on county roads as stated above.

Under the terms of this bill it will be necessary for the Bureau of Public Roads to apply the money for secondary roads through the state departments. It is naturally felt that the state highway departments are in a better position than the bureau to work out procedures in the states that will most nearly meet local conditions, and this is undoubtedly true where there is the proper cooperation between the state highway department and the counties. And the highway planning surveys now in progress should furnish the information on which to base a satisfactory plan of allotment in each state. It might be possible that the state highway department would have about the same control or advisory control over county work in which federal aid is involved as the Bureau of Public Roads now exercise over the federal aid work on the state system. The counties, under such a plan, would be required to match the funds and to furnish proper engineering control. The important thing about county federal aid work is that while it would be only a part of the total county work, the higher standards that would have to be adopted would be reflected in all other county road work. The most satisfactory results will be obtained by the closest cooperation between county, state and federal officials, working together for a plan that will be satisfactory to all.

As I said in my first article in this paper: Administration of local roads is only one of the functions of local government of immediate concern to a community, and cannot be removed without destroying the balance that should exist among these functions. Where is the line to be drawn between roads of local and roads of state-wide importance? What principles should govern the expansion—or the contraction, for that matter—of a state highway system? That is as much a question for community planners as it is for highway engineers; it would be a mistake to classify roads entirely on the basis of type or of volume of traffic. A high-type surface carrying a considerable volume of traffic may very properly belong in a county truck system, and if it belongs there functionally it should remain there. There can be little objection to having state and county highway departments perform the same classes of work, indeed, there is a decided advantage in securing a sufficient amount of county work, supported by a stable source or revenue, to encourage the highest type of engineering management.

The Department of Public Roads of Chilton County is only an infant, but the personnel is constantly being strengthened and gradually being raised to a standard to meet the most rigid requirements of the most critical, and though we are sorely in need of better equipment, especially trucks for handling materials used in the repair to bridges and road surfaces, every member of the organization is daily overcoming and surmounting every obstacle in their path of progress as different parts of these articles will indicate. Chilton County will be ready and amply able to apply their allotment for secondary road work.

Virginia

"Mother of States and Statesmen"
By Charles C. Foshee

So full has been the vocabulary describing the Shenandoah that whatever one says of it he will say less than has been said. It is so fine that it is a pity to try to compare it with scenery wholly different. It has nothing alpine in its compositions but is nearer and warmer.

While limited properly to that valley drained by the river of the same name there is in effect on the traveler one valley, from its beginning at Harper's Ferry and the Potomac almost to the extreme southwest of the state and embracing those other basins which send their waters south and west. The love of classification arises from mental indolence. Every object in nature is individual. The joy of life is, properly, the observation of distinctions. The old geographers, as in Jefferson's Virginia, loved to mark their mountain ranges as if they were composed of identical units following one another in single file without a deviation. But uniformity is abhorrent to nature, so that we must admire every mountain, every stream, every human face for itself and discover its peculiar lines, its character marks.

The Blue Ridge, in general the northeastern barrier of the Shenandoah, and the Appalachians, more or less fencing the valley on the north-west, are names of tumbled masses and by no means varied ranks. They advance or retreat at their own free will and they are lofty or moderate in proportion. To define the Shenandoah is impossible and an unnecessary task. It is better merely to admire it, and to select a contour that catches our fancy, for four hundred miles the esthetic may follow the windings of this valley so full of beautiful surprises, but never tame. He never knows when he passes out of it and is, in fact, in some other valley, unless he notices that the direction of the streams has changed. Imagine the people and the valley to the southwest do not wholly relish being included in the Shenandoah, when they are not of it. No matter, like Moses' rod, it seems to swallow up its subordinate relatives, and its name goes far. It is easier for the languid mind to group the entire western part of Virginia as the Valley, spelled always with a capital by custom, from respect and to save time.

For one, I like to think less about those marchings, and countermarchings when armed men picked their painful and violent way up and down between these rebuking hills, astonished at their violators. Two generations are, or ought to be, enough to allow us to forget the differences while admiring the stubborn heroisms of our fathers.

The fertility of the whole region has covered the wounds with hewing, yellow, or bearded over the scars of the forests and luxuriant creepers. The ill-named Judas trees sprinkle the roadside with its inimitable tint following the scattering white of the shad bush. The wild and tame cherries, the pink and white surge of apple blossoms, the grace of the two locusts, yellow or white, the processions of the blackberry blooms, like white lace edging the garments of the later spring, the exuberance of the rose, all follow, as each on each, are the gifts of a certain in this theatre of beauty. The doxwood is, however, even more extensive and more beautiful than any of the other natural decorations.

each of these aspects of delight unfold one says "I did not believe there were so many Judas trees in the world," or "Here are apples to refresh a nation," or "The entire country is covered with locust."

The very indefiniteness of the skyline tops our view with nature's age-long lure of mystery, which she knows so well how to use. Beginning with the most obvious roadside cottage and Virginia rail fence, she carries our eyes along to scan the farther farms, the high pastoral slopes, the lofty dignity of the remotest heights, until at length she leads us to those evanescent mosses, are they peaks, or are they clouds, or are they the outskirts of the mystic seas and shores of an unknowable realm where beauty is always in the ascendant and the spirits of supermen clothe themselves in the garments of the sunset? The glory and the charm of life consists in this: that it is always a border land to a richer reality, a city of the skies, a hem of the universe, just broad enough for us to take hold of, and unfolding a splendor, a power in every atom of the world, a harmony reaching between far beyond our knowing.

It is not for naught that the more southern mountains are called the Great Smokies. They help man to feel his heritage of a creature of imagination as well as tiller of the soil. Dreams are a means of lifting lighter and lazier architecture in the dome of thought and of catching our lassos to a sunset.

Jefferson in this conference felt the advantage of fixing their abodes on rising ground, where the humdrum can be more easily yoked with the imaginative; the one being lifted, the other being chastened by the connection, so that while men's feet were on the ground their heads might be in the clouds. The Shenandoah! If it did not whisper prophecy as well as record history it would not be a tithe as fascinating.

Mt. Carmel News

Sunday was our annual singing day. We are glad to announce that the occasion was a grand success. Much interest was manifested by the large crowd of good singers present. Everybody participated in singing praises to the Lord. The radiant countenances evidenced an inward meaning to every song.

Space will not permit us to outline the day's program but we would not fail to mention the splendid services of the quartets. They were: The De-vaughn Quartet, the Oak Grove Quar-tet and the White City Quartet. An ob-ject of unspeakable delight to the at-tentive congregation was the several soul-stirring duets of Mr. Bill Cofer and little son.

The day was completely occupied in singing worshipful hymns. Thanks to everyone present for good behavior. The occasion was uninterrupted by any misdeemeanor.

HEREDITY IDEA IS REFUTED BY TWINS

Professor Studies 120 Pairs in 10-Year Project.

Chicago.—Twins may look as much alike as two peas in a pod, but unless they've been reared in the same environment the chances are the similarity will end with their physical characteristics. Dr. E. H. Newman, University of Chicago biologist, has concluded. He based his opinions on the results of a ten-year study, in which he observed 120 pairs of twins, scattered throughout the United States. The importance of environment and heredity was studied in each case.

"While our data showed us many surprising and conflicting things," Doctor Newman said, "we are able to say that environment has the most effect on temperament and some on intelligence. It has the least effect on physical characteristics.

Heredity is Discounted.

"Heredity accounts for only about 30 per cent of the temperamental and emotional aspects of our twins, we discovered through application of standard tests of 20 pairs of identical twins, whose heredity is, of course, identical, and who were separated in infancy and reared apart."

Many differences in twins, Doctor Newman and his associates found, were not consistent with differences in social environment. For instance, he said: "Two of our boys, Tom and Dick, were alike in many outward respects. But Tom, who had been adopted by a poor family whose moral standards were not high, was mainly, independent and pleasantly aggressive.

"His brother, who had lived for 12 years with the family of a wealthy physician, had not developed these pleasing characteristics. Of course these differences may even out in time."

In the case of Edith and Helen, identical twins who are now twenty-seven, Edith, who was reared on a farm, is high, athletic and aggressive, said Doctor Newman.

Helen, who had a softer, urban life, is lady-like, to an exaggerated degree, teaches music and dislikes athletics. She has a slightly higher intelligence quotient than her sister. This pair showed the widest differences in every way, Doctor Newman said.

Education Greatest Factor.

"Differences in identical twins," Doctor Newman said, "seem to be about 50 per cent due to education, 15 per cent to social environment, 10 per cent to health, and the rest to causes we cannot classify."

Mental differences of 11 years were found in the case of twins who, although endowed with the same mental capacities, had had different educational advantages.

"The case of Fred and Ed was our most celebrated one," Doctor Newman related. "It was almost like a Gilbert and Sullivan opera. These boys had been adopted from an orphanage when they were infants by families in widely separated parts of the country.

"But both had become electricians. They were married the same year; each had a boy child and each had a fox terrier named Trickle. Both worked for the Bell Telephone Co. Fred so often was mistaken for Ed and vice-versa by employees shifted throughout the organization that each began an investigation which brought them together."

While resting in the shade in a cemetery near Petersburg, Ind., Charles Cross was seriously injured when the top of a dead tree fell on him.

Can Cull Chickens For Winter Months

Auburn, Ala.—Now is the most convenient and economical time for canning chicken because this the usual time for culling the flock, advise home economics specialists. The plump 2-year-old hens, no longer profitable to keep, are ideal for canning. Their meat has better flavor and texture after processing than the more tender delicate meat of very young chickens.

GRANT TO TEACH SINGING SCHOOL AT PATES CHAPEL

Prof. L. T. Grant will teach a singing school at Pates Chapel church beginning Monday, August 3rd, and continuing for three weeks. Already about 60 pupils have signed up for attendance, and many more are expected.

The playing for the school will be done by Mrs. Birdie Johnson, who will also give piano lessons to any who may desire such training.

Prof. Grant had a very successful school last year at this same place, taught at night. This year it will be in daytime, and indications are that it will be a fine school. Anyone interested should get in touch with Prof. Grant at an early date.

Local Boy Likes The CCC Camp

Norris A. Lewis likes the CCC Camp and wishes to say to his friends and relatives of Chilton County Alabama that he sees no reason why any young man should not like the CCC for it is the only way for many boys to travel over the country and see some of the world.

It is educational to travel and the CCC not only helps in this way but it is a money-making job, learns boys and young men to become accustomed to being out in the open spaces away from the confinement of city life, and teaches them many things in the industrial field.

Here we are, way up in the beautiful Allegheny Mountains of the old Quaker State.

Here is where many people suffered loss due to the flood the past winter, but in spite of this, we have a beautiful camp site with lovely weather at present.

However, though the conditions are favorable, scenery is beautiful, pals may be true, I will always love my native state and will rejoice when I arrive back home where we, who have enjoyed and shared the joys and heartaches of our childhood days, shall be together once more.

So long until next time.—Norris A. Lewis, Co. 5459, CCC, Kato, Penn.

Mrs. Nellie Steed of Alliance, O., applied for a divorce from her husband of 10 years and found that he had been previously married and not divorced. Mrs. Steed was free without divorce.

Thursday, John Twigg of Marshall, Mo., died of blood poisoning. The following Saturday his brother, Steven, attended funeral, had an attack of indigestion and died. George, another brother, went to Steven's funeral Sunday and died Monday.

CLANTON'S NEW THEATRE IS A CREDIT TO COUNTY

MODERN, SANITARY COOLING SYSTEM RECENTLY INSTALLED

Programs Include Latest Pictures, Bringing Them To Clanton Before Showing In The Larger Cities In Many Instances

Clanton is, and should be, justly proud of the new Wadesonian Theatre which has been open now for several months, showing many first-run pictures with programs varied for the entertainment of its patrons.

The owner of this new and modern theatre has recently announced the installation of a new and sanitary cooling system, electrically operated and which has been added to the comfort of theatre-goers here. This new cooling system, changes the air in the theatre every two minutes and those who have attended the theatre have noticed the strong, cool breeze coming from the entrance.

The air which is forced through the building, passes through cool water, thereby purifying the breeze at the same time cooling it.

Another recent addition to the theatre is an automatic emergency lighting system. This system enables the theatre to continue to operate, even though the current from the power lines is temporarily off. This device has had occasion to operate and show its usefulness in the past few weeks, due to the heavy electrical displays accompanying the recent rains and winds in this section.

The New Wadesonian is bringing to Clanton many of the outstanding pictures of the season. And, in many cases pictures are being shown in Clanton several days before they reach nearby cities and larger theatres.

The management of the New Wadesonian is at all times endeavoring to give the people of this section the best in entertainment when it comes to good motion pictures. Each week, the program of the theatre is published in this newspaper on the editorial page.

Lady's Painful Trouble Helped By Cardui

Why do so many women take Cardui for the relief of functional pains at monthly times? The answer is that they want results such as Mrs. Herbert W. Hunt, of Hildville, Texas, describes. She writes: "My health wasn't good. I suffered from cramping. My pain would be so intense it would nauseate me. I would just drag around, so sluggish and 'do-less.' My mother decided to give me Cardui. I began to mend. That tired, sluggish feeling was gone and the pains disappeared. I can't praise Cardui too highly because I know it helped me." If Cardui does not help YOU, consult a physician.

Mrs. Roberts will make the program next Sunday. The public is invited to these services.

Sunday morning the pastor will occupy the pulpit, speaking on the theme, "The Curse of Copy Catting." Services of last Sunday were well attended in spite of the polo scare. Don't let hot weather, company, or anything else keep you from church Sunday.

First 1936 Bale Brings 22 Cents

The first bale of the 1936 cotton crop, produced in Montgomery County, sold at noon yesterday for 22 cents a pound, representing a premium of about nine cents a pound. The Montgomery Cotton Exchange bid in the bale on July 29, but yesterday's price was seven cents a pound better.

The premium bale weighing 401 pounds will be stored at the Alabama Warehouse on Coosa Street. So far as local cotton dealers know, this was the first bale ginned and sold anywhere in Alabama.

Mr. Thrasher said the bale was gathered over 110 acres of March cotton. He predicts an average yield on the farm of about a bale to the acre. His plans are to start picking next Monday.

Hartford, Ala., July 27.—(Special)—The first bale of 1936 cotton was ginned at the J.P. Kennedy Gin in Hartford about noon Monday. The cotton was grown by Albert Dillard on the Crutchfield farm five miles southwest of Hartford. The bale weighed 333 pounds and was bought by W.S. Chaney, of Hartford, for Standard Chemical Company, at 17 cents a pound. This is one day later than the first bale ginned here last season.

Life In The CCC

By Norris A. Lewis
Co. 5459 CCC, Kato, Penn.

I wish to say that the CCC is one of the best positions any young man can obtain for several reasons.

For one thing it carries a young man who is inexperienced in many lines of work into the world at large, teaches him how to take responsibilities of life, learns him the art of life away from home, takes him among new friends and acquaintances and teaches and helps him make a living for himself and loved ones back home.

As we, Co. 5459, as well as many other companies, are nestled in the mountains of the old Quaker State, surrounded by the beautiful scenery of the old hills; with our own swimming pool and many other sports, some work, some play, but not the extreme of either, we enjoy life with the pleasure of knowing we will be welcomed back home some day when the work in the CCC is done with the peace of mind and feeling for our part that we have done all we could for our folks back home.

So long until next time.

Poultry Requires Care During The Summer

Auburn, Ala.—Poultry flocks will return bigger profits during the hot summer months if given water, reports John E. Ivey, extension poultryman, in advising that birds will not grow or lay well when overcrowded in hot, poorly-ventilated houses.

However, provisions should be made to protect the young birds from chilling at night, he warns.

Since green feed is scarce and hard to digest during hot, dry weather, a good fish oil should be placed in all growing mash feed during the summer months to provide the necessary vitamins, he advises.

A well-balanced developing mash should be before growing birds at all times. Instead of saving on feed costs by cutting down on the amount fed each bird, cull the poor layers out of the flock.

A wet mash should be fed layers to help maintain summer egg production. This should be fed in troughs in the early afternoon, giving the birds all they will clean up in about 20 minutes, feed about 3 pounds per 100 hens.

If natural shade is not available, expensive artificial shade may be provided by constructing a range shelter with pine poles and sacks painted with cement mixtures. Write for special Experiment Station circular entitled "A Sack-Cement Poultry House."

Parasites are especially bad in summer, so check the flock frequently for infestations. Clean the dropping boards as often as practical.

ROOSEVELT'S PICTURE ON SCREEN BRINGS APPLAUSE

But Only Silence, In Most Cases, Greets Face Of G.O.P.

Nominee Alf M. Landon; Audience Reactions Shown

In Poll Of Nation's Motion Picture Houses

The appearance on the silver screen of President Roosevelt's winning smile is the signal for a burst of applause while silence, in most cases, greets Gov. Alf M. Landon, Republican nominee, it was revealed today in a poll of theaters by Scripps-Howard.

In only a few instances—and then in neighborhood theaters situated in strong Republican districts—did applause given Mr. Landon exceed that received by President Roosevelt. In fact, dramatic critics said in answer to the Scripps-Howard questionnaire, applause received by Mr. Landon was only a ripple compared to the ovation given President Roosevelt.

President Cheered Here

In Birmingham, it was estimated that approximately half the audiences in the downtown theaters applauded the Roosevelt address in Shenandoah National Park last week, while about one-third of the audience greeted pictures of Landon in Estes Park with spirited cheering.

Managers of the Birmingham suburban theaters reported scattered applause for Roosevelt and little or no response to the "Kansas Coolidge."

Returns from other cities to date are:

Toledo—Downtown, Roosevelt's acceptance speech brought no reaction.

Poses of Landon brought applause from about 15 out of a house full. At one neighborhood theater Roosevelt's speech resulted in prolonged cheering. At another neighborhood theater showing Democratic convention pictures, a shot of Roosevelt got applause from about 40 spectators. Landon's picture got less than half as much applause and some boos.

Cincinnati—Downtown audiences were apathetic about both candidates. Applause seemed evenly divided. At cheaper downtown houses Roosevelt got loud applause, Landon none. At one neighborhood house in a heavily Republican district Landon got loud and long applause, Roosevelt mixed applause and boos.

Silence For Landon

Memphis—Audiences are applauding every time Roosevelt's picture is shown. In neighborhood houses they cheered and shouted for the acceptance speech. Landon's picture is received with silence.

Buffalo—Both Roosevelt and Landon were applauded in downtown theaters, but the Landon applause seemed a shade more enthusiastic. The situation was just reversed in neighborhood houses.

San Diego—Downtown audiences cheered Roosevelt wildly, Landon hardly at all. Smaller houses reported cheers for Roosevelt, silence for Landon.

Indianapolis—Two of three audiences here preferred Roosevelt, but in the largest, downtown theater, while the Roosevelt applause was good and strong, the Landon applause was tumultuous, with whistling.

Akron—In downtown theaters the house is silent when Landon is shown. Roosevelt gets thunderous applause. The same thing is true in neighborhood houses.

Now Is Time To Plant Fall Irish Potatoes

Auburn, Ala.—Now is the time for farmers who have not already done so to plant their fall Irish potato crop, advises Prof. L. M. Ware, head of the horticulture and forestry department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

The potatoes do best where planted on a moist but well-drained, productive bottom land. If this is not available they should be planted on the moist soil found on the farm.

An application of 800 to 1000 pounds per acre of a 4-10-7 fertilizer is recommended. Contact of seed and fertilizer should be avoided as much as possible.

Small potatoes may be planted whole; large pieces should be cut to 1 or 1-2 ounce pieces. The seed should be planted 5-6 inches deep and 16 inches apart in 30 to 35-inch rows.

A 4-inch straw mulch over the potatoes will give a better stand and a much higher production.

The seed should not be treated in the southern half of the State with ethylene chlorhydrin. In the northern half of the State, where less than 6 weeks have passed between digging of the spring crop and planting of the fall crop, the ethylene chlorhydrin treatment may be of value.

Bliss Triumph from the local-grown spring-crop or from South Alabama or Rose Four from the Hastings section of Florida are the best varieties. Northern-grown Green Mountain potatoes held in storage for the fall crop produce satisfactorily.

due. In fact, the last one of the three $1,000 bonds will not be due until three years hence. By paying these bonds now, Mayor Jones saved the city a large amount of money in interest. Commenting on this to the News, Mayor Jones stated, "Last week we called in three $1,000 bonds for payment. These bonds were not due, but we had the cash to pay them, and I saw no reason why the city should continue to pay interest on them. I had another reason for paying the bonds at this time. I shall ask for re-election to the Mayor's office, and I do not expect to be defeated, but should I be, I wanted to be sure the money we have accumulated went to pay the debts of the City where it rightfully belongs. This makes a total of $14,000 of bonds that have been retired during my time in office."

Clanton has shown considerable progress under the guidance of its present city fathers. So far, the News has not heard of anyone who intends to oppose Mayor Jones in his offer for re-election to serve the city as its Mayor.

JUNE TAX ON SALES OF GASOLINE HIGHER

Montgomery.—With a few accounts yet to reach the gasoline department of the State Tax Commission, collections for July on June sales have already passed the million dollar mark, according to announcement last week by Henry S. Long, chairman of the commission. At the close of business Saturday, collections amounted to $1,007,108.40, against a total for July last year of $846,378.84.

This means each county will receive for its road fund approximately $7,500 immediately after the close of this month. The other half of the funds go into the State Highway Fund to finance the $25,000,000 bond issue floated in 1927 for road building, and to build, as well as maintain public highways. Collections in June for May sales this year amounted to $979,087.65.

This is the twenty-third such committee to be organized and all other counties in the state are to be organized as rapidly as possible. The same method of organization is being perfected in each of the other forty eight states.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, the gasoline tax is a "special" road tax created for but one purpose, that of construction and maintenance of roads and bridges, and

WHEREAS, as such, there is positively no justifiable reason for the use of the funds derived therefrom for any other purpose, and

WHEREAS, the Alabama Legislature passed two "Local Acts," House Bill 203 and Senate Bill 45 through "Senatorial courtesy" at the last session, permitting the diversion of gasoline tax funds to other purposes, and

WHEREAS, these "Local Acts" may cause Alabama to lose several millions of dollars in Federal Aid road funds in future years, which will affect the entire State of Alabama, and

WHEREAS, Alabama has the highest "special motor vehicle" cost per vehicle and the lowest automobile registration per capita in the United States due to the State 6 cents, Federal 1 cent and average Local 1 cent gasoline taxes, in some localities the total being 10 cents per gallon, and

WHEREAS, the "local" county and municipal gasoline taxes are exceedingly destructive to the business of local dealers and merchants because they drive business out of the area affected.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, That this committee herewith places itself on record as being unalterably opposed to the diversion of gasoline taxes or other "special" motor vehicle taxes to purposes other than the construction and maintenance of roads and bridges, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED,

That our State Representatives and Senator be requested and urged to lend their full cooperation in opposing any and all gasoline tax and other road fund "diversion" measures, both "local" and "general," introduced in the Alabama Legislature, and that they also lend their cooperation in passing whatever legislation is necessary to invalidate the two above "local" acts when the Legislature convenes again, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED,

That our State Representatives and Senator be requested and urged to oppose any and all proposals which would increase the gasoline tax, also to actively assist in bringing about a uniform gasoline tax rate through the elimination of all "local" gasoline taxes.

CHILTON COUNTY PETROLEUM INDUSTRIES COMMITTEE.
—W. E. Huddleston, Chairman.
—L. E. Diefenderfer, Secretary.

Adopted July 24, 1936.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, The Federal gasoline and lubricating oil taxes were enacted as "temporary" measures in 1932 and have been reenacted each year since that time, and

WHEREAS, The proceeds from these "special" taxes impose an unjustifiable and unreasonable added burden upon the motorist, who was already, and is now, sadly overburdened by State and "Local" gasoline taxes, and

WHEREAS, The Federal government should withdraw from this tax field leaving it solely to the States, and

WHEREAS, H. R. 12161 by Congressman Boland now pending in Congress would levy a tax of 1 cent per gallon on all "fuel oil" and "distillate" for the purpose of benefitting another industry to the detriment of consumers of these products and to the petroleum industry, and

WHEREAS, the petroleum industry is already paying 201 different taxes upon its properties, products and services,

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, That this Committee hereby with places itself on record as opposing the continuance of the Federal gasoline and lubricating oil taxes, and opposing the enactment of H. R. 12161, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED,

That our Congressmen and two United States Senators be requested and urged to assist in the repeal of the Federal gasoline and lubricating oil taxes, and to oppose the enactment of the "fuel oil" and "distillate" tax, H. R. 12161.

PASSING FOOTPRINTS

Of The Times

— Billy Smith

Smith's Dogs:
Billy Smith, at Upchurch Drug Co., says that he has really been disposing of his fine bloodhounds he advertises in the News recently. He has taken them to such places as Miami, Fla., the state of Oregon and other faraway places. However, the News does not claim all credit for these sales, as Loren inserted an advertisement in a national magazine that brought some good results. In other words, the point is, we believe that Billy believes it pays to advertise when you have something to sell—or

T. Ellis At Work:
John T. Ellis is usually at work something all the time. If it isn't mowing modern, comfortable tourists at his attractive place here, it's filling gasoline. Now he is busy getting off his large piece of property on the north end of the business section of Clanton. He tells us he is going to make that grove the spot of Clanton. More power Mr. Ellis. Even we can see the beauties of what you plan to do. It adds much to the northern entrance of little city.

In Clanton:
The most regrettable that our county reported its first case of poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis). We have for some time urged health authorities to use stringent measures to curb the spread of this dreaded disease into our county. However, we know that Clanton is doing all he can toward that end at present.

Miss This:
Take pleasure in calling the attention of our readers to the article appearing in this issue and prepared by Grover C. Walker, one of our prominent attorneys. Mr. Walker has given us some historical data he gathered while on a recent motor trip. We found it most interesting and believe we also learned that our old Walker is quite a history student as well as a lawyer of ability. We shall have respect for his opinions on the future after reading this article. We also recommend it to the people as well as you young-

Wish For So Little:
That expression "So Much For Little" comes forcefully to us. It brought to us this time by the accident which occurred at Sims last Friday morning when two cars had a head-on collision, seriously injuring several people and saddening families, saying nothing of loss of time and money. And it all happened because an automobile driver just didn't have time to wait until he could see over the crest of the hill on the road before passing. It would have taken only one or two to have waited. Yes, offering, and giving, so much for so little.

Say So:
Now, Highway Patrolmen Waites state that they shall pay attention to auto drivers they see in their cars or vehicles on the road. It is nothing less than driving and endangering lives.

Yes Again:
We hear the droning sound of an airplane engine overhead and it is a shiny monoplane, then you can say it is our own Dr. Gragg entering the fresh air of the heavens in his new ship. Dr. Gragg has just received his latest plane and those who say it is a beauty. We may get up some kind of contest between Dr. Gragg and Leo Thompson, other aviator and plane owner, to see who can get to the air-Grass Field.

LEE SMITH AND ALRED PARTY RETURN FROM TRIP:
A party composed of Judge and Lee Smith, and two children, Jr., and Lillian and Dr. and Alance Alfred, two children, Cal-Jerry, have returned from a motor trip. They were consumed about two weeks, and then over four thousand miles into several of the Western and Western states. They traveled in cars and made the trip a real stopping at interesting points along the way. Judge Smith and Dr. Alfred are the job now and feeling fine and much needed and deserved with their charming families.

Large Number Injured In Auto Accidents

PATROLMEN KEPT ON RUN

Epidemic Of Accidents Seems To Have Hit In This Section

What seemed to be a regular epidemic of automobile accidents that sent numerous persons to the hospital here and to offices of local physicians for treatment, swept the county during the past few days and all on the Birmingham-Montgomery Highway. It started Wednesday night of last week, when a car said to have been driven by Irby Powell of Clanton, was side-swiped by another car said to have been driven by F.H. Livingston, of Birmingham. Livingston was accompanied by Mrs. L.L. Clark and two daughters, Maggie and Agnes. This accident (Continued on Back Page)

TWO STORIED BUILDING IS BEING BUILT

George McCain Is Adding To North End Of Business Section

The north section of the business district of Clanton is taking on a most progressive and wide-awake appearance since the completion of two new and modern brick buildings recently erected by George McCain, widely known stable owner of Clanton. Adding much to the appearance of that section of the city also is the new service station and garage at the intersection of the Selma-Birmingham Highway, recently erected by John C. Page, well known banker of Clanton.

Work is now being pushed by Mr. McCain on the erection of new and modern two-story brick building to adjoin the other two he has built. It is understood that the new building will be one of the most up-to-date of its kind in the city and Mr. McCain stated he expects to have it completed about October 1st.

Workmen are also busy now making ready for the erection of a new filling station just north of these new buildings. It is understood that the Pan-American Petroleum Corporation will occupy this new station and that a prominent local service station man will be in charge when it is completed.

A large number of new homes have also been recently completed in Clanton and several are now under construction.

CATTLE CLUB MEMBERS GO AS VISITORS

Make Tour To Home Of Each Member Of Organization

Members of the 4-H Jersey Cattle Club of Chilton County met at the County Agent's office last Saturday, August 1st, at 7:30, to make a tour to each member's home.

The purpose of this tour was for each member to see what and how the other members were getting along with their cow or calf.

The tour started from the County Agent's office and thirteen homes were visited during the morning. At each home the animals were examined and commented on by different ones. When we returned to the office B. N. Ivey, assistant county agent in 4-H Club Work remarked on what each one needed to do to his animal in preparation for the show that is to take place in September. The entire group enjoyed watermelon at the Dennis home and a free picture show given by Mr. Wade at the Wadesonian Theatre Saturday afternoon.

PIONEERS OF AVIATION IN CHILTON COUNTY SEE BRIGHT FUTURE HERE

DR. V. J. GRAGG

LEO THOMPSON

Mr. Thompson and Dr. Gragg can be termed aviation pioneers of Chilton County, being the owners of the only two airplanes here and both of whom are licensed pilots. They predict a bright future for Clanton and Chilton County in the very near future in aviation circles and are urging the completion of Gragg Field, Clanton's airport.

To Washington And Return

An Interesting Article Prepared By Hon. G. C. Walker, Attorney Of Clanton

This is the first part of a most interesting and instructive article prepared by Hon. G. C. Walker, prominent attorney of Clanton, who recently made an extended motor trip to the nation's capital and other points of interest. "We left home on the morning of June 11, 1936, to make our trip to Washington, D.C. I wanted to come through Birmingham on to Chattanooga, through Knoxville to Chattanooga, through Knoxville to Chattanooga. These falls are just beyond the beautiful little city of Gadsden. There is a beautiful story connected with these falls. The water of a creek pours over a large rock for one hundred feet into a large pool below. The story is like this: There was a beautiful Indian girl who wanted to marry a young man of her tribe and with whom she was in love; her father, who was the Chief of the tribe living in the neighborhood of this waterfall, wanted his daughter to marry the chief of another tribe; this would give prominence to his daughter and would also give the chief a greater and stronger connection with his people. Nocalula did not want to marry him, but her father insisted and told her that it was best for her to marry a man of prominence and power than to marry some young man of her own tribe and he told her she would have to marry the chief. The day was set for the wedding and all plans and arrangements had been completed, but just before the ceremony was to be had, Nocalula walked to the edge of this waterfall and plunged herself for one hundred feet into the pool of water and the large rocks below and by so doing ended her life. This is why these falls have been given the name "Nocalula."

"The other reason I wanted to make the trip this was for the purpose of seeing my old friend, Mr. Thomas A. Curry. When I reached Asheville on the night of June 11, and we had gotten to our room in the George Vanderbilt Hotel, I called Mr. Curry over telephone and he immediately came down to the hotel and appeared very

Sportsmen Will Meet Here Friday Night

The Chilton County Conservation Council will hold a meeting at the courthouse in Clanton on Friday night of this week, according to J.B. Atkinson, chairman and Loren Smith, secretary. The meeting is set for seven-thirty o'clock and all those persons in the county interested in game and fishing are urged to attend. Several matters of importance to them will be discussed. Land owners where game and fish are located, are especially urged to attend.

"Mr. Deeds" Is Coming To Clanton And Will Show What To Do With $20,000,000

Yes sir, "Mr. Deeds" is coming to Clanton. He is a young man in a well known small town and he has just inherited twenty million dollars. That's a lot of money for a care-free young man to get hold of at one time.

"Mr. Deeds Goes To Town" tells the fascinating story of a young man in a small town—Mandrake Falls, if you're curious—who falls heir to $20,000,000 left by an eccentric uncle. Longfellow Deeds, the lunk, doesn't give a hoot about the money; he wants to be left alone in Mandrake Falls, where he's having a good time playing the tuba in the village band and serving as a volunteer fireman.

However, he is brought to New York by his late uncle's attorney and dropped in the midst of a bunch of grafters—the attorney among them—who are out to leave Deeds as little of the fortune as possible. Of course, his adventures into the metropolis is a field day for the newspapers. One clever editor assigns Babe Bennett, a sob sister, the task of getting the story on Longfellow; she does, but she also succeeds in falling in love with him and allowing him to fall for her. Her stories bring Deeds such unhappiness that he decides to give his $20,000,000 away to needy folk. Immediately the attorney, who sees visions of the money getting away from him altogether, has Deeds arrested for insanity, and then the fur flies with a vengeance.

"Mr. Deeds Goes To Town" will be shown at the New Wadesonian Theatre in Clanton on next Sunday and Monday. No advance in admission prices.

Intoxicated Drivers Feel Arm Of Law

There are at least four persons in this section who recently felt the strong arm of the law during the past week for having allegedly been driving motor vehicles while intoxicated, according to records at the office of Sheriff Hardy, and Highway Patrolmen Waites and Henley who are in the county to enforce that law on the state's highways. All these offenders will be tried before Justice of the Peace J.L. Wilson.

MAPLESVILLE WILL RECEIVE PAVED ROADS

Highway Department Says Will Pave Both Sides In Near Future

Maplesville, one of Chilton County's progressive towns will soon be boasting of paved streets, according to a decision made recently by the State Highway Department.

The Department head stated to Supervisor Arledge and Representative Charlie Cox that they would go ahead with plans to pave the Selma Highway right through Maplesville to the bridge just beyond the town and also the short road leading by the side of the store of Hill J. Foshee.

It was also stated that it is understood the work will go forward along with the completion of paving the highway to the designated bridge. When completed, this will mean that Maplesville will have its two main streets paved. However, this will leave a short street in between unpaved, and a good opportunity for the citizens of Maplesville to do some good work for their town by paving that street in front of the Hill Foshee store.

DATE SET FOR LEGIONNAIRE CONVENTION

Was Postponed Several Days Ago; To Be Held This Month

With reports for the past few days showing that the epidemic of poliomyelitis is on the wane in Alabama, Dr. Francis Marion Inge, Department Commander announced yesterday that the postponed Alabama American Legion Convention would be held August 23-25, inclusive at Huntsville. The dates were set by the Alabama Department Executive Committee following a conference with Dr. J.N. Baker, State Health Officer.

Dr. Baker said the situation seemed encouraging and that, if the improvement continued, there would be little danger by the time set for the convention. Those who plan to attend the convention are advised however, to use the alum-picric acid spray before going to Huntsville.

All plans have been made for the Convention, and Huntsville is waiting for the Legionnaires and their families with a royal welcome.

All Public Gatherings Over County Are Being Discouraged

PARENTS ASKED TO GIVE COOPERATION

Chilton County reported its first case of infantile paralysis yesterday to the State Health Department, the information being given that the person stricken resides some 12 miles southwest of Clanton. This case was one of seven reported during the day. Another case was diagnosed in Cullman County, one in Lauderdale, one in Lawrence, one in Madison, one in Blount and one in Morgan.

At a regular meeting of the Chilton County Medical Society held on Tuesday evening the situation in regard to infantile paralysis was discussed at some length. This discussion was led by Dr. W. H. Y. Smith, epidemiologist from the State Health Department. At the conclusion of the discussion the following resolution was adopted by the County Board of Health:

We, the Board of Health of Chilton County, urge that all gatherings throughout the County be discontinued until the epidemic of infantile paralysis now prevalent in the counties north of us has ceased. Especially do we urge the parents of all children under sixteen years of age to keep these (Continued on Back Page)

All auxiliary members are urged to come and bring some well filled baskets, as it is believed the war veterans will be looking for the food about noon on that day.

Mazer's Holds Sale By Popular Demand

"We have had so many requests that we continue our huge Public Sale, that it will continue for several more days," I.S. Levine, manager of Mazer's Store, stated to the News this week. Mazer's is truly putting on a sale, judging from the low prices shown in the full page advertisement appearing in this issue of the News.

"Although we have sold completely out of several of our outstanding bargains, there are plenty more for the people to buy and save money," Mr. Levine continued. See the full page announcement appearing in the News this week from this large department store.

CHARLIE COX VISITS HERE EARLY PART OF THE WEEK

Mr. Cox is traveling representative of the American Casting Co., of Birmingham, one of the largest casting companies in the South. His territory includes Alabama, Mississippi and Georgia, and he travels this territory at regular intervals.

Kansas Near-Beer Is Flat

Editorial from The Montgomery Advertiser

Governor Landon's acceptance speech was a miracle of vagueness. He did, however, make two things clear:

1. The Republican Party remains, the party of McKinley, Harding, Coolidge and Hoover, despite its heralded "rebirth."
2. The Republican candidate of 1936, despite the daisies, the straw hat and the smile, does not differ greatly from his predecessors.

On the practical, political side two other facts were made clear:

1. The reports that Governor Landon is a dud on the platform have been greatly under-stated. He is as flat as a mug of Kansas near-beer and has about as much fire as an exploded firecracker that has been in the rain overnight.

2. Governor Landon's managers will allow their fair-haired boy to smile on the general public on as few occasions as possible between now and November. He is a good man as far as Americans go, but mediocrity has ceased to be a Presidential qualification. A "front-door-step" campaign is the only hope of the Republicans.

The Republican statists have definitely decided to send their man forth as a God-fearing, honest citizen who respects mother, the American home, the Constitution and the flag; who likes his eggs for breakfast well done—but not too done, mind you; and whose intellectual capacities are best expressed in that time-honored phrase, "horse sense."

This was definitely illustrated by Bertrand Snell's introductory remarks. This appeal to the homely virtues has been tried before—many times—it may work once more, but the American people having lapped up that sop on so many occasions and having had a taste of something more substantial may not fall for it again.

Even the Democrats, we imagine, are willing to admit that "Honesty is the best policy" and that "However humble, there is no place like home." Therefore these admirable observations should not be exposed to the ravages of a national election. Nor does The Advertiser believe that the Democrats are in favor of reducing the number of white stripes in the American flag and increasing the number of red.

On scraping away the varnish and the bromide aphorisms in an effort to get at the meat of Governor Landon's speech, one finds that there is precious little to gnaw on. Governor Landon goes a wee bit further than any previous Republican nominee, but the elephant has plodded along only a few paces. It had to be knocked in the head and dragged that distance by the New Deal.

Somewhat gingerly Governor Landon adopts a few of the major departures of the New Deal. Economy is his watchword, but "Those who need relief will get it." And he adds a phrase that should be copyrighted to prevent its use by every other politician that comes along:

"We will not take our economies out of the allotments to the unemployed. We will take them out of the hides of the exploiters."

Every time we think of John D. M. Hamilton replacing Jim Farley and beating economy "out of the hides of the exploiters" we begin to believe that Governor Landon may have a sense of humor after all. That is about the only funny remark he made.

Now we come to that magic word, "the farmer."

"We shall," says Governor Landon, "establish effective soil conservation and erosion control policies in connection with a land use and flood prevention program—and keep it out of politics."

Not only that, but the heart of the G.O. P. will bleed for the victims of droughts, floods and tornadoes.

On social security.

"We shall amend the social security act

Gov. Landon's Acceptance Speech

Of Gov. Landon's speech of acceptance, in the light of the build-up of publicity and public interest in the high-spot of the Republican campaign, one can only paraphrase the remark of a New York drama critic of a recent play. He said, in effect, the labor was long and arduous, but the mouse was small. What a disappointment must be that of sincere opponents of the New Deal, who face the necessity of taking Roosevelt, or the author of last night's speech! If the High Command of the Republican party has decided that its campaign strategy shall be devoted to convincing the American people that Gov. Landon is a plain, simple man of the people, it overplayed its hand in the material and delivery of the acceptance speech.—B'ham News.

"As the Republican platform now stands, it is orthodox enough on the tariff to suit Dingley, McKinley, Payne, Aldrich, Fordney, McCumber, Hawley, Smoot and Grandy. It is a platform upon which Hoover could run without a quiver."—Kansas City Journal. (Ind.)

"What ever else may be said about the Republican platform, its tariff plank runs true to form. It is just as crazily uneconomical as ever."—Harrisburg Patriot (Ind. Dem.)

"Among the prominent counselors at the Republican national convention was Gen. Chas. G. Dawes of hellenmaria fame. The general no doubt joined Steiwer, Hoover, Snell et al in attacks upon New Deal spending. Yet it would have been refreshing had Gen. Dawes and Mr. Hoover given some assurance, while applying the lash to the Democrats for spending public money, that the enormous Dawes loan would be repaid."—Spartanburg Herald. (Ind. Dem.)

to make it workable. . . .

The Republican Party has accepted four phrases of the New Deal, relief, social security, soil-conservation bounties and disaster relief. On three of these it is better qualified as an administrator because it knows how "to keep them out of politics." On the fourth, social security, it asks to take over a program originated by a Democratic Administration and make it "workable" in some unannounced hokus pokus fashion.

In addition to soil-conservation Governor Landon offers two farm proposals which are the only two new ideas he advanced.

"Our farmers are entitled to all of the home market they can supply without injustice to the consumer. We propose a policy that protects them in this right. . . .

"Some of our farmers, dependent in part upon foreign markets, suffer from disadvantages arising from world disorder. Until these disadvantages are eliminated we propose to pay cash benefits in order to cushion our farm families against the disastrous effects of price fluctuations and to protect their standard of living."

The first of these is a vague thrust at the reciprocal trade agreement policy—the only advancement made in breaking down world trade barriers since the war. If we protect "all of our home markets" for the American farmer what becomes of his foreign market and the foreign market of industry?

The second encompasses the dangerous policy of the export bounty which is the weapon of economic nationalism. The United States already protects itself against dumping and it would be foolish to suppose that other countries will not do likewise—in fact most of them already do.

Governor Landon "softened" the nationalistic planks of the platform dictated by Senator Borah and William Randolph Hearst. His remarks on international relations were flimsy. There was no mention of gold. He had already made it clear that he is "safe" on that issue.

Finally, his speech was almost an exact duplicate of that delivered at Cleveland by Herbert Hoover. It was, however, far less explicit and forceful.

But The Advertiser does not blame Governor Landon. If it had to satisfy Herbert Hoover, William Randolph Hearst, the duPonts, the liberals of the mid-West, and the reactionaries of the East, industry and labor and so on, it would not have said more. In that respect President Roosevelt has the advantage—his following is already definitely limited to those who have been satisfied with the New Deal as a whole.

The Advertiser has not felt so confident of the reelection of President Roosevelt since the name of Alf Landon was first mentioned.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

While watching a ball game quietly from the grandstand, I saw the heads of two gray-haired men close together. I did not hear what was said but I was reasonably sure of the conversation when two five dollar bills were placed in the hands of an observer and later one of the men collected the two bills. A boisterous man sat near me on the grandstand. All near him heard him say, "I will bet anybody twenty dollars that a certain thing will happen as certain batter went to the plate. A middle-aged woman took from her purse twenty dollars. The thing did not happen and she put twenty dollars into her purse. Her daughter said to her, 'Mamma, let me see the money you won.' I heard a lad of seven summers say to his father, 'Papa, that man over there has two hundred dollars bet on this game,' and in that boy's mind that man was a hero. My Lord, what is coming over this country of ours? Aged men are setting bad examples, women gambling in the presence of their own children and youth holding up the gambler as a hero. A prominent doctor said this to me a few days ago: 'American people have gone crazy, and I am persuaded that he is about right.'

A lady came to my study and in the presence of my wife she unbundled the story of her heart. It was all about that old story of an unfaithful husband. After many tears she said between her sobs, "Doctor, I have no respect for that man and I have no respect for him." How I did wish that the following lines of Edgar Guest would appeal to everyone as they appeal to me: "I have to live by myself and so I want to be fit for myself to know, I want to be able as the days go by, always to look myself straight in the eye; I don't want to stand with the setting sun and hate myself for the things I've done. I don't want to keep on a closet shelf, a lot of secrets about myself, and fool myself as I come and go, into thinking that nobody else will know the kind of man I really am; I don't want to deserve all men's respect." If all of us would do that there would be no sad stories to relate.

Many years ago the Prince of Wales, who is now King George VIII of England, placed this motto before him as his ideal of life: "I serve!" We are persuaded that the king is living up to his motto. It was the Man of Galilee who said, "I am among you as one who serves." If this motto can be accepted by the King of England and by Jesus Christ, certainly it can and should be accepted by you and by me. "I serve."

A friend was showing me through his new home. It was well furnished. He and his bride of a few weeks talked much about the different articles composing the furnishings of the house, telling me where the different pieces were made and how far they had to travel to become theirs. Every piece of furnishing in that home was manufactured abroad and brought in. After we had seated ourselves in the living room, I ventured to make this little speech: "My dear young people, you have shown your furniture with pride and you have cause for doing so, but I want to tell you that the most important thing in this house to make you happy, you cannot have made abroad and shipped in and that is happiness. This is what you want and need above everything else and this you must produce at home." Happiness is not a manufactured product, it is home-made.

While sitting on the front porch of our bay cottage we looked far to the East and saw in the distance the white sails of a small pleasure craft. Two miles away the sails looked to be as white as the snow of a winter day. An hour later the little boat went skimming along over the water near the cottage bench and then we saw that the sails were dark and dingy and all bedrabbled with salty brine coming from the spray of many a sail. What appeared to be so white far away did not show up with whiteness nearby. We look at men and women when they are far away and often we conclude that they are the ideal. They appear spotless and good, but when they come nearer to us and we have a close-up view into habits, mannerisms and characteristics, it is often the case that we are made to say, "Not so white after all." The drab of many a sail leaves a soil that hides out the whiteness.

Fertilizer Sales Highest Since '30

Auburn, Ala.—Fertilizer tag sales in 12 Southern States during the fiscal year which ended June 30 totaled 4,163,301 equivalent tons, or 6 per cent larger than for the preceding 12 months and was the largest volume for the period since 1930, announces the National Fertilizer Association.

With the exception of South Carolina, which reported a slight decline, increases occurred in all of the states.

"That's the way I take it in, and that's the way I pay it out," explained John Fabretta when he gave a court in Montgomery, Ala., 272 nickles as a fine for violating the liquor laws in his beer parlor.

K. W. Moffet, church organist of Salem, Mass., was slightly embarrassed, but not injured when a live wire dropped on him and burned off nearly all his clothing.

But It's Still Baloney!

COUNTY CONTROL IS VITAL TO LOCAL ROAD FUTURE

By T. J. ARLEDGE
Road Supervisor

—ARTICLE THREE—

Local roads are bound to the land to community plans made to fit in and benefit those who live in the community. The county is frequently charged with inefficiency and carelessness in handling its roads. Yet the county remains an indispensable agency of local road administration.

The various functions of roads and highways may be divided into two general groups: those of roads and highways that have as their primary purpose the carrying of traffic only incidentally related to the use of abutting property, and those having as their primary purpose service to the abutting property. The one class constitutes a "thoroughfare" system, as a basic structural element of the larger community, the state; the other consists of roads that are directly appurtenant to adjacent land. The function of the first is general or state-wide; that of the other is local. The government unit that has jurisdiction over the functions of the larger community is the only agency competent to deal with the traffic-thoroughfare system that performs such a function; the governmental unit that has jurisdiction over the functions of the local community is the only agency competent to deal with the roads that are of local significance.

Any attempt to divide jurisdiction over the major traffic-thoroughfares of a state highway system among the local governmental agencies through whose territories the thoroughfares pass would be turning back toward the unsatisfactory conditions that existed before the establishment of state highway departments—conditions that would be accentuated to the point of confusion by modern traffic conditions. On the other hand, in spite of apparent economies of operation and apparently greater efficiency, centralized administration of local roads violates the intimate relation that exists between the local roads and abutting land to which they are appurtenant. The relation of local roads to the use of adjacent land is second in its intimacy only to the actual physical characteristics of the land itself. Actually, the basic distinction between the fields of general and local government is vital to sound road administration.

With this in mind, local government of our local roads, at a conference with the State Highway Department heads in Montgomery, last Wednesday, it developed that I was advised Chilton County would be eligible for almost any amount of the funds provided in the Hayden-Cartwright bill passed just recently by Congress we might be able to match, dollar for dollar. This bill was referred to in my article last week in this paper. Full information as to requirements in connection with the type of roads was not available at this conference, but I was advised that the Division Engineer of this district would visit me later and clear up all points in the matter, and it was also learned that the State Highway Department would cooperate to the fullest extent in seeing that Chilton County was given every opportunity to share in these funds provided for the use on secondary rural roads.

To this end the State Highway Department also advised that a complete survey of all county roads is now underway in the state, and that a survey party could be expected in Chilton County in a week or two. These surveys are being conducted by the State Highway Departments with the cooperation of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads. Federal highway officials who are coordinating the various state surveys think that a selection should be made of those roads that because of their importance merit early consideration in an improvement program. Future programs can be planned intelligently only with information as to which roads should be improved first. Each survey has three branches—a highway condition survey, a highway traffic survey and a highway finance survey. So far there are surveys being made in 36 states.

This survey of Chilton County roads will indicate the actual location of every house in the county, including the location and the name of all churches, schools and other known landmarks. This will be of great benefit to your road supervisor and will save the cost of mapping the road system as provided by the law establishing this office. Of course, it will eliminate the costly work traversing the entire road system, but it will not provide the map I have planned of the county, which will not only show the roads and streams in the county but every land owner where possible to place his name on the space available.

From this map, with the assistance of the Commissioners' Court or their appointed committee, we will select those roads which will become the first to receive attention and be developed for permanent surface treating. This work and its type of surface will depend on requirements set up by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads for standard secondary roads. Preliminary plans for this work should be commenced now, as the funds provided by the Government will be available January 1st, 1937.

CLANTON MOTORS SAYS FORDS ARE REALLY BEING SOLD HERE

Have Large Stock of Good Used Cars That Were Traded In On Purchases Of The New Fords

"We have a large stock of good used cars now and we want to dispose of them," said T. J. Littlejohn, manager of Clanton Motors, local Ford Dealers. "We have been selling so many of the New Ford V-8 cars and taking used cars on them."

In order to dispose of these good used cars, Mr. Littlejohn and Rip Burnett stated they are placing some extra low prices on them for several days. They also stated that many of these cars have been reconditioned and are guaranteed.

An advertisement in this issue of the News tells more about these used car bargains, listing several of them.

The Marbury High School has a new PWA project to get under way soon. It has been rumored a $3,000 gymnasium will be included in this new project.

A certain noted temperance was strolling through South Marbury and noted a man stretched out on the grass. His hair was tousled and face flushed. Concluding that the man was under the influence of alcohol, he paused to chide him gently: "My friend, did you ever stop to think that if the price of a drink of liquor had been put out at compound interest at the time of the Queen of Sheba's visit to Solomon, it would now amount to $7,921,763.11?" "No," answered the prone one, "but I'm somewhat of a statistician myself and I'm telling you that if you aren't 121 feet from here in nine seconds, I'm going to hit you on the nose 23 times and cause you to see 13,791 stars. I have just had five teeth pulled at $1.75 a pull and I'm in no humor for figuring."

We are happy to learn that Congressman Sam Hobbs is resting well and will soon be out of Litterman Hospital, San Francisco. Hobbs was stricken by pneumonia several days ago.

Republicans, just now, remind us of the little fellow who whistled so loudly while groping his way through a dark lane. The tune meant very little but the noise kept his courage up.

Mr. L. Johnson, owner of the large gin plat at Marbury, says he will be in full swing for cotton by August 15.

Another argument which will not be settled for some time: Just who should be placed on old-age pension rolls for Autauga County.

When Victor Torok's will was filed for probate at Davenport, Ia., it was discovered that he had provided $10 for each pallbearer at his funeral.

2nd Quarter Corp. Incomes Show 70 Pct Gain

Standard Statistics Co., Inc., of New York announced July 20 that "estimated net earnings of leading American industrial corporations for the second quarter of 1936 indicate an average gain of about 70 per cent over second quarter profits in 1935." The announcement to the Associated Press adds:

"Second quarter profits this year are expected to approximately equal those of the second quarter of 1930 and, of course, exceed those of any intervening three months period." Continuing the report states:

"The second quarter income statements that will feature financial news during the next month will make an impressively favorable showing. Although costs increase somewhat, the rise was not sufficient to interfere with the earnings effect of a 26 per cent advance in industrial production over the April-June 30 period of 1935.

"The production rise averaged a little more than nine per cent and industrial profits increased 50 per cent in the first quarter this year over the first three months of last year."

Bireley's Orangeade Is Outstanding Example Of Real Quality Product

During every depression a number of nationally known products have gained their start. Items which succeeded with their initial introduction during depression years immediately obtained greater success as soon as prosperity returned. According to Mr. Sanford, of the Dixieland Dairy, Bireley's Orangeade is an outstanding example of a product that gained national recognition through distribution and merchandising plans, along with a quality product introduced during depression years.

Bireley's Orangeade, a pure fruit beverage, is distributed exclusively by dairies in every section of the country. It is a beverage that must be handled by dairies who have the facilities to bottle and distribute a beverage containing a high percentage of unadulterated fruit juice.

The general popularity of Bireley's Orangeade is increasing rapidly because of its quality and extensive advertising. Mr. Sanford has chosen the Chilton County News to carry the local advertising campaign on Bireley's Orangeade.

IN MEMORY OF JOHN CLECKLER

With humble hearts we speak of our friend and loved one for the last time, who died at his home last Thursday afternoon at five o'clock after an illness of four months.

Mr. Cleckler was buried at Mt. Pisgah church on Friday morning, July 31, with the Rev. J. C. Moates and Dr. S. J. Ezell officiating, Spigener in charge.

Those who mourn his death are: his wife and five children; four brothers and seven sisters.

We are sure that he is with Jesus and do not weep dear children, but prepare to meet him up there.—Contributed.

Why Gulf is the Gas for August

"C'MON IN, FELLAS, and cool off!" Most days are hot in August. Gasoline must be refined specially for this weather. If it isn't, part of the fuel goes out the exhaust unburned, wasted . . . and you don't get the mileage you should. Use That Good Gulf Gasoline in August. It's refinery-adjusted for summer weather—"Kept in Step with the Calendar"—all of it goes to work, none of it goes to waste.

A Permanent CCC

By SAM C. NUMMY
Clanton CCC Camp

I believe the CCC should be a permanent organization just as the Army and Navy.

The greatest need of the CCC is a better educational program. Schools should be established for boys who are worthy of education. If a cook seems to be interested in his job, send him to a cooking school. If a first sergeant proves successful, send him to a five-months military school and give him an examination for second lieutenant. These schools should teach the things enrollees are receiving experience in, such as mechanics, cooking, and secretarial work and forestry.

By offering this kind of educational program the boys would be inspired to put their best in their work.

The CCC should adopt a special uniform that would be decent to wear anywhere. This uniform should be made to fit. No boy should be allowed to wear anything around camp except this uniform. By doing this the boys would look better in formations and would be proud of their uniforms. I believe each boy should say whether or not he should be sent out of his home state, because many boys are forced into the CCC because of unemployment. These boys should not be forced into another state. If a boy is forced into another state he will lose his patriotism to a great extent.

I believe this is the message of CCC boys everywhere.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks and appreciation to our many friends and neighbors for their help and kindness during our father and husband's illness and death. We do thank Dr. Gragg for his help and especially do we thank Mr. Mell Martin for his help and all his kind words. May God bless each and every one be our prayer—Mrs. S. A. Blankenship and children.

LOW GAS TAXES RESULT IN GREATER USE OF MOTOR VEHICLES ON FARMS

The important part which operating costs play in determining whether farmers will use many or few vehicles is indicated in a study made by the Alabama Petroleum Industries Committee, which shows that states with low gasoline taxes generally have more motor vehicles in use on farms than have states where motor fuel levies are high.

The study reveals that if farm registrations in all states were of the same density as in states where low gasoline tax rates prevail, there would be an increase of 1,500,000 in farm vehicles. Latest available data indicates that at present about 5,000,000 passenger cars and trucks are in use on farms in this country.

The Committee analyzed farm motor vehicle registrations in three groups of states—those having high gasoline tax rates, medium rates, and low rates. In order to get all states on a comparable basis the registration density figure was based on the number of persons residing on farms per motor vehicle.

It was found that farmers in high-tax states are less than half as extensively "motorized" as are the farmers in states where reasonable rates are levied. The former group, including 15 states, averages 9.1 farm residents per vehicle, while the average of the latter group is 4.1 persons. The second group includes 11 states and the District of Columbia. Gasoline tax rates in the first group range from 5 cents to 7 cents, plus the 1 cent federal tax and county and municipal taxes levied in some of the 15 states. In the "reasonable rate" group, all states have included where rates do not exceed 3 cents.

An intermediary group of states levying gasoline taxes at the rate of 4 cents is also considered. The average number of farm residents per farm motor vehicle for this group was found to be 4.9, a showing approximately 16 per cent worse than that made by the low-tax group.

An increased farm demand for approximately one and a half million motor vehicles would aid industry of all kinds. It would mean about a billion dollars worth of new business for the automobile manufacturers, equal to 48 per cent of the wholesale value of all cars and trucks produced in the United States during 1935.

The tire industry would also benefit since a demand for six million additional tires would mean a 12 per cent increase over business done by U.S. tire companies in 1935.

Based on an average annual consumption per vehicle of 600 gallons of gasoline, the total motor fuel requirements for one and a half million motor vehicles for one year would come to about 885,000,000 gallons. Add to this 29,565,000 gallons of lubricating oil and there results a retail business worth $134,000,000 to filling stations. Some 15,000 "average" filling stations could be kept going with this potential farm automotive business.

Employment also would be stimulated. The manufacture of 1,500,000 cars would require the services of nearly 150,000 workers in automobile plants. Before these could start operations numerous other workers would find jobs in the raw material industries supplying the automobile industry with steel, tin, cotton, paint, glass, and scores of other commodities.

Some 26,000 attendants would be required by filling stations to handle the additional gasoline needed.

Robert Marshall of Kansas City gave away his daughter, sister-in-law and cousin at a triple wedding. "And to my divorced wife I leave a kiss," concluded the will of J. C. Roberts of St. Louis, which disposed of a $250,000 estate.

The Stanton 4-H Club enjoyed a picnic last Friday, July 31. It was planned to have it on the creek so everyone could go in swimming but as the weather was so bad we had to hold it in the schoolhouse.

After dinner a short rest was needed, and at this time B. N. Ivey, assistant county agent in 4-H Club work, talked to the group and got several more project cards filled out. Mr. Shelton Cook, the local leader for the Stanton Club, also had a few words to say to the Club. Afterwards the game was resumed, and everyone seemed to have a good time all during the day.

Know Your Language

By C. L. Bushnell

School of English, International Correspondence Schools

THE combination "equally as frequently crops up in present-day writing and conversation. It is never good English. Do not say, 'Their suggestion seems equally as good as yours.' Say, 'Their suggestion seems as good as yours,' or 'Their suggestion and yours seem equally good.'"

Our word "supercilious," meaning haughtily contemptuous or disdainful, comes down to us from "superciliosus," a Latin word meaning, literally, "eyebrowish." The Romans recognized that raising the eyebrows was a characteristic habit of the haughty, arrogant man; so they combined their words "super" (over) and "cilium" (eyebrow) to form "supercilium" (eyebrow) meaning "pride," and "superciliosus" meaning "haughty" or "arrogant."

All the guests at a party which Mrs. L. D. Carson of King City, Calif., gave in celebration of her birthday were more than 88 years old. Mrs. Carson herself is 88.

While Mr. and Mrs. H. Nelson were shopping in Los Angeles they left their baby in their parked car. Returning they found that a thief had stolen the baby's blanket and clothing.
